Wiseburn School Board Informed Opening Day at New High School Delayed Until Fall

By Duane Plank

With less than a month remaining before the scheduled opening day at the newly constructed Wiseburn High School located on Douglas Street, the Wiseburn Unified District (WUSD) School Board Trustees met last Tuesday evening to tackle myriad construction issues as the multi-million-dollar project steams ahead.

The Board also heard the news that the new tentative opening day of school at the new building, which will play host to three Da Vinci high schools as well as the District offices, has been delayed and is now penciled in, said WUSD Superintendent Tom Johnstone, for October. It was hoped that the new high school would open its doors to Da Vinci charter school students on August 22, but inevitable delays have disrupted the start-up date. Da Vinci students will start their school year at their current locations in late August, and then relocate to the new Douglas Street edifice, if all goes well, in October.

Johnstone said that construction delays on the project, which began in August of 2015, are not uncommon on challenges of this magnitude.

Johnstone said that the “delivery date” to occupy the building was initially July 23. That date has obviously come and gone. Johnstone said that there were two main issues causing the delay. Gould Electric, the initial electric company bid-winner for the project, had defaulted earlier in the construction cycle. RDM was selected to replace Gould, and while Johnstone said RDM was “doing a great job, there are little things the contractor found that don’t really affect electricity, but do impact what is termed in the construction trade as “fire/life/ safety.” The fire/life/safety concerns must meet and adhere to strict guidelines established by the Division of State Architects (DSA). These issues revolve around student and staff safety concerns, and “those construction, protection, and occupancy features necessary to minimize danger to life from the effects of fire, including smoke, heat, and toxic gases created during a fire.”

Johnstone laid out what is a tentative timeline for the occupancy of the building, with the hope being that when all the Is are dotted and Ts crossed, the three Da Vinci campuses would have their classroom materials packed up and be able to vacate their current buildings probably over a weekend. After the physical move has been made, Johnstone foresees allowing the teachers a couple of days to unpack and set up their classrooms before opening the new high school’s doors to incoming students.

“We live in an imperfect world,” Johnstone said. “We have really been blessed on this project. Everything is going to turn out beautifully...it is just five or six weeks later than we wanted it.”

Metro Implements Full and Partial Closures on the I-405 Freeway

Fifteen nights of full and partial closures on the I-405 freeway began on July 31 to accommodate construction of a bridge for the Crenshaw/LAX Line light rail project. The work is being done by Walsh Shea Corridor Constructors, the contractor building the project for Metro.

The lane closures are needed for the safe removal of the wood framing used to build the 800-foot-long bridge, which spans the 405, Hyde Park Avenue and La Cienega Boulevard.

The nightly full and partial directional closures will be from 10 p.m. to 5 a.m. Monday to Friday. The freeway will be fully open during the weekends.

Closure Schedule:

- July 31 to Aug. 4. The northbound lanes will be completely closed between Century and La Tijera boulevards.
- Aug. 7 to Aug. 11. Partial closure of the north and south bound High Occupancy Vehicle (HOV) lanes and the 1 and 2 lanes.
- Aug. 14 to Aug. 18. The southbound lanes will be fully closed between the La Cienega off-ramp and La Tijera on-ramp.

Detours:

- If traveling southbound, exit the 405 at the Florence/Manchester off-ramp, proceed south on La Cienega and return to freeway via the Olive Street on-ramp.
 - Motorists heading to Los Angeles International Airport can remain on La Cienega to access Century Boulevard or re-enter the 405 and use the westbound 105 and Sepulveda Boulevard to reach LAX.
 - If traveling northbound, exit at the La Cienega/Manchester off-ramp, turn left (west) on Manchester, turn right (north) on La Tijera and continue to the northbound 405 on-ramp.
- Closure dates are tentative and subject to change based on construction progress and weather conditions. The bridge is expected to be completed in 2018.
- LAX encourages passengers to arrive at their terminal two hour before boarding time for domestic flights and three hours before boarding time for international departures.
- Metro apologize for the inconvenience that these nightly closures may cause and urge motorists to plan ahead and to expect some delays

Sore Knees? 3 Reasons To Participate In A Clinical Trial

(BPT) - Designed to evaluate the safety and effectiveness of new treatments, clinical trials are the only way medical advances can move knowledge and science forward. In regard to knee pain, clinical trials offer the newest and latest ideas on finding better ways to treat pain.

