Council Candidates Weigh in on the Issues

In the month leading up to the November 3 election, the Herald published El Segundo City Council candidate responses to a dozen questions covering various matters of local concern. This week wraps up the proceedings with one final topic.

What unique qualifications and perspective set you apart as the candidate voters can trust to move our city forward over the next four years?

Ryan Baldino

I am the only candidate who has put in 18 years at our City Hall. Before coaching ESLL and AYSO, I was appointed to the Planning Commission, where I served 14 years, seven as Chair. I've sat on the Richmond Street School Site Council, chaired the ESUSD Citizens' Bond Oversight Committee, and been an Ed Foundation Superintendent Roundtable member for 20 years. I was elected to City Council in 2022 and selected Mayor Pro Tem by my colleagues in 2024. I have worked hard for El Segundo for years. My professional experience also sets me apart. As an attorney and business owner with over 20 years in construction and real estate litigation, I negotiate well, scrutinize details and ask tough questions. That experience gets results. In my first term, I co-led the Hyperion subcommittee that helped pass AB 1216, requiring fence-line air monitoring and real-time public data, and I helped create new green space at Hilltop Park. El Segundo deserves experienced, thoughtful leadership from someone who understands just how special this place is. I built my life here. Kara and I raised our two sons here, and we intend to grow old here. I am not running to push political causes or further my own political career. I am running because I care about El Segundo. I have invested years learning about our city, listening to residents and doing the work because I love this town. If elected, I'll continue to protect our financial stability, support our police and fire departments, help local businesses thrive, and make thoughtful growth decisions that preserve our small-town character. Trust is earned through listening, hard work, sound judgment and delivering results. I'm proud of my record and I would be honored to earn your vote.

John Pickhaver

One of my most meaningful conversations while knocking doors was with a woman my age. We talked about Gundo Pride, the LGBTQ+ celebration I co-founded with neighbors. She had gone and loved it. I had never met her before, so I asked how she had heard about it. Was it the banner across Main Street? Maybe social media? Nope. Her therapist had told her about it. It showed me how much it matters to create spaces where everyone feels they belong. Voters can trust me to move our city forward because I've spent years bringing people together and turning community needs into action. I started by helping ensure underrepresented

Mary (Pennye) B. Wilder

"I Have To Go Now"

Longtime (former) El Segundo resident Mary (Pennye) B. Wilder was called Home by God on October 13th, 2026 after a long and eventful 99 years on terra firma. Born Mary Evangeline Bowman on June 6th, 1927 ("Mom! You were born on D-Day!" "Nooo, D-Day was on my birthday!") in Chicago, IL, Pennye was raised by her single mother, Alma, and spoiled by her adoring elder brothers Charles and William during the challenging times of the Great Depression in Sioux City, IA.

A Catholic convert as a young girl, Pennye would go on to meet fellow convert Clifford E. Wilder during their college days in Sioux City. Marrying in 1948, the young couple eventually moved West with their first three children to California, ultimately buying a home in El Segundo and raising a much larger family there. Long-time parishioners at St. Anthony Catholic Church, the Wilder homestead welcomed one and all to raucous Easter parties and Thanksgiving feasts. Unforgettable times!

Pennye, renowned for her abiding love of reading, practically lived at the El Segundo Public Library. Witty and brilliant with an added dash of Sicilian-Italian spice, mother's laughter could often be heard from down the street! Pennye saw a good deal of Europe, traveling to England, Wales, France, Italy and Russia in the '80s and '90s.

She loved art museums, dogs, kitty cats, crows, classic B&W films, as well as good champagne, white chocolate, and Ol' Blue Eyes. She positively loathed Korbel, game shows, the food at the Jolly Roger, funerary gladioli, bad writing, bad manners and The Three Stooges.

As an aside, it has to be said, Pennye's six children did all that was humanly possible to keep their mother faaaar away from fire and electronics with varying degrees of success. The El Segundo Fire Dept. did indeed visit our humble abode on various unplanned occasions. Ahem.

0ur dear mother was beloved among family, friends and loved ones for her Christian generosity, her reverence for God and her unstinting devotion to the Lord and His Most Gracious Mother. She unrelentingly ADORED and continuously prayed for her grandchildren and great-grandchildren.

Oh! About COOKIES.

2nd only to the Cookie Monster in her ardent desire for the sweet, crunchy things, Pennye had her last cuppa and cookies on the afternoon of October 13th at 3:00pm at her care home in Santa Barbara. Listening to her favorite classical music radio station and after taking a phone call at 3:30pm, Pennye fell asleep in her armchair and slipped painlessly into Eternity.

Our most inimitable Matriarch, predeceased by her husband Clifford and 2nd eldest son Matthew, is survived by her six remaining children (in order of appearance): Rebecca, Sarah, David, Jonathan, Paul and Anne, 15 grandchildren and innumerable great-grandchildren (We've frankly lost count.)

