El Segundo Rotary Celebrates 75th Anniversary This Saturday

By Brian Simon

For those of you around in 1952, you may remember that Truman was the president, the United States was at war with Korea, I Love Lucy ruled the then-fledgling television airwaves, and the Yankees won the World Series. Also that year, a group of 27 gentlemen, with help from sponsors in neighboring Manhattan Beach, branched off to form the El Segundo Rotary Club. Though the times, businesses, and people have changed over the decades, the organization continues to thrive with "Service Above Self" as its sustaining mantra.

To celebrate its 75th year, El Segundo Rotary will host a nostalgia-themed community event on Saturday, November 7 at the Westchester/El Segundo Moose Lodge 1780. The festivities will feature dinner, dancing, music, a raffle, and the Parade of Presidents (walk down memory lane), with retro '50s attire and style (e.g., poodle skirts and grease-backed hair) encouraged, though optional. Proceeds will go towards next month's El Segundo Community Holiday Luncheon at the Joslyn Center. Tickets (available via elsegundorotary.org) include dinner and one raffle ticket.

"If you think about all the businesses that have come and gone in El Segundo and that the Rotary is still standing strong for 75 years, that is a huge accomplishment," club president Shannon Magid said. "For our 75th anniversary, I've challenged our members to complete 75 mitzvahs, or good deeds, each. It's a wonderful reminder that service doesn't always have to be a big project. Sometimes the smallest act of kindness can make the biggest difference in someone's life."

Magid joined the club 14 years ago and said it was one of the best decisions she ever made. "To me, Rotary means friendship, fellowship, and the opportunity to serve alongside like-minded people who genuinely care about making our community and our world a better place," she said.

In addition to the aforementioned Holiday Luncheon, Rotary supports the local food bank, provides mini-grants for local teachers as well as scholarships for students, and sponsors the annual Movie in the Park program that draws over 1,200 attendees. "We also participate in EPIC Day of Service each May, our FUN Rubber Ducky adoptions, and numerous hands-on projects throughout the year," Magid added. "Last year, our club led the district in raising $24,000 for PanCAN to support the fight against pancreatic cancer."

The district, 5280, encompasses the Greater Los Angeles Area from the valley to San Pedro with over 60 individual clubs under its auspices. Its role is to unite local leaders in coordinating community service projects and global humanitarian efforts, such as the campaign to eradicate polio in the remaining countries where the disease still lingers. "One of my favorite things about Rotary is that we can be packing food boxes for families one day and helping provide clean water to communities across the world the next," Magid said. "There's always an opportunity to make a difference."

Mayor Questions Need for Half-Cent Sales Tax

By Rob McCarthy

Mayor Chris Pimentel on Tuesday floated a proposal that El Segundo stop charging the half-cent local sales tax that voters approved in 2018. Proponents of tax Measure C, however, pushed back, arguing it's premature to make changes before Chevron's $425 million deal with the city is finalized.

When Measure C was passed in 2018, the local sales-tax maximum in counties was two percent. That cap has been waived for Los Angeles County, so the argument that El Segundo needed the local taxing authority to protect itself against a Los Angeles County tax increase isn't valid anymore, Pimentel said. That, and the community benefit agreement Chevron agreed to in principle with El Segundo, have taken the pressure off El Segundo's financial situation, which includes a looming structural deficit next year.

"I just want to put it out there. Contingent upon consummation of agreement (with Chevron), would we consider this?" he asked the other four council members present at the Election Night regular meeting. This wasn't the first time that suspending the local half-sales tax had come up. However, Pimentel made it clear the refinery's commitment to El Segundo and to not ceasing operations and leaving the state made this time different.

Measure C's taxing authority — allowing El Segundo officials to tack on a three-quarter percent charge on the sale and use of goods within the city limits — was framed as not costing El Segundo voters more, "which it now does," the mayor said. Under Measure C, any sales-tax hike sought by the county automatically would trigger one by El Segundo to lock in the city's share of the new tax revenue.

Councilman Ryan Pimentel, who, like the mayor, conducted city business Tuesday not knowing if his seat on the council was secure for another four years, was quick with his answer: Let's hold off until the Chevron agreement is final and there's been discussion about how the windfall ($23 million for the next five years) will be spent.