People participate in clinical trials for a variety of reasons. For Debra Tongue of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, a clinical trial provided a chance for a life-changing opportunity. An active mother of three and grandmother of two, Tongue was devastated when she tore her meniscus - a tissue pad between the thigh and shin bones. As a personal fitness trainer and avid sports enthusiast, Tongue went from a very high activity level of biking, hiking and running to having immense knee pain during any kind of physical activity. She underwent a meniscectomy, the surgical removal of the torn meniscus, but constant pain and swelling in her knee persisted.

At age 46, Tongue made the decision to participate in a clinical trial to receive the NUsurface Meniscus Implant - the first "artificial meniscus" designed to replace the damaged one in patients like Tongue with persistent knee pain due to injured or deteriorated meniscus cartilage. The implant, which is made of medical grade plastic and inserted into the knee through a small incision, can serve as an opportunity to treat knee pain and keep patients active until knee replacement surgery is a viable option. The clinical trial is part of regulatory process to gain permission to allow the device to be distributed in the U.S.

"After receiving the NUsurface Meniscus Implant and undergoing a 12-week rehabilitation program, I felt back to normal and ready to take on the world," Tongue says. "In fact, I was even able to go on a trip to India with girlfriends for a two-week retreat at the foothills of the Himalayan Mountains. The NUsurface Implant gave me a second chance to enjoy life the way I did before."

Are you suffering from knee pain and considering enrolling in a clinical trial? Here are three reasons it may be the right choice for you:

1. You'll get access to treatment not yet available in the U.S.

If you enroll in a trial, you could have access to treatments that are not yet approved by the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA), but could potentially work better than existing options to reduce pain or manage a disease.

2. You'll receive high-quality care.

There are strict rules for clinical studies that have been put into place by the National Institute of Health and the FDA. In addition, all U.S. clinical trials must be overseen by an Institutional Review Board (IRB) to make sure patient risks are as low as possible and that proper trial procedures are followed.

3. You'll help advance science.

Clinical trials offer hope for many people and an opportunity to help researchers find better treatments for others in the future who have their same condition. By participating, you can provide researchers with the information they need to continue developing new procedures, medical devices and treatments.

To be eligible for the NUsurface Meniscus Implant clinical studies, you must be between the ages of 30 and 75, have pain after medial (the inside of the knee) meniscus surgery at least six months ago. To find a study site near you, visit www.activeimplants.com/kneepaintrial. •

Wiseburn High School Delays Opening

The following is a letter last week from Wiseburn Unified School District Superintendent Dr. Tom Johnstone with an update on construction of the new high school facility:

Dear Wiseburn School District Community,
As a result of construction delays stemming from the bankruptcy of the main electrical contractor and some setbacks on the soil condition in the new parking lot, the opening of the main academic building (Phase 1) of Wiseburn High School - home of the Da Vinci high schools, will be delayed by approximately six to eight weeks. The three high schools (Da Vinci Communications, Da Vinci Design and Da Vinci Science), which had been scheduled to occupy the building at 201 N. Douglas Street in El Segundo, will instead start their school year on August 22 at their previous locations. The tentative timeline for moving into the new building is in October, however a specific move-in date has not yet been finalized.

At the construction site, crews have been diligently working six-day weeks to make up the lost time from the change in electrical contractors that occurred in April. Significant progress was made in May and June, bringing most of the project back onto the timeline for a successful August opening. Unfortunately, significant setbacks related to the guidelines of the Division of the State Architect (DSA) for Fire/Life/Safety and soil complications in the main parking lot have resulted in delays that require a change in the projected date of occupancy. In the parking lot, several soil issues have been uncovered related to old pipes that need a mitigated removal process, resulting in delays. For Fire/Life/Safety, the design of the smoke filtration system, alarm systems and fire door protections are extremely complex in this large four-story building. The delays in the electrical set-up have resulted in a domino-effect and unforeseen complications that have not allowed enough time for the required testing of these systems in advance of occupancy. Needless to say, the Wiseburn Unified School District and the Da Vinci Schools will not put students or school staff into the building until all systems have been thoroughly tested and cleared by the building commissioning agents. We are committed to opening the building and moving in all three schools as soon as it is certified as safe for occupancy.

