Clippers Press Conference Adds Hope for NBA Return to Town

Last week at a press conference, Assemblywoman Sydney Kamlager-Dove (shown in the photo with Inglewood and Los Angeles Clippers officials) formally introduced legislation to assist the City of Inglewood in bringing NBA basketball back to the community by providing CEQA streamlining relief for the new arena project. The bill, AB 987, will ensure the new Inglewood Basketball and Entertainment Center Project meets strict environmental standards and enhances local services while still protecting vital community interests. Inglewood Year Ends on Positive Financial Note Despite Challenges

By Haleemon Anderson

Despite ending the fiscal year with a positive audit and salary increases for law enforcement, Inglewood officials continue to face opposition from residents who see the City Council as fast-tracking an entertainment development without regard for renters. The Uplift Inglewood Coalition held a press conference on City Hall grounds prior to Tuesday’s Council meeting, announcing a lawsuit filed against the City of Inglewood. Inside the meeting, members of the coalition lined up single-file to speak during public comments.

“We are trying to insure secure housing for working families,” said Michael Wilson, a member of Uplift Inglewood. Wilson announced the group’s lawsuit against the City, and attempted to hand a manila envelope to the Council. As Wilson’s one-minute comment time expired, Mayor James T. Butts directed Wilson to hand the documents to the City Clerk. Wilson refused to relinquish the podium, saying, “No, we’ll do this now.” With more than 20 people waiting in line, the mayor called for adjournment.

Uplift Inglewood is comprised of “residents, businesses, faith groups and community organizations...” according to its website. Their lawsuit claims the City’s deal with Clippers owner Steve Ballmer violates the surplus land act.

Speaking after the meeting, Derek Steele said, “There’s a lot of excitement around this new development. One of the unintended consequences is a spike in rent costs.” Steele, a vocal member of Uplift, has lived in Inglewood 11 years with his wife and two daughters. He noted that displacement is a big issue. “Homeowners are not the only people who are long-time residents of Inglewood,” said Steele, who claims 64 percent of Inglewood residents are renters. He added that Uplift is suing because the City has to make surplus land available for affordable housing. In addition, Steele said the group has collected 13,000 signatures to put rent control and rent stabilization measures on the November ballot.

In action items during the meeting, the Council approved a salary ordinance for fiscal year 2017-18. In a review of compensation against job descriptions and duties, several categories of jobs may increase in salary for next year. There were no changes in compensation for executive staff, mayor and council positions or part-time staff. Inglewood police officers and police management personnel will receive a 5 percent salary increase, per terms of their union MOUs.

Brian Groomer of Lance Soll & Lunghard, the City’s auditing firm, reported on the year-end financial statement that cited only four audit findings. The Council accepted the report, with Butts saying, “When I came here, we were behind in our audits. Now we’re all caught up.”

Councilmember Ralph L. Franklin recalled prior years when audit findings numbered in the double digits. “We have put many procedures in place,” he said, noting the work of the audit firm in resolving past issues.

The Council adopted an ordinance to increase free parking hours at the Crenshaw-Imperial Library branch. The library recently increased hours of operation to include Wednesday and Saturday.

In other public comments, resident Diane Sambrano objected to consent calendar items 6 and 7, an agreement with WOW Media to provide electronic billboards in town. Sambrano said the City is lowering rates for commercial billboards while increasing fees to residents at parks and other facilities. Sambrano also objected to “salary increases, and mentioned the protest outside.

Residents Willie Agee and Jim Braun expressed support for the raises. “Evidently they deserve it,” said Agee. Braun said he supports raises to maintain law enforcement and any other employees who are doing their job.

Another resident noted a hearing in Sacramento on Thursday regarding AB 987 and the environmental impact report for the proposed Clippers arena. The bill was introduced last week by incoming Assemblywoman Sydney Kamlager-Dove and is designed to fast-track the Clippers arena by limiting legal challenges to the development under the California Environmental Quality Act (SEQA).

Kamlager-Dove, speaking last week at a formal press conference of the majority stakeholders in the project, said, “This bill has the potential to put tens of thousands of jobs in my district. That’s jobs and an increased tax base... and without public funds.” She said the bill limits litigation against the project, but still ensures it meets strict environmental standards.

Representatives of Uplift Inglewood plan to be at the Sacramento hearing, according to Steele.

