El Segundo Mayor Calls Visit to China an Eye-Opening Experience

By Brian Simon

After arriving in Beijing with an American delegation of 15, El Segundo Mayor Drew Boyles quickly wondered what he had gotten himself into when what he thought would be a friendly of week of exchange turned uncomfortable and awkward right off the bat. He and his group had walked into a meeting where the second in command of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of the People's Republic of China decided to give Riverside-based Congressman Mark Takano an earful and then some regarding the ongoing trade wars with the United States. "He went off on Congressman Takano and said all these tariffs are ruining all the years of our nations working together," Boyles said. "But the congressman put him in his place and represented our country well. I was quite proud of him, but was thinking to myself, 'Hmm…this is going to be a very interesting trip.'" As it turned out, the rest of the proceedings were far more congenial and Boyles emerged from the life-changing excursion with an armful of important new contacts and a renewed appreciation of the freedoms we enjoy in the United States.

The mayor was part of an annual contingent hosted by the Chinese People's Association for Friendship with Foreign Countries. The intent is to build relationships between the US and Chinese government at both the municipal and provincial levels and to further international cooperation while safeguarding world peace and promoting common development.

After receiving the invitation, Boyles jumped at an opportunity that was one of his longstanding bucket list items. "I've always wanted to go to China anyway and so I took it upon myself to fund the trip out of pocket so that none of it would be paid by the City of El Segundo nor the Chinese People's Association for Friendship with Foreign Countries organization. I felt very strongly about that."

During the visit, Boyles and company met with a number of "very high-level government officials." The list of foreign dignitaries included the mayor of Chengdu, which happens to sport a population of 34 million – roughly three times that of the City of Los Angeles. Of particular interest to Boyles was the Dadukou district within Chongging, a major city in the southwest portion of China. "They're going through a similar thing as El Segundo," Boyles noted. "They have a history of industry… it was actually the military epicenter during World War II when the US helped fight off the Japanese in China. And like El Segundo, they are going through a transformation of sorts as well."

Impressed with Boyles' description of the similarities between the two municipalities, the higher-ups in Dadukou asked the mayor to sign a memorandum of understanding (MOU) to exchange ideas. "I said I would only move forward if the [El Segundo] City Council agrees, so I actually had them [Dadukou officials] amend the MOU and I signed it with that stipulation," Boyles explained. "I will review it with the other Council members in the near future."

In addition to fascinating interactions with the Chinese, Boyles was pleased to report that he built "great relationships" with Takano, five state assembly members and five other mayors. He called that component of the visit "the best part of the trip" and emphasized that the chance to "break bread" with these elected officials was a rare and important opportunity regardless of the destination. "I was able to get a platform to share just how different El Segundo is," Boyles explained. "Despite our commercial growth and increased media presence in recent years, people still don't understand who we are as a city and just how vital we are to the economic vitality of our region."

While touring Chinese cities and enjoying meals together, Boyles emphasized El Segundo's uniqueness to his cohorts and promoted the city's status as a diverse business hub as well as its positioning as the "aerospace capital of the world." While in Chongging, he also shared his concerns about housing demand, the need to maintain local control, issues about LAX expansion, and the critical retention of Los Angeles Air Force Base.

Boyles also learned some eye-opening facts about China that made him even more thankful for the amenities offered to American citizens. "I came back with an absolute renewed love for our country and the freedoms that we often take for granted," he said. "Beijing alone, if you've been there, there are cameras everywhere you look. It's the second-most videotaped city behind London, of all places. In Shanghai, it's

Construction Begins on Smoky Hollow Pilot Parking Project

Last fall, the El Segundo City Council adopted the Smoky Hollow Specific Plan, which envisions an increase in the number of on-street parking spaces in the Smoky Hollow district. At the time, the Council directed staff to initiate a pilot project to add parking spaces on a segment of El Segundo Boulevard on the north side of the street.

The pilot project began on July 29 and construction will run through early September. The segment of El Segundo Boulevard selected for the pilot project runs from the alley east of Main Street to the alley east of Sheldon Street.

The pilot will add 15 new parking spaces along El Segundo Boulevard without decreasing the existing number of vehicle travel lanes. After an evaluation period, the City will decide whether to make the change permanent and extend the new parking lane further east. For more information on the pilot project, contact Principal Planner Paul Samaras at (310) 524-2340 and psamaras@elsegundo.org, or Senior Civil Engineer Orlando Rodriguez at (310) 524-2252 or orodriguez@elsegundo.org.

Pleased With Trees and Maintenance

I live on a corner, a very windy corner, in the old part of El Segundo. Because of the wind the leaves from six city trees fall on my front lawn. I love trees, so I somewhat do not mind. I therefore appreciated it when the city's professional tree trimmers trimmed these huge mature trees, which are happily growing like mad. I was also pleased with the way the trimming crew cleaned up after trimming. Sticking trees in the ground is one thing, responsibility for maintaining them is another. Thus, thank you El Segundo for trimming/maintaining your six trees that drop mucho leaves on my yard, and thank you mister street sweeper for weekly picking up huge amounts of city tree leaves in front of my house.

