Council Approves Revised Car2Go Citywide Car-Sharing Program

By Brian Simon

A car-sharing program could start up in town as soon as early summer, after an El Segundo City Council decision on Tuesday to move forward on a one-year permit for Car2Go to provide the service. The program conveniently places compact, two-seater "smart cars" throughout the community and allows members to rent by the minute, hour or day. The Council originally adopted an ordinance in April 2013 amending the municipal code to allow car-sharing programs so that Car2Go vehicles can be parked without time limit restrictions on public right-of-way areas—specifically two-hour zones throughout the city.

Under the original proposal, Car2Go hoped to launch a full-scale South Bay program including nine cities, a 52-square mile geographical area and at least 300 vehicles in the system. Since that time, the program received approvals from El Segundo, Gardena, Hermosa Beach, Redondo Beach and Lomita, but Hawthorne, Lawndale, Manhattan Beach and Torrance had not yet committed. Car2Go then modified the program by reducing the coverage area to not include Gardena (despite that city's approval) and Manhattan Beach. The western residential portion of Torrance is part of the coverage area, however. With the smaller area, rollout of the program will now only entail 150 vehicles--of which an estimated eight to 10 would be placed in El Segundo at any given time.

The reduced coverage area spurred some Council concern about the cars taking up valuable parking spaces or bunching up. Councilmember Marie Fellhauer worried that people in Redondo Beach and Torrance might drive to El Segundo, leave the car and take a cab to the airport. Councilmember Mike Dugan, who was the lone dissenting vote, thought Car2Go should be able to provide parking capability for at least some of the vehicles.

Addressing the parking issue, Car2go Business Development Manager Walter Rosenkranz emphasized that the company has a fleet team in the area that will come out and relocate vehicles—and that people can at any time call a number displayed on the car license plate to report any issues. "Our obligation is to get cars to areas where they will be rented," Rosenkranz explained, adding that it would be unlikely for the vehicles to sit in two-hour spots for very long since those high-demand areas are "where the cars move the fastest." He also felt that with only eight to 10 vehicles in town, the overall parking impact would be "nominal." The Council also expressed concern about permit-only areas, since the smart cars will be allowed to park in those preferential zones. Councilmember Dave Atkinson said the company should be aware of where the permit streets are so it can "send a tag team" to quickly remove those vehicles.

Fellhauer said she was originally enthusiastic about the program, thinking it would be much bigger and that El Segundo should take a leadership role, but that she was now wary about the City being locked up in a contract despite other communities not joining the program. Rosenkranz stressed that the current coverage area is only a starting point and could easily grow by year's end to include more cities as well as the 300 cars originally anticipated. However at this juncture, he said the company was comfortable enough to get the ball rolling because it recently received a key go-ahead from Redondo Beach.

In order to further quell Council doubts, Rosenkranz said he was willing to reduce

Suzanne Fuentes Ready to Hit the Ground Running as New Mayor

By Brian Simon

After securing a second term on the El Segundo City Council as the top vote-getter out of three candidates, Suzanne Fuentes garnered another honor the week after the election with her appointment as the new Mayor. She became only the second woman to assume this leadership role in El Segundo's history. "I feel honored to have Carl Jacobson nominate me and the Council approve me as Mayor and it's a tremendous privilege to represent El Segundo," said Fuentes. "I hadn't thought about my gender in terms of serving our city until I received a nice note from former Mayor Sandra Jacobs [who served in that capacity from 1996 to 1998] welcoming me to her club. Sandra Jacobs is a role model for tireless public service and I am delighted to join her club."

Fuentes joined the Council in 2010 and served as Mayor Pro Tem for the last 13 months before her mayoral selection on April 15. A 50-year local resident and 1975 El Segundo High School graduate, she earned a bachelor's degree at Loyola Marymount University, a master's at Cal State Dominguez Hills and completed a teaching credential from Chapman College. Prior to the Council, she served on the El Segundo Planning Commission and was a past member of the Aviation Safety & Noise Abatement Committee. Fuentes has worked for the past 26 years

El Segundo's commitment to just one year from the original three. The contract will also include a provision for the City to recoup an administrative fee to cover staff costs—likely similar to an arrangement that will provide Lomita $1,500 to $2,000 annually.

Launched by Daimler in Europe in 2008 and brought to the United States the following year, Car2go is now in 13 North American cities, including Seattle, Miami, Washington, D.C., Portland, San Diego and several Canadian municipalities. It boasts 600,000 members worldwide. Under the program, applicants register online by paying a one-time membership fee of $35 that's good for life. Assuming a DMV check passes with flying colors, signees receive their membership card within five to eight business days. Under the program, a special phone app provides a map of where the nearest car is. Drivers can go anywhere for as long as they like, but must begin and end the rental somewhere within the prescribed geographical area.

