Hawthorne Historical Society Honors Five 2015 Hall of Fame Inductees

The Hawthorne Historical Society celebrated the Fifth Annual Good Neighbors Day, Saturday, July 18 on the Civic Plaza. With local bands, a Classic Car Show, Citizen's Activities Booths, and an Art Show, the activities went forward despite thunderstorms all morning and most of the afternoon.

The Classic Car Show exhibited many vehicles, including a vintage Hawthorne police car from 1955. Many vehicles demonstrated the polished beauty of old Chevys, Pontiacs, Corvettes, Mustangs, and some foreign-made cars, which lined 126th Street and the City Hall Parking Lot. Many vehicles, dating back to the '40s, '50s, '60s, and '70s, were all eligible for a trophy after judges chose each decade's Best in Show. Prizes were awarded for Overall Best in Show, People's Choice, and a Participation Trophy for the Car Club with Most Cars. The car show was coordinated by Hawthorne neighbors John Baker and Lee Leonard for the fifth time.

Entertainment was provided by local bands--Casillos de Arena, which included a great sound with many brass instruments from these winners of the Hawthorne High School Battle of the Bands; the #1 Tribute Band to the sounds of the '60s and The Beach Boys, Woodie and the Longboards; and Jimimax, playing sounds of original music in Hawthorne for 50 years. Zeia W started the day with an A Capella rendition of the National Anthem.

Welcoming remarks were given by Thierry Lubenec, President of the Hawthorne Historical Society/Chair of the event; Mayor Pro-Tem Olivia Valentine; Council members Alex Vargas and Angie Reyes-English; and City Treasurer David Patterson. City Clerk Norbert Huber was in attendance as were several members of city commissions, such as Dick Heun, Alex Monteiro, Darlene Love and Gordon Mego. Mayor Chris Brown and Council member Nilo Michelin were not present for the opening ceremonies. Reverend Terry Cookes offered the Invocation.

The Art Show, presented courtesy of Phantom Galleries, featured artists from the storefront art consortium which brings fine art exhibitions to Hawthorne Boulevard as part of the revitalization project of the Downtown Hawthorne Specific Plan, and introduced to the community by Mayor Pro-Tem Valentine.

The various exhibitors included the Hawthorne Police Department (HPD) and K-9 Unit; Hawthorne Historical Museum; the Friends of the Library; Guy Hocker Realtors; Hawthorne Downtown Specific Plan Community Committee; the various Homeowners' Associations (HOAs) for Ramona Neighborhood HOA, North Hawthorne Neighborhood HOA, and Holly Park HOA; and the Islamic Center of Hawthorne.

Sponsors for Good Neighbors Day also sponsored the previous evening's Hall of Fame Dinner and Induction Ceremony. These included Chevron Corporation, SpaceX, Farmers Insurance, Flights Sports Grill, Domino's (Tony Manoz), Allied Waste Services, and Bell Event Services (Michael Bell).

The weekend festivities began Friday evening, July 17, when the class of 2015 Hawthorne Hall of Fame Inductees were honored at a dinner at the Hawthorne Memorial Center. The first inductee spent some of his later years as a Hawthorne resident, although he was born in Oklahoma on an Indian Reservation. After participating in the 1912 Olympic Games, Jim Thorpe was declared the World's Greatest Athlete and in 2000 finished third in the ABC Sports Poll of the Greatest Athlete of the 20th Century. Thorpe was a track and field athlete, played baseball, football, and was the first American to win the Olympic Decathlon.

The next inductee is Seers Lumber, which began in Hawthorne in 1946 on El Segundo Boulevard and still remains in the same location for 80 years. The original founders, Al and Mary Seers, left the business to their son, Bill, who took over the day-to-day business in 1970 upon the death of Mary. Most transactions by Al, and carried on by his son, were based on credit given with a handshake. Many houses built in Hawthorne from 1946 to the present day can boast that their structure began with wood from Seers Lumber.

Carl Boenish was the third inductee, best known as the father of modern BASE jumping and in freefall cinematography. A graduate of Hawthorne High School, he popularized modern BASE jumping by filming parachutists while they were freefalling and his prowess in the field is a legacy in the film industry. He lived on Manor Drive. His popularity and innovations are chronicled in a documentary, Sunshine Superman.

