City’s General Fund Continues to Grow as Its Revenues Increase

By Derrick Deane

The state of the City of Hawthorne’s general fund is in good condition, according to the latest financial update. The City Council received the information during its Tuesday meeting, detailing that the general fund has grown from $13.5 million last year to $23.6 million with an additional $14.5 million in investment funds for a total of $38.1 million.

Overall, the City’s revenues are at $25 million of the total approved $73.5 million budgeted for the year. Expenditures sit at $34.6 million of the total approved $72.6 million. The numbers mark a slight increase in revenues and savings in expenditures when compared to last year’s numbers.

“This is the importance of cash reserve,” Interim City Manager Arnie Shadbehr said in referring to the difference between cash on hand and investments. “If we don’t have operating cash reserve that we have always been emphasizing, then you see how that comes and helps us out with [where we] lack.”

While most of the general fund’s revenue streams were in their expected range to start the year, there were a few doing better than expected. Licenses and permits brought in $1.89 million to the City, making up 97 percent of the expected income from the category due to various construction developments happening around town. Investment earnings have also doubled, thanks to an additional $5.9 million investment made by City Treasurer David Patterson. Property taxes, vehicle license fees and business license fees have yet to be factored in and will be added in later this year.

On the expenditure side, one issue called out was personnel overtime, which currently sits at 90 percent of the approved budget spent at

$1.4 million. “The police department had 16 vacancies,” Shadbehr explained. “We have a lot of people in the academy right now and are not performing and two officers left us, so this all adds to overtime. The other aspect of it is that the Council is aware of the Public Works projects that we are doing. We have a lot of night work. When you come in the morning, you see new striping, you see new paving, but when did this happen? This was when we were all in bed.”

Shadbehr added that some of the City’s overtime costs are being reimbursed by grants. “When the grants come in, they’ll compensate for the overtime impacts to the general fund,” he said.

Councilman Hadir Awad added that the Public Funds Oversight Committee had the same questions about the high percentage of overtime use. “When anyone sees 89 percent, they get scared of why,” Awad said, adding that the committee also looked at the Finance Department’s expenditure trending low due to the pending installation of a new system. Awad asked if the system was still scheduled to be installed or if the City would see the excess revenue. The decision is still to be determined.

The Public Funds Oversight Committee also called out the low expenditure for the City Clerk’s office. The reason given was because the office is waiting for an invoice from Los Angeles County for last year’s elections.

Shadbehr noted that despite the high overtime use, it is being offset by the departments being below 50 percent of their expected expenditures for the year. “It’s already being offset by the vacancies,” he reported, using the police department as an example. “Since we were not able to fill those vacancies, that money more than offsets for the overtime.”

Maintenance and Operation also makes up nearly $5 million of money spent so far, but is due to the fact that 9-1-1 billing doesn’t line up with the regular fiscal cycle.

Mid-year appropriation changes include mostly revenue increases with two expenditure increases requested: $32,000 for an Emergency Preparedness Notification System, and $28,000 for Public Works to manage Solid Waste.

The revenue increases include $270,000 in construction permits, $60,000 in investment earnings, and $40,000 in sale of real estate property. Additionally, $315,000 will be removed from the initial revenue report due to changes in programs including $210,000 for CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) contribution for code enforcement. The total revenue increase adjustment is $117,152.

“One important point I have to make is that the $210,000 is negative because CDBG can no longer afford code enforcement,” Shadbehr said. “Because of that, the $210,000 will now be a 100 percent burden on the general fund. Because code enforcement isn’t improvement to communities, it’s considered to the administrators of those grants that it’s just enforcement -- so they unfortunately no longer support it.”