As Digital Learning Increases, So Do Local Back-to-School Costs

By Rob McCarthy

It's back-to-school month for South Bay districts and time to crack the books. Inglewood students return on Monday. Hawthorne extends the summer vacation an extra day until Tuesday. El Segundo welcomes back its returning and new students on Aug. 28. But before the first bell rings, there are school supplies to buy and backpacks to stuff.

Parents, be ready to open your checkbooks for back-to-school expenses. The pens and pencils and notepads aren't behind the inflation felt by households with children in local public and private schools. It's the iPads and the home-based Internet connection in homes that kids need to complete their assignments that will make the 2019-2002 school year a bit pricier. And to not fall behind in class…

The 2019 Huntington Backpack Index, which for more than a decade has tracked the household costs for K-12 children's educations, issued a bullish prediction ahead of August. You'll need to add a basic laptop computer and an Internet connection for your child to make the grade in the digital classroom of today. That includes elementary schools, the index says.

The Ohio-based bank behind the backpack changed the way it calculated expenses for elementary, middle and high schoolers. A laptop and access to the school's website needed to be included as an indirect way to help students be ready to succeed on their first day back, explained an executive with the Columbus-based financial institution.

"With changing demands on students to complete daily assignments on connected devices, we not only felt it important to revisit our methodology, but also to do our part in setting up our communities' students for success in the classroom." said Andy Harmening, who is head of consumer and business banking for Huntington Bank. It partnered with the nonprofit educational group, Communities in Schools, to survey schools in 26 states.

Here's what it found: A significant increase awaits American families with

Summer of '69 was a Winner for Local Babe Ruth All-Star Team

By Gregg McMullin

When you ask those who remember the year 1969, they'll recite the obvious: Neil Armstrong became the first human to set foot on the moon. They'll remember a gallon of gas was 35 cents, the average household income was under $10,000, a home in El Segundo would cost $14,000 and the Dow Jones Average was 800 compared to over 27,000 now. Ask the 12 surviving members of the El Segundo Babe Ruth all-star team and they'll reminisce, "Best summer ever."

You could sum up what that all-star team experienced in the lyrics of Bryan Adams' "Summer of '69:" "Oh when I look back now, that summer seemed to last forever. And if I had the choice, yeah I'd always wanna be there. Those were the best days of my life."

Fifty years ago next week, the El Segundo Babe Ruth all-star team won the World Series for the second time in five years. It was a magical summer for 15 players and their three coaches who achieved the pinnacle for baseball players who were 13-15 years old. During that era, there was the Little League World Series for 11-12-year-olds and the Babe Ruth World Series. Five members from that team including Scott McGregor, Ed Carroll, Jeff Tidwell, Stewart Swiggum and Steve Curtis returned to this year's Babe Ruth World Series in Bismarck, North Dakota to commemorate the 1969 World Series winners. They were treated like royalty by throwing out the ceremonial first pitch to

El Segundo Girls Softball 12u Team Places 4th at Western Nationals

By Jordan Lane

El Segundo Girls Softball capped off an amazing summer as the 12u Gundo Girls placed 4th at the USA Softball Western Nationals. The tournament was held in Medford, Oregon and included 33 teams from Hawaii, Montana, Washington, Idaho, Nevada, Oregon and California. Going into the tournament, the Gundo Girls All-Stars had an impressive 24-9-2 record. They were finalist in each of their first five regular season tournaments. In the double elimination State tournament, the Gundo Girls had an early loss but rallied to win three in a row and qualified for Western Nationals. They were the only team in any division to have qualified for Nationals after losing their first game.

The Gundo Girls are one of the most balanced teams in their division. They boast strong hitting (.333 team batting average) led by Charli Pages (.397), Sienna Mayer (.391), Taylor Peacock (.390), Allie Stevenson (.346) and Peyton Jackson (.340). They are well respected for their stingy defense and top tier pitching (1.99 team ERA) led by Hailey Wantz, Peacock and Pages, and gritty catching by athletes Caroline Mackechnie and Stevenson. Outfield play was anchored by Taryn Walker, Jackson, Audrey Garcia, Dallas Silva, Vanessa Rodriguez, Emersen Werger and Kate Fukushima.

In the National tournament, starting with pool play, the 12u All-Stars loss one and won

Wiseburn School Board Approves New Principals at Its Recent Meeting

By Duane Plank

The Wiseburn School Board, meeting for the first time since Friday, June 25, last Thursday evening approved the selection of Hugo Rios to become the new principal at Peter Burnett Elementary, and Lisa Willberg to take over at Juan Cabrillo Elementary.