Inducted in fourth position, Reese Walton was another transplant to Hawthorne when he began working at North American Rockwell in the 1940s, building B-25s. Walton left his mark by way of a remarkable career as the Superintendent of the Hawthorne School District. He began his tenure as a teacher in 1947, became Washington School principal before serving as Assistant Superintendent. He was hired as Superintendent in 1961, where he served for 20 years. Walton was an avid contributor to the community through Rotary Club, YMCA, Chamber of Commerce, and Stroke Foundation. The city of Hawthorne chose him as the Olympic Torch Bearer in 1984 for the Los Angeles Olympic Summer Games Torch Run, when he ran Hawthorne Boulevard on Opening Day with a turnout rivaled by few other participants around the world. Reese Walton died in 2003.

The final inductees of the 2015 Class of the Hawthorne Historical Hall of Fame are the five original members of The Beach Boys. Three brothers (Brian, Dennis, and Carl Wilson), their cousin (Mike Love), and a friend (Al Jardine), known as the originators of the "California Sound," have sold more than 100 million records worldwide and are number 12 on the list of 100 Greatest Bands of All Time in Rolling Stone magazine. Their unique arrangements, harmonies, and melding of instruments and voices were rivaled by no other bands in the 1960s. The Wilson family lived on Kornblum Avenue near 119th Street and the Wilson brothers graduated from Hawthorne High School. The Beach Boys are one of the most important legends in the world of Rock and Roll and were inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1988. •

NASA’s New Horizons ‘Phones Home’ Safe after Pluto Flyby

New close-up images of a region near Pluto’s equator reveal a giant surprise – a range of youthful mountains rising as high as 11,000 feet (3,500 meters) above the surface of the icy body. Credits: NASA/JHU APL/SwRI

Based on joint press release from NASA, Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory, and Southwest Research Institute, provided by Bob Eklund. The call everyone was waiting for is in. NASA’s New Horizons spacecraft phoned home just before 9 p.m. EDT Tuesday, July 14, to tell the mission team and the world it had accomplished the historic first-ever flyby of Pluto.

“I know today we’ve inspired a whole new generation of explorers with this great success, and we look forward to the discoveries yet to come,” NASA Administrator Charles Bolden said. “This is a historic win for science and for exploration. We’ve truly, once again raised the bar of human potential.”

The preprogrammed “phone call”—a 15-minute series of status messages beamed back to mission operations at the Johns Hopkins University Applied Physics Laboratory in Maryland through NASA’s Deep Space Network—ended a very suspenseful 21-hour waiting period. New Horizons had been instructed to spend the day gathering the maximum amount of data, and not communicating with Earth until it was beyond the Pluto system.

Pluto is the first Kuiper Belt object visited by a mission from Earth. New Horizons will continue on its adventure deeper into the Kuiper Belt, where thousands of objects hold frozen clues as to how the solar system formed. New Horizons is collecting so much data it will take 16 months to send it all back to Earth.

PLUTO’S ICY MOUNTAINS

Close-up images of a region near Pluto’s equator reveal a giant surprise: a range of youthful mountains rising as high as 11,000 feet above the surface of the icy body.

The mountains likely formed no more than 100 million years ago—mere youngsters relative to the 4.56-billion-year age of the solar system—and may still be in the process of building, says Jeff Moore of New Horizons’ Geology, Geophysics and Imaging Team (GGI). That suggests the close-up region, which covers less than one percent of Pluto’s surface, may still be geologically active today.

Moore and his colleagues base the youthful age estimate on the lack of craters in this scene. Like the rest of Pluto, this region would presumably have been pummeled by space debris for billions of years and would have once been heavily cratered—unless recent activity had given the region a facelift, erasing those pockmarks.

Unlike the icy moons of giant planets, Pluto cannot be heated by gravitational interactions with a much larger planetary body. Some other process must be generating the mountainous landscape. The mountains are probably composed of Pluto’s water-ice “bedrock.”

Although methane and nitrogen ice covers much of the surface of Pluto, these materials are not strong enough to build the mountains. Instead, a stiffer material, most likely water-ice, created the peaks. “At Pluto’s temperatures, water-ice behaves more like rock,” said deputy GGI lead Bill McKinnon of Washington University, St. Louis.