Dennis Lee Poor

Dennis Lee Poor, beloved husband, father, grandfather, and friend, passed away peacefully at home on October 7, 2026, surrounded by his family. He was 75 years old.

Dennis was born in Glendale, California, on May 20, 1951, to Jeff and Ginny Poor. He was raised in Playa del Rey and El Segundo and attended St. Anastasia, St. Bernard High School, and Long Beach State University.

In 1976, Dennis purchased his childhood home on Maple Avenue, where he would go on to raise his own family through the El Segundo school system. His love for his family and his community was evident in the countless hours he spent supporting his children and their activities.

Dennis and his family were deeply involved in youth sports, including Pop Warner Football, AYSO soccer, and Babe Ruth Baseball. He dedicated countless hours to supporting these programs and helping provide opportunities for young athletes in the community. His involvement in youth sports was a reflection of his love of the games, his community, and, most of all, his children.

Professionally, Dennis spent 28 years working for the family business, Kittyhawk Products, where he ultimately served as President. He retired in 2016, leaving behind a career marked by dedication to his family business and the people he worked with.

Outside of work, Dennis enjoyed golfing, watching sports, and especially cheering on the Los Angeles Dodgers. But more than anything, Dennis loved being with his family. He was a constant presence at his children's sporting events and took great pride in being there for every milestone and activity in the lives of his granddaughters. His family was at the center of his life, and he treasured every moment spent with them.

Dennis is survived by his beloved wife, Denise; his sons, Jeff (wife Julie) and Michael; and his granddaughters, Amanda, Lexi, and Allie, along with his extended family and many friends who loved him. He was preceded in death by his daughter, Debi Poor, who passed away in 2018.

Dennis will be remembered for his devotion to his family, his love of sports, his commitment to his community, and the countless ways he showed up for the people he loved. His presence at the ballfields, on the golf course, in the stands, and, most importantly, at home with his family will be deeply missed.

Though he is no longer with us, the memories Dennis created with his family and friends will live on for generations.

Federal Funds Riding on LAX's Noise Update

By Rob McCarthy

The operators of Los Angeles International Airport are hoping the federal government is feeling generous this holiday season after reviewing a noise-exposure progress report LAX is preparing for the regional office of the Federal Aviation Administration.

If FAA staff like what they see in the updated Noise Exposure Maps, LAX could receive a fresh batch of funding for its Residential Sound Insulation program, or RSI, which seeks to lower interior airport-noise levels by 5 decibels in homes, condos, and apartment buildings in the 65-decibel-or-higher zone. The program is LAWA's remedy for R-1 and R-2 buildings adversely affected by the airport's air traffic.

The RSI program is in its second phase, having restarted in 2014 with FAA funding and a goal of soundproofing 1,500 more homes in El Segundo. The new 2026 noise-exposure map shows a higher concentration of eligible properties on the north side of the city that have been retrofitted with double-paned windows, sliding doors, and/or heating and air-conditioning systems to muffle air traffic noise.

You can view the colored map showing jet noise levels reaching neighborhoods online at LAWA's website by searching "LAX Part 150 Noise Exposure Map Update." The El Segundo Public Library has a copy of the map and explanations of federal regulations that protect the public and reduce noise impacts around U.S. airports, including LAX. LAWA is accepting public comments and questions until Nov. 5 about any changes in airport noise levels since the last revision was completed in 2016.

The Herald approached Kevin Butler, the El Segundo representative on the LAX/Airport Community Roundtable, for his takeaways from the NEM update and to clarify how LAWA-monitored sensors placed near the south runway along Imperial Avenue capture jet noise.

How do the sensors work, and what was the NEM update based on for this draft document?

"The sensors receive all ambient noise; however, the sensor data is not used in the noise map contours. The data for the contours are based off a computer-generated model. This model takes into account the expected noise from aircraft during operation (start up, take off, landing, and cruising). It also takes into account meteorological and terrain data but not so much on structure data," Butler said.

