little princess that she is!
Little Sophie was found at five weeks and needed to be nurtured and bottle-fed. Since she was a “bottle baby,” Sophie is very connected with people. She is a little love bug! Sophie is social, great with other cats, very comfortable around dogs, and pals around with her friend Emmy Lou. She will wiggle her way into your heart if you give her a chance!
Emmy Lou is a feisty, playful, curious little girl who loves to explore and get into fun... oops, trouble...no, fun! She is incredibly sweet and snuggly, loves to cuddle, and likes attention. More than anything, Emmy Lou loves to be daring and enjoys play! Of course, she is great pals with her friend Sophie. Emmy Lou is very good with other cats and completely comfortable with dogs.
Just like the detective on radio NPR’s Prairie Home Companion, Guy Noir’s life is one big adventure. He’s a handsome, silky, black kitten with a tiny white boutonnière in the center of his neck – so debonair! Guy currently spends his days in lively playtime with his two sisters, Tango and Smokin’ Joan, and is adored by them. Recently, Guy was introduced to a visitor in his foster home, a much smaller and younger white kitten. He was first among his siblings to extend the paw of friendship to his very scared new buddy.

He played gently with his new pal and left his regular bed to sleep side-by-side with his new buddy until his sisters accepted her as part of the close-knit family. He is a little lover and a big-time purrer! Guy enjoys any adventure and toy and will try to make you laugh; you will bond with him instantly. He was the smallest kitten in his litter and has now grown up into a gorgeous yellow-eyed prince of a kitten. He’s confident yet sensitive, and definitely needs to have a young kitten/cat companion in his new home. He is very close to Smokin’ Joan and would be very content in a home with her, but he is also very open to new friends.
Livingston is quite the handsome guy all dressed up in his tux! He is a very, very affectionate kitty who likes to sleep on his foster mom, or sit on her shoulder while she watches TV. He also loves to be held, kissed and doted on by his humans. Livingston has soft fur and a little white tip on his tail. Like his brother, Murphy, he came into rescue because his previous mom had too many cats and the landlord threatened to evict her. He’s so happy he didn’t have to go to the pound, and the only thing Livingston needs now is to find a fur-ever home. He gets along really, really well with other cats and would even consider coming home to you with his brother Murphy!
Meet the love of your life: Murphy. Murphy is an awesome lover boy who is looking for a human who likes to snuggle, give lots of pets, share the occasional plate of eggs or tuna, and would like to hang out and watch movies. Murphy also enjoys playing with the various cat toys that he has found in his foster home. While his foster humans are away, he enjoys “couch surfing” and sunbathing under the window. He has never met a cat he doesn’t like, and he loves curling up with his brother Livingston when there’s no human around. Murphy came into rescue because his previous mom was going to be evicted for having too many cats. Unfortunately, none of them were spayed or neutered and they kept multiplying. Not surprisingly, the landlord wasn’t too thrilled about that. But all those worries are behind Murphy now, and he is crossing his paws for a purr-fect love match to come his way soon!