The close-up image was taken about 1.5 hours before New Horizons’ closest approach to Pluto, when the craft was 478,000 miles from the surface of the planet. The image easily resolves structures smaller than a mile across.

NASA TV schedules, satellite coordinates, and links to streaming video: <http://www.nasa.gov/nasatv>. The public can follow the path of the spacecraft in coming days in real time with a visualization of the actual trajectory data, using NASA’s online Eyes on Pluto (<http://eyes.nasa.gov/pluto>).

Hands-On Learning Better Prepares Students For Cyber Security Careers

(BPT) - Cyberattacks like the hacks on Sony Pictures Entertainment and Target have put serious cybercrime on the radar of the American public and government alike, so it’s no surprise that the Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS) projects that the cyber security industry will grow 37 percent by 2022.

The hack on Anthem Inc., a leading U.S. health insurer, in early 2015 involved a massive breach of data containing nearly 80 million personal records, prompting investigations by state and federal authorities. During his January State of the Union Address, President Obama warned that cyberattacks are among the most serious economic and national security challenges facing our nation, and urged Congress to pass legislation in response to their evolving threat.

Cyber security experts, also known as information security analysts, plan and activate security measures to protect a company’s computer networks and systems. These professionals are in high demand to protect the nation. Employment in the field will reach 102,500 jobs by 2022, the BLS predicts.

In the past, cyber security jobs were restricted to technology companies and financial institutions. Today, they are available in all fields because businesses in all industries rely on computers and the Internet to function, from providing customers a product, online services, or entertainment, to managing a viral marketing campaign.

This rising demand is outpacing the number of cyber security experts qualified for the role. The U.S. must develop a pipeline of future employees who are technologically-skilled and cyber-savvy to maintain a technical advantage over cyber attackers.

A variety of academic options are available for those looking to jump-start a career in cyber security. Most companies require cyber security professionals to have at least a bachelor’s degree in computer science, programming or a related field. DeVry University offers a bachelor’s degree in Computer Information Systems with hands-on learning opportunities built into the curriculum. According to job search engine Monster, hands-on experience like this is a necessary first step in making you qualified for cyber security positions.

“Our security landscape is constantly evolving, so the tools and tactics taught in educational courses need to evolve as well,” says Dr. Rajin Koonjberry, professor in DeVry University’s College of Engineering & Information Sciences. “It is imperative that educational programs use the same tools that security professionals use to defend their environment. This experiential learning is vital to prepare students for the real-life cybercrimes they will defend against.”

When considering which program to enroll in, you should look for schools that partner with leading technology companies. Accessibility to these industry leaders can offer access to career development, lectures and events, and competitions to test and enhance your skills, preparing you to stand out in the job market once you graduate. DeVry University’s partnership with Cisco, for example, brings students insider access to Cisco Networking Academy NetRiders competitions.

“The NetRiders competition provides students with hands-on experience that is vital to a well-rounded education and preparation for IT roles,” says Renee Patton, U.S. public sector director of education, Cisco. “Conducted in a practical, competitive environment, the NetRiders competition gives students a chance to test their skills, showcase their knowledge, identify areas for improvement, and develop interactive networking skills.”

Security experts warn that 2015 will be the “Year of the Healthcare Hack.” Now, more than ever, analysts must provide innovative solutions to prevent hackers from stealing critical information and weakening computer networks.

With open positions in the field ranging from intelligence and threat analysis to operations management and development or customer service and technical support, the possibilities for job seekers are endless. Accessible, state-of-the-art computer science programs and experiential learning opportunities strengthen students’ skill sets in advanced technologies and prepare them for the exciting challenges of a career in cyber security. •

Estate Planning Transparency

By R Christine Brown,
southbayelderlaw.com

What can you do to push past the emotional aspects of estate planning to make sure your surviving family members can successfully deal with issues that may arise after you pass away?

Start early. Patrick Severo is the senior vice president and financial advisor at RBC Wealth Management. He also has three kids and knew he needed a plan to take care of them after he is gone. Severo recently told Forbes, in the article titled “Don’t Let Emotion Sabotage Your Estate Plan,” that although the discussion about what happens after you pass away feels uncomfortable, the earlier you can begin, the better off you’ll be because these things take time – maybe even years!