Rios, who is replacing Kim Jones, boasts a 16-year career in education, serving stints as a teacher, PTA president, district-wide safety committee member, and assistant principal. He has worked in classroom settings for a dozen years in elementary and middle schools, spending the past four years as an assistant principal in the Fullerton School District where he was tasked with, among other duties, reinforcing school safety tenets and fostering a collaborative culture to promote high-level achievement.

Emailed Rios, "I am honored to be the next principal of Peter Burnett Elementary. As principal, I plan to create a relationship-based culture with parents as partners. My primary focus will be to promote a positive school climate so that students, staff and parents feel welcome and continue the tradition of academic excellence at Peter Burnett."

Rios holds Bachelor's and Master's degrees from California State University, Long Beach and said he "believes in the power of public education to transform a student's life. I know a quality education will propel a student into a bright future. I am committed to the achievement of all students and am eager to make a difference alongside all members of the Bulldog community." Rios thanked the Board for his selection and quipped that he would be rewarding his family members (who attended last Thursday's proceedings) by picking up the dinner tab after they left the meeting.

Willberg moves to Cabrillo after serving as the assistant principal at R.H. Dana Middle School. She has worked in education for 14 years, the last eight for Wiseburn Unified School District. She is replacing Lisa Baggio, who found a post closer to her home as the principal at Palisades Elementary in the Capistrano Valley School District.

Superintendent Dr. Blake Silvers called Baggio's departure "a tough loss." On the promotion of Willberg, he noted, "She is going to do a phenomenal job." Silvers shared that the District was looking to fill the assistant principal position at Dana and the combined assistant principal position at Burnett/Cabrillo.

Willberg emailed, "I am truly thrilled to be serving as the next principal of Cabrillo Elementary. Cabrillo has such a warm, child-centered atmosphere and I have already felt so welcomed by the students, teachers and families that I have had the chance to meet in these early days of my position. I am so impressed and excited by all the wonderful things already happening at Cabrillo and it will be an honor to help continue the forward momentum that is already taking place. I am truly looking forward to working with our District's youngest and most energetic learners!"

Continued Willberg, who was also in attendance at Thursday's meeting, "My goal will be to continue to support our school family as we work together to meet the academic and social-emotional needs of our students in the most engaging and affirming ways possible. As our teachers continue work to build a true professional learning community at our school, 2019/20 is sure to be a great year at Juan Cabrillo Elementary."

Assistant Superintendent, Educational Services Dr. Aileen Harbeck helmed a special presentation that featured a curriculum overview and touched on District tenets of ongoing continuous improvement. Harbeck showed test results to the Board, beginning in the 2015/16 school year. The upward trend in test scores, she said, "shows we are on the right path."

Harbeck also rolled out information on a District initiative labeled "Guiding Coalitions—A Culture of Collective Responsibility," which is built on the framework of defining learning, developing practices that have impact on learning, and establishing systems that address what to do when students are struggling. Areas of emphasis include Mathematics, English Language Arts/ English Language Development, Science and STEM. A representative from PS Arts spoke about the different options that will be available to Wiseburn students music-wise, and then administrator Sarah Nitsos provided an overview of the Performing Arts curriculum.

The second presentation, titled "District History Capture Project," involved Silvers informing the Board of a request to continue the work of Jack Goode -- a teacher and principal at Cabrillo who chronicled Wiseburn's educational strides made from the late 1800s until the mid-1960s. The Board may discuss a possible update to Goode's book at a future meeting.

Prior to Thursday's session, Silvers spoke of many of the achievements Wiseburn has made since Goode's book was first published,

Babe Ruth

start the World Series and signing autographs.

During the 1960s, El Segundo was put on the baseball map with the Major League signings of Bob Flynn and Bobby Floyd. In 1964, the El Segundo Babe Ruth all-star team won the World Series with one future major leaguer and four others who played for professional minor league teams. Members of that team won two CIF-Southern Section baseball titles. The 1969 Babe Ruth all-star team ended the decade with another World Series championship. That team included one future major leaguer and two others who played a number of years in the minors. Several members of the '69 team played for the 1971 CIF-SS championship baseball team. That team was selected as one of the CIF's top baseball teams of the 20th Century, according to the CIF.

First-year manager of the Angels Joe Soto was selected as the manager of the all-star team along with his assistants John Lowe and Donny Appleby. In 1969, the only all-star team was a 13-15-year-old squad. The 13s started in 1980 and the 14s started in 1999. Soto is the only first-year league manager ever to win the World Series.

When the team was announced, it was thought to be good. Assistant coach John Lowe remembered, "We knew we had two of the top pitchers around. So we figured in a close game we had the edge." Of the 17 games played, El Segundo pitching shut out their opponents 11 times, including four shutouts in the World Series -- a record that still stands today.