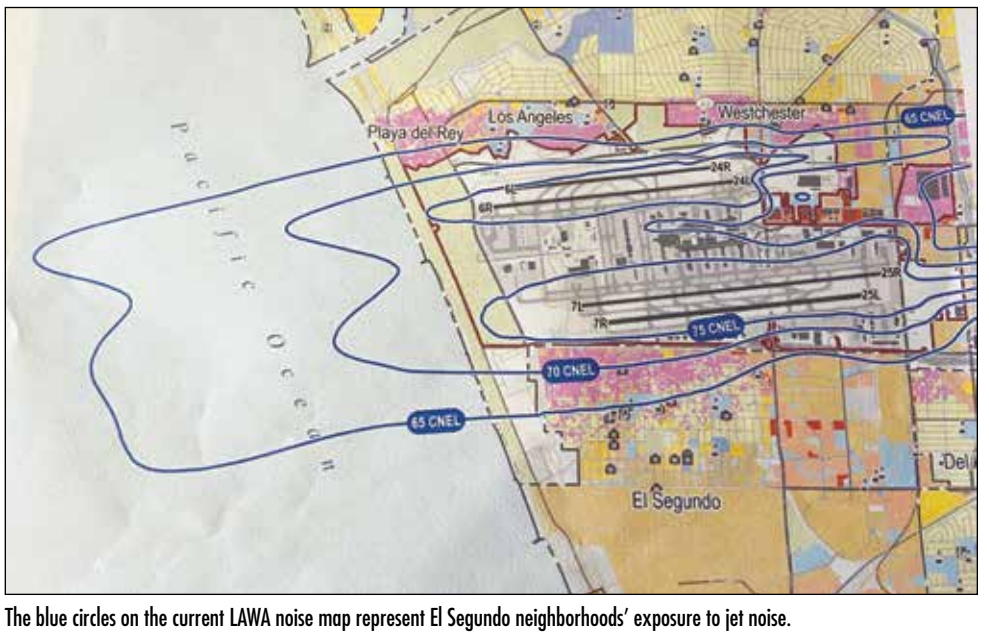

Who in El Segundo is going to be impacted by additional daily flights into and out of LAX in the next five years?

"It is expected that the south side will experience more noise due to the fact that 55 percent of operations happen on the south side. This includes passenger flights that use the southern terminals, and cargo is all operated on the south side.(45 percent of operations happen on the north runways.) The southern contour is expanded in the update to reflect this. Another reason is that during the last NEM the south runways were closed a majority of the time for updates previously."

What was discussed at the open house LAWA hosted on Oct. 21 about the redrawn noise maps?

"This open house was mostly geared towards public comments and not so much asking questions and getting answers. A better forum for that will be the virtual roundtable," he said. The event starts at 1:30 p.m. Nov. 18; click on http://lax.to/joinRT-meeting to join and ask any questions for the LAWA presenters.

City, Chevron Reach Agreement on Proposed $425 Million Community Benefit Package

By Brian Simon

In a deal nearly three years in the making, the City of El Segundo and Chevron on Monday announced terms for a 15-year, $425 million Community Benefit Agreement (CBA) that, if approved, will more than double the refinery's contributions to municipal coffers over that time period. The El Segundo City Council convened Monday for a special meeting to unveil the specifics, with the five members giving City Attorney Mark Hensley direction to draft the final document for potential adoption on November 17. The decision could move to mid-December if revisions are needed.

Anticipating that the current 15-year agreement with Chevron will expire on September 30, 2027, Mayor Pro Tem Ryan Baldino and Councilmember Lance Giroux formed an ad hoc subcommittee in February 2024 to launch the complicated negotiation process with refinery officials. Though he described the eventual talks as heated and intense at times, City Manager Darrell George characterized the process as very cordial with a mutual goal of hammering out an agreement by the end of 2026.

The final proposal presented Monday includes an immediate, day-one $5 million donation from Chevron to go towards capital improvement projects. The CBA amounts call for annual contributions of $23 million in years 1-5, $28 million in years 6-10, and $33 million in years 11-15. The total of $425 million over that period does not include the additional utility users tax (UUT) of an estimated $9 million per year that Chevron will continue to pay, ultimately pushing the final tally to over half a billion. George noted that the process also involved an extensive audit of the refinery to understand its existing tax payments and other key financials.

El Segundo Refinery Director Bryon Stock acknowledged that discussions between the two sides "we're not easy" and he admitted, "there's a great deal at stake for both the City and Chevron." Though he indicated the exchanges occasionally became "spirited and challenging," he emphasized they were also "always respectful and collaborative." Stock pointed to the benefits the additional resources will provide in alleviating anticipated City budget deficits and funding much-needed capital projects, but stressed that "this agreement really goes beyond the numbers" by solidifying the longstanding relationship between the two entities. "We recognize that a relationship lasting that long carries responsibilities as well as benefits," he said. "This agreement represents an opportunity to provide greater certainty for both the City and the refinery, while continuing a relationship that has endured for generations."

Meanwhile, George added that with a 2028 deficit looming, the new deal significantly changes the City's financial picture by allowing it to accelerate capital projects previously on the back burner.

The proposed agreement drew praise from several speakers during public communications, including former Mayor Eric Busch, former Councilmember Carol Pirsztuk, El Segundo Unified School District Superintendent Jason Johnson, School Board President Tracey Miller-Zarneke, El Segundo Economic Development Advisory Council President Joe Martin, El Segundo Chamber of Commerce CEO/President Marsha Hansen, Ed Foundation board member and business owner Laurie Snyder-Berkowitz and Continental Development Corporation CEO Richard Lundquist.