To help the people you care about handle the financial, administrative and familial consequences of your eventual passing, be as transparent as possible about what they can expect from your estate. Mismatched expectations can often cause trouble that could’ve easily been avoided if the news wasn’t coming as such a surprise.

An inheritance can be life-changing, so it’s important to discuss it with your loved ones upfront so they can be mentally, emotionally, and financially prepared. Discussing your estate plans with your loved ones can also help eliminate some potentially difficult situations, like when one sibling is inheriting more than another. Hopefully the family members receiving less will be okay as long as they are forewarned.

A good estate plan can become outdated or irrelevant easily, “if it sits on a shelf.” A three-year time line for estate planning is a good rule. This means a regular review of your trust to make sure it accurately reflects your current situation and your wishes.

Being very transparent about what your beneficiaries may receive from your estate can help ensure that the dispersal of your estate goes smoothly, and your wishes are successfully fulfilled. Working with an experienced estate planning attorney can help guide you through this process.

News for the 'City of Good Neighbors'

From City Clerk Norb Huber HISTORIC TOUR OF

Thunder, Lightening and Rain in July

Who would have think it? A lightening storm in the middle of July in Hawthorne? Yes, that was a real rain storm last Saturday. We had to conclude our Good Neighbors Day activities a little earl due to the rare storm. Luckily the rain was light for most of the morning for our annual car show and music fest. Other than the weather, we had a great event. The three bands were outstanding. Woodie and the Longboards performed some Beach Boys songs and it was hard to tell the difference in their sound and the real Boys. We had the addition of an art walk this year. The car guys showed up early and stayed late. All and all, everyone who attended seemed to enjoy themselves.

Kiwanis Carnival this weekend

The Kiwanis Club of Hawthorne has been sponsoring either a parade/fair or carnival for over 60 years in Hawthorne. Some of you are old enough to remember the big parades that would march down Hawthorne Blvd. every July. At one time, the Hawthorne Parade was viewed as one of the largest in all of Southern California, second only to the Rose Parade held annually on New Year's Day in Pasadena.

Due to the high price of putting a parade together, the Kiwanis Club has settled upon hosting a carnival only these days. This year the carnival will be held from July 23-26 at the Betty Ainsworth parking lot. You will see the carnival rides set up just East of the Memorial Center on El Segundo Blvd. All funds raised by the Club go back into the community to help support worthy causes.

National Night Out - Tuesday, August 4

Several of the homeowners associations of Hawthorne have come together to help coordinate our National Night Out event that will be held at the civic center on the evening of Tuesday, August 4. Free food is promised and presentations by our police and fire departments are on the schedule. Our civic center is located in front of city hall on 126th Street. Come out and help us say NO to crime and YES to Good Neighbors.

The "C" Word

I have been sipping Gatorade and avoiding all solid food today. It's the day before a procedure that comes around every five years. If you are over fifty, you know what procedure I'm talking about. It starts with a "c" and it's one method used for early detection of the big "C" word. The preparation for a colonoscopy is worse than the actual procedure. It's not too enjoyable cleaning yourself out. Early detection of Cancer makes it all worth it.

SOUTH BAY WORKFORCE INVESTMENT BOARD ASSISTS JOB SEEKERS, EMPLOYERS AND YOUTH THROUGH GOVERNMENT-FUNDED PROGRAMS

For more than 30 years, the South Bay Workforce Investment Board (SBWIB) has administered employment and training programs for LA County's South Bay Area.

Within the 11 cities serviced (Carson, El Segundo, Gardena, Hawthorne, Hermosa Beach, Inglewood, Lawndale, Manhattan Beach, Redondo Beach, Lomita and Torrance), the SBWIB accomplishes its goals through partnerships with local committees handling business and economic development, One-Stop locations, performance and evaluation, as well as a Youth Development Council.

Through workforce investment funds, the SBWIB offers dislocated workers with free training programs and job-searching resources. Job-searching equipment, as well as seminars, workshops and job placement assistance are available at the four One-Stop Business & Career Centers (Gardena, Inglewood, Carson and Torrance).