Describing the benefits of the program, Rosenkranz said Car2Go provides a mobility option for those without a personal car or second car, allows people to patronize a business or conduct business when they wouldn't be able to do so otherwise, and provides sales tax revenues for the cities where the rentals originate (the last item pending final confirmation from the State Board of Equalization). He also noted that access to flexible transportation has prompted people to get rid of their second or third cars, citing a statistic that between five and 15 personal cars come of the transportation system for every car-share vehicle that comes in. Mayor Suzanne Fuentes questioned the final point, maintaining that actually removing cars from the system is a much slower evolution. She asked Rosenkranz to provide metrics so the Council can see statistics on where the rentals begin and end. He confirmed that participating cities will receive quarterly reports.

Presentations

The Council proclaimed Saturday, May 10 as El Segundo Fire Service Day, with an open house from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. for the public to interact with firefighters in a non-emergency situation and observe the many functions of personnel, equipment and facilities: The El Segundo Fire Department has provided public safety services for over 97 years to local citizens.

In another proclamation, the Council noted that May 4-10 is Municipal Clerk Week May 4-10 and provides a way to "extend appreciation to City Clerk Tracy Weaver, Deputy City Clerk II Cathy Domann, Deputy City Clerk I Mona Shilling and all municipal clerks for the vital service they perform and their exemplary dedication to the communities they represent."

Finally, the Council recognized May 2014 as Older Americans Month and Shirley Williams as 2014 El Segundo Older American of the Year. In conjunction with the proclamation, the annual Elderfest Celebration will take place this Saturday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. at the Hacienda Hotel to recognize Williams and other senior citizens who have "given generously of their time and talent to improve the quality of life for all in El Segundo."

- Investment Advisory Committee: Atkinson, Dugan

Other Appointments with Different or No Terms

- Los Angeles County West Vector Control District: Jacobson
- LAX Area Advisory Committee: Jacobson, Dick Croxall, John Dragone
- LAX Roundtable: Jacobson

Atkinson argued that the Economic Development Advisory Committee (EDAC) should be included on the list of assignments due to its importance and that he wished to be a delegate. Fuentes pointed out that though the Council members attend the meetings, they should not be voting members–the committee exists in an advisory role to the Council, which still ultimately makes any decisions to act. •

Richmond Street Has Fun with Science!

By Alexis Oakley
El Segundo USD Writing Intern

Richmond Street Elementary School took a turn to hold its annual STEM night on Friday, April 11, 2014. The STEM program was developed to help students learn about Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math. Parents and students alike were given the opportunity to learn about the importance of science in the everyday world. Walking around the Richmond Street campus and seeing the kids running eagerly into different classrooms was great to see. "Students embracing science and math with their friends and family was great to see," said volunteer Cassidy Shevlin. 275 kids signed up and more than a handful of families showed up at the door.

Students could walk into a room full of bugs and insects and learn about the important functions they provide for our ecosystem. Although many consider insects and bugs pests, you should really think of them as nature's housekeepers: they aerate the soil, pollinate flowers, control insect and plant pests, and decompose dead materials, which in turn reintroduces nutrients into the soil. Insects live in a wider range of ecosystems than any other life form. Life as we know it would not exist without these little creatures. Parent Steve Henry loves what STEM night does for the kids: "STEM night teaches them how to have fun with science."

United States Air Force volunteers from the El Segundo base taught students and parents the importance of building structures that can withstand earthquakes better, using new technology and building materials. Everyone had the opportunity to learn how to build their very own catapult from ordinary things found around the house. "Building catapults was fun because the materials used were fun and interesting," said Jordan, a student at RSES.

El Segundo High School students taught little ones about "coding" and how you can design your very own computer games, and were introduced to the concept of the ES High School Robotic Club. Some were inspired by the possibilities open to them, and perhaps being able to build their very own cool robot in the future! Parent Anna Alvarez watched her child learn about coding in the computer lab and said to me, "STEM night shows the kids how much fun learning can be and helps them open their minds to new things." Volunteers from ESHS ASB, Noah Fleishman and Lawrence Horowitz said, " It has been amazing to see all these kids excited about the STEM program and learning math and everyday science." I guess you can say STEM night was a great success at Richmond Street School. •

Politically Speaking

One Man's Opinion

By Gerry Chong

An honorable man, the Prime Minister of South Korea resigned because the ferry disaster occurred on his watch and his government reacted too slowly. If that were the basis for national leadership's resignation, think of how many times he would have resigned if he had headed a government in which:

Government Benefits: The Census Bureau reported there are 167 million non-veteran Americans receiving some form of government benefits, but only 103 million full time workers. Therefore there are 64 million more people taking out than putting into the system.

