Exploring Local Aerospace's Role in Putting Men on the Moon

By Rob McCarthy

Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin made history 50 years ago this week landing on the moon. The perilous 239,000-mile journey to explore the lunar surface is being celebrated this week in the South Bay, where the lunar module and other critical contributions to the Apollo 11 mission happened.

The Columbia Memorial Space Center in Downey is commemorating the historic moon landing and safe return to Earth by the trio of astronauts, including Michael Collins, who flew the command module and rendezvoused with the lunar module carrying Neil Armstrong and Buzz Aldrin plus 48 pounds of moon rocks and particles they collected. Reminiscing about the historic mission to the moon, Collins recently gave a thumbs up to the 300,000 people who worked in support of Apollo 11 leading up to the July 20, 1969 exploration of the moon's surface. "They all did their jobs so properly," Collins said in an interview.

A 50th anniversary celebration is underway at the Space Center, off the 105 freeway in Downey. Admission is free this week to view the newest exhibit about the Apollo 11 program. The exhibit highlights the important contributions that Southern California made in getting the U.S. space program and its astronauts to the moon. The story and photos of the mission can be viewed Tuesday to Saturday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., through October.

Tonight is a chance to rub shoulders with the former engineers on whose shoulders the success of the Apollo 11 mission rested. The Lunar Pub night offers the public a chance to explore some of Downey's historical "watering holes that many of the Apollo engineers frequented after long days," the center promises. Plus, at each stop there will be former engineers waiting to "share a pint regaling what working on the Apollo program was really like." Meet from 5:30 to 7 p.m. at the Stardust Club, 7643 Firestone Blvd., and from 7:30 to 9 p.m. at Stox Bakery and Bar, 9518 Imperial Highway. Both are in the city of Downey.

A recent article in the New York Times identified the property that houses the Space Center as an important contributor to the Apollo voyage. The Apollo capsules "rolled off the assembly line" in Downey, on a 160-acre parcel that was twice the size of Disneyland. The bustling space was home to factories, offices and test facilities for mission-critical systems that NASA depended on for flight, guidance and re-entry of its Apollo 11 crew.

Gerald Blackburn, who was one of the more than 25,000 people who worked at the Downey property at the height of Apollo program in the mid-1960s, called it "a magical place."

He recalled, "We worked at the spaceship factory. We were all part of a team -- Team Apollo." The property since has been redeveloped into stores, movie theaters and restaurants.

Friday is NASA Day at the center, which will broadcast segments from the Space Center on NASA TV and Discovery Science channel. The day will feature hands-on activities, original performances from the Chalk Rep theater company, projects from the Space Center's young Apollo Summer campers and girls in STEM Club. Historical Apollo artifacts and Apollo alumni will be available to talk and answer questions. Admission to this one-day event is free.

Saturday is Apollo 11 Landing Day at the center. Visitors can revel in the far-reaching feat achieved 50 years ago when the first men reached the moon. Astronauts Armstrong and Aldrin made good on President John Kennedy's promise that America's space program would put men on the moon and return them home safely before the end of the decade. Raytheon has provided Apollo-themed activities, and guests will be treated to dramatic performances portraying life in the Apollo Program while watching "live" as Neil Armstrong takes his first "giant leap for mankind."

Visitors on Saturday can snap a photo of themselves jumping on the moon, and share the image with family and friends on social media to commemorate the first successful voyage to the moon -- 239,900 miles away. The movie Apollo 11 will be screened outdoors on Saturday. Filmmaker Todd Douglas Miller calls it "a cinematic event 50 years in the making."