So Ed Glotz, Ed Carroll, Jim Bailey, Jim Aiken, Kim Wolfsburger, Jeff Tidwell, Scott McGregor, Stewart Swiggum, Steve Curtis, Ken Dalgliesh, Tim Blackstock, Steve Domann, Carlos MacClean, Jeff Hancock and Dave Long embarked on a six-week-long journey to immortality much like members of the 1964 team experienced after winning their World Series. Aiken, Wolfsburger, Domann, Soto and Appleby unfortunately have since passed away.

El Segundo's first test came in the District tournament. Glotz remembers the District tournament as one of the toughest to advance out of because, he noted, "Seems like every team had a pretty good pitcher."

El Segundo would host the District tournament that included teams from Torrance, Inglewood, Huntington Park, Venice, Culver City and Westchester. McGregor threw shutouts in the first game against Torrance Central 3-0 and the winner's bracket final against Huntington Park 2-0. Inglewood proved to be a scrappy team, but El Segundo's 4-2 win put the locals in the driver's seat. El Segundo faced its toughest opponent in Venice in the final. El Segundo led 3-1 in the fifth inning when Venice put together a rally and had two runners on base. Hancock came in relief and induced a tough ground ball up the middle, but Glotz made a diving stop. He flipped it to shortstop Domann, who completed the force at second base to stop the rally. El Segundo held on for a 3-2 win in the final that sent the team to the State Tournament.

El Segundo defeated Mint Canyon 2-0, West Anaheim 3-0 and San Fernando 3-0 to reach the final. San Fernando managed to figure out El Segundo's pitching in the first game and won 8-4. In the winner-take-all final, El Segundo's bats came alive while three two pitchers combined to shut out San Fernando 12-0.

The team flew to Elko, Nevada to play in the Pacific Southwest Regional Tournament. For many of the players, this would be their first airplane flight. They would be representing El Segundo and Southern California, so Soto asked the guys to dress appropriately and have haircuts. When the team met for their flight, the players were all groomed and wearing ties. Well, accept one: Carlos MacClean. "I guess Carlos thought it might be funny to shave his head," said Curtis. He also remembers Soto blowing up at the sight of MacClean showing up with a shaved head while all the other players had nice haircuts.

For El Segundo to advance to the Pacific Southwest Regional (August 5-10, 1969) it was taking on a special meaning. The team was being treated like royalty -- and when not playing, there were plenty of activities such hunting or fishing. At the ballpark, they would sign autographs and enjoy being lauded. El Segundo would be matched up against Hawaii and the Mexico national championship team as well as teams from Murray, Utah and Hanford, California.

In the first game against Hawaii, the two teams put together a back-and-forth exciting game. Carroll's late RBI single was the difference in El Segundo's 11-10 win. In the second game, Carroll's complete game two-hitter stymied Mexico. McGregor was 3-4 with three RBIs to lead El Segundo to a 6-0 win. In the third game, El Segundo went through three pitchers including Hancock, Dalgleish and Tidwell before holding off Utah 8-5. Curtis had a key RBI single that scored Swiggum.

El Segundo was now 21 outs away from reaching the World Series. Coach Soto gave the ball to McGregor, who dominated by striking out 13 and limiting Hanford to one hit as El Segundo won 14-2. Tidwell had a big day at the plate by going 4-5 with three RBIs and two stolen bases. Swiggum went 3-5 with two doubles and four RBIs. Wolfsburger added a two-run double and an RBI single.

El Segundo returned home to prepare for a trip to Mattoon, Illinois and the 1969 Babe Ruth World Series. When Soto couldn't be at practice one day, he asked Ed Helvey, the 1964 manager of El Segundo's world championship team, to fill in. Swiggum remembers that the team was in awe and a bit intimidated by Coach Helvey. "Before practice started, he sat us down at Thompson Field and started barking out some unfamiliar words that we hadn't heard from Joe [Soto]. He said we had an opportunity to win it all." Swiggum said.

The team arrived at Mattoon, Illinois and was treated with much fanfare, but oddly was not the favorite to win it all. New Orleans, which had won a record four consecutive World Series, was the obvious choice.

Before the World Series the nine teams that also included Mattoon (host); New Orleans; Springfield, Ohio; North Columbus, Georgia; Blackstone, Rhode Island; North Seattle, Washington; Levittown, Pennsylvania; and Indianola, Iowa attended the World Series banquet. The featured speaker was Hall of Fame pitcher Lefty Grove, who mesmerized McGregor and his teammates with baseball stories. The team met with Mrs. Babe Ruth during Opening Ceremonies too.

