Norb Huber Gets His Own Way

Norb Huber received a proclamation this month for his years of service, leadership and dedication to the City of Hawthorne. Norb has been a Hawthorne resident for 38 years and was elected as City Clerk in 2009. He and his wife will be retiring to Northern California to be near his children and grandchildren. Planning Commission OKs Move of Hawthorne Police Tow Service

By Derrick Deane

The Hawthorne Planning Commission voted unanimously in its most recent meeting to allow the relocation of an impound, towing and storage facility into an industrialized area of the city. Senior Planner Chris Palmer introduced the moving plans for the company to 13633 Crenshaw Boulevard. “The property is zoned light industrial and it’s on Crenshaw between 135th and 139th Street and it is an existing 21,971-square foot brick-clad building surrounded generally by warehouses with the exception of a trailer park to the south,” he said.

Palmer noted that the building meets the current standards set by the Hawthorne Municipal Code and includes landscaping in the front, 24 parking spaces, and all activities to be conducted within the building. A total of 11 employees will work at the facility. “It’s a 24/7 operation,” he said. “We’re going to have what we’re calling ‘Good Neighbor Hours.’”

From 7 p.m. to 7 a.m., all activity will be conducted within the building. After 7 p.m., all tow trucks must be brought inside the facility with the doors closed so that the sound of trucks that are lowering vehicles won’t disturb neighbors in the trailer park. “We’re going to ensure that after 7 p.m., all the trucks are pulled all the way inside, the door is closed, and signs are posted in the appropriate places,” Palmer said.

In order to minimize noise impact to the adjacent trailer park, Palmer said that the operation will not perform maintenance outdoors, not honk horns, use sirens, or use loudspeakers or amplified sounds outdoors. However, by law, the facility is obligated to host an auction for cars that are not claimed. The auction takes place on Thursday afternoons for about a half hour, with the exception of any holidays that may fall on that weekday such as Thanksgiving. The auction usually begins around 2 p.m.

While the company is in agreement with all standards that have been set forth, the Planning Commission allowed for the noise exception during the stated time on Thursdays. “It’s only when there are unclaimed cars,” Palmer said in pointing out that on some Thursdays there may not be any auctions at the facility.

Palmer added that on Thursdays when an auction takes place, the auctioneer will use a microphone with two amplified speakers in the outdoor area of the facility. “Two o’clock in the afternoon is pretty reasonable,” Planning Commission Chair Mike Talleda said. “Of course, if the neighbors start to complain then we would have to amend it.”

Palmer also stated, “Ultimately it is an industrial zone and is designed for this type of use and [the applicant] is already a good neighbor and I’ve already mailed out notices for the area.”

Raj Dhillon, the owner of U.S. Tow, added that he has been in the towing business since 2006. U.S. Tow is the official towing partner of the Hawthorne Police Department. The current location is on 12710 Cerise Ave.

“Things have changed in Hawthorne. Hawthorne has really been growing and the reason for our move is that our rent doubled,” Dhillon explained. “It’s just the economics of the situation.”

Dhillon said that when they found the new location, it was “perfect for what we do and we would abide by [the guidelines] anyway. We’re a police impound, a jail for cars -- and closing that door for us makes a lot of sense. This time we have a roof over our head. Before, we didn’t. That’s the only difference. I’m very happy we got to stay

Johnstone Attends Final Regular Wiseburn School Board Meeting

By Duane Plank

Two days and counting until Dr. Tom Johnstone, long-time Superintendent of the Wiseburn Unified School District (WUSD), heads off into retirement. While most retirees are aware of the date of their last official day on the job, Johnstone, courtesy of a retirement countdown clock that was gifted to him by a WUSD food services employee more than two years ago, has been noting his countdown date for a while.

Johnstone noted that he originally planned to say goodbye last year, but decided to stay on until the Wiseburn High School opened. “I wanted to work here in this [new] building for a while,” he said. Meanwhile, he attended his final official School Board meeting Tuesday evening. He will also be in attendance Friday morning when the Board is scheduled to okay the District’s 2018/19 budget at a brief gathering. Johnstone was selected, for the first time in 10 years, he said, to lead the assembled members and audience in the Pledge of Allegiance to kick off the meeting’s open session.

Dr. Blake Silvers, who had been serving as Dana Middle School’s principal, becomes superintendent upon Johnstone’s retirement. Silvers, in his comments Tuesday evening, noted how Johnstone is a man who doesn’t take no for an answer when it involved the welfare of the WUSD. “There’s always a reason not to do something,” Silvers

Welcome to Wonderland: Home Sweet Motel by Chris Grabenstein

Reviewed by Katrena Woodson, Teen and Young Reader Librarian, El Segundo Public Library
This week’s review is of Chris Grabenstein’s book, Welcome to Wonderland: Home Sweet Motel. Grabenstein is the author of the New York Times Bestselling Escape from Mr.