"I think it's a little too premature," Baldino said. Once the agreement is drawn up and signed, the council still needs to hash out how the funds are allocated and spent, he told Pimentel. The mayor suggested that El Segundo ask the county to halt collection of the local sales tax in the interim while the sides work to make the agreement in principle a reality.

"And then, I think it might be to have a conversation about Measure C," Baldino replied. The mayor said he's not advocating repealing the voter-approved measure, but he's open to a stoppage in tax collection while the city and refinery work together on a mutually agreeable contract that is better for El Segundo than the last one.

Councilwoman Michelle Keldorf noted the Chevron agreement is a community benefit and the purpose of striking the deal is not to balance the city's budget. "I can't see me voting to repeal it even when we have a full agreement in place with Chevron," she explained. "It's for the benefit of the community to take care of some outstanding items. We have lengthy capital-improvement projects, maintenance needs, assessments … I wouldn't entertain it until we have accounting of what's out there and how we want to allocate it."

The community benefit is meant to ensure the city is never in a structural deficit, Keldorf added.

Pimentel countered that the capital-improvement projects are responsible for putting El Segundo's finances in a structural deficit, and with Chevron's largesse those deficit-triggering needs would have a reliable source of funding. And he admitted to having great angst having been on the council in 2018 when Measure C was sold to the voters as not costing them extra, "And now, it does," he said.

Councilman Lance Giroux said that while he reluctantly voted for Measure C, it was a safeguard to capture half of any sales-tax hike by the county. That was before the Chevron agreement. However, after Sacramento lawmakers changed the law, it became an add-on tax. Proponents of Measure C point to the tax amounting to $10 a year on local households, and being borne mostly by non-residents who shop here.

"I don't think we should suspend what we've already put in place, but I do think it warrants future discussion," he said.

John Pickhaver, the third candidate for two open seats on the council in the election, appeared at the meeting and urged the city to pump the brakes on suspending the local sales tax. He cautioned the five council members not to rush into any decisions. Even with refinery revenue, El Segundo's obligations, infrastructure needs, and fiscal challenges won't disappear, according to Pickhaver.

"The Chevron agreement should not simply be used to plug holes in the budget and replace local revenue services," he said, adding that suspending Measure C would be "an affront" to the overwhelming majority who voted to keep the revenue local.

While affordability was high on voters' minds entering South Bay polling places Tuesday, Pickhaver sees little benefit for residents on a half-cent reduction in tax. Some spending $2,500 annually on taxable items would save $12.50. The savings would be $50 for $10,000 worth of taxable goods bought in the city.

No action was taken on the mayor's proposal, which Councilman Drew Boyles also supported. Pimentel sounded determined to revisit the issue after the signing of the Chevron agreement.

Community activist Anya Goldstein came forward earlier to question why El Segundo's negotiators settled for less than Richmond's 10-year, $550 million agreement with Chevron reached in 2014. Richmond received $50 million for the first five years, and $60 million for the last five years in exchange for dropping a refinery tax ballot measure. She suggested El Segundo failed to use leverage to secure an equivalent deal to Richmond's, which is home to a smaller refinery than the one here.

Eagles Make a Statement for Playoff Run

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

The fall high school sports schedule is officially in playoff mode. The long run of the regular season has come to a close, and the CIF Southern Section playoffs have opened up. The football team, girls flag, girls volleyball, and girls tennis teams had a nice regular season run but were left out of the postseason tournament. The boys water polo team was rewarded with an invite to the CIF Southern Section playoffs.

Water Polo Team Impressive in First Round Win

The Eagles, with an impressive 21-9 record, were awarded a first round home game against the Santiago Sharks (Corona) in the CIF Southern Section Division 2 playoffs. The Sharks (16-9) were the third-place team from the Big VIII League and are a perennial Inland Empire team. But the Eagles, who look to be playing their best water polo, are no strangers to the post season. This is their fifty-first time they have advanced to the playoffs. With fourteen Section titles the Eagles started strong and then held on for a 17-13 win. The final score doesn't begin to describe how much the Eagles dominated the game.