Mayor Pro Tem Olivia Valentine concluded the quarterly update stating that the process and transparency has been a welcome change for the Council and residents of Hawthorne. “Keeping us on track and keeping the public informed about our finances, this is very important to us,” she said. “As you know, a few years ago we didn’t get this kind of reporting and this is such an improvement in our accounting practices. We’re on the right track.” •

Cherry by Nico Walker

Reviewed by Jeff Huttinger, Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

Author Nico Walker's debut novel Cherry is a funny, disturbing and timely look at many of the ailments plaguing modern America through the eyes of a directionless young man, home from the war and grappling with addiction. Taken on this dark journey by a nameless protagonist, Walker introduces the reader to a world of bank robbery, heartbreak, war, PTSD and the opioid epidemic at such a rapid pace that, like the narrator himself, we find ourselves so fully immersed in the madness that moments of extreme absurdity soon begin to feel commonplace.

Cherry by Nico Walker.

It's Cleveland, 2003, and our high school-age narrator falls hard for a young woman named Emily. Although their chemistry is palpable, the narrator's affection goes mostly unrequited. Frustrated and adrift, he joins the military where his troubles really begin. He is assigned medic duty and is quickly exposed to the worst atrocities combat can inflict. The narrator corresponds with Emily throughout his time at war, torturing himself with thoughts of loss and infidelity. Later, he is discharged with PTSD and an addiction to painkillers. After returning home and reconnecting with Emily, the narrator exposes her to opioids. Before long, they are both addicted, and the narrator turns to robbing banks as a means of funding their next high.

And like a junkie scrambling for his latest fix, this book doesn't slow down. Cherry moves swiftly, leaving our narrator little time for regret, and even less for introspection. Pain isn't examined thoroughly -- it is almost glossed over entirely. Nico Walker's style is less like a series of reflective journal entries and more like an old friend after a few drinks sharing his most recent screw-up. We are travelling with a storyteller who, in his dark tour of a hidden America, tends not to overthink a situation. Cherry is a page-turner and I enjoyed it immensely. Although some readers may find themselves disgusted at the depravity, most will continue with this downward spiral until the very last page. There's always something mesmerizing about the horror of a car accident that makes it impossible to look away.

Untouchable Review: Redemption for Sex Offenders?

By Morgan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

If you're looking for the next provocative and thought-provoking documentary, I suggest watching Untouchable -- a film that examines the divisive topic of sex offender laws and the people they affect.

Director David Feige's 2016 Tribeca-winning film is centered around one father's uncompromising quest for justice for his daughter and his mission to keep her abuser -- the family's former nanny -- behind bars and stigmatized for life. But that begs the question: is redemption for sex offenders possible?

drug addicts and more are encouraged to turn their lives around with the promise of a "fresh start" and "new slate," but the same doesn't apply to sex offenders. Feige interviews some of the people who feel as if they have been stigmatized indefinitely, and their outlook on this issue is eye-opening.

Untouchable is uncomfortable, as is its intention, although Feige and team likely didn't purposefully include a clip from comedian Louis CK's controversial monologue about child molestation and how "it must be good if people are willing to ruin their lives for this Untouchable, Courtesy of Blue Lawn Productions.

Sexual abuse doesn't discriminate against race, religion or status. Just ask Ron Book, the most powerful political lobbyist in Florida. When Ron discovered that his daughter Lauren had been a victim of horrific sexual abuse, which took place for years under his own roof by someone he knew and trusted, he was determined to make a change. Ron's legislation, which is currently the strictest in the nation, sent sex offenders into exile. With its enforcement, those convicted must live within certain boundaries away from public gathering spots where children frequent like schools and parks. Because of these strict living requirements, many of the accused have succumbed to homelessness. They live under bridges, without tents, because legally, per Book's law, that is the only place they can reside. And while over 800,000 people have been affected by these sex offender laws, this doesn't take into account the number of people associated with the convicted offender whose life is also uprooted and forever changed.

Ron Book shows no sympathy for the people convicted of these crimes, and that is understandable. As a bilateral victim, he is justified in his feelings of hatred. However, there are those on the other side of the issue who feel that sex offenders are the only subcategory of people who "cannot" rebuild their lives and so they are forever stigmatized as criminals. Murderers, act" just to be controversial. Given the hot water Louis CK finds himself in currently over his own sexual abuse accusations, this "joke" feels too creepy and ill-timed to prove any sort of point for the accused. By the film's end and after a thorough job of examining both sides of the issue, Untouchable will force the viewer to debate this hot-button topic and leave us with this loaded question: should there be redemption for sex offenders?