Starting out the school year for several weeks at the high schools' current campuses is clearly not ideal. School principals have been developing contingency plans for reopening the Del Aire and Aviation campuses that had already been packed up in preparation for the move to the new campus. We are asking for the cooperation and patience of our students, staff, families and the community to work through this short-term setback as we continue toward our long-term commitment to opening a beautiful, world-class new high school campus. A Grand Opening/Ribbon Cutting celebration will take place in the fall after we move into the new building. Phase 2 construction that includes a pool, gym and playing field is scheduled for completion in the summer of 2018. For questions about construction, please contact Tom Johnstone, Wiseburn Superintendent at (310) 643-3025.

– Dr. Tom Johnstone, Superintendent
Wiseburn Unified School District

Film Review

To the Bone is a Worthy Debut from One of TV’s Fiercest, Funniest Female Writers

Lily Collins in To the Bone. Courtesy of Sundance Institute.

By Kailee Andrews for Cinemacy

Marti Noxon is a television visionary, but you probably haven’t heard of her. As a screenwriter and producer, she shaped two of television’s modern classics, Buff

We begin with Ellen (Lily Collins), a 20-year-old artist suffering from anorexia. She has dropped out of school and is shuffled between treatment programs. None have worked. So, with exhaustion, Ellen agrees to treatment with an unconventional doctor, played with a stern warmth by Keanu Reeves. You may now feel a building sense of skepticism and comparison to other films where sick, smart-mouthed teens deal with existential questions and benefit from the guidance of a cool mentor. However, Noxon and her team are the perfect, passionate crew for telling this story with authenticity and charm. And that achievement begins with the fully realized protagonist.

We meet Ellen in a stasis. Fearing her past and unwilling to build a future, she worries that she’s moved from personhood to burdenhood in the minds of her family, and herself. She is smart and sympathetic, but--and this is key--the film wisely avoids romanticizing her appearance or mindset.

Lily Collins gives a lovely performance, but when the camera is trained on her body it maintains a clinical gaze. In an industry that praises, and often demands, that women make themselves small, Noxon’s film employs costumes, lighting and a body double to show us life-threatening weight loss. Likewise, as we enjoy the frequent laugh-out-loud dialogue, Noxon and Collins carefully remind us that same wit can heel-turn into a biting, outward expression of Ellen’s own self-hate. For instance, in one excellent bit of physical humor, a friend of Ellen’s performs an inspired When Harry Met Sally-style sexual encounter with a chocolate bar. Ellen laughs along before snapping when she realizes that even this moment among friends can’t break her compulsive calorie control. This is a very responsible film. It’s also a reminder of the necessity of giving artists the freedom to tell their own story.

Marti Noxon and Lily Collins both were once young women with eating disorders, and Noxon’s script includes autobiographical details. The material is elevated by the specificity both bring to the table.

To the Bone is a masterclass in taking a deeply felt, personal story and dramatizing it into a stylish, strange and powerful film. It’s a moving exploration of a disease that affects millions and is often misjudged as vanity rather than a true illness deserving of treatment. It’s unafraid to incorporate weird, specific details that can come with anorexia, such as being bottle-fed as an adult. The characters’ problems aren’t resolved by speechifying doctors--the film is wise enough to say that professional treatment and community are so, so essential, but one’s personal will is the critical leap.

To the Bone is a worthy entrance into film from one of television’s fiercest, funniest writers. Marti Noxon’s project stands on the vanguard of the fight for women’s stories to be seen for what they are, which is as commercial and fully cinematic as anything.

To the Bone is not rated. 107 minutes. Now streaming on Netflix. •

Froggy Goes to Camp

Reviewed by Katrena Woodson, Teen and Young Reader Librarian, El Segundo Public Library

This week, I am reviewing a few picture books on the topic of camping. The first is called Camping Day by Patricia Nash. The story is centered on a family of crocodiles as they experience all of the joys and troubles that can come from camping, packing, hiking, pitching the tent and telling stories around the campfire, as well as being afraid of the dark and dealing with the noises of nature. Lakin’s story is cute and the text will engage young readers. The book is wonderfully illustrated by Scott Nash. Nash’s minimalist style and use of vibrant colors are sure to hold the reader’s interest. This picture book is a fun read aloud that would be best enjoyed by readers ages three to seven.

The next camping book is Good Night, Animals by Lena Arro and illustrated by Catarina Kruusval. This is the story of a brother, Bubble, and a sister, Pearl, who are planning to go camping and spend the night in a tent. Pearl is very uncertain and a bit afraid of what the night will hold for them, but Bubble is there with his flashlight and a reassuring smile to tell her that everything will be all right. Pearl keeps hearing strange noises that scare her only to discover that the noises are coming from friendly animals that Bubble invites into the tent to join them. By the end of the book, the tent is jam-packed with animals and Pearl is no longer afraid. This is a charming tale perfect for young readers between the ages of three and five.