To start each quarter of a water polo game, there's a sprint to determine who takes possession first. It is an indicator of the pace of the first possession. The Eagles won three of the four sprints and scored on each of them thanks to Reid Chrisman winning the sprint.

The Eagles put together perhaps their best game plan to date. The passing lanes were open, their defense was solid, and their counterattack materialized throughout the game. On their opening possession, Joshua Rhyu took possession of a pass and immediately found senior center Austin Miller free for a shot, and Miller delivered the first of his game-high eight goals just twenty seconds into the first quarter. On their next possession, the Eagles worked their passing to perfection, and Johnny Amaral passed inside to Miller, who delivered a powerful shot into the net, giving the Eagles a 2-0 lead.

Bryson Duffaut has been another key offensive threat, and his drive towards the net has been impressive. Bryson took possession on a counterattack and delivered, giving the Eagles an early 3-0 lead. Miller's penalty shot just two minutes into the first quarter made it 4-0. The Sharks scored back-to-back goals to narrow El Segundo's lead to 4-2. The Eagles responded with two goals, the first on an assist from Lochlan Aussem to Austin Lane. The second one was scored near the end of the opening period by Miller on another penalty shot.

Leading 6-3 in the second quarter, the Eagles controlled the pace of play and used a counterattack to extend their lead. On the attack, Augie Holt found Joshua Rhyu free for an open shot, and Rhyu delivered. Miller scored an easy goal on his third penalty shot, giving his team an 8-3 lead. With thirty-one seconds in the first half, Cristian Ramirez scored from two meters outside.

With the Eagles in control, they continued their dominance on both sides of the pool. They matched the Sharks' physical play and scored seven goals in the third period. After winning the sprint to start the quarter, Austin Miller scored from inside. Then, on the next possession, Bryson Duffaut fed Miller inside, who fired it into the net for an 11-5 lead. Austin Lane scored from the right post, and Joshua Rhyu assisted on a goal. Duffaut scored on a counterattack, and Cristian Ramirez scored on a rebound with a minute twenty-one remaining in the quarter to make it 15-7. Michael Lambert finished the third quarter with thirty-two seconds remaining, scoring to take a 16-8 halftime lead.

In the fourth quarter, Johnny Amaral, one of the Eagles' top defenders and one of the better passers, found Duffaut open. Duffaut took the pass and fired it into the net for a 17-8 El Segundo lead. The Sharks would not go quietly and scored five unanswered goals in the final three minutes of the game to make it 17-13.

With the win, the Eagles moved on to the second round this past Tuesday, when they hosted the Capistrano Valley Cougars. A win would send the Eagles into the quarterfinals on Friday on the road against the winner of the St. John Bosco/Poly (Pasadena) matchup.