Welfare: The government has spent $3.7 trillion on welfare over the last 5 years, yet 46 million live below the poverty level.

Food Stamps: When Obama took office, there were 32 million on food stamps. Today, there are 49 million who cannot feed themselves.

Jobs: The Bureau of Labor Statistics disclosed that in 20% of the families in the country, no one . . . not one person . . . works . . . either full time or part time.

Income Taxes: The top 40% of income earners pay 106% of all income taxes. The other 60% are along for the ride. Who is paying their fair share?

Economic Growth: During the first quarter of this year, the economy stagnated, growing at 0.1% . . . that's right, not one percent, but one tenth of one percent.

Medicaid: There are 70 million on government-paid Medicaid, but as the country sinks into poverty, it is anticipated that Obamacare will add 16 million more to the rolls, a 22% expansion.

Defense: The Federal and State governments spend over $1 trillion per year on entitlements, excluding Social Security and Medicare: a sum nearly twice that of national defense. This spending equals $50,000 per year for a low income family of three.

Bureaucracy: There are over 200 Federal and State welfare programs, including 27 low-income housing programs, 30 employment training programs, 34 social service programs, 13 food programs, and 24 child care programs . . . all run by bureaucrats.

Obamacare Update: As of April 28, the Obamacare back-end programs required to run the system are not functional. As a result, the Administration has no knowledge of the number of enrollees who have paid their premiums, the percentage of young people who have enrolled, and the financial subsidies to which enrollees are entitled. Some have blamed the administration for stonewalling information from the public, but the fact is that it doesn't know. Moreover, Accenture, which is charged with completing the back end programs, has no projection as to when its work will be done.

National Debt: Before Obama, the cumulative national debt stood at $10.6 trillion, and he pledged to cut it in half before the end of his first term. Today, it stands at $17.5 trillion, and the non-partisan Congressional Budget Office projects it will rise another $7.6 trillion over the next decade.

If our government were headed by a man as honorable as Korea's Prime Minister, we would be headed in a different direction, but wishes and dreams don't constitute a plan for the future. •

Automobile Manufacturer Leaving State Showcases Economic Crisis

By Cristian Vasquez

On April 28, Toyota dropped some pretty bad news for California, and in particular for the City of Torrance. The popular car company will be moving its North American headquarters from Torrance to Plano, Texas. Toyota opened its doors in Torrance back in 1982 and employs an estimated 5,200 workers. While the relocation will leave approximately 2,300 employees in California in locations such as Newport Beach and Long Beach, losing a business like Toyota is a big setback for a still struggling California economy.

While Toyota representatives stated that the move will consolidate its operations in Michigan, Kentucky and California into a single facility in Plano, I can't help but wonder how much money Toyota will save due to the lower tax rates in Texas. It makes absolute sense for a company to have all of its operations in the same state or city if possible. However, http://www.tax-rates.org/ indicates that Texas does not have a corporate tax rate while California has an 8.8 percent corporate tax rate. With a gap in the tax rate that big between both states, it is not difficult to believe that Toyota found some inspiration in these numbers to move.

Whatever the reason for Toyota's decisions to pick up and leave, the fact is that California's business climate is in crisis mode and seems to be getting worse. Granted, businesses come and go; it's the nature of the game. Yet,to lose a corporation as large, popular and profitable as Toyota is an enormous black eye. Statements made by Toyota representatives indicated that the move was to better serve their customers and to position the company to enjoy sustainable and long-term growth.

If Toyota had to leave California in search of "sustainable and long-term growth," how dire is the business climate in our state? Are we really in a situation where a business that had called California home for more than 30 years can no longer envision a sustainable future if it stays? That is horrible. If a veteran business in our state is leaving to accomplish better growth, how can we expect to attract new corporate businesses?

"However, http://www.tax-rates.org/ indicates that Texas does not have a corporate tax rate while California has an 8.8 percent corporate tax rate."

How can we convince current corporations to stay? I wish I was an economist or business guru to provide the answer. Unfortunately, I am not and so I am left with these questions and the frustration that 4,000 Torrance-based Toyota employees will be impacted by the move: that includes 2,000 motor sales employees and an estimated 1,000 in the company's financial and manufacturing sectors, respectively.