Untouchable is not rated. 105 minutes. Available to stream on Amazon Prime. •

JPL Program to Bring Interstellar Insights to Inglewood

By Tommy Vinh Bui, MLIS, Associate Librarian, Inglewood Public Library

What young and impressionable mind isn't held irreparably enraptured by the wonders of space and the swirling cosmos above? I certainly wasn't immune to the mysteries looming just overhead several stratospheres up. I recall fondly the countless evenings spent chin held aloft and neck craned upward wondering what distant galaxies were being collided into existence at that very moment. The stars twinkling tirelessly on high have been a constant imagination-grabber and to this day I still harbor a fervent frenzy toward learning the intricacies of the universe and rooting for mankind to inch closer and closer to the ultimate and ever existential inquiry of the universe: Why?

Fortunately I was able to direct that celestial curiosity into something productive. As a Young Adult librarian, I've always been dedicated to finding new ways to engage the community and provide thoughtful and thought-provoking programming to the youth that frequent the halls of our library. After a thorough application process and mind-expanding series of online trainings, I'm chuffed to be able to say that I'm now a full-fledged Jet Propulsion Laboratory (JPL) Solar System Ambassador. And swelling within me are the distant cheers of a preadolescent me pumping his tiny fist into the air in jubilation. "Huzzah!," he might cry as his thin Douglas Adams-reading book wrists flail akimbo.

The Solar System Ambassador program is comprised of dedicated volunteers from across the country and all are tireless advocates for providing educational opportunities to their respective communities. They strive to engage and ignite curiosity and bring information about NASA space exploration missions and discoveries to the public. The volunteers are gung-ho about galaxies and ready and able to provide information and get communities into an illuminating lather about space exploration again.

I was a bit reticent about putting my name into the hat to become a Solar System Ambassador initially. I didn't think I had the scientific chops to qualify, in all honesty. With the exception of my fondness for The X-Files and all the valuable hours spent playing the arcade game Gattaca, I really didn't have much of a background nor technical knowhow in the field of space exploration. But luckily, enthusiasm was enough and I'm sure my experiences as a youth services librarian helped lug my application over the finish line. Now I'm ready and raring to get my ambassadorship up and running. The program includes opportunities for professional development via teleconferences with NASA mission scientists and engineers wherein volunteers learn about the latest and greatest in space science. It's so that we're better informed and more capable of preparing quality public engagement events and outreach programming free of charge for the benefit of the community at large. Events include but aren't limited to lectures, workshops, star/eclipse parties and other hands-on activities covering a wide range of topics.

And what better place to host such events than at your local library? A constellation of knowledge and information that, very in keeping with space rocketry, can propel you to unheard new heights of discovery. So have a bon voyage and a blast-off to the library and orbit around the Space section of our shelves. You'll find the odds of enlightenment astronomically in your favor.

Liftoff to learning in t-minus right now. •

News for the City of Good
Neighbors from an Old Guy
Named Norb Huber

WINTER

SoCal is not used to having seasons. We can all remember years where there were very few days of rain or cold weather. Lately, it seems like it's just the opposite. There are more days of rain than not. Up here in NorCal, it's just a little bit colder and a little bit wetter. We all can say to ourselves "we need this stuff", but it sure will be nice when it finally starts warming up and stops raining. Rain, rain go away, don't come back another day. Luckily there have not been terrible mud slides. And, all we have to do is look at our Facebook pages to see how the rest of the country is shivering in ungodly weather. Cali is still the envy of so many. These envious friends of ours just don't know that in a recent survey 50% of Californians say they can not afford to live the Golden State any longer. Uhaul charges triple for trucks going out as opposed to coming in since their fleet is depleted with too few being left here. I just experienced this when I rented a truck to move my nativity store. In Sacramento Uhaul is running specials for people willing to rent and leave their trucks in LA or SF. Everyone is trying to find that ideal place to move to. The grass is deficiently greener now along I-5 in the Central Valley of CA. With the rain, the hillsides are lush and green. Someone made the comment that they wish that global warming would come back. God blesses us with what we need. The miracle of a created planet with all of it's ecosystems and the balance of air and water is another reason for the existence of a great God that loves us beyond our comprehension. As the rain pelts down, look at it as another gift God sends us. With water we live, without it we suffer. With God we live.