Welcome to Wonderland: Home Sweet Motel by Chris Grabenstein. Lemoncello’s Library. In the past he has collaborated with James Patterson on children’s books such as the I Funny series. Welcome to Wonderland: Home Sweet Motel is perfect for young readers who enjoyed either of the series I mentioned above. I would highly recommend this book to 8-12-year-old readers.
P.T. Wilkie is a 12-year-old boy who absolutely loves the Wonderland Motel in Florida where he lives with his mother and grandfather. The motel was originally opened by P.T.’s grandfather, who is responsible for the “zany decorations” and known to tell a tall tale or two. P.T. believes that the Wonderland Motel is positively the best place a kid could live. Considering that there is a snack machine in the living room, a frog slide and -- most importantly -- all-you-can-eat poolside ice cream, I think I’d have to agree with him there. However, Wonderland doesn’t have many customers and it is in a bit of trouble financially. When Gloria and her father check into Wonderland, an outrageous plan to save the motel is hatched. Moreover, when two elderly jewel thieves come looking for diamonds they lost at Wonderland years ago, P.T. and Gloria decide this is their chance to save the motel. This book is quirky and upbeat. It is full of laughs and some mystery as well as a bit of danger. Grabenstein has delivered another book that is sure to have young readers cracking up and eagerly awaiting the next installment of the series.

The El Segundo Public Library offers access to its collection of titles in a variety of formats, including traditional hardback, e-books and books on CD. To check out Welcome to Wonderland: Home Sweet Motel by Chris Grabenstein, or any other title on your to-read list, please visit the library to apply for your library card, or please contact the reference staff for further assistance.

Robert Pattinson Is a Quirky Cowboy in Western Spoof Damsel

By Morgan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

Fresh off the heels from starring in the Safdie brothers’ stylish crime drama Good Time, Robert Pattinson finds himself working with another set of director brothers to show off his more comedic side in the wacky Western Damsel. Trading cool for kooky, Pattinson plays a man desperate to be reacquainted with his one true love, despite the physical – and, as we find out, emotional – distances between them. David and Nathan Zellner, collectively that it feels awkwardly split into two very distinct acts: the first being Samuel’s journey up the mountain to find Penelope, and the second being Penelope’s journey back down the mountain to independence. However, there is little-shared overlap in the middle. We initially become so invested in Samuel’s story (who himself is a delightful character) that when the focus and story shifts to Penelope (who unfortunately isn’t as cartoonish a character as Samuel), she seems resigned to swat away the advances of every male she referred to as “The Zellner Brothers,” bring this light-hearted send-up to the big screen, now playing at the Nuart Theatre.

Samuel Alabaster (Pattinson) is a man on a mission. With an engagement ring in one hand and a miniature horse on a leash in the other, he has traveled to a small, dusty Western town to enlist the help of Parson Henry (David Zellner) -- the local pastor who also happens to be the town drunk. While the exact details of the journey remain unclear (or may not yet be fully revealed), Parson, who is not one to turn down monetary compensation, agrees to follow Samuel on this mission. After traveling for days on horseback, Samuel finally explains to Parson that he is en route to rescue his fiancée Penelope (Mia Wasikowska) from her evil kidnapper so he can marry her and live happily ever. The only problem is, once the duo reaches Penelope, it turns out that not everyone is on the same page -- namely, Penelope. From here, it’s a comedy of errors as Parson attempts to piece everything together on his own while the situation unfolds very quickly. No one is safe, no one is certain of what is going on, and no one wants to be where they are.
Damsel has the structure of a good comedy – its deadpan delivery evokes the humor of Wes Anderson and its silliness is one whis-key shot away from being another Three Amigos! or A Million Ways to Die in the West. However, Damsel’s biggest flaw is encounters like flies. This creates somewhat of a disappointing end.

There is no denying that Damsel is in a league of its own and that the Zellner brothers have effectively combined modern deadpan comedy with old Western tropes to transcend time periods. However, while it’s clear that Penelope may not need help finding her way out of a messy situation, this Damsel could use just a little bit more saving.
113 minutes. Damsel is rated R for some violence, language, sexual material, and brief graphic nudity. Now playing at the Nuart Theatre. •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

NEW SUMMER BASEBALL PROGRAM

The Dodgers may not have won a World Series in a long time and most people in SoCal can not watch their favorite team on television, but the Dodger organization is still very popular amongst their loyal fan base. In an effort to give back to the greater Los Angeles area, the Dodger Foundation is sponsoring youth baseball leagues including their first summer program here in Hawthorne. The Dodgers provide complete uniforms to all players. They also provide the bats, balls, gloves and catchers gear. The program is for 5 to 8 year olds. The younger kids (5 & 6) bat off a tee and the older kids (7 & 8) receive 5 pitches from the coach, underhand. There are 96 players divided into 8 teams and the games are played at Hollypark and Thorpe Fields. The neat thing is that the parents only have to pay $10.00 for their child to participate. That's less than a cold one at Dodger Stadium.