I hope that the displaced workers can find something fast that will allow them to continue providing for their families. Also, it would be great if another corporate giant would find the soon-to-be empty building in Torrance an ideal location for its operations. It's discouraging that Toyota is leaving and it is scary that more people will be soon find themselves unemployed. •

Wild Week In Los Angeles Sports

By Adam Serrao

There are some weeks in the world of sports where absolutely nothing happens. You sit around on your hands, flipping through the channels, numbly searching for something to watch that, as a sports fan, will give you some minute form of entertainment. On weeks like these, you may find yourself watching a bowling match or a pool tournament, forcing yourself to root for a player to get a strike or clear off the pool table as a form of what will have to pass as excitement. And there are other weeks like the one that we just experienced: from baseball to basketball to hockey and back, sporting news was being made across the board, and since the majority of it took place right here in Los Angeles, it is easy to see why we are in one of the best cities in the world to experience true sports excitement.

The biggest news this week wasn't exciting at all: it was actually a sad reminder that there are people in this world who still adhere to racist ways of living and thinking. In an audio recording, Clippers owner Donald Sterling was heard making a series of racist remarks to his girlfriend, V. Stiviano. NBA commissioner Adam Silver conducted a full investigation in to the matter and issued Sterling a lifetime ban from his team and the NBA and fined him $2.5 million. Acknowledging the backlash that arose from players and coaches around the league started Silver's new tenure as NBA commissioner off on the right foot. For an owner in such a diverse sport to have racist views about those who play for his team and attend his games is unacceptable. Sterling knows that now and will have to deal with the repercussions for the rest of his life. There is no place for racism in sports, or in the world anymore and the ex-Clippers owner will be reminded of that every time he sets foot out of his house.

On a lighter note, those same Los Angeles Clippers put the news behind them to beat the Golden State Warriors in game seven of a best-of-seven series. After what was perhaps the longest week of their lives, the Clippers advanced to the Western Conference semifinals for the second time in three years and earned themselves a second-round matchup against the Oklahoma City Thunder, after an extremely exciting series against the Warriors. "I just thought with all this stuff, this team just needed this win," Clippers head coach Doc Rivers said. "This was a hard week. It feels like two months. I just needed to be able to smile and laugh and cheer and be proud of something. And I was very proud of my players." These Clippers feel that they have a better chance at finally arriving in the Conference Finals for the first time ever because of their exuberant head coach. The Thunder will be a hard team to tackle, but something about this year's Los Angeles Clippers feels like they are on the verge of making history.

The Los Angeles Kings just got done doing the impossible. The team that is built for the playoffs came back from a 3-0 series deficit against the San Jose Sharks to complete the reverse sweep and win the series 4-3. The Kings became only the fourth team in NHL history to win a series after trailing 0-3 and now advance to take on their rivals from down the highway in Anaheim. The Kings and Ducks have never met in a playoff series before but the Ducks won the regular season series handily. That didn't stop Jonathan Quick and Marion Gaborik, who scored with just seven seconds left in regulation to send the game to overtime and then scored again in overtime, from getting the win in game one of the best of seven series. That was only game one, however, and there is no questioning that this series will be yet another long, hard-fought series between two teams that call the Los Angeles area home.

Lastly, what every Los Angeles Lakers basketball fan wanted to happen finally did: Mike D'Antoni finally got fired, or "stepped down," as the organization called it. Whichever way they want to put it, D'Antoni is out and the Lakers can finally get back to playing some defense again. Don't expect the Lakers to name a new head coach soon; it figures to be a long and drawn out process. First, the

Winning Becomes Contagious for Eagles

By Gregg McMullin

In sports they say that winning can be a contagious thing. It can start with something as simple as executing a routine play that develops into a dominating performance. The El Segundo baseball teams are on a roll with their recent wins as the long season dwindles down.

The Eagles took out their frustrations on a hapless Lawndale squad that has struggled to put up runs while their pitchers are getting hammered. For the Eagles it was just what the doctor ordered. After suffering back-to-back extra inning losses to Torrance and highly touted Loyola, the Lawndale series was all they needed to help right their season. The Eagles pounded out 12-0 and 13-0 wins over the Cardinals and in the process got their overall season record to 13-12 and 4-2 in the Pioneer League.

On 'Senior Day' the Eagles pounded out 12 hits. Led by Nick Martinez and Jake Palmer who each had two hits, ten different hitters had base hits. Daniel Zeman, Nick Saucedo, Connor Underwood and Joey Garza each had two RBIs to lead the attack. Leading 2-0 in the second inning, the Eagles sent 11 batters to the plate in the second inning and went on to score six runs. They added a run in the third and three more in the fourth inning for a 12-0 mercy-rule win after Lawndale failed to score in the fifth inning. Tanner Stevens picked up the win giving up one hit while striking out three. Davis Salzman pitched the fifth inning and looked sharp.

