Local Carwash Owner Celebrates 20 Years in Town

By Brian Simon

While still attending Westchester High School, a then-16-year-old Tom Ennis landed his first job as a box boy at the Boys Market in Marina del Rey. He was a hard worker and, over the next couple of years, earned a promotion to checker. But ultimately, he realized he wasn't cut out for this sort of vocation. So he decided to talk to his dad, who in 1961 founded the Inglewood-based N/S Corporation, which manufactured car wash systems. However, the elder Ennis wasn't about to give his son a free ride, and thus the new hire had to start at the bottom, sweeping floors. He'd have to earn his way up the ladder. Ultimately, he did just that, rising to the top of the company ranks over the next 25 years and helping build the outfit into an industry powerhouse.

In the early 2000s, Ennis acquired a piece of land at Sepulveda and Palm, where a Carl's Jr. now operates. His master plan was to open an express car wash at the site, the first of its kind in the Southland. He hired an architect and went through all the necessary hoops and approval channels, only to have the application denied by the El Segundo City Council. The property was too close to residences, which was the main argument. Ultimately, the popular fast food chain leased the spot, and Ennis temporarily abandoned his dream. That was until 2004, when the owners of International Garden and Floral Design Center, less than a mile south, approached him about purchasing half of their property. They wanted to consolidate and thought Ennis would not run into any obstacles with the City this time out. They were correct, as the plans went through with mostly flying colors. Now, El Segundo 5-Minute Express with Ennis at the helm celebrates 20 years in town, and he happily reported that business is thriving. On a typical sunny day, more than 1,000 vehicles with drivers in tow pass through the 200-foot-long tunnel, which is outfitted with state-of-the-art equipment designed to clean a car with both speed and precision. The concept quickly caught on. "Once I opened, everyone and their brother wanted to open an express wash," Ennis said. "Now they're all over Southern California and the nation."

Not one to rest on his laurels, Ennis continually updates the equipment and seeks out all the latest bells and whistles to stay ahead of the curve. He recently returned from his annual trip to the car wash convention in Nashville with a few new ideas he wasn't at liberty to share just yet. "Nothing in here is more than a couple of years old," he said, pointing to the importance of making sure the various brushes, drying mechanisms, and wax dispensers don't hang around long enough to falter. Looking to the future, he sees AI and robotics as key components for optimizing car wash systems over the next 10-15 years, and he readily embraces the new technology. At the same time, he maintains an old-school approach to customer service with most of his staff on board for a decade or more. He also keeps two mottos in place that rule the day: number one is that a customer must always leave happy, and the other is that the customer is always right. "If the customer is wrong, then I go back to the first motto," Ennis emphasized, noting the challenges at hand as many people build an emotional

City Council Covers Contingency Costs Air Conditioning, Airport Noise, and Proclamations

By Liz Spear

For the second City Council meeting in a row, Council member Lance Giroux called out contingencies in contracts the city has with vendors. In the previous regularly scheduled council meeting on Tuesday, May 5, he spoke about a Consent Calendar item with city vendor and software firm Tyler Technologies, saying that if vendors already have a contingency built into their bids (and the assumption is they do), why would the city need to also add in contingencies to pay for problems/issues that might occur.

Giroux echoed that sentiment again at Tuesday night's regularly scheduled council meeting, bringing up the point that on Tuesday night's agenda, when combined, contingencies in contracts totaled $1.6 million. He said, "I believe the onus needs to be put on the people who have won the bids to do the work." Public Works Director Elias Sassoon then told council that the contingencies are meant to cover unforeseen situations, as well as not to have to "bother" the city council with additional requests for more funding at a city council meeting. "Frankly, it is a convenient way of getting projects done more efficiently," said Sassoon. "It's just a budget. It doesn't mean we're going to spend it." Giroux noted, "In my experience, we do an awful good job of spending the contingencies on our projects, so this is the problem, is that when you start adding these up every time they come to us, it's

