Council Is Iffy on Percent for Arts Proposal; Receives ESPD Updates

By Brian Simon

Plans to establish a percent for arts fee on future commercial/industrial construction and repair/renovation projects of a certain size or larger hit a temporary snag on Tuesday night as members of the El Segundo City Council were not satisfied with the initial numbers recommended. A presentation helmed by Library Director Melissa McCollum (with help from Arts and Culture Advisory Committee Chair Jeff Cason, Planning and Building Safety Director Sam Lee, and Arts Committee member Eva Sweeney) laid out parameters for a proposed ordinance to assess a 1 percent cultural development fee on projects with building valuations of $500,000 or higher – and to allocate those monies into an ongoing fund to develop civic arts programs and improve local quality of life and aesthetics.

The presenters noted that at least 36 LA County municipalities (with Culver City, Manhattan Beach and West Hollywood offered as examples) have implemented percent for arts ordinances as a way to enhance public access to the arts, drive local tourism and attract new businesses. Cason spoke of El Segundo's creative economy that generated $3.5 billion of output, with the thought that the city can grow as a major arts destination in the region.

In addition to proposing the $500,000 threshold, the presenters also suggested a $100,000 fee/art project cap as well as a stipulation that the 1 percent fee will go towards providing public art onsite on projects with building valuations over $7.5 million. Exemptions from the potential fee include residential projects, non-profit buildings, performing arts/museum spaces, renovations/repairs for seismic safety or ADA compliance, and repairs/rehabilitation of existing buildings damaged or destroyed by fire or natural disaster.

The presenters also recommended a $1 million cultural development fund budget, with a sample breakdown covering developer projects ($200,000), capital enhancements ($300,000), permanent art ($200,000), community experiences such as performance art/music ($200,000) and grants to promote artists ($100,000). The City Council would have to approve any contracts exceeding $50,000.

To further bolster the rationale to assess the fee, Lee provided data showing that El Segundo's plan check and permit fees run anywhere from 49 to 66 percent lower than the compared cities of Los Angeles, Manhattan Beach, Glendale, Culver City and Torrance. Of note, his department revised its own fee structure in 2018 and lowered the charges by 34-43 percent.

For her portion, Sweeney mentioned examples of various notable public art projects in the Southland (e.g. the urban lights at LACMA and camouflage electrical box in Culver City) as well as outside the state. Cason concluded by summarizing measures of success such as community and partner satisfaction, expansion of the creative economy, and enhancement of El Segundo's image/reputation – all while also promoting prudent fiscal management.

In the public hearing portion, Planning Commission Chair Ryan Baldino opined that $1 million is a "substantial amount to be raised to go to a subcommittee of the City Council" and felt the monies would be much better served to help pay down pension liabilities. Queried by Mayor Drew Boyles on the matter, City Attorney Mark Hensley confirmed that developer impact fees can't be used for pensions. Boyles also disagreed with the idea of requiring onsite public art on projects over $7.5 million, feeling that developers should be allowed to decide what will work best on their properties and that the process should "happen organically."

Mayor Pro Tem Carol Pirsztuk felt the $100,000 cap was "inequitable across the board" (a $10 million project would pay the same as a $50 million project under this arrangement) and that a different cap ought to be placed on remodels versus new developments. Councilmember Don Brann agreed with her on the cap issue, while Councilmember Chris Pimentel thought smaller projects ($500,000 to $750,000) were "not the ideal group to target" for such a fee. Councilmember Scot Nicol took it further, calling the $500,000 too low and suggesting to "go after bigger fish." He preferred a much larger threshold of $2.5 to $3 million with a $250,000 cap, given the high costs of construction in town.

In the end, the Council directed staff to go back to the drawing board and return in 60 days with revised numbers. In general, the members supported the concept of the

Nanette Fisher

The future belongs to those who believe in the beauty of their dreams. – Eleanor Roosevelt

Nanette Hunt Fisher, 84, passed away June 28th near her home in Morongo Valley, California. Born July 20th, 1934 in Redfield, South Dakota, Mrs. Fisher was the eldest of five children born to Fred Oliver Hunt and Pearl Christine Levans. The daughter of a Methodist minister, she moved six times before college and attended five different schools in Oregon and Washington State.