In the 87 years that El Segundo High School has been open, and considering all the great pitchers that have taken the mound, there has yet to be a perfect game thrown. Oh, you can look at the long list of accomplished pitchers to have thrown no-hitters but no perfect games. The last Eagle to come close to a perfect game, or for that matter a no-hitter, was Nigel Nootbaar in 2009. With two outs in the seventh and the Eagles leading 11-0 over Lawndale the unthinkable happened. Nootbaar left a pitch up and Frank Hutchinson laced a ball by the diving Grant Palmer and Jake Booterbaugh for a clean single.

Willem Mostert came close but still hurled a no-hitter. He was just a walk and an error away from a perfect game. Both came in the last inning, as the Eagles defeated host Lawndale 13-0 in a five-inning mercy-rule game. Mostert threw just 59 pitches and let his defense do the work for him. A two-run double by Joey Garza sparked the Eagles in the first inning. Garza finished 2 for 2 with four RBIs while Hunter Lewis went 2 for 3 with two RBIs. Nick Karsseboom went 2 for 3 with an RBI and Connor Underwood was 2 for 3 with two runs scored.

The Eagles picked up their third consecutive win with a 3-1 win over the John Glenn Eagles. Mitch Thompson allowed just one hit, one earned run and struck out four in five innings against the highly touted Division 2 school from the Suburban League. Spencer Long went 2 for 4 with a two-run triple and Daniel Zeman added an RBI single for El Segundo. This is a pivotal week for the Eagles, who needed a sweep of North Torrance before a showdown with South Torrance on the road next Tuesday and a 6pm home game next Thursday. All four games could have playoff implications.

The JV team is in contention for a final Pioneer League championship. Head coach Wil Parsons has his team on a roll with consecutive non-league victories over Palos Verdes and West Torrance. The Eagles are 3-1 in league play face North Torrance (4-2) this week and South Torrance (4-2) next week. The Eagles host the Saxons on Friday and Spartans on Tuesday, May 13.

The El Segundo frosh/soph team pushed their record to 17-3 with a sweep of Lawndale and a walk off win against Palos Verdes. The first Lawndale game was won 6-0 behind the pitching of Justin Ostler who struck out nine while scattering four hits for a complete game victory. Evan O'Connor had two hits and scored twice while Noah Ruedas had three hits and two runs scored to lead the Eagles.

El Segundo jumped in front of Palos Verdes 9-3. The Sea Kings made a bid at defeating the Eagles with a huge late inning rally. With the score tied Noah Ruedas was hit by a pitch with the bases loaded in the bottom of the 7th inning to give the Eagles the thrilling win.. Jackson Stone, Stevie Aldana and Ruedas each scored two runs while Ruedas had three RBIs and Jarod Whitney, Sean Emery, and CJ Shevlin each drove in two runs.

The Eagles hammered Lawndale 14-0. Stone and Whitney combined on a one-hit shutout of the Cardinals. O'Connor had a brilliant day at the plate with three hits, three runs scored and three RBI's. Kobe Estrada, Sean Emery, and Nico Celestial each had two hits and two runs scored to lead the Eagles.

McCall James has Eagles Flying

Coach Keith Cameron looked at the schedule early on and knew there would be a rough stretch during the season. There would be a long layoff between games followed by playing eight games in eight days. This arduous portion of the season has seen the Lady Eagles put together an impressive 14-game winning streak heading into this week's games with Torrance and Lawndale.

With wins over North Torrance and Torrance during the streak the Eagles need to stay focused and that's what they've continued to do thanks in part to senior pitcher McCall James. Defeating North Torrance 7-3 for the first time in five years in front of a standing room only crowd may have given the team what they needed to realize they are that good.

It was James' leadership and poise that helped put away the fifth ranked Saxons. James threw another gem — this time an efficient five-hitter with one strikeout and no walks — and even added an RBI double. She got the first batter out in every inning except the second inning and allowed just one earned run. Rhianna Rich went 2 for 4 with a triple and three runs scored. Alyssa Pelegrin and Shannon Brooker also drove in runs. Julie Roach went 2 for 3 with an RBI triple and ended the game by turning a double play. Roach grabbed the ball, stepped on first base and threw to Rich at shortstop to complete it.

For the second consecutive year, the Lady Eagles and Agoura faced off against each other in the El Segundo Tournament. The Eagles fell 9-4 in last year's final. In the semifinals the Eagles had a 7-1 lead against Redondo before the Sea Hawks tied the game. But three run home runs by Allison Tatnall and Roach gave El Segundo the 13-8 win to propel them into their own tournament final.