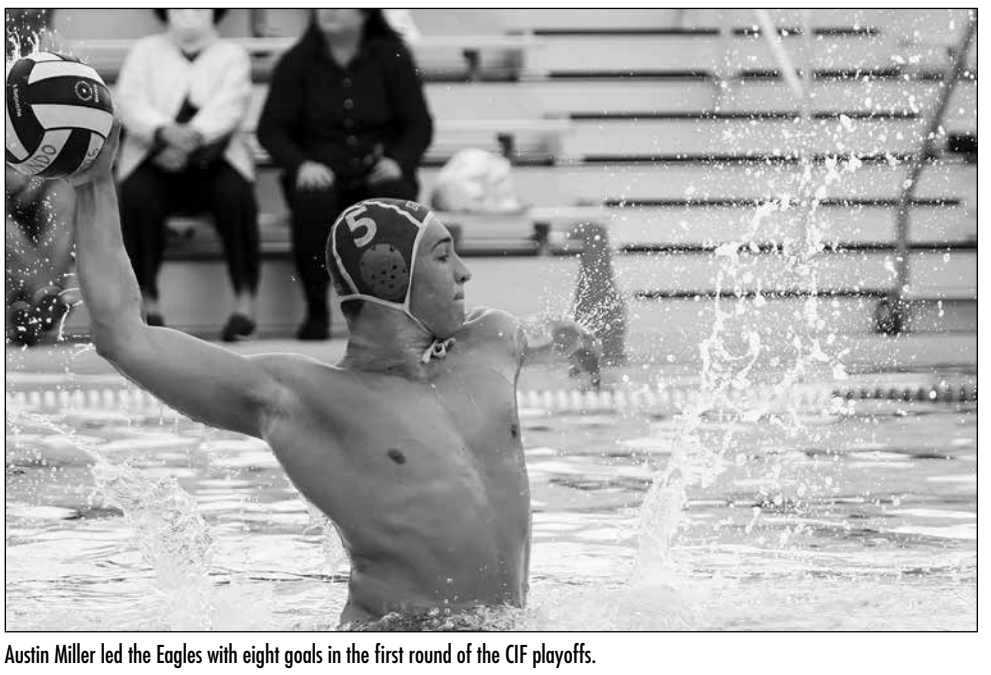

Football Team's Win is Bittersweet

If you were at the Eagles' final game of the year at West Torrance, you were treated to one of the most exciting games the Eagles have played in recent memory. With a potential CIF Southern Section playoff bid on the line, the Eagles made a statement that they deserve a postseason invite. The Eagles put together another solid offensive game plan and scored a 47-40 two-overtime period win. The win gave the Eagles a 5-5 overall record.

To be eligible for the playoffs, teams would need to have a record of at least .500 or be one of the top three teams in their respective leagues. The CIF ranks each team through a computer system that has the final say.

With plenty on the line, the Eagles had plenty to motivate them against a team honoring its seniors on the final night of the regular season. The Eagles took their opening possession, drove 65 yards, and scored to lead 7-0. The West Torrance Warriors responded with a long touchdown pass and took an 8-7 lead. Early in the second quarter, senior quarterback Ryan Wiacek found junior wideout Rocco Taylor for a touchdown, giving the Eagles a 14-8 lead.

Austin Miller led the Eagles with eight goals in the first round of the CIF playoffs.

The Grocery List That Honors a Neighbor

There is more compassion in an accurately filled grocery bag than in a hundred speeches about generosity. El Segundo's Community Alliance to Support and Empower, known as C.A.S.E., operates a twice-monthly food pantry to help qualifying local families remain securely housed. Its current list of needed items is wonderfully specific. It includes food that families actually use, along with shampoo, laundry detergent and other daily essentials. A pantry has to be practical. When donors listen instead of guessing, the food and supplies they provide are more likely to help. I write as a Christian whose faith is shaped by Jesus feeding hungry people and welcoming those others overlooked. His example reminds me that love is not only an emotion. It asks what the person in front of us needs. The pantry's work also shows that avoiding a crisis can matter as much as responding to one. Keeping food on the table may free enough of a household's strained resources to help preserve stability. I hope neighbors will follow C.A.S.E.'s updated guidance rather than assume any item will be helpful. The most respectful gift begins with listening.

Review Your Medicare Coverage Options: Open Enrollment is Through Dec. 7

(Feature Impact) - Medicare Open Enrollment is your opportunity to give your Medicare plan a check-up. Plans change every year, and now is the time to check if a new plan could be better for you.

If you have Medicare, taking the time to review your coverage options each fall is one of the most important health decisions you can make.

Give Your Medicare Plan a Check-up

• Check your coverage. Ensure your preferred doctors, prescriptions and preferred pharmacies are covered.

• Check your costs. Look at premiums, deductibles, copays and other out-of-pocket costs.

• Check for changes. See what will be different in your plan for the coming year.

• Check your options. Compare plans side by side based on the prescriptions you take. Find the right plan for your health needs and your budget. Make sure your drugs are covered.

Now is the one time you can make changes to your health and prescription drug plans and find a plan that's better for you. Medicare Open Enrollment is your opportunity to review and compare options and take control of your expenditures and coverage.

Medicare plans change annually and so does your health. What worked for you last year may be different than what will work best this year. A review of your options can help you secure a plan best fit to your current lifestyle and health needs - while potentially saving you hundreds of dollars on out-of-pocket costs.

For instance, a person with Medicare compared drug plans to find the best costs and coverage for their prescriptions, including a blood thinner and a common cholesterol medication. Using medicare.gov, they found the yearly cost for a Medicare drug plan and these prescriptions ranged from $1,356-2,965. By choosing the lowest-cost plan, they saved more than $1,600 while keeping their essential medications covered.