The festivities continue on Tuesday for Splashdown Day, with the center opening its doors at 10 a.m. to recognize the return of the Apollo 11 capsule carrying the three U.S. heroes aboard with moon rocks, which are on display at the Smithsonian Museum

Film Review

The Farewell is a Clever and Compassionate Modern Classic

Kailee Andrews for Cinemacy

One of the first big laughs of The Farewell comes from a simple flash of onscreen text reading: "Based on an Actual Lie." It's a cheeky twist on the self-seriousness way many films announce their basis in reality. The "actual lie" the film is based on was fed to writer-director Lulu Wang's grandmother after she received a stage four cancer diagnosis. Wang's family kept the diagnosis secret so that their funny and formidable Wang's directorial control of mood and character growth are astounding. She tasks herself with balancing an ensemble cast of aunts, uncles and cousins and succeeds with a grace rarely equaled since classic '90s dramedies like Eat Drink Man Woman, while mining even richer veins of emotion. And many of the most aching emotions belong to the conflicted Billi. So how is Awkwafina in her first dramatic role?

Combining the best of Awkwafina's slouchy, grandma (affectionately called "Nai-Nai," the Mandarin term for paternal grandmother) could live her final months unburdened by knowledge of her own illness. The only family member who wasn't on board for this deception was Nai-Nai's 20-something granddaughter, Lulu Wang.

In this semi-autobiographical adaptation, Wang's cinematic counterpart is Billi, a struggling writer played with astonishing vulnerability and verve by Crazy Rich Asians breakout star and musician, Awkwafina. Billi reluctantly agrees to keep quiet. However, this means she and other far-flung family members now need an excuse to gather around Nai-Nai in China without arousing suspicion. So they pester Billi's cousin to push his marriage timeline into hyper-drive, staging a slapdash wedding ceremony with his girlfriend of three months as a pretext for rounding up all the relatives.

easygoing comic persona with a deeply satisfying emotional arc, both star and director deserve immense credit for bringing Billi to screen. I don't want to spoil the finer points of Billi's journey. Just know that it's a lovely exploration of the disorienting effects of distance and time, particularly for a child of immigrants -- even in an era when geographical realities can be somewhat, though never entirely, overcome by a phone call.

After its premiere at the Sundance Film Festival, The Farewell was picked up by the much-celebrated distribution company A24, which is known for visually splendid critical darlings of all genres such as Moonlight, Lady Bird, Eighth Grade and Hereditary.

It will be a long time before any of us are willing to say farewell to the conversations (and careers!) that will be launched by this clever, compassionate modern classic.

The Farewell is now playing at ArcLight Hollywood and the Landmark. •

Book Review: Rock Stars at Home

By Roz Templin, Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

What fun to look through this book, Rock Stars at Home. Stuffed with pictures, it contains interesting trivia about the musicians and their environments. The introduction features a full page black and white photo of Alice Cooper with his wife and daughter poolside at their 1970s Hollywood home, but it isn't a glamour shot unless you're from Mars!

The contributors were fair in selecting the folks featured: From Frank Sinatra, Chuck Berry and Elvis to The Jacksons, Sonny and Cher and Neil Young, Elton John and Freddie

Rock Stars at Home

Mercury have their pages with more familiar faces sprinkled throughout.

I learned that one of Frank Sinatra's Palm Springs homes had a special pool: Piano-shaped, it was designed in a manner that when the sun hit openings in the veranda at a particular angle, shadows formed piano keys on the sidewalk. He also built and operated his own model railroad.

My favorite part is the spotlight on Keith Richards. He owned many homes after his and the Rolling Stones' ascent to stardom, but his current primary home is in Connecticut -- 8,000 square feet on eight acres. He set up a huge library that houses a vast collection of ultra-rare books and even considered "training" so he could catalog his books according to the Dewey Decimal system. I have a new fondness for him and his love of literature.

Another part of the book has an article entitled The Laurel Canyon Scene, which presents the singer/songwriter community in the late 1960s and 1970s. My friend Henry Diltz's photo of Mama Cass on a motorcycle taken on Woodrow Wilson Drive in 1968 graces this section. This is a nice companion piece to a film now in release called Echo in the Canyon, also about that particular moment in time.

I love Sonny and Cher and thought I knew a lot about them, but this book gave me a new bit of esoteric info about their mansion in the Hollywood Hills. I knew that they bought the villa on Carolwood Drive from Tony Curtis, another favorite of mine, but didn't know the circumstances. According to contributor Eddi Fiegel, the couple were invited to a party at Tony's home in 1967. Cher told Sonny, "Someday, we're going to live right here." It was built in 1936 and had 10 bedrooms and a dozen bathrooms and had previously belonged to Engelbert Humperdinck and Esther Williams. The guesthouse was rumored to have housed Marilyn Monroe in the 1940s.