In 1956, she earned her Bachelor of Arts from Seattle Pacific College, where she met her future husband of 60 years, Donald Fisher. Upon graduation, Mrs. Fisher began her career as a Home Economics teacher at her alma mater Monroe High School in Washington.

After marrying in 1957, the newlyweds ventured to New York City, where in 1963 Mrs. Fisher completed her Master of Science in Education at Hunter College. She continued teaching amidst moves to Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Washington, and amidst the births of three children. Defying the strict dictates at the time forbidding pregnant women from teaching or attending school, Mrs. Fisher did both.

In 1964, the family relocated to southern California, where she taught Home Economics at El Segundo High School. She also taught Consumer Education, and English, and ultimately served as school librarian. One highlight was spearheading a student-run restaurant known as the “Eagle Feeder.”

In 1968, Mrs. Fisher became a licensed Marriage and Family Counselor, which she practiced alongside teaching. In 1986, she also became a licensed realtor, and in 1990 a broker when she and Don founded Park Place Realty in Wrightwood, California. In 1995, after a 39-year teaching career, Mrs. Fisher retired from ESHS, and for the next 15 years she ran Park Place Realty before retiring to Morongo Valley.

Her interests included literature, theatre, film, art, and music. She shared her delight in cooking, dress-making, ice cream, flowers, and games with those close to her. She loved traveling, and some of her favorite destinations were Switzerland, South Africa, the Caribbean, the Panama Canal, the Holy Land, the Amazon, Greece and Italy.

She is survived by loving siblings John, Charlotte, Christine, and Fred, beloved children Daniel, Tamara, and Kim, and cherished grandchildren Jessica, Nelson, and Laura. A memorial service will be held in Manhattan Beach this Saturday, July 20 at 2:00. If interested in attending, please call or text 510-333-2771. •

City Hall Online Outage

Last week, El Segundo City Hall experienced a technical outage that affected email and online services. As of this past Monday, July 15, the City was in the process of successfully restoring all systems incrementally. Due to the outage, the online payment option for water utility bills was voluntarily suspended for reconciliation and reconfiguration. The City anticipated to have the system back online by Wednesday, July 17. For any questions, call 310-524-2319, or email H2oinquiries@elsegundo.org

South Bay Fiber Network

The South Bay Cities will soon become even more closely connected as they join forces to offer faster and less expensive broadband connectivity to their facilities with investment in a next-generation dedicated fiber network. The South Bay Cities Council of Governments (“SBCCOG”) has awarded a contract to American Dark Fiber, a Southern California broadband company. They will build and provide gigabit, scalable broadband connectivity to the Joint Powers Authority for the 16 cities (including El Segundo) and County of Los Angeles that comprise the SBCCOG. In addition, the South Bay Workforce Investment Board, LA BioMed, Beach Cities Health District (BCHD), LA Metro, and LA County Public Works are participating in the project.

The purpose of this project is to construct the regional fiber-optic broadband infrastructure to support enhancements for mobility and accessibility systems and networks that serve South Bay residents through services offered by their municipalities. The network will provide the necessary infrastructure to support:

- Inter- as well as intra-city connectivity improvements to transportation systems management.
- Enhanced signal synchronization within and between participating cities.
- Future transportation systems management applications for Autonomous Vehicles (AV). (High-speed and resilient broadband capacity will be necessary for vehicle-to-network and vehicle-to-vehicle communications for a safe and reliable AV transportation system).
- Transportation demand management applications aiding “trips not taken” which can include: telecommuting (work-from-home for governments), “Smart” City Halls (municipal services for residents could be virtually provided), telemedicine (remote diagnostics, distributed doctor/patient video and audio interactions, transmission of large files, such as MRIs, scans, etc.), distance education (distributed, interactive instruction and video-intensive learning), and others. Implementation of these solutions will be driven by the individual cities and the two healthcare entities.