The Inglewood City Council meets every Tuesday, unless otherwise noted, at 2 p.m. in the council chambers on the 9th floor, Inglewood City Hall. •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

JOHN BAKER MEMORIAL CRUISE NIGHT

Join other Hawthorne High Cougar Alums at a very special night at Foster's Freeze on Hawthorne Blvd. In memory of John Baker, there will be a cruise night on Saturday, July 21 from 5 to 9 p.m. Come out and get reunited with your HHS friends. Cougartown is alive and well.

NEXTDOOR ELECTION

Nextdoor, the local social media, has become the best way to reach voters. This past school bond election in Holly Glen was defeated partly due to the campaign announcements made on Nextdoor. This fall, two city council seats, the city clerk and the city treasurer's positions will all be up for grabs and Nextdoor might be the best place to get endorsements. When I ran for city clerk back in 2009, we didn't have Nextdoor, I literally ran for my office. I laced up my my running shoes and ran from door to door to put advertisements on as many front porches as I could. Now that I'm retired, I might start running again. I need to stay in shape to complete my long "honey do" list.

MOVING VAN

Moving day arrived on Monday of this week. Our move to Orangevale has come and gone. Some of my loyal readers and friends came over to help load boxes on to the moving van in the cool 68 degree morning hours. Now, it's on to NorCal where the temps will be in the 90's this week and 102 this Saturday. Our swimming pool will be looking pretty good after the last box is unloaded. So, now I'm officially a former resident of Hawthorne. If you are a loyal reader, please send stay in contact with me. Send me the latest, inside scoop on what is happening in Hawthorne. I'm going to be relying on you folks to keep me up to date. Thank you once again to all who have emailed me and have sent well wishes my way this past week. Thanks to those of you who gave me some cold ones. Thanks for the great memories of living in the City of Good Neighbors.

FLAMETHROWERS AND O'HARE

Let me get this right, the Boring Company sells thousands of flame throwers to raise capital and then is awarded the job to dig a tunnel from downtown Chicago to O'Hare Airport. I'm hoping that our fine city gets some tax revenue from the sale of this collector's item that people are willing to drive across the country for.

FIREWORKS SALES

Support our local non-profits and get out and buy some LEGAL fireworks. The funds raised really make a difference in the budgets of many of our clubs and organizations. Fireworks stands will begin to open on June 28th.

EL SEGUNDO ART WALK 2018

Featuring 35 Studios, 45 Artists and a Giant Crocheted Wallet By World-Renowned Street Artist, London Kaye

On Thursday June 21 from 5 - 9 p.m., art enthusiasts and community members are invited to explore the burgeoning art scene in the ever-evolving Smoky Hollow and downtown neighborhoods of El Segundo. Studios and creative offices, along with restaurants and bars along Main and Franklin streets, offer art lovers and culture seekers the chance to explore different exhibitions and pop-up galleries throughout the thriving community. Smoky Hollow is a funky and industrial district with an eclectic vibe and is a rapidly developing hub for art, creative businesses, entertainment and incubators.

This year marks the fourth year of the self-guided art walk. Visitors can pick up maps, view and purchase art from uniquely curated exhibitions featuring local artists, sample beer from Boulevard Brewing and El Segundo Brewing Company and enjoy live music at ESAW headquarters.

The art walk is free-of-charge and ESAW has partnered with Swoop (swoopapp.com) to provide free transportation from Aloft Hotel located at 475 North Sepulveda Blvd. Attendees are encouraged to park and ride for free. There is free-parking through the city and is the only South Bay city that does not have parking meters.

"I Left my Wallet in El Segundo," the song made popular by hip hop group A Tribe Called Quest, will be brought to life at this year's El Segundo ArtWalk (ESAW) through an interactive art installation by globally recognized street artist London Kaye and El Segundo-based artists, Dylan Gonzalez and Hunter Hovland.

The pair have joined forces to create a six-foot by eight-foot wallet with interactive contents that represent El Segundo's past and future. Materials include wood, integrated metal track, PVC pipe, and yarn. The wallet will be on display and at the ESAW headquarters at 314 Main Street in El Segundo during this year's series of art walks over the summer. The first art walk kicks off June 21 at 5 p.m.

Music at the headquarter venue will be provided by Robert Jon & The Wreck, an award-winning quintet of seasoned touring veterans that bring fire to the stage through their soaring guitar leads, 3-part harmonies and soul-activating groove. Support on stage will also be provided by an acoustic set by Skeleton Bay.