The SBWIB assists businesses through an innovative Rapid Response Program geared towards layoff aversion. Parker Hannifin Corporation's Carson facility is a recent success story. An initial meeting revealed that nearly 60 employees lacked sufficient English skills and were facing potential layoff. A layoff aversion plan was formulated that resulted in the SBWIB approaching a local adult school partner to assess the employees' English skill levels and set up on-site training. Since September, the affected employees have been attending Business English classes three days a week with several of those individuals now being considered for promotions.

Recruitment assistance, pre-screening of applicants, On-The-Job training and Transitional Subsidized Employment (TSE) are other programs available to local companies and small businesses.

The SBWIB also prepares youth for entry into the workforce by emphasizing education and services that promote relevant workplace skills and experiences leading to industry-recognized credentials and career pathway employment, including apprenticeships. Special emphasis is aimed at the reengagement of disconnected youth through intervention and prevention services.

The SBWIB is one of the highest performing Workforce Investment Boards (WIB) in the state and is often recognized by the California Workforce Investment Board (CWIB) for its achievements.

Continuous collaborations with business, economic development, education, government, labor and community organizations, helps the SBWIB provide a dynamic, efficient and effective workforce development system, ensuring a skilled workforce and vibrant economy in the South Bay Area.

Lennox Captures Section and Southern California 50/70 Crown

By Joe Snyder

The Lennox Little League Baseball had three District 37 all-star champions who advanced to the California Section 4 Tournament with the 50/70 team consisting of players from ages of 11-13 years old coming out champions and moving on to the California Division 3 (Southern California) Tournament recently at Stearns Field in Long Beach. Lennox won the title by eliminating District 25 champion and host North Venice 9-4 on July 1.

Lennox began the classic by topping District 36 champion Manhattan Beach 10-3 on June 27 before losing to North Venice 8-5 a day later. Lennox, though, bounced back to rout North Venice 11-1 on June 30 and pulled out the title a day later. Lennox rallied out of the loser's bracket to sweep Upland 9-3 and 15-2 on July 12.

Lennox began by downing Fillmore 8-3 on July 7. On July 9, Upland edged Lennox 6-5, but Lennox came back with two easy wins on July 12 and advanced to the Western Regionals last week in Yucaipa. Results were unavailable.

Even though there was no District 37 Tournament in the Junior division, Lennox did field a team and automatically won the title and advanced to the sectionals.

Lennox advanced with a win over District

27 champion North Torrance on July 13 before falling to District 36 champion El Segundo last Thursday. Lennox was eliminated by North Torrance last Friday. Scores were unavailable.

Lennox managed to win just one of three in the Junior (age 13 and 14) Division last week at the Henderson Youth Sports Complex in San Pedro. After opening with an 9-5 win over South Torrance Riviera, the District 27 champion, on July 11, Lennox fell to powerful District 36 champion Manhattan Beach, which advanced to the World Series last year, 10-4 on July 12 before being edged by District 25 champion North Venice 8-7 on July 14. Manhattan Beach won the crown over North Venice last Thursday and moved on to the Division III tournament.

The District 36 already won five of six section titles with Manhattan winning the Majors (ages 11-12 but consisting a few younger players), Juniors and Seniors (ages 15-16). Minor (ages 9-10) champion El Segundo and age 10-11-year-old champion Redondo Beach also won their section championships and move on to Southern California.

SWIMMERS GEAR FOR SUMMER MEETS

The Hawthorne-based South Bay Swim Team was already involved in some summer meets as more is on its way. Beginning next Wednesday through Aug. 2 will be the Summer Junior Olympics Championships at the Riverside Aquatics Complex on the Riverside City College campus.

Also on August 2 will be the annual International Surf Festival Two-Mile Hermosa Beach to Manhattan Beach Pier Swim, usually among the most popular races among the youth and adult squads. The Surf Festival, held in the South Bay Beach Cities, has been held annually since 1962 and will be on from next Wednesday through August 2. It begins with the Charlie Saikley Memorial Six-Man, Six-Woman and Co-ed Six-Person Beach Volleyball Tournament next Wednesday on the south side of Manhattan Beach Pier. It also includes lifeguard events that will be on July 31 and August 1 at Manhattan Pier Beach with lifeguards from all over the United States and Australia.

