Mural Project Unveiled at Juan De Anza Elementary School

By Derrick Deane

Hawthorne policing continues to evolve and lead the South Bay in innovations and advancements. Last month, Police Chief Robert Fager briefly introduced the new "Neighborhood Sub Station" to the City Council.

The substation is in effect an extended trailer that can be mobilized into different areas of Hawthorne for multiple purposes. It took three years of funding and planning to see the substation become a reality and both Fager and the Mayor Alex Vargas are excited for the potential opportunities it brings. "It's right now a hybrid of things to us, but we're calling at least at this juncture, what we're hoping to be our neighborhood substation," Fager said. "The genesis of this came from staff within our organization who looked for a new and different way we could connect with the community."

The substation was funded through grant money and was led by Sergeant Jose Saldana who "essentially configured a trailer that we could use for a variety of needs and assets that we might come across daily," Fager said. The facility can be used in police functions, police services in major incidents, crime scenes, or more serious events that require a strong law enforcement presence.

"More importantly to us, what we're hoping to do, is to develop a plan, run this asset under our Community Affairs area and make this something our community members will see in all four corners of the city," Fager said. "We'll set it up one day at a park--we may set it up in a neighborhood for 24 hours and run our patrol staff briefings and report writing sessions out of this. We might put on a training class, maybe CPR or a tactical medicine-based class. Largely this is a new effort of ours that members of the community can look to for positive impact, crime reduction and physical presence."

The presentation came during Police Week last month, an annual event when police officers from around the country unite in Washington, D.C. to honor and remember fallen comrades. Hawthorne Sergeant Chris Cognac was among those who attended the event. "I stood in front of the memorial wall, not too far from the name of my friends and colleagues Andrew Garton and Leonard Luna who lost their lives while on duty," Cognac wrote in a blog posted on the Hawthorne Police Department website.

Cognac was greeted by the only other officer from the South Bay area who was able to attend--Gardena police officer Raul Alarcon. "He had to take vacation days and raise the money himself to participate in this... alone," Cognac wrote. "He rode for three days surrounded by brothers and sisters from all over the world. All of those riding had worn

LESD Set to Begin Vast Modernization Project for Schools

In November 2016, the voters of Lawndale approved Measure L, a general obligation bond that will provide the Lawndale Elementary School District (LESD) with $27 million to improve outdated and worn facilities. This summer, the District will embark on the first of several projects to utilize those bond funds. The first projects will be to replace leaking and worn roofs and provide a fresh coat of exterior paint on the buildings. Because we offer student summer programs, the work will only occur at certain sites this year, with plans to improve other sites in the near future.

“Our Governing Board and school district employees greatly appreciate the community’s investment in the school district and in our students. Investments that we make in our schools now improve the future of our community,” said Dr. Gretchen Janson, LESD Assistant Superintendent of Business Services.

Overview of Summer 2017 Measure L Projects

Roofing: This project involves the complete re-roofing of FDR Elementary, William Green Elementary, and William Anderson Elementary. The roofing being installed will come with a 30-year warranty and will help to mitigate the water damage we saw at those sites during the heavy rains last year.

Painting: William Green Elementary, William Anderson Elementary, Will Rogers Middle, and Jane Addams Middle will all receive a fresh coat of paint this summer. This will provide an improved and more appealing appearance and provide a protective coating to all exterior walls.

The District has worked diligently with the construction companies to make them aware of both the City’s noise ordinance, as well as dust control and mitigation requirements during the course of the project. LESD indicated that every effort will be made to reduce inconveniences caused by the construction project on the general public. • - Provided by LESD

El Camino Fire Academy Class 148 Graduation

Zulema Chavez was the only female recruit to graduate from the El Camino Fire Academy this spring, a motivating factor for the future firefighter. “I honestly loved it,” said Zulema, one of 31 recruits in Fire Academy Class 148. “When people see a female in a program like this with a bunch of guys, I guess they can’t help but judge. But I think it pushes me to do better, maybe even try harder than any of the guys. It’s a good thing.”