Author Spotlight: Rachel Gillig

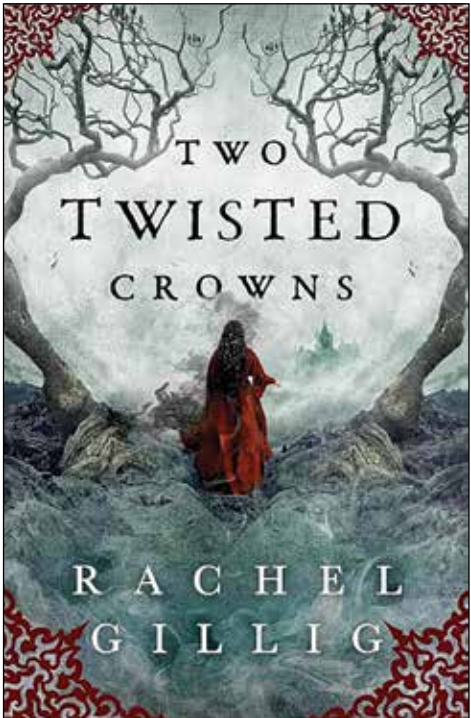

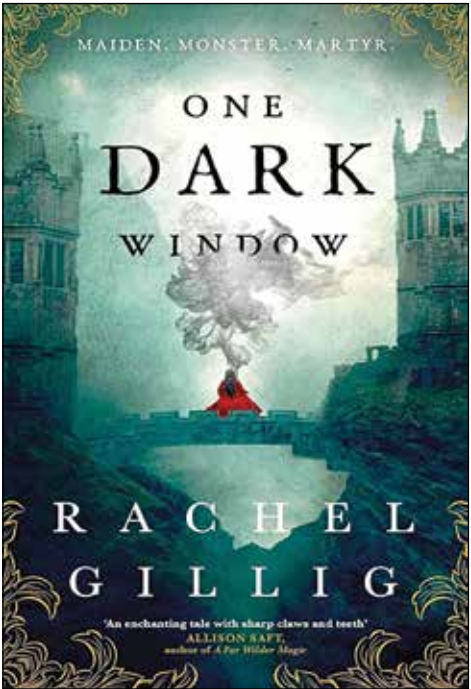

By Kristina Kora-Beckman, Senior Librarian, El Segundo Public Library

California coast author Rachel Gillig creates immersive, engrossing dystopias filled with dark intrigue, disturbingly dysfunctional power systems and relatable, yet flawed, characters. Gillig’s latest outing, The Knight and the Moth, the first of her sophomore series, The Stonewater Kingdom, centers on a young propheticess, Sybil Delling, and her fellow founding girl Diviners, who have traded a decade of service dreaming of Omens, predicting the futures of the rich and powerful, for a home in the great Aisling Cathedral. Part gothic mystery, part hopeless quest, this story’s characters discover the horrific truth behind their worldview, grapple with impossible decisions of what to do with the information and how to move forward in a world that is forever changed. I loved the complicated relationships, inventive origin story and creative ways in which “magic” manifested. The tale also explores the cost of powers and the lengths those that thirst for it will go to maintain control in society.

I also enjoyed Gillig’s debut series, The Shepherd King, a duology about Katherine, a young girl infected with a magical plague that makes her a conduit for powers bound in enchanted cards. Systemic corruption, outwardly “normal” appearing characters struggle to balance good intentions with dark impulses in this romantasy tale that explores how magic, with the power it gives, comes at a cost, often of someone’s freedom. I look forward to savoring Gillig’s next richly imagined installment, The Knave and the Moon, due out in September 2026.

El Segundo Treasure Hunt is Fun and Free

Fun, free, and open 24/7! Anonymous El Segundo residents have set up a fun treasure hunt all over town, and all you need to do is walk or bike around your neighborhood.

The Little Library concept has been around for a few years. Their website will provide a map of locations in your area. They have four El Segundo boxes listed on the official website.

Got your walking shoes on? Two are on Loma Vista, One on Bungalow. There is one at Main and Mariposa; it may have been an Eagle Scout project. Take a book, leave a book, it’s win-win! Some are not “official” but still offer the same fun as one on Sycamore near Loma Vista, or by the Episcopal Church, one on Mariposa near Center Street School, or one on Standard near ESHS. There is one on the 300 block of East Acacia and one that honors Dr. Seuss on Sheldon. There is a small, blue, humble one on Whiting off of Mariposa, further south, a big, new one, and across the street, a “giving tree” with a bag of trinkets just for the fun of it. Not on the sidewalk, but the El Segundo Library has free packets of native plant seeds available inside, near the new book racks.