The Hawthorne Pool will host an all-age group championship clinic on August 6 and, two days later, will be the Southern California Athletic Association Championship Meet at the Downey Aquatic Center. Registration deadline is on Friday.

That period will be busy, as August 9 will be highlighted by the Naples Islands Swims in Long Beach. A day later, the team will host its age-group medal and awards meeting from 5-6:30 p.m.

HAWTHORNE HOSTS SPECIAL OLYMPIC ATHLETES

The City of Hawthorne is currently hosting Special Olympic athletes from Nigeria and Estonia. The athletes arrived on Tuesday and the city will have events for them through Friday before beginning the opening ceremonies that will be on Saturday at the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum. The Special Olympics will be from Saturday through August 2 at venues throughout the Los Angeles area.

The athletes are expected to be training at various local facilities. Special Olympics features 25 sports and approximately 6,500 athletes from 165 countries. The Special Olympics consist of athletes with intellectual disabilities. Started by Eunice Kennedy Shriver in 1968, the first Special Summer Olympics took place at Soldier's Field in Chicago with athletes from the United States and Canada.

After the opening ceremonies at the Coliseum, which will cost spectators from $47-$120, events will be held at the Balboa Sports Complex, UCLA, University of Southern California, L.A. Convention Center, Lucky Strike Lanes in Downtown L.A., Griffith Park and in Long Beach. For further information, log on at www.la2015.org.

and how to bang them
by Chef Shafer

I just got back from the farmers Market in Torrance. All the stone fruit is coming in and they look great and taste even better. What are Stone Fruit? That is what all the peaches, plums, nectarines and such are called. This is the height of the season and they are not just a snack or dessert food. Here is a great way to grill them and use them in a salad or accompaniment to grilled fish, chicken, beef, lamb, pork.

LIVE WELL, LOVE MUCH, LAUGH OFTEN!

Film Review

Southpaw Is Impossible Not To Root For

By Jasper Bernbaum for CINEMACY

Jake Gyllenhaal's resurgence as a bankable, "serious" Hollywood actor only speaks to the long list of films he has starred in to date. His current string of stunning performances dating back to 2011's Source Code and leading up to last year's snubbed Nightcrawler has been dazzling. The kid from Donnie Darko has actually grown into a pretty daring actor. He's always been one though. In 2001, he flipped from the demented Bubble Boy to the seedy surrealism of Donnie Darko; 2005 saw him play his, at that point, brawniest role as a Gulf War soldier in the underrated Jarhead and then gather an Oscar nomination for his most tender and vulnerable role as a gay cowboy in Brokeback Mountain. Gyllenhaal has been a chameleon his entire career. With Southpaw, he is proving it louder than ever.

Southpaw follows the trials and tribulations of Billy "The Great" Hope (Gyllenhaal), the light heavyweight boxing champion of the world. Coming up through the system, Hope has risen to superstardom and great wealth alongside his wife Maureen (an impressive performance by Rachel McAdams) and his daughter Leila (Oona Laurence). After his wife is tragically shot at a charity event, Hope falls into a pit of despair and poverty. When Leila is taken into child services, Hope turns his life around to get back into the ring and fight - literally and metaphorically - for his family and the good of himself.

The film is an impressive turn from director Antoine Fuqua, himself in a commercial renaissance following the back-to-back action success of Olympus Has Fallen and The Equalizer. Southpaw is a strong return to his dramatic peak over a decade ago with Training Day. The direction here is confident, though also vulnerable, something that Fuqua seemed to lack during the energetic masculinity and action ferocity of his preceding filmography. Not to undermine the aggressiveness in Southpaw, however, as it's possibly the most brutal boxing film in more than a decade.

The boxing sequences themselves are, appropriately, the most visceral moments of the film. Gyllenhaal is a brute force in the ring eating up the scenes and spitting them out, bloodied. His punch-drunk performance is a spectacle, though unfortunately despite Gyllenhaal "The Great" Hope's best efforts, he cannot lift the dramatic moments out of all too familiar territory. Southpaw is no Million Dollar Baby or The Fighter. Fuqua's directorial hand falls far too hard, especially in the film's former half. TV veteran Kurt Sutter's screenplay is manipulative and inconsistent, to boot. A great performance by Forest Whitaker as Hope's trainer in the latter acts adds a much-needed humanity that hoists the film up into the later rounds.