Exploring Local Aerospace’s Role in Putting Men on the Moon

By Rob McCarthy

Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin made history 50 years ago this week landing on the moon. The perilous 239,000-mile journey to explore the lunar surface is being celebrated this week in the South Bay, where the lunar module and other critical contributions to the Apollo 11 mission happened.

The Columbia Memorial Space Center in Downey is commemorating the historic moon landing and safe return to Earth by the trio of astronauts, including Michael Collins, who flew the command module and rendezvoused with the lunar module carrying Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin plus 48 pounds of moon rocks and particles they collected. Reminiscing about the historic mission to the moon, Collins recently gave a thumbs up to the 300,000 people who worked in support of Apollo 11 leading up to the July 20, 1969 exploration of the moon’s surface. “They all did their jobs so properly,” Collins said in an interview.

A 50th anniversary celebration is underway at the Space Center, off the 105 freeway in Downey. Admission is free this week to view the newest exhibit about the Apollo 11 program. The exhibit highlights the important contributions that Southern California made in getting the U.S. space program and its astronauts to the moon. The story and photos of the mission can be viewed Tuesday to Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., through October.

Tonight is a chance to rub shoulders with the former engineers on whose shoulders the success of the Apollo 11 mission rested. The Lunar Pub night offers the public a chance to explore some of Downey’s historical “watering holes that many of the Apollo engineers frequented after long days,” the center promises. Plus, at each stop there will be former engineers waiting to “share a pint regaling what working on the Apollo program was really like.” Meet from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Stardust Club, 7643 Firestone Blvd., and from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Stox Bakery and Bar, 9518 Imperial Highway. Both are in the city of Downey.

Public Notice

The mission of DTSC is to protect California’s People and environment from harmful effects of toxic substances by restoring contaminated resources, enforcing hazardous waste laws, reducing waste generation and encouraging the manufacture of chemically safer products.

Hazardous Waste Emergency Permit Raytheon

2000 E. El Segundo Blvd.
El Segundo, CA 90245

The California Department of Toxic Substances Control (DTSC) has issued an Emergency Permit to Raytheon for onsite treatment of expired chemicals located at 2000 E. El Segundo Blvd. El Segundo, CA 90245. The items to be treated include four 100gram-containers of 1-Bromo-3-Nitrobenzene. The treatment involves the addition of liquid solution to the containers to stabilize the chemicals. Once the chemicals are treated, they will be transported offsite for proper management. DTSC has determined that the chemicals pose an imminent and substantial endangerment to human health and the environment if not properly managed. Therefore, an emergency permit should be issued. This Emergency Permit is effective from July 5, 2019 through September 3, 2019. The Emergency Permit includes measures to minimize any adverse impact to the community and the environment.

CALIFORNIA ENVIRONMENTAL QUALITY ACT (CEQA): DTSC has determined that the permit is exempt from the requirements of CEQA and has filed a Notice of Exemption (NOE) with the State Clearinghouse. All Star Teams in Action

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

This is an exciting time for a young baseball player in the El Segundo Little League (ESLL) or Babe Ruth League. The El Segundo Little All-Star 10s and 11s advanced and were playing in the Section 4 tournament. The El Segundo Babe Ruth 13s have qualified for the Pacific Southwest Regional, while the 14s and 15s were eliminated in the state tournament. The 14U Girls softball team is heading to Western Nationals after placing in a qualifier tournament.

Gio Blanco Leads 10s with Two Home Runs

The ESLL 10-year-old all-star team defeated

Redondo Beach Little League on the strength of two home runs by Gio Blanco in the District 36 championship game. Blanco hit his first two-run homer in the third inning and then belted another two-run shot in the fifth inning. His consecutive homers in one game are believed to be a first at that age level in recent memory.