In the first game El Segundo, with McGregor on the mound, faced North Columbus. McGregor locked up in a pitcher's duel with North Columbus' Paul Wright. McGregor struck out 14 and led his team to a 2-0 win. Ironically, both of El Segundo's runs came on run-scoring triples by Ed Carroll -- one in the fifth and one in the seventh. The two same-game triples by Carroll tied a World Series record that still stands today.

In the second game, El Segundo defeated Indianola 1-0. The only run came in the fifth inning when Tidwell legged out an infield base hit and stole second base. He would later score on an error for the game's only run. Carroll threw a complete game four-hitter and struck out 14.

In the third game, McGregor gave up a questionable hit in the first inning and then proceeded to silence North Seattle the rest of the way in his team's 5-0 win. McGregor struck out 16, including a record eight in a row. Curtis' two-run single highlighted a three-run second inning.

There were no cell phones, GameChanger apps or Internet to follow the team in Mattoon in 1969. So Dalgliesh arranged with the phone company to make the hookups to broadcast play-by-play for the championship game over the telephone from Mattoon. It was then picked up by the P.A. system at the Rec Park baseball field where the stands were full of community supporters. Little Leaguers were positioned on the field to represent the play happening. Oh how things have changed…

El Segundo etched its name in the record books with a 2-0 win over Levittown. The only scoring came in the first inning. Tidwell walked and went to third base on a fielder's choice by Domann. Tidwell scored on McGregor's RBI single. McGregor would later score on a double-steal attempt when Glotz stole second base and the ball was dropped by shortstop Dale Delise. Carroll tossed a masterpiece by striking out 11. The final out was a pop up to Glotz, who tucked the ball in his back pocket during the celebration on the field and still has that ball today. "Mr. Carroll offered me $20 for the ball after the game, but I still have it somewhere," Glotz said with a smile.

Lost in the victory was the injury that starting catcher Aiken sustained before the game started. Bailey filled in and kept Carroll locked in and focused. "We were on the same page and Jimmy called a great game," Carroll remembers.

El Segundo set a record that hasn't been tied or broken since, including shutouts in a series (four), ERA (0.00), and least amount of errors (one). That error was made by catcher Aiken, who dropped a foul ball and the batter later reached base on a base on balls.

After 50 years, the players essentially all said the same thing about their World Series championship run. McGregor noted, "It was a really special time for a 15-year-old." McGregor is believed to be the only Babe Ruth League World Series-winning pitcher to also win a Major League World Series game. He did it with the Baltimore Orioles in 1979 and 1983.

Others such as Curtis said, "Best summer ever." Swiggum added, "It was an incredible time with my best friends." Tidwell led the World Series in hitting with a .461 batting average and said, "It was an amazing experience for a 15-year=old."

With El Segundo winning the 1969 World Series, it snapped a four-year consecutive run by New Orleans which was vying for a fifth in a row. New Orleans owns the record for most World Series 13-15 titles with five, while El Segundo is second with four (1964, 1969, 1974, 2002). •

one game. This set them up in a difficult draw for the rest of the double elimination tournament. They won their first game against Oakland and lost their second against their local rival, Torrance. This loss put Gundo into the losers' bracket. One more loss, and they would go home.

The Gundo Girls were not ready to pack their bags yet and they had an impressive win against La Puente, then beat Fullerton Hills, and then faced the California State Champions, Moorpark. The Gundo Girls, having tied Moorpark earlier this summer, played a near perfect game and won 10-0 behind the pitching of Peacock. Next up were the girls from North Shore, San Diego. Gundo was not to be denied, dominating in an 11-0 victory. El Segundo then faced Torrance again. Lose and go home. This time the Gundo Girls beat rival Torrance 5 to 3 and continued into the tournament. They loss a heartbreaker next to Ventura, and finished an impressive forth place in the Western National Tournament.

Gundo Girls completed what was thought to be impossible - winning 4 straight games in the Nationals Tournament. They did so by delivering errorless games in the field, having gritty pitching and timely hitting. The 4th place finish at Nationals was a special moment for this 12u team and El Segundo Girls Softball. No Team had posted more wins (6) in championship play as Gundo. They concluded their impressive run at Nationals 7-3, posting a 31-12-2 overall record in All-Star tournament play. It was definitely a summer to remember. • citing a "relevant, positive footprint" in education in the South Bay. He then introduced District new hires, including Rios, Willberg and Monique Ingram and Julie Walker, who will be heading the "Counseling Care Team."

Board member Israel Mora, who ran the meeting in the absence of President JoAnne Kaneda and Vice President/Clerk Roger Banuelos, asked for a quick five-minute break so that his colleagues and administrators in attendace could chat with the new hires and meet family members.

Board members and administrators then very briefly made their reports. Mora summarized the members' thoughts by saying, "We are very excited for the new year."

Silvers then spoke, noting there was "a lot of work going on this summer." He thanked all District personnel who toiled over the summer, calling them "a phenomenal group of educators." He also thanked the new hires, saying it really goes to show that Wiseburn attracts "the best and the brightest."