CITY PARKS OPEN

The Hawthorne City parks opened this past Monday with staff at each site supervising activities. The wading pools are in operation at all parks and something new has begun this year. Thanks to a grant, there is food distribution offered to all children ages 1 to 18. This is another way our Parks and Community Services Department is reaching out to help serve our community. Hamburgers are on the menu for one of the days this week, but no cold ones, sorry, kids only.

SUPPORT YOUR LOCAL NON-PROFITS AND ORGANIZATIONS

The firework stands will open this Thursday at 10 am. The Kiwanis both is located at Inglewood Ave and Rosecrans in front of CVS Drug store. There are eight stands in Hawthorne, all of them are run by a local club or service organization. Legal fireworks supports good causes, illegals are the ones that cause all the problems.

JOHN BAKER MEMORIAL CRUISE NIGHT

Join other Hawthorne High Cougar Alums at a very special night at Foster's Freeze on Hawthorne Blvd. In memory of John Baker, there will be a cruise night on Saturday, July 21 from 5 to 9 p.m. Come out and get reunited with your HHS friends. Cougartown is alive and well.

NORB'S NORCAL NUGGETS

Okay, I need to at least have a new name for this part of my ramblings. This is the part that most of you 19 readers skip down to anyway. You know who you are. You just want to get to the good stuff where I really tell it like it is. You want me to go off on my tangents and say something stupid. We shall see how dumbfounded I am in retirement or whether the change of environment has done some changing to my brain waves and thinking abilities. Maybe the cleaner air up this way will make me more normal. How is my retirement going? The first thing I noticed is the fact that I don't HAVE to do anything if I don't want to do anything. No more stressing out about getting to work on time or what tasks that I need to get done today. I'm sure I will find plenty of things to do with all of my free time. My old lady has got me digging through the mountain of boxes as we unpack and settle into our retirement home. I already see where God might use me to help others in this new place. Yes, I'm blessed with more time to enjoy myself but the really joy I have in life is in helping others. Jesus Christ gave us the ultimate "service to others" model. We read in Mark 9:35 "If anyone would be first, he must be last of all and servant of all." The world tells us to fight back, backbite, tweet obscenities and "lord it over" others. God loves us and we love others the way He loves us. Regardless of what station in life we are at or how untalented or crazy minded we are, there are always going to be ways to help and love others. You can see that retirement hasn't changed me one bit. One thing is for sure, I won't ever retire from sharing God's love and having a cold one.

"I was losing a lot of sleep...I thought we were going to be out of business," Dhillon said of his search for a new location. "But this thing showed and the landlord was very agreeable to our use and I can see here that City planners worked very diligently. It's a

The facility rates are $131 for towing and $42 per day for storage. Cars are stored indoors for security purposes. "It has been a pleasure being a part of the city all these years," Dhillon said.

In closing remarks, Commissioner Rula Alshanableh asked her colleagues to look into some mechanical units that are exposed on the roof of the gas station on Prairie Avenue and Imperial Highway. It is the same gas station where the group considered installing a communications mono-palm earlier in the year. •

Step Up, America: 5 Ways Public Transportation Is Crucial To Our Small Towns

(BPT) - If you've ever had to scramble to get to work because your car isn't running - or you've been unable to drive due to an injury - you understand some of the challenges of the vast number of Americans who rely on public transportation in small towns.

And as baby boomers move into their golden years, they're creating demand for more investment in public transportation options - especially in small towns and rural areas.

Those are the findings of a study by the American Public Transportation Association (APTA) showing such small-town ridership grew nearly 8 percent from 2007 to 2015, even though rural populations declined by more than a half million residents. The top users of such rural amenities? Seniors, veterans and those with disabilities.

In many cases that population would otherwise find it problematic to find regular transportation to and from jobs, healthcare facilities and stores, explaining why it's important to convince legislators to invest in creating more small-town infrastructure and programming.

"It's no secret we are a major retirement area for millions of seniors moving from other areas including many, many veterans," states Brad Miller, CEO of the Pinellas Suncoast Transit Authority in St. Petersburg, Florida. "Public transportation is so critical as we all are aging and need mobility options as we get older."

Some other important facts about the demand for more widespread public transportation:

- A full 33 percent of U.S. veterans who are part of the VA health care system - some 2.9 million people who have worked to defend our country - live in rural and small towns. Many have been wounded and rely on public transportation due to limited mobility.