El Segundo played brilliantly on defense. With Jordan Slavens on the mound, he let his defense play behind him. Third baseman Ryan Wiacek made five assists. Chase Mattoon at shortstop played solidly and was on base four times while scoring twice. He closed out the win on the mound with a strikeout.

El Segundo's win propelled the defending District 36 champs into the Section 4 Tournament played at Redondo Little League this past week. In the opening round, El Segundo faced West L.A. Little League and came away with a 12-2 win. ESLL Wyatt Francis' two-run single started things for El Segundo. The seven-run fourth inning featured RBIs from Slavens, Wiacek, Sebastian Gomez and Camden Quaintance. Slavens, Wiacek and Blanco combined to stymie West L.A.'s touted offense.

In the second game, El Segundo faced Torrance in a forgettable 10-0 setback and dropped into the loser's bracket. El Segundo would need to win games on Monday, Tuesday and last night to advance to the Southern California State Tournament.

11-Year-Old All Stars Still Alive

El Segundo opened the Section 4 Tournament with a disappointing 4-0 loss to West L.A. ESLL couldn't get any offense going other than a double by Lincoln Quaintance in the second inning. Singles by Jaiden Rico, Joaquin Wagner-Bagues and Andre Sugden were the extent of the offense. Townes Potter took the loss after tossing four innings.

El Segundo defeated Westchester with an 11-0 victory in an elimination game. In the percent for arts fee (with Boyles on the fence depending on what staff presents next time).

Tuesday’s consent agenda, often passed in its entirety without discussion of more than an item or two, included a surprise turn of events. When Pirsztuk made a motion to formally adopt the previously discussed and majority-supported move for developer D.R. Horton to provide eight moderate income households at its Imperial Avenue complex, none of the Council members seconded it and so the item failed. Thus the project falls back to the original provision of six affordable units for low, very low and extremely low qualified households. As in previous meetings addressing the matter, Brann maintained his earlier no vote. The lack of additional Council support came after Nicol questioned Hensley about the City’s ability to intervene should future tenants at the housing complex run into problems. Hensley confirmed that the City can’t get involved in civil matters and “has no jurisdiction” in such situations. The homeowners would have to pursue legal action on their own. Nicol found it “troubling” that the eight lottery “winners” who move into the households could be left hanging if D.R. Horton leaves town after completing the project.

Tuesday night also included an update from the marketing firm Ignited on the recruitment campaign for the El Segundo Police Department. Chief Bill Whalen was pleased to report that sworn personnel, which had reached a low of 48 two years ago, are now up to 59 (only three below the budgeted number of 62). He added that the department will soon welcome its second lateral officer and lauded the Council’s decision last year to approve a bonus incentive for laterals as well as entry level applicants. The marketing plan includes an array of online, social media, outdoor billboard and other advertising mechanisms to attract candidates. The result has been a huge uptick in applications, leading Whalen to conclude that the process is working well. He indicated the department will continue to be aggressive in pushing the recruitment given that 40 percent of the current sworn personnel will retire over the next four years.

Whalen returned to the podium to provide the most recent six-month crime update and had some good news: Local Part 1 crimes dropped 13.1 percent over that period compared to January-June 2018 and also fell below the mean of the last six years. The chief noted that crime rose in El Segundo (and practically everywhere else in the region) after the passage of Prop 47 – the measure that reduced penalties for various property and drug offenses and subsequently left more criminals on the streets. But the latest local crime numbers are now lower than they were before Prop 47.

Among the stats, violent crimes swelled by 117 percent. Whalen emphasized that there were only 21 more instances compared to last year and that of the 39 total, only three were situations in which the victim and suspect didn’t know each other. As one example, the three rape incidents included two of the statutory nature (involving someone under 18) and another with two people who knew each other. While robberies increased 56 percent, they are categorized as “violent crimes” if a shoplifter merely pushes someone out of the way to run out of a store. Aggravated assaults also rose from eight to 22, though Whalen reiterated that most of the people knew each other. He added that the department has a very high clearance rate of 86 percent to close aggravated assault cases. Meanwhile, there were fewer burglaries and larceny incidents compared to last year. Finally, the number of calls to the department about community homeless declined dramatically (from 195 to 90) as well as related arrests (from 50 to 29). •

Center as an important contributor to the Apollo voyage. The Apollo capsules “rolled off the assembly line” in Downey, on a 160-acre parcel that was twice the size of Disneyland. The bustling space was home to factories, offices and test facilities for mission-critical systems that NASA depended on for flight, guidance and re-entry of its Apollo 11 crew.