Find more information at elsegundoartwalk.com, or go to their Facebook page to RSVP.

Tips And Tricks To Keep Your Car Looking New

(BPT) - The colder weather is fleeting, flowers are blossoming and the grass is just a little greener, which means summer is finally here. While most of your time will be spent preparing your home, clothes and family calendars for the warmer weather, it's important not to forget about your car.

In fact, you can celebrate summertime by spending some time enjoying the fresh outdoor air and showing your car some love ahead of upcoming family vacations and summer road trips with friends. Start with these smart and simple tips to improve your ride:

Freshen Up the Interior

Interior and exterior cleaning makes a big difference in keeping a car looking and driving its best, but that doesn't solve odor issues. To finalize summer car prep and maintenance, make sure to use a product that will leave the car smelling as good as it looks. Innovative and discrete vent sticks and mini diffusers from Refresh Your Car! come in a wide variety of scents, like Lemon Lime Sunshine, and are an affordable, long-lasting way to keep a car smelling great!

Clean and Protect Your Interior

The interior, especially leather, is the most used and abused part of a car. Over time, constant use and sun damage can result in you leather interior drying out, causing it to fade, crack and rip. A quick and trusted way to address this issue is to use Lexol Leather Cleaner & Conditioner. The easy two-step process will help clean, restore and protect a car's interior, keeping it looking and feeling like new.

Check Your Battery

The colder the weather, the harder a battery and charging system need to work in a car. Start by making sure the battery is mounted correctly and the connections are free from corrosion. Also, consider replacing the battery if it's older than five years, which will ensure you don't get stranded out on the road.

Check and replace basic car items

Before heading out on any lengthy adventures, make sure the car is up-to-date on oil changes. During the oil change a technician should also check and replenish other fluids like the brake, transmission, windshield wiper and power steering fluids, as well as your coolant. This often forgotten about maintenance will help a car run smoothly for months to come.

Wash and Wax

No matter the season, a car that is driven daily is constantly battling the elements, which can cause damage to its exterior. Washing regularly and waxing at least twice a year is an easy way to keep a car looking its best, protecting it from damaging UV rays, road debris, tree sap and rusting. When washing and protecting, don't forget about tires and wheels. The Eagle One A2Z All Wheel & Tire Cleaner is an affordable, easy-to-use spray that clings to the dirt on the surface of most wheels and tires, easily removing brake dust, grime and grease; giving your wheels and tires a spotless, professional look.

These simple tips can keep a car clean, fresh and running smoothly throughout the hectic summer driving season. •

Healthcare Hints: 5 Savings Tips For Budget-Conscious Consumers

(BPT) - As Americans work hard to meet all the obligations that come with work, family and everyday life, many are challenged to find time to manage all the financial elements affecting their healthcare.

If you're among them you're far from alone, since the multiple details associated with healthcare insurance can be confusing. At the same time, you want to be smart about your financial resources when making decisions about the quality healthcare you and your family need.

Fortunately, by carving out time to research money-saving tips you may be able to minimize your out-of-pocket healthcare expenses. Such out-of-pocket spending rose by more than 50 percent between 2010 and 2017, The Atlantic recently reported, partly because half of all health insurance policyholders in the U.S. are dealing with annual deductibles of at least $1,000.

Whether you're uninsured or simply facing a high insurance deductible, you can take several steps to better manage your healthcare budget. Consider how the following tips may offer you a better sense of control of rising healthcare costs.

- Read bills with a critical eye. Any bill can include administrative errors, and some estimates have indicated errors on as many as 80 percent of medical invoices issued, reports the Medical Billing Advocates of America.

- Lower the cost of your meds. A free program known as Inside Rx is a prescription savings card that provides discounts on prescription medications for eligible patients. And it's amazingly effective. According to the data, eligible patients have saved an average of 40 percent on the more than 100 featured brand medications included in the program, and even more on generic medications. Inside Rx is a great option to help the uninsured, those facing high deductibles or anyone trying to save money on their meds. Inside Rx even offers prescription savings for pets for qualifying medications. And the Inside Rx card is free and easy to download, with no registration process or sharing of personal information.