In the tournament final and trailing 3-0 in the fourth inning the Eagles hammered out a six run inning to take a 6-3 lead and win it by that score. James opened the inning with a walk and Nayeli Diaz followed with a single to left field. Katherine Burner and Rhianna Rich followed with RBI singles to close within 3-2. Then El Segundo took the lead on a two-run single by Allison Tatnall that did not leave the infield. James picked up the save in a 13-8 semifinal win over Redondo with 1 scoreless innings. Then James came back in the final against Agoura, scattering eight hits with three strikeouts and no walks to pick up the win. For her efforts she was named the tournament's Most Valuable Player. This could be a replay of what occurred the last time El Segundo won their own tournament: in 2009, they won the Pioneer League and advanced to a CIF final.

When I was working in Austria in the early 1980s we had a house version of Chicken Cordon Blue.

This classic dish has nothing to do with the famous cooking school in Paris that Julia child studied at in the 50s.

It is attributed to the Austrian or German culinary legend. At the Bristol hotel we had our own version of the dish "Gefullte Huhner Schnitzel Bristol"

The Chef

POTS N' PANS and how to bang them by Chef Shafer

Stuffed Chicken Breast Bristol

Stuffing:
6 chicken breasts 6-ounce each, skinless and boneless
6 slices mozzarella cheese about 1.5 oz each
12 fresh basil leaves
2 large tomatoes, diced into 1/4 inch size
1/2 a large red onion, diced fine
3 cloves of garlic, chopped
3 tablespoons olive oil
1/2 cup white wine
Salt and pepper
2 cups vegetable oil for frying

- Take each breast of chicken and place it on a clean surface then using a meat mallet flatten the chicken breast out till it is thinner by 1/2 the original size. Do not over beat it or it will tear.
- Repeat for each breast.
- Season the breast with salt and pepper.
- In a hot sauté pan add the olive oil, onions and garlic. Brown off slightly 1 minute.
- Add the tomatoes and wine. Let it reduce till almost dry.
- Cool.
- Layer each breast with a slice of cheese, 2 basil leaves a tablespoon of the tomato mixture. Fold in half. Make sure the chicken is touching chicken and the stuffing is all in the center

Coating:
1/2cup flour
2 eggs
1.5 cups breadcrumbs

- Take the eggs and beat the slight in a bowl.
- Start by dredging the stuffed breasts in the flour then dipping in the eggs then coating thoroughly with the breadcrumbs to make sure the chicken breast is sealed at the folded edge. Set aside on a sheet pan with wax paper on it. Repeat.

Sauce:
1 pound mushrooms, sliced
1/2 red onion chopped fine
3 tablespoons of olive oil
1/4 cup white wine
1 15 oz. canned dice tomatoes
3 tablespoons unsalted butter
6 to 8 basil leaves, chopped coarsely
Salt and pepper to taste

- In a 2-quart sauce pan sauté the onions and mushrooms in the olive oil about 2 minutes.
- Add the wine and tomatoes and simmer for 10 minutes stir in the butter salt pepper to taste and basil leaves. Serve with your crispy chicken.

How to Cook the Chicken:
- Heat the 2 cups of vegetable oil in a high-sided fry pan or Dutch oven. The oil should be a medium heat. If too hot it will burn the chicken; if too cold it won't cook quickly. Check the oil by dropping a drop of sliced bread in the oil if it toasts slowly its ok. Place the chicken breasts in the oil and brown carefully. Repeat till the all the breasts are browned off on all sides. Be gentle as to not open the side of the fold. Place on the sheet pan again and finish cooking in a 350 oven for 15 to 20 min. or till the breast is firm and bubbly.
- Set cooked chicken on a platter and serve with the sauce. •

as a satellite engineer for a local aerospace company. Despite the responsibilities of a 40-hour day job, she pledged to devote as much time as possible to the City. "During the past four years, I treated the Council as my second job," Fuentes said, also noting that most prior El Segundo mayors also worked full time. "My employer has been very supportive in allowing me to flex my time, take vacation and no pay to attend all my meetings."

Fuentes indicated that as Mayor she will keep her previous Council assignments, which include attending meetings for the local Senior Housing, City/School Affairs and Reach Out Against Drugs (ROAD) groups, as well as regional organizations such as the South Bay Cities Council of Governments and Santa Monica Bay Restoration Commission. "I'm maintaining my assignments because I'm committed to these committees," Fuentes said. "I have great relationships with the other members, act as a liaison and advocate and believe I bring value to these organizations." She also plans to add two more items to her plate—the LAX Area Advisory Committee and Economic Development Advisory Committee (EDAC). Fuentes pointed to the importance of the new role on EDAC, noting that she has been involved in economic development for several years representing the City mostly from a regional perspective by networking with agencies such as the Los Angeles County Economic Development Corporation and the Los Angeles Jobs Defense Council. "I've spent time with members of these groups advocating for our city's industries and reaching out to potential businesses," she said.