Gerald Blackburn, who was one of the more than 25,000 people who worked at the Downey property at the height of Apollo program in the mid-1960s, called it “a magical place.”

He recalled, “We worked at the spaceship factory. We were all part of a team -- Team Apollo.” The property since has been re-developed into stores, movie theaters and restaurants.

Friday is NASA Day at the center, which will broadcast segments from the Space Center on NASA TV and Discovery Science channel. The day will feature hands-on activities, original performances from the Chalk Rep theater company, projects from the Space Center’s young Apollo Summer campers and girls in STEM Club. Historical Apollo artifacts and Apollo alumni will be available to talk and answer questions. Admission to this one-day event is free.

Saturday is Apollo 11 Landing Day at the center. Visitors can revel in the far-reaching feat achieved 50 years ago when the first men reached the moon. Astronauts Armstrong and Aldrin made good on President John Kennedy’s promise that America’s space program would put men on the moon and return them home safely before the end of the decade. Raytheon has provided Apollo-themed activities, and guests will be treated to dramatic performances portraying life in the Apollo Program while watching “live” as Neil Armstrong takes his first “giant leap for mankind.”

Visitors on Saturday can snap a photo of themselves jumping on the moon, and share the image with family and friends on social media to commemorate the first successful voyage to the moon -- 239,900 miles away. The movie Apollo 11 will be screened outdoors on Saturday. Filmmaker Todd Douglas Miller calls it “a cinematic event 50 years in the making.”

The festivities continue on Tuesday for Splashdown Day, with the center opening its doors at 10 a.m. to recognize the return of the Apollo 11 capsule carrying the three U.S. heroes aboard with moon rocks, which are on display at the Smithsonian Museum in Washington, D.C. The day’s speakers will include the people who worked on the parachute systems that worked to perfection as the capsule splashed down in the Pacific Ocean.

Who doesn’t like seeing artifacts and real stuff from the Apollo 11 mission? The Los Angeles Public Library in cooperation with the Downey space center is hosting a traveling exhibit of items and speakers in July. The next event is on July 27 at 2 p.m. at the San Pedro Regional Library, 12006 Venice Blvd. in Los Angeles.

The California Legislature this year approved $5 million for the Columbia Memorial Space Center to expand and construct a second building on the grounds. A major focus of the programs is to promote STEM to schoolchildren in the South Bay and Greater Los Angeles schools. The center’s executive director said the money will continue the space program’s quest for innovation and to push the boundaries of human knowledge. “This gift will allow the Space Center to bring that spirit of exploration and discovery to new generations, helping to fulfill our mission to ignite a community of creative and critical thinkers,” Ben Dickow said recently about the state’s investment in the center. •

Babe Ruth 13-Year-Olds Advance While 15s and 14s Get Eliminated

The El Segundo Babe Ruth League has had storied success. With four 13-15-year-old World Series titles and one 13-year-old title to its credit, El Segundo is well known for its competitiveness and success.

The 15s, 14s and 13s each competed in the Southern California Babe Ruth Tournament with the winners advancing to the Pacific Southwest Regional. Winners there advance to the World Series. Not since 2013, when El Segundo's 13-year-olds won the World Series, has a local team made it to the Pacific Southwest Regional.