The corner of Richmond and Pine boasts a book box and, on the opposite corner, a Puzzle Box, which may be popular when the weather turns cold & gray. Does Old Town Music Hall count? They have free brochures available on Richmond Street highlighting upcoming classic movies and live performances in the months ahead. One of the newest free sidewalk offerings is a “Poem of the Week” to read on the 400 block of West Oak. Read at your own risk!

You don’t have to leave a book to take one, but that is part of the fun; recycling at its most engaging. I’ve probably missed some, so I’d better get my walking shoes on. See you outdoors!

Girls Lacrosse Wins CIF Division 2 Championship

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

Make room for another CIF Championship banner in the El Segundo High School gymnasium. The El Segundo High School girls' lacrosse team won the CIF Southern Section Division 2 lacrosse championship with their 4-3 win over Huntington Beach. With the win, it gives the Eagles fifty team CIF Southern Section Division championships.

If this were a movie, you couldn't have scripted it any better. So, queue up the soundtrack with the song from the movie Forrest Gump, "The Feather Theme," playing in the background. The opening scene takes place four years ago, when the girls' lacrosse program at El Segundo High School was nearing its demise due to declining interest and a vacant coaching position. Seven freshmen, including Grace Beetner, Juliette Lague, Bridget Michel, Kyra Snell, Kali McMillon, Sarah Hafez, and Katlin Black, enter the program along with first-year head coach Shea Mac Dalit.

Over the next four years, this group of seven players and their dedicated, passionate coach weave into a family, including other players along the way towards a CIF championship and school immortality.

Fast forward to 2025, when the Eagles reached their first CIF Southern Section championship game only to lose 11-8. According to Coach Mac, the team learned some valuable lessons from that championship game. "Last year taught us how to manage nerves and find composure on a big stage. This year demanded something different. It tested our grit, physicality, and mental toughness. We weren't just calming ourselves in tough moments - we were learning, in real time, how to stay locked in and keep fighting when legs were tired, momentum had shifted, and the game was on the line for a championship title."

The Eagles cruised to the 2026 championship game by defeating San Marcos, Royal (Simi Valley), and Roosevelt (Norco). The Eagles would face a familiar foe in the finals when they lined up opposite the Huntington Beach Oilers. These two teams met last season in the CIF-SS Division 2 Semi-Finals at Huntington Beach, where the Eagles prevailed in a nail-biter 13-11. The Eagles would fall in the finals to St. Margaret's (Irvine) 11-8, but in the process learned some valuable lessons.

In this season's CIF final, the Eagles jumped out to a 3-0 lead in the first period. Sophomore midfielder Tessa Tipton scored the first-period hat trick by scoring at the 9:23 mark with a slicing shot inside. After a save by freshman goalkeeper Makena Burton, the Eagles worked their patient offense around Tipton, who scored with 4:38 remaining to make it 2-0. On El Segundo's next possession, as time was running out, Tipton slid the ball into the net with 00:01 showing on the scoreboard for a 3-0 lead.

In the second period, Huntington Beach scored with 3:50 remaining when Ella Jones scored on a backhand to make it 3-1. The Oilers would tie the game in the third period at 3-3 with a penalty shot by Jones with 9:43 left and a goal by Elle Tran with 5:36 remaining in the period.

In the fourth quarter, both teams had opportunities, but on a night where the defensive strategies prevailed, the only goal came with 6:39 remaining in regulation. The Eagles advanced the ball inside to Tessa Tipton, who had been getting double and at times triple-teamed. Tipton's unwavering passion to score defied the odds and pushed the ball past three defenders inside and past Oilers goaltender Lauren Young for the go-ahead and eventual winning goal for a 4-3 win.

El Segundo opened strong and composed, building a three-goal lead by playing their style. As the game settled, Huntington Beach applied heavy pressure across the field, and it became a true possession battle that demanded constant effort from everyone. Coach Mac spun the victory this way, "The second half tested us emotionally as much as physically. Even though we had been here before, we wanted a different result. Tight championship games often come down to who wants it more, and Friday felt like two teams who both wanted it at their core."