Medicare.gov is the Official Source

For all your Open Enrollment needs, Medicare.gov is your official source. It's the trusted resource to help you navigate Open Enrollment, allowing you to explore and compare every available Medicare health and drug plan available in your area. If you prefer speaking with someone directly, call 1-800-MEDICARE to connect with a team of experts who are available 24/7 to help you review your options and answer any questions about your Medicare coverage.

To get started, go to Medicare.gov and click on "Find Plans Now." For the best shopping experience, log in or create a Medicare account. You can easily compare plan costs, side by side, based on the medications you take. Make sure the plan you choose covers your prescription drugs and your doctors.

Don't Wait - Open Enrollment Ends Dec. 7

If you miss the Dec. 7 deadline, you may need to wait a full year before you can make any changes to your coverage. That's why getting started early is important. Make sure you give yourself enough time to review and compare your options. You'll want to consider factors like costs, benefits and prescription drug plans.

Medicare Open Enrollment is the perfect time to plan for the future and prioritize your health. Making sure you have a health plan that can support you in your wellness journey is critical, so don't wait. Start reviewing your Medicare plan options today at Medicare.gov.

Penelope's Bones: A New History of Homer's World Through the Women Written Out of It by Emily Hauser

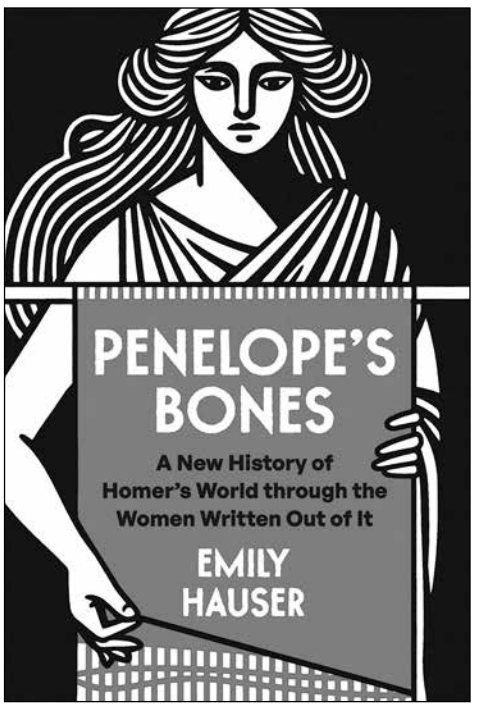

By Taylor Galuppi, Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

"So Muse, tell me about a woman." Dr. Hauser starts this work by turning the Odyssey's classic line from its masculine origin to look at the women who have been told to be seen, not heard throughout Homer's work. While Hauser has written some reimaginings of Greek myth and has mentioned some other instances of authors doing so, this is a beautifully written and unflinchingly honest work of non-fiction that provides context not only to the historically male bard, but the more recent history's just as male-leaning research that often silenced the feminine influence on Ancient Greek society.

These women of Ancient Greece are spoken about both as individuals but as the category they fulfilled in society. Helen and the shackles of her beauty, Cassandra's despair from being a prophet whom no one will believe (both because of her curse and because of her status as a woman), and Hera as the matriarch that is both seen as a powerful mother but is also under threat and surveillance by her violent and unfaithful husband are all examples that are tied to archaeological achievements as well as cultural norms seen both in current and ancient societies.

There are certainly aspects of this book that may not resonate with everyone as archaeology often will take center stage, rather than the Homeric myth that Dr. Hauser has written on in some of her other titles, and following some of the more scientific elements of the work may not be everyone's cup of tea. That being said, a reader does not need to have a background in archaeology or anthropology to understand the plight of both the researcher nor the characters they flesh out in Dr. Hauser's work.

Overall, this book is an excellent example of how women are becoming more visible in Homeric study, and I would recommend it to anyone who wants to have a better understanding of how today's researchers have been unearthing the culture of these characters both literally and figuratively. •

For its first 35 years, El Segundo Rotary was a men's-only club. Then in 1988, then-postmaster Joe Clark invited local business owner Elyse Rothstein (now under her married name Beardsley) to become the first female member. "I was honored to be asked to join, and I knew so many of the club members as they were my customers at Industrial Lock and Security, so I was immediately comfortable there," she said. "And that was certainly my type of meeting: me and 40 guys! I was very interested in giving back to the community and working together with other cities' Rotary events."