Frances
Still looking for a lovely little Valentine? Adopting one (or two) of these precious kitties (and there's also a poodle mix in the mix...) will change their world and yours.
Reese and Frances were rescued with their mama and siblings from a city shelter at the age of one day. Now Reese and her

you can see the calico colors.
Rusty might have a squeaky, rusty creak of a meow, but he's no cranky kitty. He's gregarious, curious and always ready to stick his nose in something new or someplace interesting. One of his favorite things to do is follow human feet around. Not only are human feet fun to play with, but they usually lead to tasty snacks and warm laps to sleep on. Compared to his siblings, Rusty is a verbose talker. He's also learned how to fish around inside a Tupperware and grab treats with his paws.

Helga
sister Frances are in a foster home, learning all about living in a house with other cats and some little dogs. They're affectionate and very playful, and so young that they will need another cat in their adoptive home. Or you can adopt these adorable sisters together! Reese looks like a regular calico with lots of white fur, but if you look closely you can see the tabby stripes in her colors. Frances looks like an ordinary tabby, but if you look closely

Helga is an awesome girl who actively asks for your attention. Helga loves her siblings as well as other cats. She even loves dogs and is great with kids. She loves chasing strings, the dog's tail or his brother and sisters. This love bug enjoys being petted and snuggling, so you'll soon find out she has the softest fur. Although she is playful and independent, Helga likes to be wherever you are whether that is on your lap while you are watching TV or hanging out on the edge of the tub while you are taking a shower.
Rayen was found wandering backyards in West Hills. He is a sweet boy who is extremely loving, and affectionate! Fully vetted and in otherwise perfect health, Rayen did test positive for FIV. But fed a healthy diet and remaining indoors only, he will live a normal, healthy life. FIV is not a big deal -- an FIV+ cat will live the same lifespan as an FIV negative cat. The disease is extremely hard to transmit from cat to cat, requiring direct blood contact (typically from a deep puncture wound). It is not transmissible to humans. Rayen needs an indoor, loving home and will repay you with years and years of snuggles! He's a true lap cat.

Candy is a beautiful, petite kitty who loves to nap in the cat tree as the sun shines through and warms her. She is quite playful and will spend hours wrestling with her foster siblings and running circles around her favorite cat toy. As a young, playful kitty, Candy needs to be adopted together with one of her foster siblings or into a home with an existing kitty. Candy is a bit shy when she meets new people, so she needs someone who will be patient and loving while earning her trust. She does not run and hide. She simply stays an arm's reach away while she observes and assesses new people she meets. It can take her anywhere from 30 minutes to an hour or more to get comfortable around strangers.

Once she warms up to you, she is a sweet, loving and affectionate.
Freddie is a sweet, friendly, well-behaved poodle mix who loves snuggling and going on short walks. But most of all, Freddie loves sitting next to his human watching TV or on the computer. His current owner needs to give Freddie up because his wife died recently. Now he's in a wheelchair and can no longer care for Freddie. Freddie has a long and healthy life ahead of him and would love a new family. He gets along great with children and other dogs. He barks at cats when he sees them outside, but Freddie has never lived with them -- so he's unsure if he will like them.
These kitties (and a pup) are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.
Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.
On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.
Adopting one animal won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. •