El Segundo's 13U Babe Ruth All-Stars defeated Simi Valley Babe Ruth 7-0 to capture the title. With the win, the team punched its ticket to the Pacific Southwest Regional in Price, UT beginning July 22

El Segundo finished the tournament 4-0 and outscored its opponents 40-6. El Segundo defeated teams from Westchester, Torrance, Frontier and Simi Valley Babe Ruth leagues. The team was led by the outstanding pitching of Max Martinez (1-0), Dylan Immel (3-0) and reliever James Baldino. Timely hitting and great defense helped lead the way for El Segundo. Outstanding hitters were Immel, Martinez, Cruz Ochoa, Lucas Bonham and Aidan Barbosa.

El Segundo won the opening game against Westchester 13-1. In game two, El Segundo had its hands full with local rival Torrance and used two perfect squeeze bunts in the fifth inning to take the lead and hold on for a 5-3 win. El Segundo tied the game in the third inning when Conrad Bernstein and Sapanza each singled and scored on an error later in the inning. In the fourth inning El Segundo loaded the bases with no outs, but Torrance's pitching induced two strikeouts and a fly ball to end the inning. In the sixth inning Eddy Grant singled and Stolnack walked, but both were stranded.

In the seventh inning, Torrance scored an unearned run to take a 3-2 lead. In the bottom of the inning, Grant singled and Stolnack reached on a walk. Snowball
A cat (or two) makes every home more fun! Come meet our kitties and be prepared to fall in love!
Valentine is a stunning tuxedo girl who came to Kitten Rescue when her human lost

Valentine
Rudy likes to be held, and he likes to be where you are. He's a sweet lover boy who leans in to all affection. He especially loves his sister, June, and we would prefer to find a home for them together.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

June
his home. Valentine lived with two other adult cats in her adoptive home, but she finds the volume of cats at the sanctuary stressful. We think that she would be happy in a home with another confident, non-aggressive feline friend, or possibly as a solo cat. Valentine absolutely loves getting attention from people and craves affection. She is looking forward to the day when she can be in a real home again, with a person or people to tell her

Marcia Brady
Marcia is also playful and sweet. She gets along with most other cats as long as they are not too dominant. Marcia needs to have another cat/kitten in her home to play with and groom. She has plenty of friends along with her sister here at the Adoption Center where she lives.

Jan Brady is soft and fluffy with big blue eyes. She is also quite the personality. She loves to play and roll on the floor. Jan is a sweetheart who loves to cuddle. This adorable girl is great with other cats/kittens and needs to have another cat in her home. Please come visit her and the rest of the kittens at our adoption center.

We found a beautiful two-year-old, long-haired calico who turned out to be super sweet... and pregnant. We took her in and gave her a safe place to have her kittens. Brutus, June and Rudy were born a few weeks later. These darling siblings are good with other cats, people and even dogs. Brutus was the first of his litter and is incredibly sweet and friendly. He loves to play, but will not hesitate to curl up on your lap and demand snuggles. June was the last born of her litter. She is super silly, yet also snuggly once she gets to know you. She's curious, loves to explore and is a bit independent, unless you count her brother Rudy. We would love to home Rudy and June together as a bonded pair. Rudy is maybe the sweetest and most people-oriented of the litter. He is the most likely to run and greet you at the door when you get home.

Brutus

Arya Stark was named after the famous Game of Thrones character. Her personality is independent, sassy and fearless. Arya is small, but mighty with thick and fuzzy, grey tabby fur. She is very playful and loves to wrestle with other kittens and older cats too.

Snowball was found behind an auto body shop. He was very shy at first, but now he is very sweet, friendly and affectionate. Snowball loves being held and loves to play with toys. His favorite activity is sleeping next to you on the couch. Snowball doesn't like dogs, but he's fine with other cats. Snowball has tested positive for FIV (Feline Immunodeficiency Virus). FIV is not a big deal. Given proper care and attention, an FIV+ cat will live the same lifespan as an FIV negative cat. The disease is extremely hard to transmit from cat to cat, requiring direct blood contact (typically from a deep puncture wound). It is not transmissible to humans.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kittens are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Jan Brady

Rudy
On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave., and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Adopting one animal may not change the world, but it will forever change the world for that animal. •