However, residents Anya Goldstein, John Pickhaver and Jan Zuchi questioned the meeting's timing and urgency, noting they received only 25 hours' advance notice, which led to lower turnout given the importance of the decision.

Addressing citizen concerns about rushing the discourse, Giroux said, "It's been two-and-a-half years we've been negotiating this deal. That's not urgent." He added that a company the size of Chevron needs "time to plan their business." With that in mind, the thought pattern was to start in 2024 with the hope of getting a deal done by 2027. "So as far as what the urgency was for tonight, I will tell you, as a business person, that when you get the answer you want, you say yes and you stop talking and you move forward." He continued, "And the sooner you get the deal done, the sooner the money comes in, the sooner you can start planning your future, and we can start planning what we're gonna do with that in order to benefit the community."

Giroux conceded that in successful negotiations, both sides walk away wishing they had a little more but still leave the table happy with what they got. While reiterating the importance and longevity of Chevron's partnership, he noted, "We also had a job to do to try to get the best deal possible for the City to be able to set us up" and that the deal is "a huge, life-changing type of money situation, if handled correctly."

Baldino further elaborated on the length of the negotiations, calling it a "heavy lift for a city of our size." The subcommittee's due diligence included discussions with personnel from the cities of Richmond and Carson to learn how other municipalities tax and treat their refineries. "Then we had to figure out how El Segundo got to where it is today," he said. "How did this 15-year agreement [from 2012] come to be?"

In executing the audit, Baldino commended Chevron for cooperating with the City every step of the way. "There are those who could be critical of the prior agreement we're reviewing, but let it be clear, Chevron has always done everything the City has

It Takes a Community

On May 27, 2026 5PM-7PM ICE came to arrest a neighbor but never found him. October 9 PM a neighbor reports an unlocked car in their driveway had compartments prowled through. October 10 PM a Porch Pirate steals wedding gifts valued at $1,500. They now have a Ring. October 12 PM a truck parked across the street had the driver window broken. We now have a camera in front. Prior to that a car was hit and run (two doors up from us). A few of us remember a grey Honda parked for four days with the back passenger window broken as well as a black car parked for days. The police surmised our street could be an LAX parking area. A neighbor and I decided it's time to take action, so we formed a Neighborhood Watch Program. Nineteen neighbors joined in to take responsibility for our safety. Now we have 36 eyes and ears on our block. ESPD is overwhelmed by the amount of crime on our streets. Funding is limited. Collaboration is the key. If the Herald reported all the crimes, we'd have no room for other topics. I can only dream of the online map of the Neighborhood Watch Program turning all red. It takes a community!

Seniors Take a Bow on Senior Appreciation Night

By Gregg McMullin

On a picturesque Friday night, the seniors from the football team, cheer squad, school choir, and marching band took time to honor their peers during the final home regular-season football game. A brief ceremony introduced the seniors and their families, highlighting each honoree's history and future plans. It is a classy way to thank these seniors and their families for their time, commitment, support, and the sacrifices each has made to their respective programs.

Football Team Says Thank You

Before their final regular-season home game against North Torrance, the football program thanked its seniors. Head coach Jahid Turner thanked each player before each senior was introduced that included Ezekiel Sea, Omar Santiago, Amir Morris, Chase Mattoon, Ryan Wiacek, Jeremy Hernandez, Caden Hahn, Sean Helms, Dionne Bell, Landon Aubert, Jayden Brown, William Graziadei, Casey Navarro, Hawk Sanders, Justin Castellanos, Austin Hohman, Gael Jimenez, and Hunter Sprick.

Choir Seniors Honored

Under the direction of Gianna Summers, the school's choir has been an award-winning high school choir that has performed nationally and worldwide. Most of the seniors have been with the choir for four years, which helped make it so successful. At halftime of the game, the seniors from the choir and their family members were introduced the included Mackenzie Anderson, Madison Antonelli, Natalia Aguilar, Valentina Bogan, Elizabeth Bosco, Sadie Carrigan, Lindzy Carroll, Ava Cecconi, Eliza Chiavaro, Chloe Chung, Michael Ehlers, Lydia Engler, Sara Farah, Olivia Galaviz, Mackenzie Hamilton, Emma Irwin, Julian Jaranilla, Malani Javelona, Thalia Joksimovic and Jade Joksimovic, Zoyah Khan, Lilyanna Kvitek, Jesse Lowe, Penny Luczywo, Lola McFadden, Sana Miyashita-Tsai, Dylan Monera, Charlie Mull, Annalise Oulashian, Khloe Sanders, Hunter Sprick, Ivana Jean Sze, Catherine Tanner and Juliet Zenaye.