Summary of Proposed Ordinance 2169

On February 26, 2019 at 6:00 p.m., the City Council of the City of Hawthorne is considering the adoption of Ordinance No. 2169 relating to the comprehensive updating of the City's Noise Ordinance. Pursuant to California Government Code section 36933(c)(1), the City Council has directed the preparation and publication of a summary of Ordinance Nos. 2169: The City of Hawthorne municipal code noise regulations have not been updated for nearly thirty (30) years. This comprehensive revision of the noise ordinance is divided into a subjective portion (Chapter 9.33 herein) and an objective portion (Chapter 9.34 following). For this subjective portion, the City's noise standards consider the sound level of the noise, ambient noise level, whether or not the nature of the noise is unusual, proximity to residential sleeping areas, time of day (e.g., daytime or nighttime), as well as other considerations cited in Section 9.33.020. In general, this type of regulation is aimed at controlling occasional and infrequent events such as unruly parties, domestic disturbances, and one-time incidents, while giving the City's enforcement officers flexibility in implementing ad hoc quieting measures. The objective portion of the City's noise standard (Chapter 9.34) restricts noise from machines, animals, or devices (or any combination thereof) from producing noise that exceeds the specified, measurable noise limits (as summarized in Tables N-1 and N-2 below). In general, this type of regulation is aimed at controlling stationary or on-going noise sources that are more established (in both location and periodicity) than the subjective-related occurrences (of Chapter 9.33). Such sources might include, for example, noisy HVAC or pool equipment, on-going loud music (over repeated instances), excessively and frequently barking dogs, or home/landscaping activities that are too early or too late in the day (see also Section 9.34.060).

Such objective criteria give the City's enforcement officers the capability of demonstrating a measurable violation while using the defined enforcement procedures to document potential violations and to implement penalties (see also Sections 9.34.050 and 9.34.100). The noise standard presented in Chapter 9.35 (Architectural Acoustics) are aimed at controlling the intrusion of excessive noise within interior living spaces, from either exterior-to-interior or unit-to-unit pathways (in the case of multi-family dwellings). Such sound insulation features are to be designed by architects and engineers for each applicable interior space, and included in plans submitted to the City of Hawthorne Building and Safety Department as part of its review and approval processes. The noise standard presented in Chapter 9.36 (Vibration Ordinance) restricts vibration from machines, animals, or devices (or any combination thereof) from producing vibration that exceeds the specified, measurable noise limits (as summarized in Tables N-4 and N-5, below). In general, this type of regulation is aimed at controlling stationary or on-going vibration sources that are established (in both location and periodicity). Such sources might include, for example, out-of-balance, mounted machinery, impact-intensive manufacturing equipment, or heavy construction processes. Such objective criteria give the City's enforcement officers the capability of demonstrating a measurable violation while using the defined enforcement procedures to document potential violations and to implement penalties (see also Section 9.36.050). In addition, this Ordinance adopts certain fees for permits and administrative citations. A certified copy of the entirety of the text of Ordinance No. 2169 is available both on the City's website and also in the office of the City Clerk, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, and is open for public inspection. the "Local Agencies"), to form a community facilities district within the territorial limits of the City of Inglewood and the School District, to be known as "California Statewide Communities Development Authority Community Facilities District No. 2019-01 (333 North Prairie), City of Inglewood, County of Los Angeles, State of California" (the "Community Facilities District"), to levy a special tax within the Community Facilities District, and to finance construction of certain public capital facilities eligible for payment from certain development impact fees (collectively, the "Improvements"). On January 24, 2019, the Commission also adopted its Resolution No. 19SCIP-2 (the "Resolution to Incur Bonded Indebtedness") wherein it declared its intention to incur bonded indebtedness in a principal amount not to exceed seven million dollars ($7,000,000) to finance the Improvements, all under and pursuant to the terms and provisions of the "Mello Roos Community Facilities Act of 1982," being Chapter 2.5, Part 1, Division 2, Title 5 of the Government Code of the State of California, commencing with Section 53311 (the "Act"). This Notice contains a brief summary of the proposal embodied in the Resolution of Intention and the Resolution to Incur Bonded Indebtedness (collectively, the "Proposal"), but you are referred to the Authority's Resolution of Intention and its Resolution to Incur Bonded Indebtedness on file with the Authority for the definitive description of the Proposal, including a description of the Improvements, a list of incidental expenses and bond issuance costs and the rate and method of apportionment of the proposed special tax for the Community Facilities District. The Proposal consists of the authorization of (1) the special tax within the Community Facilities District to finance the Improvements, (2) the issuance of bonds to finance the Improvements, and (3) the establishment of the initial annual appropriations limit for the Community Facilities District in the amount of $700,000 for the 2019-2020 Fiscal Year. In order to confer the authority upon the Authority to levy the special tax and to issue the bonds, a public hearing must be held on the Proposal, the Authority must determine to form the Community Facilities District, and the qualified electors within the Community Faci-ties District must approve the Proposal by a two-thirds vote. As the Community Facilities District is uninhabited, or inhabited by fewer than 12 registered voters, the qualified electors are, pursuant to the Act, the owners of property within the Community Facilities District. THIS IS THE NOTICE OF THE PUBLIC HEARING. The public hearing will be held Thursday, the 7th day of March, 2019, at the hour of 2:00 o'clock P.M., at the offices of the League of California Cities, 1400 K Street, Third Floor, Sacramento, California 95814. At the public hearing, any persons interested, including all taxpayers, property owners and registered voters within the Community Facilities District, may appear and be heard, and the oral or written testimony of all interested persons or taxpayers for or against the establishment of the Community Facilities District and the levy of the special tax, the extent of the Community Facilities District, the financing of the Improvements, or the authorization to issue the bonds, or the establishment of the appropriations limits, or on any other matters contained in the Proposal, will be heard and considered.