Prior to the meeting, Silvers said that a main District goal for 2019/20 will be to develop a comprehensive communication plan, including newsletters, as well as superintendent chats at the various school sites. He emphasized the goal to provide a "more robust platform" for people to ask questions and give feedback to District personnel. Silvers added that Wiseburn plans to dive deeply into developing a Long-Term Facilities Master Plan.

Also on the District's "to-do" list, Silvers said, is developing guiding coalitions (groups of teachers at each school site) that will provide leadership in the area of professional development. He pointed to there being "a lot of really smart teachers, smart people" in the District and hopes to see their talents fully utilized in upcoming years.

Action and consent items were next on the agenda, which included agreements with Cruz and Associates Consulting to provide a keynote presentation during the District professional development event on Aug. 26; an agreement with Talking Teaching Network to support professional development; and a consultant's agreement with Melanie Mack to serve as the Wiseburn Education Foundation's (WEF) Executive Director; as well as the approval of the continuing partnership agreement with WEF. "We are ecstatic to have Melanie with us and looking forward to a real exciting and productive year," Board member Dr. Neil Goldman said.

The Board members then had multiple questions about their approval of purchase orders and miscellaneous receipts and expenses. Chief Business Official Dave Wilson provided context for the members into the backgrounds of certain District expenses.

The next regularly scheduled Wiseburn School Board meeting is calendared for Aug. 22, with the first day of instruction on Tuesday, Aug. 27. • incredibly expensive and you can't qualify to buy a house unless you're born in that particular area -- and you can only 'purchase' a 70-year lease."

The US established diplomatic relations with China in 1972 when then President Richard Nixon famously went boating with Premier Chou En-lai and gave the latter a tiny California redwood tree to plant on a hill. The gift was symbolic of the desire for a long-term growing relationship between the two powerful nations. And despite the early unease at the foreign ministry meeting, Boyles had nothing but glowing words for his hosts. "The Chinese were very hospitable and they rolled out the red carpet," he said. "The amount of development is unbelievable. The people that have been brought out of poverty is unbelievable. I learned a ton and I know that those relationships that we built will help our own city as we go forward."

However, one part of the trek turned somber when one of the delegation members, Assemblyman Robert Rivas whose district represents Gilroy, had to leave suddenly after learning about the tragic shooting there. "It reminded me of how much we still need to do to protect all citizens in our country with Gilroy and also Dayton and El Paso," Boyles said. Speaking of the incidents during a recent Council meeting, the mayor asked his colleagues and those in attendance that night to take a moment of silence to commemorate those who lost their lives over that two-week period.

Boyles' travels also included a memorable stop in Guangzhou as well as a special detour to the remote southern city of Sanya. Crammed between massive tourist developments is the Riyue Bay where Boyles naturally had to get in his surfing fix. "I've now surfed in 17 different countries," he said. "When I booked this trip, I had to figure out where I was going to surf and it occurred to me that China is building a national surf team for the Olympics. I hoped for an invite to a newly built wave pool in China, but that didn't happen."

Though boasting major waves when there is a typhoon, this time Riyue Bay only offered shallow options – and it was especially hot and humid to boot. After paddling around solo for a while, Boyles noticed a curly-haired man in the water who turned out to be an Aussie who previously coached the Chinese national team. "He gave me a rundown on surf culture there," Boyles said. "Then before you knew it, there were 40 Chinese longboarders crammed into one spot covered from head to toe in 90-degree weather." Boyles added that traveling by himself in this area was a great deal of fun and he found the people very friendly – plus, prices for lodging and food were decidedly much more affordable than the States. The experience was so invigorating that Boyles happily reported no jet lag despite a whopping 18 hours of flight time on the way home. "It was simply incredible," he said of his nine unforgettable days in China – even if the surf conditions could have been just a tad better… •

You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (949) 860-9155 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit www.chtrustdeed.com for information regarding the trustee's sale using the file number assigned to this case, which is 18-100321. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. PLEASE TAKE NOTICE THAT if the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be return of monies paid to the Trustee, and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse. Further, if the foreclosure sale is set aside for any reason, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the deposit paid and shall have no further recourse or remedy against the Mortgagor, Mortgagee, or Trustee herein. ## Film Review

The Peanut Butter Falcon is a BFF Drama That Defies Convention

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy

Summertime calls for adventures, as seen in Tyler Nilson and Michael Schwartz's film The Peanut Butter Falcon. Described as a modern-day Mark Twain story, The Peanut Butter Falcon – from the producers of Little Miss Sunshine – is a charming tale of two bandits on the run and the lessons they learn about self-discovery and acceptance along the way. This unconventional buddy comedy stars the always excellent Shia LaBeouf and breakout Zack Gottsagen, a 34-year-old actor with Down syndrome. The film may be predictable, but it's Gottsagen's inspiring performance as a determined and self-sufficient young man that makes it worth a watch.