- Compare costs whenever possible. Some medical services can be difficult to compare on an apples-to-apples basis, but it's worth doing your homework before making appointments for more standard services such as annual check-ups, lab work and testing, dental care or dermatology services. Check vendor websites, make phone calls and conduct web searches to find online databases, such as HealthcareBluebook.com, that suggest fair prices for various services. If you're insured, your insurance provider can then clarify what portion of the bill will be covered.

- Be bold about negotiations. It's OK to speak up. You have nothing to lose by politely asking your healthcare provider to work with you on the price of an upcoming service, especially when dealing with a private practice. Start the conversation by aiming for the Medicare rate or an amount close to that paid by commercial insurers. As an alternative, ask the office administrator to set up a manageable payment plan.

- Consider paying cash up front. Some vendors offer discounts for simply paying cash for your services without funneling everything through insurance. Even if you're insured, you can still evaluate whether immediate cash payments will be lower than your post-insurance costs.

Keeping a close eye on where you might be wasting money on healthcare can pay off in a big way - and the remedies don't have to be complicated. Conduct your due diligence on such costs to protect your financial health as vigorously as your physical health. •

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Elle

Mr. Fredrickson

Every second of every minute of every day, a helpless animal is put to death just because no one was there to take them home. Saving one animal may not change the world, but it will change the world for that animal

Give one of these kitties a second chance for a lifetime of love in a new forever home with you.

Beautiful, elegant Elle and her three babies were rescued from a city shelter.

Elle has been an extraordinary mama taking care of her babies. Now Elle needs to find a very special home. She is on the shy side and will take time to adjust to a new home. She loves pets and rubbing around her head and neck. Her ideal home will be a quiet one with a patient, gentle person who can spend a lot of time with her and make her feel comfortable. After all of her hard mommy work, she deserves to be cherished and spoiled!

Rescued from the streets of LA along with their siblings, little Scallop and Lobster were bottle-fed at the Kitten Rescue nursery. True to his name, Scallop will suction himself onto any willing and warm lap, as his favorite thing in the world is to snuggle. If his human is ignoring him, he will roll over onto his back and expose his wildcat-striped belly -- which no one could possibly resist rubbing. Scallop loves to wrestle with his brother and will hop all over the house like a bunny after balls and toys. Just spend two minutes with his brother Lobster and you will find it difficult to keep a straight face as this comical little fellow ungracefully lobster-walks his way across the floor in his vigorous pursuit of lint balls, cat toys and that elusive laser light he can never seem to catch. No slightly-cracked-open cabinet door or bookshelf is beyond Lobster's reach. He will allow no clothes-filled laundry basket to remain uninvestigated to its depths. Scallop and Lobster each need forever homes with a young kitten or cat playmate, and would love to go to a home with you together as a pair!

Lobster and Scallop

Tyrion is a handsome boy with bright green eyes and extra-large front paws because he is a Polydactyl! He spends his days rotating between napping, playing with his cat toys and wrestling with his foster siblings. However, his favorite time of day is when he is being petted by his foster mom or curled up quietly beside her while she sleeps. Tyrion would be happiest adopted into a home with another kitty he can play with because he is an active, young, 14-month-old and would be bored and lonely if left alone all day. He is a lover, not a fighter, so he would not do well if paired with a cat that will bully him. Please know that Tyrion will try to dart outside, so he needs to be adopted into a home that will be vigilant about not letting him get outside where he can get hurt. Please come meet this green-eyed character for yourself to see what a great addition he will be to your family.

Mr. Fredrickson is a shy, sometimes grumpy old 10-week-old little "man" who is looking for adventure. He can be hissy as he adjusts...but when he warms up to you, he is your lap cat for life. He is an excellent jumper and climber who is fast on his feet. Mr. Fredrickson was rescued from the shelter with his siblings El-lie, Russell and Kevin (and three other litter mates). He would be so grateful to be paired at his new home with Russell or Ellie.

Charlie Chaplin is a handsome Snowshoe

Siamese mix with beautiful blue eyes. A large, bold cat, Charlie has a big personality and plenty of "cattitude." He is sweet and loving when things go his way and he will definitely let you know when a situation is not quite to his liking. Charlie Chaplin gets along with other cats, but would also do great in a home where he can reign supreme as an only cat. Though he has not lived with dogs, he may be open to a doggie pal as well.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave.; and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave., just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Be kind. Save a life. Support animal rescue. •

but the world will surely change for that animal.*