Cheer Team Seniors Applauded

The cheer squad is the reason for such fantastic school spirit. They work tirelessly to inspire the student body to get involved while also performing mind-boggling acrobatic routines at games. Under the direction of Kim Indelicato, the squad has quickly become one of the South Bay's elite cheer squads. The seniors include Natalia Aguilar, Sami Barragan, Ellen Dull, Alisyn Duarte, Sophia Gonzalez, and Dylan Monera.

Eagle Pride Band Seniors are Music to Our Ears

The award-winning band may not have the numbers of larger schools, but under Ken Harrison's direction, the Eagle Pride Marching Band has been a success. Harrison is an alumnus and former member of the USC Trojan Marching Band, so his teaching is well known. The seniors were a big influence and showed their leadership, helping lead the band to success. The seniors included Georgia Dame, Ty Horton, Ana Parker, Julianne Rillera, Katie Vaughn, Thomas Villa, and Matan Yussman.

Eagles get Defensive about Their Offense in Win

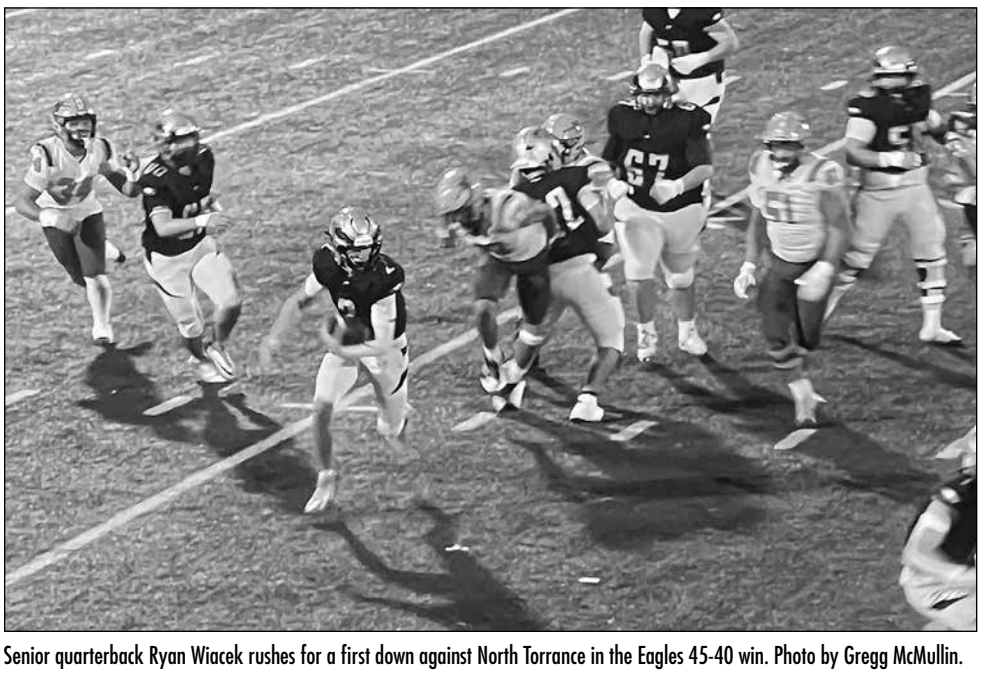

The Eagles wrapped up their 2026 regular season home game schedule with a 45-40 win over the North Torrance Saxons. For the fifth time this season, the Eagles have scored forty or more points in a game. On the downside, the defense has surrendered forty or more points in four games. Against the Saxons, the offense clicked, and the defense forced three sacks and two interceptions, including two by Sean Helms.

The Saxons scored first in this high-scoring game when Ezera Sitia connected with Jeremiah Jackson for a 41-yard touchdown. The Eagles responded with a 64-yard six-play drive that ended with Liam Juarez's six-yard rushing touchdown and a 7-6 lead.

On El Segundo's first possession of the second quarter, senior quarterback Ryan Wiacek found his favorite receiver, Chase Mattoon, in stride for a 72-yard catch-and-run for a touchdown. On their next possession, the Eagles extended the lead with a seven-yard touchdown pass to Rocco Taylor and a 21-6 lead.

The Saxons opened the third quarter with a 29-yard touchdown pass to Jeremy Hernandez and cut their deficit to 21-20. But the Eagles

According to LAWA, resident concerns and questions will be included in the final submission to the FAA. The airport authority, which also represents Van Nuys, participates voluntarily in the federal Part 150 noise-mapping regulatory process and has revised its filing with the FAA only once in 45 years. Estimating jet noise volume for the current year and five years into the future can take two years and cost $1 million or more. The current NEM document was released Sept. 17.