If anything, the film is a triumph for its performances and a victory for Fuqua proving he can capably direct more than popcorn action. Through all of the film's dramatic tribulations, Southpaw is impossible not to root for. Southpaw opens nationwide, including at ArcLight Beach Cities, this Friday. •

NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information.

If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property.
NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call (714) 848-9272 or visit this Internet Web site www.ellepostandpub.com, using the file number assigned to this case 15-33426. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Arthur 'talks' to his human friends.

Looking for your purr-fect match? Kitties of all colors and sizes are ready for the forever home with you.

In addition to purring loudly for the pets and cuddles that he loves, Arthur can be very entertaining! He sometimes gets "shocked" by a sound and will bounce straight into the air before galloping off with his brother Rizzo. Currently, Arthur has become our house greeter and is eager to meet new people. He's a big cuddle bug who likes to be picked up and carried, pet and snuggled with. Arthur can also be quite a talker. Usually though it's to let you know that he would like some more cuddles, please! We are not exaggerating here...he loves affection! He and his brother Rizzo are never far apart and spend hours and hours chasing and wrestling each other. They would like very much to be adopted together. Arthur faithfully uses the litter box and hasn't shown much interest in furniture destruction.

Phoenix is a very handsome orange tabby and white kitty who was rescued in Istanbul, Turkey. He has a wonderful personality... playful, loving, affectionate, easy-going and super-sweet. This short-haired tabby loves being petted and purrs loudly when you pet him. Taking naps on your lap, being groomed and snuggling with his kitty friends. I am good both with boy kitties and girl kitties. I have a lot of fun playing with my kitty friends and toys. If you want a good looking boy who is ready to give you lots of affection and entertain you with his playful tricks, come and meet Phoenix!

Maddie is so sweet and loves attention! She is also a little zany and will provide hours of entertainment. Maddie loves everyone! She is good with cats, kids and dogs. This young kitten needs to be adopted to a home with another cat or kitten or with one of her sisters, Cedar or Cerise.

Babbage is oh so special! This boy loves to hang out with his humans, helping them edit at the computer, sleep on their shoulder or just hanging out and making the place look good by striking a dramatic pose. Babbage would love to have a home with a loving human to sleep on and hang out with, and outgoing, confident kitty to have mutual grooming sessions and snuggle time with would be a bonus! He is very comfortable with dogs. Babbage loves to be pet and to get attention. Although he is deaf (which is not unusual with pure white kitties), he has no problems with confidence. Babbage is looking for a special person who can give him a life time of devotion and love.

Rizzo can be just a little shy at first, but once he settles in he doesn't hesitate to cuddle on anyone's lap. He is a dear, sweet, easy-going, gentle boy, who mostly wants to be lying next to or on the humans. When he's not sleeping with you, he prefers the company of his brother Arthur who is never far away. He is usually quiet, however, when the mood strikes, Rizzo can belt out a loud meow! Such as at food times. He and his brother Arthur love each other's company and would like very much to be adopted together. Like his brother, Rizzo faithfully uses the litter box and hasn't shown much interest in furniture destruction.

Maddie needs a home with a kitty friend.

Rizzo is easygoing and sweet.

Cedar has beautiful markings that make her almost look like fine wood grain. She is a petite kitten who just wants to be loved and played with. She is super sweet and we think of her as the "baby" of the litter. But make no mistake there is a quiet fierceness to her that gives her confidence. Cedar needs to be adopted to a home with another cat or kitten or with one of her siblings, Cerise or Maddie. She is good with cats, but dogs tend to scare her if they get to close.

Cerise is as smart as she is cute! She is also full of energy and spunk, but she also craves cuddle time and soft petting on your lap. Cerise likes to talk and let you know what she is feeling. Don't worry she will be patient with you. Cerise is good with cats and does ok with calm dogs. Because of her young age, she needs a home with at least one other cat or kitten.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. Phoenix has a wonderful personality.

Babbage is deaf but is also outgoing and loves to hang out.

THE YELLOW DOG PROJECT.com

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!
Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