Good Night, Animals by Lena Arro.

For the last book, I chose to review Froggy Goes to Camp by Jonathan London. Fans of Froggy will especially love to follow their beloved Froggy on yet another journey. In this story, Froggy is out of school for the summer and his parents are sending him to a summer camp called Camp Run-a-muck. Froggy is nervous and uncomfortable at the beginning of the story because he is a long way from home and doesn’t know anyone at camp--feelings all kids who have gone away for camp are sure to relate with from past experience. As the book goes on and Froggy becomes more at ease, he starts to make friends and have a great time. London’s text is full of silly sound effects, and the illustrations are humorous as well as action-packed. This book is perfect for children who might be nervous about going away to camp for the first time.

The El Segundo Public Library offers access to its collection of titles in a variety of formats, including traditional hardback, e-books and books on CD. Badger Adopt a cat cuz cats are cool. A cat (or two) makes every house more fun! Here are just a few of our cool cats (and kittens).

Badger is a short and stocky, adorable and lovable guy. He's very playful, especially with his brother Bear. His favorite toys include anything he can drag around and chew on. Badger loves being brushed and petted! His markings are very unique—you can't tell from his pictures, but he has a lovely striped raccoon tail. A true gentleman, he even loves to "help" while you're cleaning out the litter box. When you can't find Badger, it's best to check odd places because that's probably where he is. He loves a good nap under the couch or in the weird part of your closet you didn't know existed. Badger was bottle-fed as an infant, so he loves humans. This cutie is available and wants to come live with you!

Bear is a long, lean and handsome boy. He is the alpha guy of his brother Badger and other siblings. Kind of like a frat boy, Bear is always up for partying, roughhousing and playing with a mouse on a string. He even will sometimes growl at a mouse on a string to show it who's boss. Bear is the absolute sweetest baby there is. As a bottle-fed infant, he is quite fond of humans and loves attention he receives from people. If you're sitting down, he'll walk right up to you and climb straight into your arms for a cradling. Bear will purr forever and then meow at you if you shift him incorrectly or stop petting him. This super-soft baby will greet you at the door and demand attention. His good looks and charm will win you over.

All cats are special, but Lucas is a special kind of special. With tons of personality, you will not have a boring moment in his company. He has been introduced to a few other cats and has been good with all of them. He's not an alpha cat—he's quite submissive, yet comfortable and confident. When Lucas is playful, he gets very silly. He is also very affectionate not only with his own humans, but with others as well. Lucas is quite verbal when he's playing and when he gets food. He does a combination of chirps and meows that are adorable! He has a white heart on the front of his neck, white toenails on his front paws, and white "eyebrows." Lucas is bonded with his BFF Maximus and they love to play/eat/sleep together. Search for "The Adventures of Lucas" on YouTube to see his videos.

Maximus is a sweet, playful, loving kitty. He likes being picked up and cuddled and will often hug you back or stick his adorable little lion face into your neck. As soon as you touch him, he'll start purring. Maximus is just so happy! Even when he had a bath (which everybody knows is not any cat's favorite activity), Maximus just sat there, purring away! Afterwards he patiently waited to be towel-dried, and then sat on his foster mom's lap and licked himself dry. Maximus is bonded with his BFF Lucas. Check them out on YouTube – "The Adventures of Lucas and Maximus".

Thalia is a beautiful, lilac-point Siamese. She and her bonded sister, Calypso, were rescued from the LA City Shelter at the end of an NKLA Super Adoption Event. These girls are very bonded and need to find a home where they can be together forever. Super sweet and loving, they can be a bit reserved at first, but they adore being petted. With a little love and one-on-one attention, they completely blossom! Thalia and Calypso are fine with other kitties and tolerate stressful situations with beauty and grace. Regal and gorgeous, this duo would be the perfect addition to any family. If you want calm, loving kitties, look no further!

Gumdrop is a very sweet kitten who loves affection and attention. He likes to climb onto his foster mom's lap and snuggle while she works. Gumdrop eagerly greets all the new people he meets, hoping to charm his way onto their laps so he can get belly rubs. This cuddly boy works his way into the hearts of everyone he meets with his loving personality. Gumdrop has a playful side and will run from one corner of a room to the other, chasing laser pointers or toys dangling from a wand. Whoever gives Gumdrop a forever home will be very lucky to have him join the family because he is one sweet kitty! He is a very social kitten who needs to be adopted together with another kitten or into a home with an existing cat. He would do exceptionally well with his equally sweet foster sibling, Dakota.