Beardsley became the club's first female president in 1991 and assumed that role again a decade later. She is now the longest-standing Rotarian in town at 38 years and still loves it, though she admitted that she "misses the old guys." That list included former mayors such as Floyd Carr and Dick Van Vranken, Bill Mason from Allied Signal, City department heads, church officials and owners of long-gone but still fondly remembered Downtown El Segundo businesses. When Beardsley joined, one had to be a business owner or company exec to get in, but now Rotary is open to anyone interested. "Our board meetings usually ended with a poker game, cigars and beers," she recalled. "Now we have board meetings at a church."

Meanwhile, the club's Thursday lunch also moved to the Moose Lodge from its longtime home at the now-defunct Hacienda Hotel. In addition to collaborating on larger outside projects, the weekly meal provides a steady bonding opportunity and a learning experience as members listen to guest speaker presentations. "Here in El Segundo, we are also known as The FUN Club," Magid emphasized. "We believe in having fun while getting things done. I'm having an absolute blast serving as president during our 75th anniversary year. I need a stool to see over the podium, but they can always hear me."

Regardless of who's there at a given time or where they sit down to eat on Thursdays, the Rotarians all share the same goal, according to 30-year member Chris Powell. "I've had the opportunity to work with business leaders, civic leaders and dedicated members of our community during this time," he said. "The one thing that we all have in common is our desire to give back to our community and support important causes throughout the world. In a time of deep divisions in our country, Rotarians like those in El Segundo put aside any political, religious, and social differences to work together to improve our world. I look forward to seeing all that we accomplish in the years ahead."

Among its most recent accomplishments, El Segundo Rotary sponsored two apartments for kids transitioning out of the foster care system. It subsidized the move-in, furniture, and all the decorations to create a homey atmosphere. The group also sponsored and supported the Mama Hill non-profit after-school program for at-risk youth in South Central LA; held a community Super CPR class; and started the new Eagles Pasta Bowl tradition to "carb-load" El Segundo High School football players before the Homecoming game. "Other projects we were responsible for were funding the new copier room at the El Segundo Public Library, installing peepholes for senior citizens at no charge, and working with the American Cancer Society at their Rubber Ducky Regatta fundraiser," Beardsley added. "We made large donations to our sister city Guaymas and R.O.A.D. [Reach Out Against Drugs]. And we have sponsored the Interact Club at El Segundo High for over 25 years."

This ribbon-cutting back in the early 2000s celebrated the El Segundo Rotary Club funding the copier room at the public library. The dignitaries on-hand included, from L-R, Elyse Rothstein, Jerry Osenower,Carl Jacobson, Bob Anderson, Sue Carter, Floyd Carr and Bill Mason (the woman to Mason's left is unidentified). Photo Provided by Elyse Rothstein Beardsley.

Building the relationship with the Interact Club is a major priority for Magid. "I'm especially excited about strengthening the bond with our high school Rotarians and inspiring the next generation to discover the joy of giving back," she said. "Rotary has been around for more than 120 years because we continue to evolve while staying true to our values. With more people working remotely and enjoying flexible schedules, we're seeing new opportunities for people to get involved and volunteer. We want to continue supporting our local schools, teachers, scholarships, food banks, and community organizations while making a difference around the world. From providing clean water to supporting cancer research, our projects may be different, but our mission remains the same: Service Above Self." •

On the Warriors' next possession, they went 80 yards to score on another touchdown pass with just under six minutes left in the second quarter. The Eagles took their possession 75 yards that ended with a quarterback keeper from six yards out by Wiacek to give the Eagles a 20-15 lead with a little more than two minutes remaining. The Eagles forced a turnover and had one more possession before halftime. Wiacek found Ezekiel Sea free for a passing touchdown with 00:00 showing on the clock, giving the Eagles a 26-15 lead.

To start the third quarter, the Warriors went 80 yards in six plays capped off by a passing touchdown. Wiacek led the offense to another score with 4:27 left in the third quarter, this time a TD pass to Liam Juarez for a 33-23 El Segundo lead.