Peruse chapters on haunted houses and magic mansions, punk digs and dives and a spread on the heavy metal musicians of the '80s. I have no doubt you will enjoy your time turning the pages.

Rock Stars and Home contributors included Chris Charlesworth, Daryl Easlea, Eddi Fiegel, Bryan Reesman, Colin Salter and Simon Spence. •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

HAWTHORNE HISTORICAL SOCIETY CONTINUES GUEST LECTURE SERIES

The Hawthorne Historical Society has invited speakers periodically to come and speak on the history of Hawthorne and the South Bay area for the past eight years. Way back when we first started the Society in 2011 one of the first things we did was invite well known and lesser know Hawthorne residents to share in an informal setting their "Hawthorne history". It was fun to hear about their lives and what Hawthorne meant to them. I enjoyed inviting several of my friends from my contacts with the City and Kiwanis. On Thursday, July 25th this tradition will continue when Eileen and Wayne Salmon will share their thoughts and memories from being part of the Hawthorne Police, Fire and School District. This special event will be held at the Hawthorne Museum located at Jim Thorpe Park and will begin at 6 p.m. A $5 donation is suggested. You can RSVP at hawthornehistorical@gmail.com.

NORTH HAWTHORNE COMMUNITY ASSOCIATION PICNIC

All Hawthorne residents are invited to attend the 9th Annual North Hawthorne Community Association Picnic to be held on Sunday, August 31st from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. at Eucalyptus Park. There will be food, fun, music, crafts and the Spider-Man character for photos. Plan to wrap up your summer with a great family event.

HAWTHORNE ARTS COMPLEX

The Hawthorne community is invited to view some really good art right here in Hawthorne. The Hawthorne Arts Complex is hosting their annual "Open Studios" event on Sunday, September 8 from 2 to 6 p.m. The studios is located at 13040 Cerise Avenue in Hawthorne. For more information please check out their website at: hawthorneartscomplex.com.

SOMETHING NEW

I've told you before that I enjoy trying something new. No, I didn't jump out of an airplane, nothing stupid like that. I may be stupid, but not dumb enough to end my life by forgetting to pull a cord. I don't even like the parachute drop at Knot's, so why would I give up cold ones for a cheap thrill like a 4,000 foot free fall drop? This past weekend, my brother-in-law from Oregon was in town so we went over to the nearby disc golf course and checked it out. According to the literature that the clubhouse had available, disc golf is the fastest growing sport in America. Disc golf (occasionally called Frisbee golf or frof) is a flying disc sport in which players throw a disc at a target; it is played using rules similar to golf. Players complete a hole by throwing a disc from a tee area toward a target, throwing again from the landing position of the disc until the target is reached. The game is played in about 40 countries and currently there are over 115,000 active members of the PDGA worldwide. Of course it took me a while to get the hang of throwing the different, weighted discs somewhat correctly. Did you know that just like real golf, there are drivers, mid-range discs and putters? I observed some players pulling a cart full of 20 to 30 different discs. I have to say it was rather enjoyable playing a game that you can be terrible at and no one really cares. No pressure to get better, no stress about beating my relative. There was no marshal out there telling us to speed up. Everyone we met was just having a good time. Of course those disc carts and bags have room for several cold ones. How much better can it get, walking around a nice, shady park, tossing a Frisbee around, laughing about how bad the toss was and sipping on a cold one? Of course we noticed the small sign by the clubhouse strongly suggesting that no alcohol to be consumed on the course. I guess in the future we will have to simply forget that we ever saw the sign, or just wait til we finish up and retreat to our back yard swimming pool to "freshen up". Is there a disc course in the South Bay? I know of one in Long Beach. The problem with disc golf and the LA area is the lack of park space. If you go on vacation or visit an area that has a course, try it out. The best part of playing besides having a cold one is the fact that it's free. Try something new this week. Try something you have been thinking of trying. You just might enjoy it.