Some understanding of noise levels and their effect on humans is helpful before tackling the 92-page draft NEM. For starters, airport decibel levels of 65-75 decibels are considered incompatible with housing under federal regulations. Only a tiny portion of El Segundo — along Imperial Avenue and Hillcrest Street — falls into the 70-decibel zone because of the apartments and few homes proximity to the south runways 7R and 7L, the updated maps show. The majority of affected homes in the city are clustered in the 65-decibel zone.

For reporting purposes, airport noise levels are based on a 24-hour average, LAWA officials say. The upper range of sound from jet takeoffs 300 meters from the southern runways can reach 100 decibels, according to data on noise sources and their effects from Purdue University chemical engineers.

A Boeing 707 or DC-8 at one nautical mile will produce sound that is eight times as loud as a 70-decibel sound, the Purdue team reported. A jet flying over at 1,000 feet creates 103 decibels of sound, and a Bell J-2A helicopter at 100 feet tops 100 decibels, and yet more common sources in suburbia are power lawn mowers, jackhammers and garbage trucks. Eight hours of exposure to 100-decibel sounds can lead to serious damage, the chart adds.

Sound in the upper 70s decibel range is "annoyingly loud to some people," Purdue researchers noted. An air-conditioning unit 100 feet away produces 60 decibels of noise, half as loud as 70 decibels and fairly quiet compared with the higher sound levels and sources in the university's chart.

More common sources of noise in communities like El Segundo are conversations in a restaurant that measured in the 60s, while bird calls can reach 44 decibels — one-eighth as loud as 70 decibels.

Exposure to jet noise has taken a sharp nosedive since the federal government in the mid-1970s got involved in monitoring the issue of planes and their effects on adjacent communities. The FAA says the number of people exposed to significant aviation noise exposure is down to 400,000 now compared to almost seven million four decades ago.

The federal agency points to the introduction of quieter aircraft for the decrease in noise exposure. Stricter certification standards and new technology from aircraft and engine manufacturers have been effective, according to the FAA. It, along with Congress, has pushed airlines to retire older, noisier aircraft.

The result is that "today's civilian aircraft are quieter than at any time in the history of powered flight," the FAA says. Airport operators continue to look for ways to reduce the public's exposure to jet engine noise, with some airports opting to install physical barriers, including trees, on the perimeter of the runways. However, because of the risks of bird strikes, LAWA officials have chosen not to use trees as barriers.

LAX, while still recovering from the lingering effects of the pandemic on air travel, does expect an uptick in passenger and cargo planes within the next five years, it reports in the updated NEM document. As many as 266 more flights per day could be arriving and departing from LAX's eight marked runways (four airstrips total).

In the most recent reporting period. the world's 11th busiest airport recorded 583,125 arrivals and takeoffs between April 2024 and 2025 by all aircraft types, including air taxis and military aircraft. LAWA estimates LAX will finish this year at 650,931 and reach 740,000 annually by 2031, according to the NEM update. •

Everything Was Beautiful and Nothing Hurt by Ben Reeves

By Mary Martes, Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

This astoundingly beautiful novel explores humanity's splendor, fragility, and capacity for love. Everything Was Beautiful and Nothing Hurt is Ben Reeves debut novel, winning the International Bath Novel Award in 2024 under the title Dance of the Mayflies. The cycle of life and death is shown here to be a gift, a chance to savor the small moments, treasure those we love, appreciate the beauty that surrounds our every day, to realize the transience of life and its unpredictable but inevitable end. With lyrical prose and tender examination of complex, flawed, deeply human characters, this novel will linger with you long after its conclusion.

Travis Smith is a young man; handsome, quiet, and thoughtful. He is also Death personified. With an empathetic, nonjudgmental demeanor, he stands witness to the last moments of life, helping the transition to death and beyond. Existing in a nondescript apartment, he unobtrusively goes about his days visiting the dying, communing with nature, waiting for the next passenger. He has a code designed to keep him detached and emotionally distant, never questioning the necessity of death, despite grief and loss. He sees his neighbor Dalia, a single mother and midwife, across the hall doing her best to raise seven-year-old Layla and infant Neda. Layla, an energetic, curious child, notices that Travis is always alone. Layla bursts into Travis's muted world, painting it with her colorful vivacity. As Travis becomes closer to Dalia and Layla, he begins to understand more fully the beauty of life and loss.

Throughout the book, tender and emotionally resonant vignettes of the lives and deaths of strangers that Travis encounters are described in separate chapters. These chapters explore what makes a life well lived, what we realize is truly important when it comes to an end. Though the book deals with grief and mortality, it focuses more on the thread of quiet luminosity that comprises a life. Quietly devastating, but life affirming and real, it is a profound look at life and death. • asked of them."