Zak (Gottsagen) is the youthful spirit who livens up the retirement community he calls home. Not much detail is given as to why his birth parents couldn't provide adequate care for him, but the staff and residents adore him nonetheless. The soft-spoken nursing home employee Eleanor (Dakota Johnson) pays special attention to Zak, giving him tough love when he needs it while also encouraging his passion for wrestling. One night, with help from his roommate Carl (Bruce Dern), Zak escapes the nursing home in an attempt to attend the professional wrestling school of his idol, The Salt Water Redneck (Thomas Haden Church). Traveling alone with just the clothes on his back, Zak is determined to live out his dreams and meet his hero.

Zak's disappearance from the nursing home sends Eleanor on a wild goose chase as she attempts to find him despite his lack of phone, money or any sense of direction. Meanwhile, early on in his journey, Zak meets and eventually befriends Tyler (Shia LaBeouf), the sharp-tongued fisherman who is also on the run from his past. Together, the young men navigate the elements, growing and learning from each other as the days pass.

I write this next statement in full sincerity: The Peanut Butter Falcon plays very much like an after-school special on the importance of friendship. It's essentially the quote "friends are the family you choose" brought to life. The screenplay is very plug and play, as the characters literally explain the plot through their dialogue. This may come off as pretty cheesy and unoriginal for hardcore cinephiles, but there's no denying that the message is sweet. The Peanut Butter Falcon offers the perfect sentiment for children and young adults, especially as many are entering a new school year in the upcoming weeks.

While the film itself is sweet, it is Gottsagen's boundary-pushing performance and inclusivity that make it truly special. •

How to Make Friends with the Dark by Kathleen Glasgow

By Desiree De La Cruz-Miller, Library Assistant, Teen/Adult Services

Young Adult books are some of my favorites to read. I love the selection we have at the El Segundo Public Library! I found my latest read in the Teen Zone, a book collection curated for high school teens.

How to Make Friends with the Dark by Kathleen Glasgow.

This week I will be reviewing How to Make Friends with the Dark by Kathleen Glasgow.

In this book, Kathleen takes us along the process of a teen coping with the unexpected death of her mother. The protagonist, Grace Tolliver, aka Tiger, experiences the sudden loss of her mother to a brain aneurysm. For Tiger, life becomes a black hole of unknowns. The unexpected loss of her mother means being put into the foster system at the age of 16 the day after her mother passes away. In the midst of moving from foster home to foster home, she must deal with taking care of the details of her mother's funeral. Along the way, Tiger discovers the strength she bears and gains lasting connections with people that help her cope with her loss.

Also in the Teen Zone you will find another great read by Kathleen Glasgow, Girl in Pieces. For help finding one of these great reads or another book that interests you, please come see me or any other staff member at the Teen/Adult Reference Desk. We will be happy to help you. • children attending elementary, middle and high schools. The cost per-child is rising to $1,017 for elementary school supplies, extracurricular fees and technology. It's $1,277 at the middle schools and $1,668 for high schoolers, including fees to participate in athletics and band.

What goes in the backpacks? The creators of the annual index last year listed each item considered among the basics in public and private schools. The Huntington people priced a full backpack for each grade group -- K-5, 6-8 and 9-12. Everybody starts the year with a new backpack, plus No. 2 pencils and pink erasers. A pencil bag or a box is a no-brainer for all grade levels. Surprisingly, even second graders use highlighters and dry-erase markers, which are two of the 37 school items required in the lower grades.

A three-ring binder, red and black writing pens, a ruler and scissors are must-haves for the tots and the teens. A spiral notebook and a writing journal are packed into the index. Surprisingly, even elementary grades are using calculators, USB storage drivers and headphones for listening to various subjects via computer and doing it quietly. The technology at school needs to translate to the home, which is the point of the 2019 Backback Index. Low-tech hasn't been pushed out of schools altogether, though.

Families should pack 3-by-5 cards, brightly colored sticky notes and pencil-cap erasers, along with a hand sanitizer and one roll of paper towels. Middle schoolers should carry a combination lock, the larger 4-by-6 index cards, and a pocket thesaurus for vocabulary-building and writing assignments. A pair of safety goggles will come in handy too, so they can experiment with middle school science projects up close and personal.

There's also the price of a gym uniform, plus music instrument rentals, field trips and other school fees. The contents and incidentals add up to $1,017 per elementary school kid. What a difference a year makes: last year's expenditures would have totaled $636.96, based on Huntington's calculations. That's a $400 swing coming at millions of American families.

At the middle schools, the increase is half of what the lower grades can expect. The grades 6 through 8 set will need another $175 of gear and gadgets in their packs. Back-to-school will mean another $310 this year for the family of a high schooler.