Huntington Beach was honoring a late teammate. The Eagles were playing for their seniors and for the legacy of a program that was nearly shut down just four years ago. On both sides, there was something far bigger than the scoreboard driving every possession. Coach Mac said, "In the end, I believe the difference came from what we've built together- on and off the field. A lacrosse family that is defined by connection, belief, and playing for each other in every moment."

Coach Mac was quick to give each player and coach credit for the win. Tessa with four goals and her relentless play, while Kali on the draws and her steady leadership. Bridget locked out top matchups, and Juliette disrupted ball-handlers. Dom applied constant stopper pressure while Lailah ran ball movement at X. KB won key offensive ground balls, and Elle set the tone on the attack. Frankie brought fire in transition while Riley's elite defense and passionate play stood out. Elliot's timely defensive disruptions and team defense were a factor. Kyra is driving play all over the field with intensity, and Makena with clutch saves and her Big Red presence. Beet, Ashlan, Nico, Emma, Larkin, and Sarah lifting the sidelines was key. Lana and Todd are making the coaching staff a dream to be part of. Everyone, in every role, contributed when it mattered most.

Finally, Coach Mac made sure to say this championship belonged to more than just the team. "This championship belongs to more than the players. It belongs to El Segundo High School, our families, and a community that has wrapped itself around this program in a special way."

As the credits roll on this movie and the feather lightly blows into the wind, it's appropriate to name the stars. Thank you, Grace Dominick, Makena Burton, Grace Beetner, Frankie Joubert, Riley Clinton, Juliette Lague, Bridget Michel, Nico Mangan, Lailah Guzman, Emma Cooley, Ashlan Counts, Kyra Snell, Kali McMillon, Tessa Tipton, Kaitlin Black, Larkin Athey, Elle McCrea, Elliot Richmon and Sarah Hafez and the coaching staff of Coach Mac, Lana Sheppard, Todd Tipton and Athletic Trainer Alexis Freeman.

Could it be their year to win twenty games, win a league title, and go deep in the CIF playoffs; all realistic goals. The Eagles came up just short of achieving their goals by winning nineteen games, runners-up in the Pioneer League and getting whisked out of the playoffs in the first round.

Despite falling short of their season goals, they had a successful and positive year. Of their nineteen wins, the Eagles had eleven victories over playoff-bound teams. They outscored their opponents 219-124 and scored in double digits in thirteen games.

When the playoffs were announced, the Eagles were slotted in the CIF-SS Division 2 bracket and were paired up with the fourth-seeded Gahr Gladiators. The Eagles were held in check offensively, managing just four hits and hitting into three double plays. Senior second baseman Jaiden Rico was the bright spot, getting two of the team's four hits.

The Gladiators used timely hitting to score twice in the third inning and an insurance run in the sixth inning. Freshman right-hander Declan McRoberts started and threw brilliantly while Alton DeBlanc finished up. Their stat line was good enough to win, three runs on six hits. But when you are held scoreless, it doesn't matter how well you pitch.

The Eagles' success in the Pioneer League this season and last season will most likely promote them to the Bay League for 2027 against Mira Costa, Redondo, Torrance, and Palos Verdes.

Softball Team Comes up Short

The softball team traveled to Huntington

Beach to face the Edison Chargers in the first round of the CIF Southern Section Division 3 playoffs. The Eagles lost 8-5 when their comeback fell short.

El Segundo took an early first-inning lead when Taryn Walker connected on a fastball and sent it over the fence for a two-run home run. The Chargers responded with a run of their own in the bottom half of the first inning to make it 2-1. In the second inning, the Chargers executed a double steal to tie the game.

In the fifth inning, the Eagles were trailing 4-2 and closed the gap by scoring one run. Ava King, who battled on a fourteen pitch at bat in the third inning, was hit by a pitch and ended up scoring on an RBI single by Marilyn McCaverty to make it 4-3 in the fifth inning.

The wheels fell off in the bottom half of the fifth inning when the Chargers came up with four runs on seven hits and took an 8-3 lead.