Reflecting on the numbers, Baldino explained that the built-in CBA increases after each five-year increment amount to a 3.7% adjustment larger than the consumer price index figures under the current agreement. "That will keep us ahead of inflation," he said. "Getting a negotiation done like this [also] helps the City avoid risks of ballot measures and potential litigation."

The nuts and bolts of the deal sat well with the other three on the dais. Councilmember Michelle Keldorf admitted she was initially wary the process would not proceed to her liking, but soon learned "we were very much on the same page" and was grateful to move forward in January to "get that first payment" and avoid any problematic scenarios a delay might entail.

Councilmember Drew Boyles discussed Chevron's "true partnership" beyond the tax resolution, pointing to its contributions in building El Segundo's economic development branding and support for local schools.

Mayor Chris Pimentel spoke about the rigors of auditing a refinery, working with attorneys, and debriefing other cities. "It is a significant amount of effort to figure out and reverse-engineer how deals were made in the past and how deals are made like this in the present," he said. "So I think that in terms of how we arrived at the numbers that are in here, I cannot imagine a deal more thoughtfully constructed." He added, "There's children right now at Eagles' Nest that don't realize that they are about to achieve generational stability and the finances of their city because of this deal."

Looking at the big picture, Baldino concluded, "This took a lot of time. This took a lot of energy and a lot of commitment, and I think the result we have here is a fantastic result for the City and also renews Chevron's commitment to our town. Chevron is not going anywhere. Chevron is doubling down on El Segundo and their commitment to our community, and this agreement helps the City as well as give certainty to Chevron." • voices had a place in our community. But the more involved I became, the more I realized just how many residents were being left out, including those who never thought they'd have to fight to be heard. I saw it with the charter city proposal, the proposed data center, and the Flock surveillance cameras. I didn't complain. I organized neighbors, learned the rules and utilized the public process to turn resident concerns into action that changed outcomes. That experience taught me how City government works and, just as importantly, how it should work. Council members must weigh competing needs, listen to professional staff, understand consequences and make decisions they can defend to the public. I'll bring that approach to helping every resident feel represented, creating safer streets, making state housing laws work for El Segundo, diversifying our economy, and making City services better reflect how residents actually use and need them. Experience isn't just time served. It's time spent showing up, doing the work, weighing difficult choices and accepting the consequences. I understand the responsibility I'm asking voters to entrust to me, and I've spent years preparing for it. Pick Pick.

Chris Pimentel

El Segundo needs leaders that know the community, its values, and have a proven record of getting things done. As a Marine Officer, I know how to lead complex organizations and protect communities. With my professional background, I understand our industries. Having volunteered at PTOs and PTAs, youth sports and community groups, I know how our city works. I've been to the school drop-offs, the sprints to soccer pictures, the parade set-ups, the freezing Walton field on Wednesday nights and the senior parties at Park Vista. I know that on Sunday, Wendy's is worth the wait. When I first ran for office, we needed a city that was safer and greener, with modern police and fully equipped firemen. We needed a city that simply worked better. After my time on City Council, the city is far safer by more than 70%, it's far greener with new parks and cleaner air, and its first responders are reset with the same fundamentals we love. The TopGolf agreement I negotiated and the pension reform I championed ensured that the City can pay for itself, free from more than $400 million in debt. Our city is set for the future with the most robust economy in Southern California. And the city is full again, as people trust us with their families and futures. We've welcomed people that love our traditions, our values and our spirit of caring for each other. We have challenges with housing and rising costs, but a smart and committed government will solve these problems. This election is about proven leadership. It's about listening and bringing people together, finishing the work we've begun and protecting what makes El Segundo special. I'm proud of what we've accomplished together, and I hope to continue to earn your trust and your vote. • responded with a nine-play drive that ended when Mattoon caught a four-yard diving catch in the end zone for a 28-20 lead. The offense, mastered by Wiacek, continued their dominance on their next possession. It ended when Wiacek found Mattoon open for a 19-yard catch-and-run touchdown reception. The Saxons responded with a long return on the kickoff, and that set up a short touchdown pass reception to Steven Sarabia that cut El Segundo's lead to 35-26.

The Eagles wasted no time in their response to the Saxon's score. This time, Wiacek found junior wide receiver Rocco Taylor on a 42-yard pass play and took the lead to 42-26 with two minutes remaining in the third quarter.

El Segundo would close out its scoring early in the fourth quarter with a 41-yard field goal by Preston Milne-Castro to give his team a 45-26 lead. North Torrance would make it close, scoring two touchdowns in the span of three minutes, but the Eagles held on for the 45-40 win.

Ryan Wiacek had another solid game, throwing for fifteen receptions for 251 yards and five touchdowns and rushing eight times for fifty-one yards.