The graduation celebration also featured a demonstration of the recruits’ skills in controlling a structure fire and a vehicle fire. For more than 50 years, the Fire Academy has trained approximately 800 graduates who are employed in fire departments across Southern California and the United States. Many stay in the South Bay to serve their community.

Zulema, who will be the first firefighter in her family, said she hopes to one day work as a medic in an area fire department. She said the Fire Academy was both a mental and physical challenge, and a diverse learning experience. “You have to be 100 percent dedicated,” she said. “It’s really rewarding.”

The Fire Academy’s core content meets the highest level of firefighter training. Graduates receive California State Fire Marshal Certificates for their studies in fire control, auto extrication, confined space awareness and HAZMAT first responder operations. The Fire Academy facility in Inglewood features a 30-seat classroom and an engine room, a four-story fire rescue training tower, and a fire environment building in which students combat live fires.

Academy instructors are from the Los Angeles area and represent nearly a dozen professional fire departments. In addition, many instructors are training officers in their own departments. • - Provided by El Camino College

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy named Norb Huber

JUNE GLOOM

Here is how Wikipedia defines it: June Gloom is a Southern California term for a weather pattern that results in cloudy, overcast skies with cool temperatures during the late spring and early summer. I grew up in Crescent City, California. CCC is located on the extreme North Coast of California, just 15 miles from the Oregon border. Pelican Bay State Prison, which houses the "worst of the worst" criminals in CA, is located just to the north. A 1963 tsunami wiped out the downtown area of our small town. But what I remember most about my formative years was the days, months and years of foggy, overcast weather. I really didn't know what a sunny day was. When I hear SoCal people complain about June gloom I say to myself, if they only knew how life is when the weather is never sunny. I never knew what sunscreen was growing up. We never really had summer weather. The fog would keep the giant Redwood trees moist and allow them to grow to record heights. Now, I rather enjoy this gloomy weather, it brings back fond memories of shooting baskets in my backyard basketball court. My idol was Rick Barry who played for the "SF" Warriors back in the day. We all have memories of our childhood. Some of these memories will stay with us forever. Cloudy or sunny, life goes on. I know that the sun will be out soon and people will start to complain about the heat. Enjoy the cool weather while it lasts. Enjoy making memories while you have the chance.

Purrrfect Companions

Momo

Adopt a cat cuz cats are cool. A cat (or two) makes every house more fun! Here are just a few of our cool cats (and kittens).

Momo is a quiet little love. He's always up for a cuddle and loves to sleep right next to you. He's the smallest kitten of the litter, but he holds his own and plays well with his brothers. Mo is interested in the new people he meets. He is also good with other cats and good with gentle children. His photo just doesn't do him justice--his fur is beautiful and full of contrasts. His foster parent has seen dozens of cats and says Momo is especially cuddly. Come and visit him!

Frankie is a friendly, playful, 10-month-old Russian Blue who was rescued off the streets of LA and quickly became accustomed to living the life of luxury! Frankie likes to cuddle and purrs like a lion, makes biscuits and drools like a little puppy. He's an active teenage boy who needs to have lots of fun and attention. Playing fetch with his people is his favorite game! After a short intro period, Frankie is good with new humans and other kitties. He has met a couple of small dogs before and could possibly consider living with the right one.

Nina is an adorable delight! This gorgeous Maine Coon lady is very social and friendly with everyone. Easily adaptable and curious, she doesn't hide in fear like some cats. Nina comes running to the door when you enter the room and enjoys having company over too! She likes attention, but is not needy and enjoys her independence. Nina prefers to be the only pet. When you tell her no, she understands and listens. She is the perfect cat for someone looking for an adorable, playful companion. She likes getting petted and chin scratches, and has a whiskey grrr communication. Confident and content, she is happy to lounge around and check out the world from her chill perspective. Our fabulous Nina would love a peaceful home with cool people and would be content as an office kitty, or in a quiet studio greeting visitors.