While emphasizing that on the dais, her vote will count the same as each of her four colleagues on the Council, Fuentes feels that as Mayor she will be more visible as El Segundo's ceremonial official and gain more access to regional and state officials in order to build beneficial coalitions. "I intend to use my increased visibility and access to help increase El Segundo's inordinately low share of each of property tax dollar," she said.

In setting her priorities going forward, Fuentes said her most important goals are balancing the City's budget, identifying the types of services the City will provide as well as who will provide them and what the cost will be to customers. Staff estimated said budget will run almost $4 million in the red in the next fiscal year—an issue Fuentes confirmed is the biggest challenge facing the City. "I've requested a list of deliverables from all the departments," she said. "I want to know what service each department provides, who provides the service, how much time is required, and what it costs the City. We need to determine the return on assets employed. I expect to see this at our first strategic planning session."

"Responding to recent public comments from the podium suggesting that the Council is a divided group, Fuentes believes the five individuals can work together as one unit on behalf of the City."

Meanwhile, Fuentes oversaw her first full Council meeting this week and promised to provide a leadership style that is respectful and pragmatic. "I will lead the meetings similar to how I've conducted myself for the past four years—listening to everyone during public communications and on the dais, and considering their opinions with my data and research," she said. "I treat everyone with respect and my expectation is that each Council member will treat his/her colleagues as well as citizens with respect." Responding to recent public comments from the podium suggesting that the Council is a divided group, Fuentes believes the five individuals can work together as one unit on behalf of the City. "Each Council member has received the highest honor from El Segundo voters—being elected to serve our community," she said. "While each has his/her perspective, we are all committed to El Segundo. I believe, generally, that we all have the same goal. Through a series of thoughtful dialogues, we can arrive at consensus." • season long. Having risen to nationally ranked status just ahead of Mira Costa, the team faced a huge challenge at the Redondo Tournament. El Segundo faced three teams ranked in the top 25 and came away feeling good about their play knowing they could play with the nation's elite.

El Segundo finished fifth at the Redondo Tournament after going 2-1. They fell to La Costa Canyon (Carlsbad), whose imposing front line that averages 6'6", 25-22 and 25-20 but rebounded to defeat Carlsbad 25-21, 25-18 and La Jolla 28-26, 25-15. The Eagles traveled to South Torrance on Tuesday for a showdown with the Spartans and a Pioneer League title on the line. El Segundo swept the sixth ranked Spartans in their first meeting 25-18, 25-21 and 30-28. •

Lakers will focus on the NBA draft, getting a decent pick and trying to attract big-time free agents to play for the team who might even give their input as to who they would want as coach. Thus far, Kevin Ollie of the NCAA champion UConn Huskies, John Calipari of the Kentucky Wildcats and Tom Thibodeau of the Chicago Bulls have all been linked to the job. All are currently under contract with their respective teams, so it may take a lot of convincing and a long time to finish the process. But who wouldn't want to coach the Lakers?

It has been an amazing week for Los Angeles sports history and it only figured to get better as time goes on. Whether it's baseball, basketball, hockey or even bowling or pool, sports has never been better here in L.A. If you haven't been paying attention recently, I feel bad for you: but it's not too late. Follow your hometown teams throughout the playoffs, regular season and even offseason right here with the Torrance Tribune all year long. •

Wowser Schnauzers

We are looking for volunteers to help with our Saturday pet adoption events which are held at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway Redondo Beach 90277. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org

Victoria is looking for love after her rescue.

My name is Victoria and I'm definitely feeling victorious these days. My friend, Mandy, and I were rescued from a terrible hoarding situation. We were certainly headed for a shelter when our owner surrendered us to MSFR. They had already rescued four other dogs from this hoarding situation so I'm very grateful they opened their hearts and took us in too. I'm an 18 pound, 3-year old, purebred, female, Miniature Schnauzer who's very smart. I'm learning how to walk on a leash and I'm looking forward to taking long walks. I love people and get along so well with other dogs, that I'd love to find a forever home that already has a dog to play with. If you are interested Victoria, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