The win was much needed for El Segundo if they are to get a CIF playoff bid. With a 4-5 record, they need to win at West Torrance on Friday night at 7 p.m. to be considered for an at-large berth.

Water Polo Team Heading to the CIF Division 2 Playoffs

The Eagles defeated the Santa Monica Vikings 8-7 in the Bay League tournament to get an automatic CIF Southern Section Division 2 playoff bid. The Eagles started strong, scoring four unanswered first-period goals but led 5-3 at halftime. The Eagles needed a strong defensive second half, especially in the fourth period, to defeat the Vikings.

Luke Griffiths showed why he is one of the top goalies in the South Bay, turning back thirteen Viking shots; he has 293 blocks this season. Bryson Duffaut led the Eagles with four goals, while Austin Miller, from the center position, scored three goals, and Lochlan Aussem's lone goal was the difference.

The Eagles advance to their fifty-first CIF playoff appearance today in the first round of the CIF-SS Division 2 playoffs. They host the Santiago Sharks (Corona) today at 4:30 p.m. The Sharks (16-9) placed third in the Big VIII conference. The winner advances to Tuesday's second round against the winner of the University (Irvine) versus Capistrano Valley matchup. •

Decorate Your Way to a Howling Good Halloween

(Family Features) - Costumes and candy may be mainstays of Halloween, but decorating is a fun way to set the mood and add a little extra excitement in the weeks leading up to the holiday. These spooktacular ideas can help dial up the drama and delight for all ages.

Pumpkins aplenty: A traditional glowing jack-o'-lantern may be one of Halloween's most recognized icons, but pumpkins can be used in plenty of other fun ways. You can dress them up with glitter and ribbon for a more elegant look or group a series of pumpkins in varied shapes and colors for a seasonal centerpiece. You can even give a pumpkin a coat of chalkboard paint and count down the days until Halloween.

Creepy kids' crafts: Get little ghosts and goblins into the Halloween spirit with handmade decorations that make your seasonal decor equal parts sweet and spooky. Fold a black piece of construction paper down the middle and trace a child's hand and wrist, with the wrist extending over the folded edge. Cut along the traced line, leaving the fold intact, and when you unfold the paper, you'll have a bat to decorate. Add eyes and attach string to the top of the wings to hang and display.

Gross and ghoulish: Some of the best Halloween displays have something in common: attention to detail. Get creative with your props and decorations to incorporate some unexpected attention-grabbers like brains in a jar. Place bunches of cauliflower in a clear glass container and cover with water died red.

Spooky serving: If you're entertaining for Halloween, incorporate spooky decor with your food and drinks to keep the theme going throughout the party. Use cauldrons as serving bowls and skeleton hands as serving spoons. Add plenty of cobwebs and other spooky accents to the table, and search for easy recipes that fit your theme. One fun idea for kids is baking sugar cookies in fun Halloween shapes and serving them with a selection of food-safe syringes pre-filled with colored frosting.

Ghostly greetings: All the tricks and treats indoors make for plenty of good spirit, but don't forget to set the scene outside, too. Dressing up your front door lets visitors know they're in for a real treat. A haunted graveyard scene or a spooky spider den with lots of critters dangling from fake cobwebs are sure to show all who dare to enter that a howling good time lies ahead.

Prep Time: 15 mins | Total Time: 3 hrs 5 mins | Servings: 16

Ingredients

- 1 box Betty Crocker Supreme Original Brownie Mix
- Water, vegetable oil, and egg indicated on brownie mix box
- 1 cup from 1 tub (16 oz) Betty Crocker Rich & Creamy Creamy White Frosting
- 16 large marshmallows
- Betty Crocker™ black decorating gel (from 0.68-oz tube)

Directions

- Step 1: Heat oven to 325°F (350°F for glass pan). Line 8- or 9-inch square pan with foil, allowing some to hang over edges of pan. Grease bottom and sides of foil with shortening or cooking spray. Make and bake brownies as directed on box for 8- or 9-inch square pan. Cool completely on cooling rack, about 1 1/2 hours. Freeze in pan 15 minutes. Using foil to lift, remove brownies from pan, and peel foil away. Cut into 4 rows by 4 rows.
- Step 2: Heat frosting in microwavable bowl uncovered on High 20 to 30 seconds, stirring every 10 seconds, until frosting can be stirred smooth and fluid. If frosting becomes too firm while decorating, microwave 5 seconds; stir.
- Step 3: Top each brownie with 1 large marshmallow. Spoon 1 tablespoon frosting over each marshmallow to coat. Let stand until frosting is set, about 30 minutes. Use black gel to make eyes and mouths.

Tips

Tip 1: Line the pan with foil for easier cutting and quick cleanup.

Tip 2: When cutting brownies, use a plastic knife for nice, even cuts.