Callie is affectionate and full of love. Callie and her brother, Dash, are both purr machines and great for cuddling. Dash is basically the sweetest boy on the planet and Callie is a real hoot! They're also very chatty and love to let loose and play. Callie is the feistier one of the two, but that doesn't mean Dash isn't always down for a good time. They love wrestling with each other, trying to swipe their feather teaser toys, playing with stuffed chew mice and anything that rolls and makes noise. Callie and Dash are very bonded and rely on each other for comfort (the love that these two have for each other will melt your heart!), so a home willing to adopt them both is a must! Their little faces and fluffy tummies are the cutest thing you will ever see in the morning--and once they feel comfortable, Callie and Dash will drown you in love, snuggles and kitty kisses.

Oliver is a very sweet, fun and affectionate boy. He and his siblings were left behind to fend for themselves when their owner was evicted from his home. Oliver loves to sit on your lap, give you kisses, and watch TV or play fetch with kitty toys. He will sleep next to you in bed and stay all night. This loving little boy likes to talk and has a very cute meow! He is bonded with his sister, Olivia, and they would love to be adopted together. Together, they love to race around the house chasing each other as well as cuddling up.

Conway (Connie) is a sweet, goofy and affectionate young cat. She is one of eight cats rescued in 2016 from the demolition site at the 6th Street Bridge living in very dangerous conditions. She is a rare ginger female like her sister Jesse. She absolutely loves playing with her sister and is great at chasing around a feather toy. She has a cute little serious face sometimes, but don't let that fool you--she is a bundle of fun! Conway loves to chat and will answer all your questions with another question. She loves to come to you for pets and chin/belly rubs and then dramatically droop off the couch like she was melting from love. Her soft fur and adorable snout will make you fall in love. This petite girl seems to be staying on the small side as she grows. She would be best as part of a dual adoption with her sister Jesse, but is very friendly with other cats. She has not met dogs yet, but her personality seems compatible with a calm dog, older children or other cats.

Callie and Dash

Malcolm was rescued during a trip to a city shelter to get some cats. We don't really know his origin story other than that he was covered in matted fur, underweight and hadn't been neutered--and we couldn't leave this sweet senior behind. He is showing some signs of a life well-lived. He's deaf, partially blind due to cataracts, and has luxating patellas. However, none of that seems to impact him and Malcolm is fine on short walks and so long as he doesn't have to climb stairs. He gets around well and has a cute little bouncy prancing signature move that always brings the house down. Malcolm gets along fine with cats and dogs and lives in our kitten nursery with a constant interaction with cats of all ages and sizes. He's a really sweet and pretty low-key boy who just wants a place to relax and hang out in his retirement. If you have a heart for seniors, Malcolm is an awesome little dude.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Boulevard, #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Boulevard, just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Avenue just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location. •

Ducks Fly South for Summer

By Adam Serrao

Amidst all of the current hoopla surrounding the NBA Finals and Major League Baseball, there remains the long seemingly forgotten sport of hockey. Hockey always seems to get overshadowed by sports like basketball and baseball—but during that relative eclipse, local professional teams like the Los Angeles Kings and the Anaheim Ducks have their way of advancing into a Stanley Cup Final or two. While the Kings had their runs in 2012 and 2014, the Ducks' last Cup victory was 10 years ago in 2007. Anaheim has come close to enjoying an appearance or two in the Final since then, but after being tracked and taken down by a predator this year, the Ducks find themselves left with nothing but empty hands and an offseason full of questions once again.

Nothing quite gets Los Angeles buzzing like a postseason run through the playoffs by the Los Angeles Kings. Bars are packed, banners are flying, and every game that Dustin Brown, Drew Doughty, Anze Kopitar and Jonathan Quick take the ice becomes an event. The Ducks, on the other hand, came and went from this year's Stanley Cup playoffs without creating much of a buzz in L.A. at all.

Sure, Anaheim made it into the conference finals to face off against this year's Stanley Cup participant, the Nashville Predators. With that most precious spot in the Final up for grabs, though, the Ducks admittedly failed to execute in positions that mattered the most on a continuous basis. "I don't think our compete level was where it needed to be," Ducks captain Ryan Getzlaf explained after a pivotal Game 5 loss at home. "I think they came out and worked harder than we did in the second and third periods. That was the difference in the hockey game." That turned out to be the difference in the series and in Anaheim's season as well.