The Warriors scored a rushing touchdown to narrow the lead to 33-3, and with their next possession they had two attempts to tie the game with a field goal. The first attempt failed from 33 yards, but an offsides penalty gave them a second chance, and they converted to tie the game at 33-33.

The game went to overtime, and each team scored a touchdown. In the second overtime, the Eagles had the ball at the two-yard line, and on fourth down, Wiacek followed his blocking into the end zone for a 47-40 lead. The Warriors threatened, but Austin Hohman broke up a potential game-tying touchdown pass in the end zone, and the Eagles came away with the win.

When the CIF playoffs were announced, the Eagles were disappointed in being left out. They had beaten three playoff-bound teams on their schedule but allowed a computer to dictate their exclusion from the playoffs. •

Why Winter Is a Great Time to Refresh Your Home's Interior

When it cools off in the South Bay, a lot of homeowners put painting on hold until spring. That makes sense for some outside jobs, since rain and damp surfaces can get in the way. But inside? Winter can be a great time to give tired rooms a fresh start.

We spend more time indoors when the days get shorter. The living room becomes the hangout spot. The kitchen gets busier. A bedroom or home office turns into the place you go to unwind. So it's a good time to ask: do these rooms still look and feel the way you want?

Color makes a bigger difference than most people think. Soft, muted shades can make a bedroom or office feel calm. A bright accent wall can give a kid's room some personality. A warm neutral can make a family room feel brighter and more welcoming. You don't need new furniture or a remodel to notice the change.

There's a practical upside too. Rain doesn't cancel interior painting. With the right indoor temperature, humidity and airflow, the work keeps moving even when the weather outside doesn't cooperate. Weather still matters a little. Cold walls and extra moisture can slow drying, and good ventilation is important even with low-odor paint.

A Quick Tip: Do a Five-Minute Wall Check

Not sure if your walls need attention? Here's an easy way to find out.

1. Pick a time with good daylight and turn off the overhead lights. Walk through your home and stand near a window. Look along each wall from the side instead of straight on. That angled light shows things you've probably stopped noticing, like scuffs in the hallway, patchy touch-ups, faded spots around picture frames, chipped corners and scratches near doors.

2. Focus on the rooms you use most. If marks won't wipe off, old touch-ups stand out, or the finish looks uneven, it might be time for a fresh coat. If the paint's still in good shape and you like the color, a small repair and touch-up may be all you need. And if you spot bubbling, peeling or water stains, find out what's causing it before you paint over it.

3. One last thing to think about: how you want the room to feel, not just how it looks right now. A new color can make a busy family space feel warmer or turn a spare room into somewhere you actually want to spend time.

You don't have to wait for spring. Winter's a great time to look around, fix what needs fixing and start the new year with rooms that fit the way you live.

beach by assuming control of a 900-foot stretch of sand owned by the city of Los Angeles. The narrow stretch of beach beside Vista del Mar generates 911 calls and trash-pickup requests, which El Segundo often handles even though the beach falls within L.A.'s jurisdiction.

- A developer has come up with a new approach to connecting Park Place, which ends at the railroad tracks. In 2024, the council rejected a plan to build a tall overpass for vehicles traveling east and west on Park Place, which runs east of Pacific Coast Highway. The new proposal is to tunnel below the railroad tracks, with the developer assuming the full cost of the street extension and paving. The council liked the design and the developer's willingness to self-fund the job, and agreed to amend the environmental impact report.

- Candy Cane Lane will be open to vehicle traffic this holiday season, and the decision not to close the road has residents on the 1200 block of East Acacia Street worried about pedestrian safety. At residents' request, the city manager agreed Tuesday to meet with them to address concerns about reopening Candy Lane to cars.

- The Los Angeles County MTA and El Segundo have reached an agreement to fund the city's Safe Routes to School project. MTA will release $400,000 from Measure M tax revenues so El Segundo officials can make walking and biking to school less dangerous for schoolchildren. The MTA Board recently approved $114.7 million in additional funding for 23 projects across the South Bay. The transportation funding will support projects in Hawthorne, Inglewood, Los Angeles, Torrance, and Redondo Beach. •

Since 1997, Kitten Rescue has rescued cats and kittens from a variety of situations. When they are finally ready for their fur-ever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life… and in turn enrich your own.