Any protests to the Proposal may be made orally or in writing by any interested persons or taxpayers, except that any protests pertaining to the regularity or sufficiency of the proceedings shall be in writing and shall clearly set forth the irregularities and defects to which objection is made. The Commission may waive any irregularities in the form or content of any written protest and at the public hearing may correct minor defects in the proceedings. All written protests not presented in person by the protester at the public hearing shall be filed with the Secretary of the Authority at or before the time fixed for the public hearing in order to be received and considered. Any written protest may be withdrawn in writing at any time before the conclusion of the public hearing. Written protests by a majority of the registered voters residing and registered within the Community Facilities District (if at least six such voters protest), or by the owners of a majority of the land area within the Community Facilities District not exempt from the proposed special tax, will require suspension of these proceedings for at least one year. If such protests are directed only against certain elements of the proposed Improvements or special tax of the Community Facilities District, only those elements need be excluded from the proceedings. The Authority's special tax consultant, in consultation with and on behalf of the Local Agencies, has studied the Community Facilities District and will provide, at or before the time of the public hearing, a report which will contain a brief description of the Improvements by type which in their opinion will be required to adequately meet the needs of the new development expected to occur within the Community Facilities District, together with estimates of the cost of financing the construction of the Improvements, and an estimate of the incidental expenses related thereto. The report will be available for inspection by the public, and will become a part of the record of the public hearing. Summary of Proposed Ordinance 2171 & Urgency Ordinance 2174