- Americans with disabilities who live in small towns require 50 percent more public transportation trips than unimpaired people.

- Because many seniors prefer to age in place rather than move to high-employment urban areas, seniors make up 17 percent of populations in rural areas compared to 13 percent of urban populations.

- Transportation can take a big financial bite out of those living in rural areas; on average, they spend 7 percent more on transportation than city dwellers.

- Rural public transit boosts safety and reduces the overall risk of traffic accidents, and not just among vulnerable populations. U.S. commuters as a whole reduce their crash risk by more than 90 percent when choosing public transit over driving; overall, transit-oriented communities undergo just 20 percent of the traffic casualties suffered by auto-oriented communities.

To help address transportation issues for seniors, the San Joaquin Regional Transit District in San Joaquin, California, is offering a transportation service allowing them to meet non-emergency medical appointments.

"We need to connect seniors to jobs, and especially to their medical transportation services," emphasizes CEO Donna DeMartino. "They may have healthcare, but if they can't get there it does them no good."

Transportation is also key to older residents of State College, Pennsylvania, one of the fastest-growing retirement communities in the nation.

"We do have a number of people who have stayed in the area or are coming back home, and they want independence and to stay in their homes," notes Louwana Oliva, general manager of the city's Centre Area Transportation Authority. "A lot of times, transportation is that key. They can manage to stay at home if they have transportation that gets them to healthcare and out to socialize."

Davis

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Hwy., Redondo Beach 90277, from noon to 3: 30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one.

"Hi there, my name is Davis! My previous owners dumped my brother Dobbs and me at an LA area shelter and we're guessing it's because we had sarcoptic mange and they didn't want to deal with it. I can't think of any other reason why they would relinquish a 1-year-old male Miniature Schnauzer mix. Treating sarcoptic mange is no easy task and the shelter made it perfectly clear that I had to exit the place immediately since this condition is highly contagious. Tada! -- MSFR to the rescue and I'm so very grateful to them. It was a pretty lengthy process of isolation and treatments at their veterinarian's office for several weeks. Now that I've had my last treatment, I'm ready to find my forever home. It's amazing what TLC and medication can do! I don't even come close to resembling the bald, patchy-haired guy that was rescued. Now everyone can see that I'm quite good-looking with my natural ears, my natural tail and the great 'Schnauzery' handsomeness. In addition to my adorable appearance, I am extremely sweet and eager to please -- but I need some training, as I had never seen a leash until I was rescued. I'm 15 pounds of love and affection and would be a great addition to your family."

If you're interested in Davis, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"I'm Dobbs, and I believe you've already met my brother, Davis. Our previous owners dumped us at an LA area shelter and there is no doubt it's because we had sarcoptic mange and they didn't want to treat it. It's the only reason I can think of that would result in someone turning in a 1-year-old, 15-pound, sweet, little male Miniature Schnauzer mix. Treating sarcoptic mange is very time-consuming and the shelter made it perfectly clear that because this condition is highly contagious, I was not welcome there. Thankfully it was MSFR to the rescue and I'm so glad they took me in. Treatment required a several weeks stay at the veterinarian's because I had to be in isolation while receiving my Ivermectin treatments. I've had my last treatment, I'm looking great and I'm ready to find a family that will want me and all the love I have to give. Honestly, if you were to see me now, you'd never believe I was the semi-bald, patchy-haired dog that was rescued. Even though I'm a mix, I have inherited all of the 'Schnauzery' good looks -- especially my natural ears and natural tail. Since I'm not very big, I am easily transportable and ready to go anywhere. I admit that I do need a bit of training because I didn't even know what a leash was until I was rescued. I am really sweet and eager to please, so training should be a great bonding time for us."

If you're interested in Davis, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Hola! Mi nombre es Estella. Oops, sorry about that... I meant to say my name is Estella. I forgot that I'm no longer in Tijuana and that I'm now residing in a Southern California foster home. You see, another rescue group scooped me up off the streets of Tijuana and turned me over to the MSFR volunteers. There was never a thought about my changing my name, which is 'star' in Spanish. However, determining my breed was another story. I have a longer, sleek body, Schnauzer coloring and Schnauzer fur. That means I'm a non-shedder. Best guess, without a DNA test, is that I'm a Schnauzer/Lhasa/Cocker mix. I've had a pretty exciting life for 1.5-year-old gal, but I'm ready to settle down and find my forever family. I'm super friendly and full of energy, so one of my favorite pastimes is playing with other dogs. If you already have a dog, not to worry... I will be the perfect playmate. I have a beautiful, shiny coat and in keeping with the Schnauzer traits, the most beautiful, expressive dark eyes and an adorable face. I'm 20 pounds of love and affection just waiting to give it to the right family."

If you're interested in Estella, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •
