Council Revisits Selling Civic Center Land

By Derrick Deane

Faced with a continuing issue of increasing revenue for the city, the Hawthorne City Council revisited the idea of selling land including property adjacent to the Civic Center, Tuesday night.

While the Council struck down a $10 million offer from Councilman Hadir Awad’s uncle, Ali Awad last week, the motion to resubmit offers for city land, including the building which currently houses the Hawthorne Historical Society was approved by a majority vote.

“Speaking on behalf of the Historical Society, we realize the plight of the city as far as the finances are concerned,” City Clerk and Historical Society Vice President Norb Huber said. “We will find another location for the museum. We are not cemented in over there and we put a lot of work and time in making the museum.”

Huber continued agreeing that selling off the land that currently houses the Historical Society was in the best interest of the city.

“I have said this many times, but it has become a real positive gathering point for visitors and local people. Every time I go in there, there are people telling stories and it’s a community building that’s been very positive,” Huber said. “We thank the city the opportunity to have the museum over there but we’re all in favor of the city moving forward with development over there.”

City Manager Arnie Shadbehr echoed Huber’s sentiments saying that, “We will find a new location and if we can’t, we will build one.”

Mayor Alex Vargas addressed the matter saying that he understood the community’s concern as the current resubmission for bids didn’t include housing but was rather retail-focused.

“The concern right now with the community, and I can see it, is with the housing. This particular agreement is limiting it to hotel and some commercial development,” Vargas said.

Residents have spoken out at length about not wanting additional housing in the city given that most residents rent properties. As currently written, the motion only seeks commercial development with hotels, restaurants, and retail.

Residents spoke at length during last week’s special meeting about their disapproval of selling a portion of civic center land. That same sentiment came through again this week and was carried further when Councilman Nilo Michelin stated that he believed the city didn’t have a revenue problem but rather a spending issue.

“First of all, we have a structural deficit,” Michelin said. “Basically that means we have a spending problem, not a revenue problem. If we go through with selling this property, we’re still going to have the structural deficit. It doesn’t solve the problem at all.”

Michelin called for reducing spending on outside legal counsel. He added an emotional plea that, “every city around us has a civic center.”

“It is unprecedented to sell off part of the civic center,” Michelin said after pointing out examples in Inglewood, Gardena, Lawndale, and El Segundo. “If we really do need to go through with this plan, why not compromise? Why not have some kind of civic development, maybe a park or a museum to keep that civic center feeling.”

It was a stance that his Council colleagues, particularly Councilwoman Olivia Valentine and Mayor Vargas took exception to.

“We have cut to the bone,” Valentine said. “I have spoken to city officials who have said we cannot cut anymore. Our city employee’s morale is low, we’re on furloughs. We must find a way to improve our revenue stream.”

Shadbehr agreed with Valentine’s comments clarifying that the potential sale would not affect the library.

“The library is going to stay there. The only property is the dry cleaning property that is active right now, the vacant lot, and the old police department building which is non-useable. Those are the only ones we are including,” Shadbehr said. “The library, fire station and certainly city hall remain in place.”

If successful, the sale would create commercial development that would infuse the city with a one-time cash deposit and be followed with annual taxes collected from establishments that would be built on the property.

“If we are successful, it can help us for the next three to four years to stay solvent. We’ve cut back on our operation costs quite a bit and we continue to do that. We are doing what we can to cut our expenses, but it will reach a point where you will have to start talking about cutting services,” Shadbehr said, adding that the city recently laid off 24 employees while those who remained employed continue to work on furlough.

Councilman Awad clarified that the request for proposals (RFP) was written and structured in a way that whatever project is created from a potential sale would be a continued revenue stream for the city.

If selling off property sounds like a redundant endeavor, Mayor Pro Tem Angie Reyes English couldn’t agree more.

“I’ve been here since 2005 and this property across the street has been an ongoing discussion,” English said. “What has happened is nothing. It has been there stagnant, except for movie use and we get a percentage of that, but how long has the Hawthorne Mall been stagnant?”

English said that the city cannot continue to do the same thing repeatedly adding that instead, it needs to pursue mixed use properties filled with restaurants and retail establishments.

“We want residual income. We want to be able to, after we’re done with our jobs here, that money to continue to grow and grow out our city for even more developments and projects,” English said. “I want to ultimately see the city benefit and the only way we’re going to be able to do that is ensure that we have residual incomes and jobs are being created.”

English requested an extension to the time frame for proposals to be submitted. The deadline was extended to May 17.

Councilman Michelin abstained from voting while the rest of the council approved the motion. •

Environmental Charter Schools Receives a $60,000 Grant from Chevron for STEM Education

Environmental Charter Schools, a leading charter school network in the fields of environmental and sustainability education for South Bay youth, received a $60,000 grant from the Chevron El Segundo Refinery. The grant was endowed by Chevron for the purpose of enriching Environmental Charter School’s Science, Technology, Engineering and Math education programs.

Environmental Charter Schools and Chevron announce their continuing partnership as Chevron awards $60,000 in grant funding to support STEM (Science, Technology, Engineering, and Mathematics) programs which are integrated into the ECS curriculum at the schools’ 6-12 grade levels, as well as through a rich variety of after-school programs.

Environmental Charter Schools’ Executive Director, Alison Diaz, shares the tremendous impact that the Chevron grant will have on ECS programs, saying, “Chevron’s commitment to and investment in STEM education is unrivaled. Over the years, Chevron has helped ECS to deliver high quality STEM instructional materials to ensure that our students graduate as critical thinkers and creative problem solvers.”

The Chevron grant will specifically support STEM achievement and access to technology. At Environmental Charter Schools, STEM programming is delivered through a variety of programs including the MESA (Math, Engineering, and Science Achievement) Program, the Solar Boat program, the Sustain-a-Store, the Bike Shop and the Green Ambassadors program. ECS has also launched a new STEM Tiny Homes (sustainable living) after-school program, in which students learn computer-aided design technology, programing skills, and architectural and engineering techniques.

“Chevron has long made K-12 STEM education a priority because STEM programs are essential to prepare our students to become leaders, productive members of the workforce, and professionals in our global economy,” says Lily Craig, Chevron’s External Affairs Manager. “We are proud that our programs support local youth so that they can contribute to society and develop fruitful careers and enriched lives.” •

Film Review

Louder Than Bombs is a Surreal, Intimate Portrayal of Love and Loss

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy.com

In 2007, Joachim Trier was named one of Variety’s “10 Directors to Watch” with the release of his film Reprise and now, fans of the Norwegian-born director are being greeted with his first English-language feature film, Louder Than Bombs. A melancholic drama that includes multi-layered narratives, Louder Than Bombs tells the story of one family’s struggle to process and then move on from the death of their loved one. I had the opportunity to two sons is affected by his own flaws. This humanistic condition for connection is at the forefront of the film and engages the audience into contemplating how and why we act the way we do, focusing on the relationships within our own family.

What sets Louder Than Bombs apart from other films of recent memory are the surreal moments Trier infuses within the story. Disregarding the traditional method of linear storytelling by shifting between the past and sit down with Trier last week, and we talked skateboarding, being in the moment, and the hardest part about pitching his film, you can find our interview at www.cinemacy.com.

Isabelle Reed (Isabelle Huppert) a famed photographer who felt most comfortable in war and conflict-ridden areas, was the center of her husband Gene (Gabriel Byrne) and two sons’, Jonah (Jesse Eisenberg) and teenager Conrad (Devin Druid), world. No one could have predicted that she would leave behind a familial conflict of her own doing after her untimely and suspicious death. Three years after the accident, Isabelle’s works are being thrust into the spotlight when a museum in New York City asks to use her photographs for a retrospective gallery installation. Her husband accepts, as he is slowly moving on with his life and sees this as a great opportunity to honor her. However, he discovers that an accompanying New York Times article speculating Isabelle’s actual cause of death is set to run simultaneously with the gallery opening, and threatens to expose the devastating truth that Gene was intent on hiding from his youngest son in order to protect him. He has no choice but to enlist his oldest son Jonah to help him get through another painful confrontation.

Louder Than Bombs is an unwavering, head-on look at the human desire for connection and the need to be understood. It’s obvious in Conrad’s behavior by acting out and alienating himself from his father’s attempt to reconnect, as well as in his brother Jonah’s promiscuity, even when he has a wife and newborn baby at home. Gene’s attempt to bond with his the present, these added moments put visuals to feelings that have a hard time being expressed otherwise. They are not the character’s dreams, rather, they are daydreams- or what one wonders about without limitations. These moments are hauntingly beautiful and stand out as works of art on their own.

On the acting front, the assembled cast could not have been better. Jesse Eisenberg is fantastic in the role of Jonah, his trademark quick-witted clamor is controlled and even understated, serving as the voice of reason in the film. Gabriel Byrne plays the widowed Gene with sensitivity as a conflicted father trying to navigate his own direction in life, who is not without his own flaws. Devin Druid embodies the angsty, brooding teenager Conrad to such a believable degree while still holding onto the innocence of being a misunderstood child. These, plus the stellar performances from Isabella Huppert, David Strathairn, and Amy Ryan, truly give the film it’s footing.

The title- Louder Than Bombs- suggests an epic, grandiose drama, but instead, what Trier creates is a meditative and restrained film that is not at all loud or brash. It is a psychological trip that leads back to the celebration of one’s own uniqueness coming together to fulfill the family dynamic. There is no doubt that Joachim Trier took a risk with Louder Than Bombs, but I believe his creative vision has the potential to pay off tenfold.

Rated R for language, some sexual content, nudity and violent images, 109 minutes. Now playing at Laemmle’s Royal Theatre and Sundance Sunset Cinema. •

Hawthorne Happenings
News for the ‘City of Good Neighbors’

From City Clerk Norb Huber SERVICE PROVIDER FAIR /
EARTH DAY CELEBRATION

Event this Saturday, April 16th from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. at Memorial Park. A lot of information will be made available to our Hawthorne neighbors. Prizes and food are also on the agenda. Our local trash company, Republic Services, is providing free compost material for you to use in your garden and free shredding of documents that you wish to dispose of safely. If you take advantage of the free stuff, it could save you some green stuff.

TEST DRIVE A LINCOLN
RAISE MONEY FOR PARKS

This Sunday, April 17th, you can help to raise funds for the Hawthorne Parks Foundation by simply going down to South Bay Ford on Rosecrans and the 405 freeway and test driving a Lincoln. The times are from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. and there is room for 300 people to drive a new Lincoln. The foundation will receive $20 for every test drive. The money raised from the event will go to support our Hawthorne parks.

SEXUAL ASSAULT
PREVENTION SEMINAR

Many women are assaulted every day in our country. Preventing such attacks is the goal of a seminar to be held this Saturday, April 16th from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. at the Hawthorne Police Department. “Resolve to Rise” is the name of the seminar.
Topics include prevention, safety tips, grooming signs, the fear of aggression, and much more. For more information please contact Yolanda Dunn at 310-973-1091.

VOLUNTEER APPRECIATION DAY

Every year the Hawthorne Presidents Council does a nice thing for the community. It hosts a volunteer appreciation day at the Memorial Center.
This year’s event will be held on Sunday April 24 beginning at 2 p.m. Volunteerism is good for the body and soul. It makes you feel good helping others. We look forward to saying thank you to all of those who have worked hard this past year, not for money or benefits, but for the sear joy of giving back to the community.

SECOND PLACE AGAIN

The Hawthorne Parks and Recreation Foundation Golf Tournament was held this past Monday, with my foursome finishing second once again.
We just can’t quite get over the hump and win. The neat thing about golf is there is always another day, another course, or another hole to play. You get a fresh, new start each time you tee it up. Life is like that.

Some days we try but we still come in second place. But, the key to winning is to keep on trying. A favorite scripture of mine relates to this: “forgetting what lies behind and straining forward to what lies ahead, I press on toward the goal for the prize of the upward call of God in Christ Jesus.” (Philippians 3:14 ESV)

RELIGION AND BEER DAY

I really missed it last week. I missed telling you all about National Beer Day.
It is celebrated on April 7th each year and is an official holiday in the USA marking the first day in 1933 that people could legally buy, sell, and drink beer following 13 years of prohibition. National Beer Day is a celebration of the Cullen-Harrison Act being signed into law by President Franklin D. Roosevelt on March 22, 1933. Upon signing the legislation, Roosevelt made his famous remark, «I think this would be a good time for a beer”. On that first day, 1.5 million barrels of beer were consumed. Wow! That’s a lot of cold ones! So, I’m not the only one that likes to celebrate with a cold
one. We have freedom to drink beer here in our country. My Baptist friends will disagree, but my freedom in Christ allows me to drink a cold one in “moderation”.
Drinking beer is not a sin. Getting drunk is. Like the commercial says, “please drink responsibly”. I would extend this biblically to say, “please live responsibly”.
Something to ponder on while sipping your next cold one. •

Leuzinger Picks Up First Win Over Dominguez

Article and photos by Joe Snyder

Leuzinger High’s baseball team has been struggling over the past several seasons but it finally pulled through with an 8-4 non-league win over Dominguez High from Compton on April 6 at Leuzinger. Last Thursday at home, the Olympians were edged by Inglewood Morningside 12-11.

Against the Dons, the Olympians, who are 1-7, started by scoring twice in the bottom of the first inning. Leuzinger was ahead 5-4 before putting the game away with three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning. The Olympians were led by David Oliver who went two-for-two with two triples and three runs batted in. Jose Rodriguez had four hits and drove in two runs. Rodriguez was also the winning pitcher with a complete game four-hitter. He allowed only one earned run.

Rodriguez and Oliver also each had three hits and drove in three runs in Leuzinger’s loss to the Monarchs. It was the Olympians’ second loss to Morningside this season. On March 8 at Morningside, the Monarchs rolled over Leuzinger 11-1. Last Thursday, Morningside (4-7) was led by Gerardo Carrillo who had three hits and drove in four runs.

It is now league time for both squads. Leuzinger opens the Pioneer League against West Torrance this week. After visiting the Warriors (8-6) on Wednesday, the Olympians host West Friday at 3:15 p.m. With 13 players back from last season’s CIF-Southern Section Division IV quarterfinalist squad, West is one of the favorites in league and is currently ranked fifth in the Division IV. One of West’s wins was its season opener against Manhattan Beach Mira Costa, which two weeks ago won the prestigious Southern California Boras Classic with a 2-1 win over nationally ranked San Juan Capistrano Junipero Serra, also top rated in the Southern Section Division I. That put the Mustangs (13-2) into number-one in the nation for middle sized schools but they could drop after seeing their 13-game winning streak snapped with a 3-1 loss to Westlake in the Chatsworth Tournament last Saturday. Leuzinger is at home against an always tough Torrance squad next Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. Morningside is in the rigid Bay League, led by nationally ranked Mira Costa and Redondo. The Monarchs have two games against Rolling Hills Estates Peninsula this week. After visiting the Panthers Wednesday, Morningside is at home against Peninsula Friday at 3:15 p.m. Then, it’s on to visiting unbeaten Redondo (15-0 and third in the country for middle size schools) next Wednesday at the same time.

LAWDALE EASILY SWEEPS HMSA

It was spring break and Lawndale High’s baseball team enjoyed it quite a bit with an easy sweep of a smaller Hawthorne Math and Science Academy squad last week. After shutting out the Aviators 15-0 on April 5, the Cardinals played HMSA at Holly Park in Hawthorne last Thursday and came home with an 11-1 victory.

In both games, Lawndale head coach Steven Washington was able to move several players up from his junior varsity team and they were played a lot in both contests, especially the second one. In the first contest, Jorge Campos went five innings, allowing three hits, striking out five batters and walking none. First baseman Tyler Bonsky had two hits and drove in four runs. Junior Jesus Sanchez added an inside-the-park grand slam. He had two hits and six RBI’s.

In the second game, Washington went to playing his JV’s that dominated the Aviators. “I didn’t want to drive up the staff and the score,” Washington said.

With two games where the Cardinals were able to relax, especially their starters, it’s on to a much more competitive Ocean League, starting with Culver City. The Centaurs, who are 8-5, are expected to be one of the top contenders, along with Santa Monica and El Segundo, for the league crown. Culver is led by pro and NCAA Division I college prospect pitcher Nolan Martinez. Martinez already committed to playing baseball at UCLA if he is not drafted high enough to where he signs. After visiting the Centaurs last Tuesday, Lawndale hosts Culver City today at 3:15 p.m. Coming up next is another top squad in Santa Monica in which the Cardinals visit next Tuesday at the same time.

HAWTHORNE SOFTBALLERS EDGE TEMPLE CITY

Hawthorne High’s softball team edged Temple City 4-3 in a Sonora Tournament game on March 26 in La Habra. The Cougars started well, scoring three runs in the top of the second inning. The Rams tied the game with two runs in the bottom of the fourth and one in the sixth, but Hawthorne pushed across a run in the top of the seventh, then held on for the win.

Earlier on March 26, the Cougars lost to Bishop Montgomery of Torrance 4-1. The Knights scored four runs in the first three innings and Hawthorne mustered just one in the top of the fourth. •

There’s No Free Lunch And Most Workers Don’t Want One Anyway

(BPT) - You’ve probably heard the popular adage that “there’s no such thing as a free lunch,” underscoring the idea that it is impossible to get something for nothing. Yet most Americans wouldn’t want a free lunch anyway, recent research shows.

Only one in five (18 percent) American workers prefer free lunches as one of their top three employee benefits of choice, according to the 2015 MassMutual Generations@Work Study. Instead, 47 percent of workers age 18 and older prefer more vacation time, 44 percent opt for better 401(k) matches, and 40 percent like free health care coverage, according to the study.

What benefits workers prefer largely depends upon their gender and generation, the study finds, complicating benefit decisions for employers.

“Given the varied preferences for employee benefits, the takeaway for employers is to offer as broad a menu of benefits as possible. They should also consider offering new or expanded benefits on a voluntary or employee-paid basis,” says Elaine Sarsynski, executive vice president of MassMutual Retirement Services and Worksite Insurance.

Half of all baby boomers surveyed and 48 percent of millennials say their benefit of choice is more vacation days, according to the study. Nearly half of Gen Xers (47 percent) prefer better 401(k) matches, the survey found, with more vacation days coming in a close second (44 percent).

After more time off, boomers express preferences for financial benefits. Forty-three percent of boomers want better 401(k) matches, 38 percent appreciate free health care coverage, and 24 percent want more investment choices for their retirement savings, according to the study. Four in 10 (43 percent) prefer expanded health care benefits.

Breaking with boomers, millennials like flexible work schedules (43 percent) and reimbursements for education and tuition (30 percent). But many Xers join their boomer colleagues in wanting better 401(k) matches, most likely a reflection that few Xers have access to pensions and that many boomers have not saved enough for retirement, according to Sarsynski.

Men’s benefits of choice are more vacation time (50 percent), better 401(k) matches (43 percent) and flexible work schedules (39 percent), MassMutual’s study finds. Women’s preferences are spread between more vacation (44 percent), better 401(k) matches and flexible work schedules (40 percent), expanded health care choices (37 percent) and free gym memberships (31 percent).

Workers should make the most of the benefits their employer currently provides and suggest other benefits that companies might make available on a voluntary basis, Sarsynski said. She recommends workers take inventory of their benefits and prioritize their importance based on personal financial needs:

- Make sure you have health care coverage unless you are already protected by a spouse’s medical plan.
- Protection benefits such as life insurance and disability insurance rank next in importance, especially if you are married, have children or other people depend upon your ability to earn a living.
- Defer as much of your income as you can afford for retirement as early as possible. The sooner you start saving, the longer the power of compound earnings will have to work and boost your savings power. Make sure you contribute enough to your employer’s 401(k) or other retirement plan to qualify for any matching contributions.
- Use your vacation time as it’s important to get a meaningful break from your job.