On February 12, 2019 at 6:00 p.m., the City Council of the City of Hawthorne is considering the adoption of Ordinance No. 2174 and on February 26, 2019 will consider adoption of Ordinance No. 2171. Both ordinances concern the authority of cities to regulate sidewalk vendors. Pursuant to California Government Code section 36933(c)(1), the City Council has directed the preparation and publication of a summary of Ordinance Nos. 2171 and 2174 as follows: Senate Bill ("SB") 946 was signed into law on September 17, 2018, and became effective January 1, 2019. SB 946 limits the authority of cities and counties to regulate sidewalk vendors, except in accordance with California Government Code Section 51038 and 51039. Presently, the City of Hawthorne Municipal Code prohibits sidewalk vending, which now conflicts with SB 946. Ordinance No. 2171 will amend Chapter 5.57 of the HMC so that it will be consistent with SB 946. The new law defines "sidewalk vendors" to include any person who sells food or merchandise from a pushcart, wagon, or other non-motorized conveyance, or from his or her person, while on a public sidewalk or other pedestrian path. A sidewalk vendor may be "stationary" or "roaming." Stationary sidewalk vendors are those who operate from a fixed location, while roaming sidewalk vendors move from place to place and stop only to complete a transaction. The statutory requirements apply to both stationary and roaming sidewalk vendors unless otherwise indicated. Ordinance Nos. 2171 and 2174 will accomplish the following: SB 946 prohibits cities from adopting regulations that do any of the following: Restrict the overall number of sidewalk vendors allowed to operate within the jurisdiction, except if directly related to objective health, safety, or welfare concerns. Require sidewalk vendors to obtain the consent or approval of any nongovernmental entity or individual before selling goods or merchandise. Require sidewalk vendors to operate within specific parts of the public right-of-way, except if directly related to objective health, safety, or welfare concerns. Require sidewalk vendors to operate only in designated neighborhoods or areas, except if directly related to objective health, safety, or welfare concerns. The City of Hawthorne may, however, regulate the time, place, and manner in which sidewalk vending is conducted, provided that such regulations are directly related to objective health, safety, or welfare concerns. Permissible regulations include, but are not limited to, the following: Limits on hours of operation, provided they are not unduly restrictive. In nonresidential areas, limitations cannot be more restrictive than the hours of operation imposed on other businesses on the same street. Requirements to maintain sanitary conditions. Requirements to ensure compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and other disability access standards. Requiring a sidewalk vending permit, business license, California Department of Tax and Fee Administration seller's permit, and other licenses from other state or local agencies. Requiring that a food vendor provide proof of completion of a food handler course and other required approvals by the Los Angeles County Department of Public Health. Requiring a sidewalk vendor to submit certain information on his or her operations. Requiring compliance with other generally applicable laws. SB 946 declares that perceived community animus or economic competition are not valid "objective health, safety, or welfare concerns" to justify the imposition of time, place, or manner restrictions. In addition, SB 946 precludes local authorities from prohibiting sidewalk vendors in public parks. A limited exception is allowed where a concessionaire has been granted an exclusive concession for the sale of food or merchandise. In such case, the city can prohibit stationary sidewalk vendors but must still allow roaming sidewalk vendors. The city may impose additional time, place, and manner restrictions to sidewalk vending in public parks, so long as the restrictions meet at least one of the following criteria: They are directly related to health, safety or welfare concerns. They are necessary to ensure the public's use and enjoyment of the park's natural resources and recreational opportunities. They are necessary to prevent an undue concentration of commercial activity that would unreasonably interfere with the park's scenic and natural character. Cities may prohibit sidewalk vendors within the immediate vicinity of permitted certified farmers' markets, filming permit, a parade, or an outdoor concert, during those events' operating hours. Sidewalk vendors cannot be cited, fined, or prosecuted for a violation of any rule or regulation that is inconsistent with SB 946. Even where a compliant sidewalk vending program is in place, SB 946 precludes the imposition of criminal penalties. Instead, violations may be punished with administrative citations in the amounts set forth in the new Government Code

Section 51039. No additional fines, penalties, or other financial conditions may be assessed, including for a failure to pay an administrative fine. However, following a fourth violation of a local sidewalk vending regulation, a vendor's permit can be rescinded for the remainder of the term. Once a citation is issued, the City is required to consider the person's ability to pay the fine, and must notify the person of his or her right to request an ability-to-pay determination. Such a request may be made even after he or she has become delinquent on his or her income is 125% or less of the current federal poverty guidelines, the City must accept payment of 20% as full satisfaction of the fine. For any citation, the local authority may accept community service in lieu of payment, waive the administrative fine, or offer an alternative disposition. In addition, these Ordinances adopt certain fees for permits and administrative citations. A certified copy of the entirety of the text of Ordinance Nos. 2171 and 2174 are available both on the City's website and also in the office of the City Clerk, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, and is open for public inspection. Dear Mrs. Anonymous, Fifty years ago today I left for Viet Nam. Forty-nine years ago today I was on a US Navy ship off the coast of Southern California. We were supposed to disembark at Long Beach, but the ship's Captain got advance warning that demonstrators were waiting on the docks with baskets of overripe tomatoes.
Our Captain was not going to put us through that gauntlet. We steamed down the coast, were taken off onto landing craft and came ashore on the beach at Camp Pendleton. We were back home, on American soil. Thank you for being there for me, and thank you for a wonderful 48 1/2 years of wedded bliss.
I love you.
Signed:
Mr. Anonymous
