FDR Elementary Recognized in Grades of Green Challenge

Lawndale's very own F.D. Roosevelt Elementary School has earned recognition from Grades of Green with the Best Food Recovery Award as part of the latter organization's 7th annual Trash Free Lunch Challenge. After months of sorting lunchtime waste, hosting educational assemblies on waste reduction, and packing trash free lunches, Grades of Green selected its finalist schools -- with all campuses diverting a whopping 463 tons of combined waste from local landfills.

Twenty schools located in the greater Los Angeles area --including F.D. Elementary -- entered the Trash Free Lunch Challenge in the fall of 2017 to see which school could divert the most waste and best inspire its student body to adopt lifelong waste reduction habits. Grades of Green provided each school with a personalized advisor, leadership training webinars for student leaders, an educational assembly, an eco-starter kit, and a customized waste reduction plan. Grades of Green Team student leaders ask peers to reduce trash by bringing reusable lunch containers and using lunchtime sorting stations to form habits that will protect the environment for years to come.

As in past years, the schools exceeded expectations. The Trash Free Lunch Challenge schools collectively diverted over 46,300 bags of trash from local landfills -- and more impressive than trash bag reduction were the students who made it happen. The schools educated over 13,000 students on waste reduction. Each of these students, including those who buy lunch, learned to sort waste into share box/food donation, compost, liquids, recyclables, landfill waste, and tray stacking. This year's Challenge schools achieved a 66 percent average lunchtime waste diversion rate.

"The goal of the Trash Free Lunch Challenge is not only to reduce waste but also to teach children how to reuse, recycle and compost. Educating students through programs such as these furthers our mission of converting waste into resources in the communities we serve," said Grace Robinson Hyde, Sanitation Districts' chief engineer and general manager.

"We are so impressed with the student leadership at our Trash Free Lunch Challenge schools," said Allie Bussjaeger, Grades of Green's director of regional programs. "These students have gone above and beyond to inspire their campus communities to reduce waste. From delivering classroom presentations, to hosting grade level competitions, to making educational videos, these students are making waste reduction easy and fun!"