I'm Mandy, a 1.5-year old, female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer. My gal pal, Victoria, and I were rescued from a hoarding situation - narrowly escaping a trip to a shelter. I have to admit that since I'm on my own, I'm pretty fearful and not very trusting of people (can you blame me?). I'm not the least bit aggressive but I give strangers a wide berth. Like Victoria, I'm learning how to walk on a leash so I can take walks with my new family. Since I'm used to being around lots of dogs, I would love to have a doggie pal in my new home to join in the fun. I weigh about 18 pounds – just the perfect size to take anywhere my forever family goes. If you are interested Mandy, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

For a 6-year old, female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer, I've really been shuffled around. Let me introduce myself, I'm Gwen and I've resided in at least two – maybe three – shelters in my lifetime. The most recent time when I was brought in as a stray, the LA county shelter contacted my owner. They decided they didn't want me any more so I spent two weeks at the shelter before being rescued. The whole time I was in the shelter, I couldn't figure out why they didn't want me. I love people, have a great temperament, get along great with other dogs and I'm not very big – only 13 pounds. I do have impaired

Mandy was also rescued from an abusive situation and needs lots of love.

Gwen is losing her sight but still needs someone to watch over her.

vision due to juvenile cataracts, which is very common in Miniature Schnauzers. The Vet even did a blood panel on me to make certain there were no underlying causes for my vision problems and all the results came back normal. I'm not totally blind, however, the odds are good that I could be in three or four years. If that happens it won't limit my capacity to be the best companion ever because you don't have to see to love. I'm looking for a loving, responsible family to love me and give me a chance to show them what happiness is. If you are interested in Gwen, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

Have you ever seen a beautiful, golden colored Labrador/Jindo mix? If not, take a look at me! My name is Cayenne and I'm a 1-year old female who is crate trained, rides quietly in the car and is eager to please. I've never met a human that I didn't fall in love with immediately. My energy requirements are not super-high but I'll be a fantastic companion for someone with an active lifestyle who's looking for a running companion. I'll even stay right next to you as we run together. I know some obedience commands but I haven't learned how to play with other dogs. That said it would be best if I were an only dog, at least for now. Once I become comfortable around other dogs, we may want to explore adopting a doggie pal for me. Cayenne can be seen anytime at Yellow Brick Road Doggie Playcare in El Segundo Call 310-606-5507.

If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability you can email us at info@msfr.org. Please visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoptions fair held every Saturday from noon-3:30 p.m. or check out our website, www.msfr.org. Our adoptions fairs take place at Petco, 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway, Redondo Beach, California. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one! •

Cayenne is a Lab & Jindo mix and would like to be a single dog with an owner who likes to play.

Happy Tails

Long Time MSFR Adopters Open Their Hearts to a Fifth Dog with Special Needs

Huge congratulations to Seth and his new family. Seth is our 10-year old blind mini that we rescued from the Downey shelter last October. Someone turned him in as a stray, but when he was microchip scanned the chip's info led right back to the person who dumped him! Two months ago he had a toe removed that was malignant but a pathology report and X-rays determined it hadn't spread. Seth also has a heart murmur and is on a stone prevention diet. His new parents are long time MSFR adopters. He is the fifth dog they have adopted from us and four of those five were older dogs with special needs. When they heard about Seth's medical issues, they said he was meant for them no matter how much time he had left. Do people really have hearts that big?? Why, yes they do! When they met him they were over the moon in love. Seth joins a 2012 MSFR alumnus named Atticus. •

Seth is an older dog who now lives comfortably with his new family and sibling.

Beadtopia offers Jewelry Making ClassesWhere Creativity Flows

Beadtopia is a bead and jewelry making supplies store which prides itself on friendly service and great prices. “Beading is a relaxing and rewarding activity for me,” said Gina Lim, General Manager. A creative place where people get together to make jewelry and attend a wide range of classes in jewelry arts, customers are encouraged to make their own statement pieces. “Many of our customers, like myself, find beading as an escape from the daily pressures and a way to express their creativity.”

“El Segundo has been very welcoming to our business and we are very honored to be the Best of the Best Gift Store,” stated Lim. “Our customers enjoy looking at the wonderful colors and textures in our shop, and we hope to inspire all those who walk into our shop to create something special. Beading is such an elegant craft and it is so easy to learn. We have great ideas for Mother’s Day and graduation presents such as special handmade jewelry and gift certificates.”

Beadtopia also offers a range of beading classes including Pearl Knotting, Basics of Wire Wrapping, Kumihimo - Japanese Braiding, and much more having all the supplies you need if you want to make jewelry. Beadtopia’s hours are as follows: Monday and Tuesday 11-5, Wed-Thursday 11-7, Friday 11-5 and Saturday 10-5. The shop is closed Sundays. See website www.bead-topia.com for more information. •