The research was conducted on MassMutual’s behalf by KRC Research as part of an employee benefits education initiative. The study focused on 1,517 working Americans who were at least age 18 in a wide variety of jobs and industries. •

If the Bid Proposal requires Bidders to propose prices for Alternate Bid Items, the District's selection of Alternate Bid Items, if any, for determination of the lowest priced Bid Proposal and for inclusion in the scope of the Contract to be awarded shall be in accordance with this Notice and the Instructions for Bidders. Inquiries and Clarifications. Make a purr-fect match when you adopt a new feline friend. Would you like to attend the “Kitten Shower” at the grand opening of our kitten nursery?! Come and join us on Sunday, April 24, 12:00 – 4 pm. For more details, check our home page at www.kittenrescue.org.

Snuggles got her name for being especially enthusiastic about napping. However, when she is awake, she is almost constantly purring. A extremely sweet and gentle kitten, Snuggles enjoys being with people. And she will definitely let you know she is happy to see you by purring loudly and rubbing her head against your hand. With her innocent round eyes, sweet voice, and beautiful smoky coat, Snuggles is ready to capture your heart.

Stumper is a fun cat, full of personality and funny poses. He is affectionate and likes to follow you around and be right in the middle of the action. He was born with a small stump of a tail, which makes him sit in some funny position at times. Stumper goes crazy for treats and has learned to sit on command. He also likes to play, both with toys and with his brother Shorty. He is closely bonded with Shorty and would enjoy finding a home together with him. Stumper loves the cozy indoor life and all the comforts it provides. He gets a little shy at first when meeting new people, but once he knows he's safe he becomes very bonded with you.

This sweet girl showed up on our porch one day and just would not leave. Zuma was so sweet and needy. She can be independent, but also likes to sleep with her humans every night and typically wants to be in the same room with you all the time. Zuma has lots of energy and wants to play, and that means it's not always possible to keep her held down in one place. She would be very happy and more relaxed as the only cat in the house, but she can get along with other cats with a gradual introduction and with time. Zuma is such a sweetheart and will make an amazing friend to anyone!

Lucretia's golden eyes are beautiful, but also expressive, like she is. Lucretia (or Lulu) is a lovely little girl, who loves to play with toys and with her siblings and other playmates in the house. She's full of energy, but also sweet-natured and snuggly, and loves to be pet and loved on by people. She's pretty perfect. Luretia is very social, so she needs to be adopted either along with another kitten (ideally a sibling, although that is not a requirement) or to a home where there is already another animal (kitten, adult cat, or cat-loving puppy or adult dog) that would be her full-time playmate. Her beautiful, sweet siblings and playmates are available as well; please look for their postings on our website: Augustus, Maximus, Valeria, Tullia, Festus, Valerius, and Bitsy.

Eloise was a friendly, young, neighborhood cat in Pasadena looking for a home of her own. All the neighbors loved Eloise, but no one would offer her a permanent home. She loves the indoor life and now prefers to view the outside world from the safety of a window. She has the loveliest face and beautiful markings, as you can see. She is a sweet, friendly girl and is good with other cats and dogs. Her Beagle friend does not come with her, but she would ideally like a companion in her new home.

Pippen is a little tuxedo boy with white toes and long white whiskers. He is too adorable for words and looks like a cross between a monkey and a hamster. Pippen was found stuffed into a bird cage on a patio in the hot sun with 20 other kittens. It was not a great beginning, but then Kitten Rescue saved them and life got better! Pippen loves to play with the other kittens in his foster home, including the bigger cats. He's not even scared of the two dogs in my foster home. When Pippen is not playing, he loves to cuddle and be kissed, and can purr up a storm. He promises if you adopt him, he'll love you forever and ever.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see our other kitties, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Your tax deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave. and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location. • won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal.*

THE YELLOW DOG PROJECT.com

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!
Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