So many wonderful kittens and cats are often overlooked by no fault of their own… senior cats, bonded pairs, blind or deaf kitties, FELV+ cats and black cats (whose black canine counterparts are also passed by). All would cherish the chance to become a member of your family. Kitten Rescue would love the opportunity to answer any questions you may have.

Kitten Rescue operates solely on the time, energy, and dedication of our generous volunteers. In fact, Kitten Rescue could not survive without the help of our volunteers! We have many volunteer opportunities and ways you can get involved. Training can be provided. If you have experience or would like to gain experience — we want you on our Kitten Rescue team! Go to our webpage KittenRescue.org, and click on "Get Involved".

Domino is the bold, outgoing leader of his litter, always the first to trot over and say hello. This striking white-and-gray boy with big black spots has never met a stranger, greeting every new person with total confidence and an immediate request for attention. Curious, social, and fearless, he dives headfirst into whatever is happening around him. Domino is a true powerhouse at playtime, chasing toys and wrestling with his siblings with boundless energy. Yet for all his bravado, he is a cuddler at heart. He gets along wonderfully with his siblings and other cats, and would thrive in a home with a playmate (ideally one of his littermates) to keep up with him. Confident, affectionate, and bursting with personality, Domino makes friends instantly. Domino is people-loving and would be a wonderful fit for a family who wants an engaged, outgoing companion. Please contact his foster at vining.anna@gmail.com

Smokey is a sweet, spirited girl with a gentle, slightly shy side and a surprisingly adventurous streak. This lovely girl looks nearly identical to her sister Puppy apart from a little white patch on her belly. Smokey takes some time to warm up to new people. But her boldness shows in other ways: she is an enthusiastic climber who loves to scale the highest perch she can find and survey her kingdom from above. Once Smokey feels comfortable, her playful, confident side shines through. She can wrestle and brawl with the best of her siblings, and she seems to keep a watchful, protective eye on her little sister Puppy. Smokey enjoys the company of her siblings and other cats, and would do best in a calm, patient home, ideally with a feline where she can build confidence at her own pace. Tall cat trees and high perches will make her especially happy. Brave, agile, and sweet beneath her shy exterior, Smokey is ready to share her climbing adventures and quiet affection with an understanding, loving family. Please contact her foster at vining.anna@gmail.com

Honda, an adorable brown tabby teen, is as adventurous as he is cute! Honda earned his name after being discovered way up a tree next to a Honda dealership. Luckily, his tree-climbing days are behind him, and he is now focused on what really matters: playtime, cuddles, and bonding with his feline friends. Honda is sweet, curious, and full of energy. He loves chasing toys, climbing cat trees, and snuggling when it is time to wind down. Ready to welcome a little adventure (and a lot of love) into your life? Honda is waiting to meet you! Please contact his foster at adopt@kittenrescue.org

Paris is a loving, affectionate cat seeking a calm and forever home where she can continue to blossom and thrive. She is quite playful and loves to chase toys, particularly wand toys and catnip toys. At a young four years old, she has had all her teeth removed due to dental disease, but she doesn't let that stop her from anything! She does best on a wet food only diet and loves mealtime and treat time. Paris is a little tentative, especially in new situations, needing a gentle slow approach. When she knows she is safe, this loving girl opens up and revels in receiving physical affection. She loves to head bump your hand as soon as you stop petting her, letting you know she is ready for more pets. Paris is social with other cats and has been patient with the very friendly small dogs in her foster home. She is looking for a loving home where she can continue to grow and build trust. Email her foster parent at catermeierhaus@gmail.com

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information to see these or our other kittens and cats and for a list of our weekend adoption events, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.

The donations and support we receive from individuals like you, who share our love and commitment to helping cats and kittens in Los Angeles, are the sole reason we are able to do what we do. We are grateful for your financial help. By making even a small donation today, you can touch the lives of the many deserving, wonderful animals in our care. There are many ways you can donate and help, and every dollar means so much. Kitten Rescue is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 3519 Casitas Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90039.

Saving one animal won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. •