Dakota is a charming little girl. She loves to climb onto any available lap to get some head rubs and affection. She is not at all shy about meeting new people because she knows they will give her the attention she wants. There is not a skittish bone in her little body. She is also quite a beauty! This little lady is not going to be without a forever home much longer because she not only has good looks, but also has a great personality. Dakota is playful, affectionate and loving--the perfect ingredients for a furry companion. As an active kitten, she needs to be adopted together with another kitten or into a home with an existing cat. She would be ecstatic to go home with her foster sibling, Gumdrop.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Boulevard, #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Boulevard, just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Avenue, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location. •

the point man at the high school site, was front and center at the three-hour meeting, which was chaired by Board Vice President JoAnne Kaneda in the absence of President Israel Mora. The meeting predictably focused on the construction project and the implementation of “change orders” for both Phase 1 and Phase 2 of the multi-million-dollar structure.

Madsen said that the change in electrical contractors was part of the delay, as were what he termed “soil compaction challenges” in the new main parking lot, plus some issues related to the heavier than expected rains that visited the South Bay earlier this year.

All in attendance at the Board meeting agreed that it was well worth taking the extra six weeks or so to ensure student safety and the success of the transition for Da Vinci students to the new facility.

Late last week, the District rolled out a construction update to the Wiseburn and Da Vinci stakeholders and community. It read, in part, “The WUSD and the Da Vinci schools will not put students or school staff into the building until all systems have been thoroughly tested and cleared by the building commissioning agents. We are committed to opening the building in all three schools as soon as it is certified as safe for occupancy.”

So that means that, at least for a short while, the current sites for the Da Vinci schools--the Del Aire and Aviation campuses--will again house the first-part of the 2017/18 school year.

The Phase II construction timeline is not affected. Johnstone said he mandated to the construction company that the Phase II part of the project, which includes the pool, gym and playing field, is going to have a ribbon-cutting ceremony on June 23, 2018. Of course, that could change, according to other “curveballs” that may arise during construction.

“When you look at the magnitude of the project, on any given day you have over 200 people working [onsite] and coordinating that has been a challenge,” Johnson said. He also likened the coordination of the many moving parts at the new school site with the precision needed to send a rocket ship to and from the outer limits.

Board member Neal Goldman thanked all of those involved in moving the colossal project forward. “We appreciate you guys busting your behinds,” he said. “We really do appreciate it.”

During the action item portion of the meeting, the Board ratified an agreement between Travis Allen, the founder of the iSchool initiative program, for an amount not to exceed $9,000 to be paid to Allen, who will be the keynote speaker at the State of the District event on August 31. Allen’s proposed topic will be “Becoming a Mobile Learner.” Allen has gained popularity in educational circles, positing his iSchool initiative, which looks at how schools must update their teaching parameters in the 21st Century by “embracing technology and creating a positive culture of life-long learning.”

Other items passed by the Board included the Dana Middle School’s Writers Workshop program; a partnership agreement with the Wiseburn Education Foundation; an agreement with nearby Loyola Marymount University to provide LMU student-teachers to work in the District; and a slight increase (10 percent) in the fee structure for the upcoming school year for the Dana Extended Day Care program.

Summing up the consensus on the slight delay in occupancy at the Douglas Street facility, Madsen said, “We are building a building that has a 50- to 100-year life span, and these six weeks will make the difference in the final quality.”

The next regularly scheduled Wiseburn School Board meeting is slated for Thursday evening, August 24. •

Clayton Kershaw May Be Down, but Dodgers Not Out

By Adam Serrao

The Los Angeles Dodgers are off to the best regular season start by any team in Major League Baseball since the 2001 Seattle Mariners. That start presumably took a blow when the team’s ace and the best pitcher in all of baseball, Clayton Kershaw, left the game after two innings approximately two weeks ago with what was diagnosed to be a lower back strain. Kershaw’s absence from the starting rotation has become somewhat commonplace over the past couple of years. The future Hall of Famer missed two and a half months last season with a disc injury in the very same back that is troubling him currently. Despite the team’s best player being sidelined to injury, the Dodgers shouldn’t panic. There is already a certain amount of magic surrounding a ball club that finds it very difficult to lose a series to another team, let alone a game.