The Predators went on to obtain a 6-3 win in Game 6 of the series to clinch a victory in the Western Conference Finals and advance to the Stanley Cup Final for the first time in their 18-year existence. The Ducks didn't go down without a fight, but for the second time in three years the team ultimately skated off of the ice with the same empty feeling of a season without a Stanley Cup that they are seemingly getting ever so used to nowadays.

"This is the worst feeling in hockey," Getzlaf said once his team's history was finally burnt into the record books. "The season's over and you're not winning the Cup. It doesn't matter what round it is. It still hurts." With injuries across the roster and a goalie in Jonathan Bernier who was making his first career playoff start, Anaheim put together a valiant effort in an impressive comeback attempt that tied Game 6 at 3-3. Nashville's speed and execution were ultimately too much for a Ducks team that, despite their grit, wound up taking a 6-3 loss. "There's a lot of fight in this room," a dejected Corey Perry related. "This one's going to sting for a while," he said, surely echoing the sentiments of all Ducks fans alike.

There is certainly no reason to believe that the Ducks don't have the team structure to remain competitive next season, but with every loss shy of the Stanley Cup Final also comes the inevitable call for change. With the expansion draft waiting in the wings, the Ducks face the real possibility that they may not be able to keep all of their top blueliners. Kevin Bieksa is a player who has been mentioned in trade talks, but he has a no-movement clause built into his contract. Great defensive players like Hampus Lindholm and Sami Vatanen will be sidelined for extended periods of time that could bleed into the beginning of next year's regular season, which could make them available to other teams on the trade market as well. That being said, an already difficult Anaheim offseason may be even more challenging than originally planned.

If none of the aforementioned players on the roster become available, the Ducks may have to look into moving a player like Cam Fowler who, despite having his best season in skates, still had subpar possession numbers this past year. Fowler could be difficult to fit under the cap in future years, so don't be surprised if Anaheim tries to move him in a trade now. If not Fowler, then Josh Manson could also fit into a possible trade scenario that would work out for Anaheim in the long run.

No matter what happens in the offseason to the roster, the fact remains that last year's Anaheim Ducks came close, but simply didn't have enough to reach the Stanley Cup Final. One way or another, the Ducks will be forced to lose at least one quality player on the roster, forcing the team to take a different look into its chase for the Cup next season. As the NHL season officially winds down, Anaheim is now left sitting at home to watch Nashville—the team that beat them—face off against the Pittsburgh Penguins in what has already been an extremely exciting Stanley Cup Final. Instead of the Ducks, there are two other squads battling it out to decide the league's best hockey team once again.

the uniform and the badge and have risked everything at times to help those they do not know and those that may even hate them.”

Cognac reflected that the one thing that he saw at the event was pride. “Pride in being a police officer, pride in serving community, pride in knowing that your brothers and sisters have your back when you go into that dark room or try to breathe life into that baby. They understand what it’s like to do your job and they understand that tomorrow when they go to work they might not come home,” Cognac wrote.

The actions of another Hawthorne sergeant helped prevent what could have been a deadly and tragic incident at the recent Phoenix Comic Convention. Sergeant Scott Nichols received a tip on Facebook from an acquaintance who is the lead singer for the rock band Lolita Dark. She relayed to Nichols that a fan had contacted her and sent “very disturbing photos and messages and made threats directed at law enforcement.”

According to a press release put out by the department, Nichols’ examination of the photos revealed that the weapons depicted were real and that the threat should be taken seriously. The sergeant contacted Phoenix Police Department and helped coordinate an investigation.

The suspect was located in the venue and detained after a slight struggle. The man was found to be in possession of three handguns, a shot gun, a knife, ammunition, and a “variety of other handheld weapons” as well as body armor.

From continuing to evolve department tools and community relations to reaching out an assisting other departments and honoring fallen officers, the presence of the Hawthorne Police Department continues to grow. •