Communities in Schools asked affiliates across 26 states and the District of Columbia about learning requirements ahead of the 2019-20 school year. Surveyers learned that elementary school students are "sometimes" asked to submit assignments from home using a computer or electronic tablet. The rates soared for the middle schools (88 percent) and high schools (94 percent), which now offer 24-hour access to assignments and instructions from the teacher. Parents regularly use email to discuss any concerns with teachers and ask questions about student performance in the classroom.

Textbooks' days are probably numbered, if a recent prediction about the nation's educational system is correct. A survey of educators done by the Deloitte accounting firm found in 2016 that teachers regularly use a digital device in the classroom. Three-quarters of teachers in the survey believe that digital content will replace textbooks in the next decade. They pegged 2026 for the year that reading, writing and arithmetic go paperless.

Half of U.S. classrooms use a digital device every day of the school year, Deloitte reported. Laptops, desktops and tablets are the most common technologies in the schools. Tablets are most popular at the elementary schools. High school students prefer laptops.

Deloitte surveyors asked principals, teachers and educational leaders which technologies get the most use during a typical week. The K-5 grades are big consumers of games and apps that teach. Videos and websites round out the top learning technology list.

A majority of today's children have hands-on experience with interactive technology by age 5, the data showed. Early introduction to computers, smartphones or interactive pads can have an educational advantage for a child in kindergarten, first or second grade. Research has shown that early-school success plays a big role in future achievement in school and dropout rates. It could even change the way children spend their summers.

More access to digital educational content would encourage them to continue their learning over the summer, said the majority of students in Deloitte's 2016 survey. It also reported 75 percent of the youngsters as being "somewhat" interested in researching things they learn in school, but do it away from school and on their own time.

What do parents and teachers in the survey think about the potential for digital content and technology now in the schools? They overwhelmingly were interested in going beyond what's taught in the classroom. Eighty-eight percent of parents who talked to Deloitte surveyers were keenly interested in digital content that supplements daily instruction. •

Purrrfect Companions

Ridiculous

A cat (or two) makes every home more fun! Come meet our kitties and be prepared to fall in love!

Ridiculous loves humans. She will greet you at the door, purr the moment you pet her and be your constant companion. Ridiculous loves to play and is outgoing and friendly with people. If you're looking for a sweet, confident kitten who will greet your friends, be the center of social events and cuddle with you, Ridiculous is your girl. She gets along great with other cats and would likely adapt well to a cat-friendly dog. Due to her age and energy level, she will need another young, playful kitten in her new home. Ridiculous would love to be adopted with one or more of her siblings, Pax, Preposterous and Ludicrous.

Sophie is very much a princess with the stunning look of a Russian Blue. No silly games for her…but when no one is looking, watch out because she loves playing with her little stuffed catnip toys – capture and release is her thing. Sophie is very laid back and likes laying around watching the action unfold before her. She is cautious and gets scared easily, but once she gets comfortable, you can give her belly rubs all day long. She and her brother were bottle-fed in the Kitten Rescue nursery as kittens, so they love human interaction. Sophie might be fine as the only cat if her people were home most of the time. Unfortunately, her original adopter had to give her and her brother, Jack Black, up due to a death in the family.

Jack Black (Sophie's brother) is an amazing boy. He has a silky black coat with gray stripes on his neck, chest, legs and belly. Even at two years old, he still has that little kitten inside him. Jack makes a cute chirping noise when he's playing, is always curious and looking for love. He'll even bring his favorite toy to you when he wants some playtime. The best thing about Jack is he loves to cuddle and be held – he'll fall asleep in your arms when you are watching TV. He accepts everybody as his best bud and will seek out attention from whomever will give it. Being raised as a bottle-fed baby, Jack loves being with people. He would do well in a busy household with other pets.

Morris is a sweet, playful boy. He has three other siblings who all look different. Morris will happily entertain himself or play with other kittens. He is very curious, loves to purr and is looking for his forever home.

Are you looking for a smart kitty? Leader of the pack Alex is very confident, playful and active. He is also a love bug who purrs up a storm! He loves nothing more than playing with his brothers Loren, Sam and Rene. His brother Sam is a gorgeous little cuddler who is very playful, active and loves a good lap! Sam purrs as soon as he sees a human. These brothers love playing with each other and their brothers Loren and Rene. They would love to find a forever home with at least one of their siblings or with another feline companion.

Molly

Molly is a shy kitty who will need a quiet home. She opened up slowly in her foster home and has blossomed into a sweet girl. Molly likes to be petted and loves to play. She does great with other cats and kittens and would enjoy a feline friend with her new family.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Sophie

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave., and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave., just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Adopting one animal may not change the world, but it will forever change the world for that animal. •