The most disappointing thing about Kershaw’s injury isn’t what will inevitably be a longer recovery time than the left-hander would naturally want. The displeasing thing for Kershaw--and all of his fans alike--is what it does to his statistical season. Before Kershaw’s slight setback, he led baseball in wins (15), ERA (2.04) and innings pitched (141 1/3). He was also second in WHIP (0.88) and third in strikeouts (168). Without the injury, Kershaw was on pace to enjoy yet another Cy Young Award-winning season and had the opportunity to maneuver his way into accomplishing another pitching triple crown as well. Those goals haven’t been lost just yet, but his absence from the rotation will certainly make them harder to achieve.

The severity of Kershaw’s injury was not immediately known and likely won’t be addressed by manager Dave Roberts. One thing that is for sure, though, is that Roberts and the team will certainly not rush their ace back into action. “Over the course of the next week we’ll see how he feels and how the body reacts to medication,” Roberts said a few days after the injury. “As everything takes, we’ll know more. Right now, he’s on a slow program.” That slow program originally projected Kershaw to be out from four to six weeks. Kershaw is known for his dislike of time frames, though, and had already begun playing catch again as early as last week. “A timetable has kind of been put out there, but we don’t know,” Roberts explained of the original projection. “With Clayton and his desire and medicine, anything can happen. We’re very reluctant to put any type of timetable on it. It’s unfair to Clayton as far as speculating and trying to project.”

Fans of the “Boys in Blue” may be a bit nervous about the Kershaw news, but the optimistic part of his most recent injury lies in the fact that the scans revealed that the problem was simply a strain and not a recurrence of the disc issue that sidelined him for so long one season ago. More optimism arose last week, when despite not traveling with the team on their recent road trip, Kershaw threw three straight days of catch with no setbacks.

Justin Turner put it perfectly when explaining how the entire team has learned from Kershaw’s injury last season and is now ready to move forward in his absence once again this year. “Knowing the way we responded and the way we played in his absence makes it a little bit easier pill to swallow, I guess, but you don’t want him not taking the ball every fifth day,” Turner explained. “But we’ve talked about the depth the front office has created and how guys step up. That’s what we expect to do.”

Last season, the Dodgers stepped up in Kershaw’s absence by remarkably going 38-24 and in the process, overcame an eight-game deficit to the much hated San Francisco Giants in the standings to overtake first place in the NL West. When Kershaw returned to the team, he seemed well-rested, posting a 1.29 ERA in the month of September while also giving the team every last ounce of energy that he had--whether it was in a starting role or from out of the bullpen in October. Last year following the injury, Kershaw had the first impressive postseason of his entire career.

The Dodgers have already responded once again this season, too. After Kershaw exited the game against the Atlanta Braves on July 23, Los Angeles went on to win eight games in a row dating back to last Sunday to finish out the month of July, before the month of August even had the chance to get itself started. Like the Dodgers have typically done all season long, there has been a new hero every single night. Whether it’s Justin Turner, Corey Seager, Cody Bellinger or even Logan Forsythe, the Dodgers have simply become a team that finds it very, very difficult to lose baseball games whether Kershaw is on the mound or not. As Orel Hershisier put it on a recent telecast, “There’s just no place [in the batting order] to breathe if you’re an opposing pitcher.” Ask the San Francisco Giants who looked like they were in position to win last Sunday’s game on two separate occasions. That was before the Dodgers came back from behind yet again and won on a two-run walk-off double by Kyle Farmer in the rookie’s MLB debut and first career at-bat.

Almost every single player on the team has taken a turn being the hero. Last Sunday marked the team’s 31st come-from-behind victory of the season. It’s almost as if they encourage the opposition to take the lead so that they can come back and completely demoralize their opponents. That comeback win was the team’s 14th in the seventh inning or later. That same victory put the Dodgers 43 games over .500 for the first time since 1974 and put the club more games over .500 than the Giants (40-66 at the time) had won all season long.

This Dodgers team that is slowly breaking the record books is obviously bigger than just one player. Kershaw, however, is the one player that everyone seems to be counting on come October. His absence from the starting rotation may not be ideal, but the ace of the club will undoubtedly be back, rested and ready to go sooner rather than later. Until then, it looked like this Dodgers team will continue being absolutely unbelievable and filled with magic without him. •