THANK YOU

I just want to communicate my gratitude to all of you my loyal readers for your continued support of this endeavor. I look forward to sharing my life with you each week. Even if you don't read my column, even if you never open up my email, or pick up a good, old fashioned newspaper, even if you think I'm ridiculous and wasting my time, I appreciate you, it makes me feel good inside knowing that there is a chance that 10 or 11 people have nothing else better to do than read this stuff. Life is short, love your dog, accept your spouse or partner the way he or she is, and when all is said and done, sometimes it's great to shut up, sit down, relax, and have a cold one. All of you should know by now that God loves you and so do I, and there is not a darn thing you can do about it.

The last few weeks have been busy but full of fun for Lawndale Elementary School District kids! Students in RAP Summer Camp were able to attend the Arboretum, LA Library, Beach, The Getty, Natural History Museum, Jamba Juice, 7-Eleven and watch Toy Story 4 or Spider-Man. Photo: LESD

It was a place for acceptance and learning to be a part of a community, but also learning to be yourself. I want that for all kids.”*

A cat (or two) makes every home more fun! Come meet our kitties and be prepared to fall in love!

Valentine is a stunning tuxedo girl who came to Kitten Rescue when her human lost his home. Valentine lived with two other adult cats in her adoptive home, but she finds the volume of cats at the sanctuary stressful. We think that she would be happy in a home with another confident, non-aggressive feline friend, or possibly as a solo cat. Valentine absolutely loves getting attention from people and craves affection. She is looking forward to the day when she can be in a real home again, with a person or people to tell her how beautiful she is and shower her with affection. All Valentine really needs to be happy is a peaceful home and love.

Marcia Brady is a purr machine! She crawls up on your lap for pets and attention. Marcia is also playful and sweet. She gets along with most other cats as long as they are not too dominant. Marcia needs to have another cat/kitten in her home to play with and groom. She has plenty of friends along with her sister here at the Adoption Center where she lives.

Jan Brady is soft and fluffy with big blue eyes. She is also quite the personality. She loves to play and roll on the floor. Jan is a sweetheart who loves to cuddle. This adorable girl is great with other cats/kittens and needs to have another cat in her home. Please come visit her and the rest of the kittens at our adoption center.

We found a beautiful two-year-old, long-haired calico who turned out to be super sweet... and pregnant. We took her in and gave her a safe place to have her kittens. Brutus, June and Rudy were born a few weeks later. These darling siblings are good with other cats, people and even dogs. Brutus was the first of his litter and is incredibly sweet and friendly. He loves to play, but will not hesitate to curl up on your lap and demand snuggles. June was the last born of her litter. She is super silly, yet also snuggly once she gets to know you. She's curious, loves to explore and is a bit independent, unless you count her brother Rudy. We would love to home Rudy and June together as a bonded pair. Rudy is maybe the sweetest and most people-oriented of the litter. He is the most likely to run and greet you at the door when you get home. Rudy likes to be held, and he likes to be where you are. He's a sweet lover boy who leans in to all affection. He especially loves his sister, June, and we would prefer to find a home for them together.

Arya Stark was named after the famous Game of Thrones character. Her personality is independent, sassy and fearless. Arya is small, but mighty with thick and fuzzy, grey tabby fur. She is very playful and loves to wrestle with other kittens and older cats too.

Snowball was found behind an auto body shop. He was very shy at first, but now he is very sweet, friendly and affectionate. Snowball loves being held and loves to play with toys. His favorite activity is sleeping next to you on the couch. Snowball doesn't like dogs, but he's fine with other cats. Snowball has tested positive for FIV (Feline Immunodeficiency Virus). FIV is not a big deal. Given proper care and attention, an FIV+ cat will live the same lifespan as an FIV negative cat. The disease is extremely hard to transmit from cat to cat, requiring direct blood contact (typically from a deep puncture wound). It is not transmissible to humans.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave., and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Adopting one animal may not change the world, but it will forever change the world for that animal. •