In the sixth inning, the Eagles responded with two runs. Sullivan McLaughlin singled and scored on Deklan McCormack's RBI single. Ella Sabosky singled, Cat Reed walked, and McCaverty's RBI single scored McCormack, making it 8-5. With bases loaded, Carter Cswaykus came to the plate. She was the victim of two questionable called strikes, the second one clearly out of the strike zone, and was called out, ending the inning. In the seventh inning, the Eagles' rally was cut short after Taryn Walker's leadoff single, and the Eagles lost. It was a gallant effort for a team that outhit the Chargers, but in the process left fourteen runners on base. •

Type Goes Here

Tessa Tipton scored all four of El Segundo's goals in the 4-3 win over Huntington Beach in the CIF-SS Division 2 finals.

Local Carwash

attachment to their car and may have little patience for any mishaps.

In addition to a wealth of area residents, El Segundo 5-Minute Express also boasts a large corporate clientele. Ennis shared that limo drivers especially like the tunnel’s 200-foot length. He added that he is proud to service vehicles for local police and other City departments as well as airport, customs, and aerospace firms. And while the concept of the express wash is to drive through it yourself and handle any needed wipe-down or vacuuming, on-site staff will jump in to help the elderly, disabled, or public safety personnel. “People tell us they come here from Hollywood Hills, Palos Verdes, Santa Monica, and all over the region because they feel we do it best,” Ennis said. They also do it for less than full-service facilities that might have 10 times the personnel and higher overhead. Options range from basic to deluxe washes, offering lower price points overall without compromising quality. The indoor lounge features vending machines selling cleaning products, as well as snacks and beverages.

Though business is strong these days, obstacles always crop up. The lengthy storms earlier in the year essentially shut the place down for a long time. So there are dry spells when it’s wet. Then, back during the early stages of COVID, the car wash had to close completely for a lengthy spell. “It was difficult,” Ennis recalled. “Then I noticed that Costco’s car wash was still open, as were some at nearby gas stations. So I just decided to reopen. On the first day, 40 cars came through with one employee on-site. The next day, we had 60 cars and two employees. After two weeks, we reached 500 and continued to grow from there. We were all masked up, but managed to get through it.” The car wash also survived an electrical panel fire a decade ago that nearly turned into a total disaster.

Like any business that has been around for a while, El Segundo 5-Minute Express has its share of unusual stories. In one memorable case, three USC college students asked if they could use the car wash to film a YouTube video. “They asked if they could put Speedos on and ride through the tunnel open-air on a three-wheel motorcycle,” Ennis said. “They put on their goggles and did it.”

The car wash is also the occasional unexpected location of choice to pop the question. “I’ve heard about at least a dozen marriage proposals happening while a couple is riding through the tunnel,” Ennis said, adding that he believes the response was a yes in each instance.

When he’s not hanging out in his office, Ennis is a self-described gym rat who regularly works out at the iconic Gold’s facility in Venice, where he often finds a certain Austrian actor/bodybuilder/former governor hitting the weights. He is an avid snow skier, car collector, and e-bike enthusiast who enjoys spending time in the great outdoors. He and his dad retired from their posts at N/S Corporation not long after El Segundo 5-Minute Express opened. The elder Ennis moved to Cabo San Lucas seven years ago.

Though he grew up in Playa del Rey, where his mom still resides, Ennis bought a house in El Segundo five years ago and lives here with his wife, Andrea, and sons Tommy, 12, and Camden, 10. The two boys attend local schools and participate in youth sports. “I spent my birthday watching my kid play baseball at Rec Park,” Ennis proudly noted, adding that his mom attends every game. Meanwhile, Andrea, a nurse practitioner in the LA school system who works with special needs kids, is heavily involved with the PTA and Little League. “I love El Segundo and its small-town atmosphere,” Ennis said. “We head out on our e-bikes, go to dinner, and enjoy saying hello to people on the street.”

Ennis also says hello to people daily while at work, even if they don’t happen to know each other by name. Yet there is always a nod of recognition and a feeling of camaraderie. “Other than getting married and starting a family, Express is the best thing I’ve ever done,” he said. •
