Councilman Michelin Goes on the Offensive Amid Tense Council Meeting

By Derrick Deane

After weeks of mentioning City Council salaries and stipends in his closing remarks, Councilman Nilo Michelin went on the offensive during Tuesday’s bi-weekly City Council Meeting.

While drumming a steady message of government transparency with how the council spends money, Michelin called for a reduction in the salary and stipends of city councilmembers, requested public pre-approval for all councilmember expenses at conferences, and asked for staff members to research and prepare a resolution regarding term limits.

“Term limits is something a lot of South Bay cities have and it makes a lot of sense,” Michelin said. “A lot of people talk about term limits, yet when it comes time to vote, they shy away from it.”

Additionally, Michelin called for an amendment to the City Council’s credit card policy, citing that it should only be used for emergencies and not day-to-day expenses as it has been in recent years.

Of course, not all city councilmembers were on board with Michelin’s calls for transparency. Councilwoman Angie Reyes English in particular took exception to Michelin’s proposal for pre-approval for conference expenses.

“I’ve been doing this for a while now. I have always reported back what I’ve done and offered suggestions and some of those policies have been implemented into policy,” English replied.

Michelin replied back after some discussion, “Let’s not make it any harder than it has to be. Let’s get pre-approval for any conference expense over $100. Keep it simple,” to which English sharply replied, “I’m everywhere. I’m sorry. I don’t have time to come here to tell you A thru Z what I’m doing. It’s too much. You’re not making it easier, you’re making it harder. I don’t need someone to tell me I need approval to go somewhere. I’m going to go anyway. I don’t need your approval,” as Mayor Chris Brown quietly laughed to himself.

Mayor Brown and Michelin also disclosed that they had both given up their stipends, while English contended that non-profit groups need that money in order to operate and perform services for the community.

Brown was not above the tension either when he closed the meeting with a cheap shot to mayoral candidate and city councilmember Alex Vargas.

While his closing remarks began rather harmlessly by mentioning Women’s Appreciation Day and recalling remarks Vargas made about the turmoil the city has been going through. Something clicked inside Brown’s head though when he recalled how Vargas had commented on how the mayors have failed, to which he then stated to Vargas, “You’re going to hear from a lot of women’s groups about your sexual harassment allegations and also your racial allegations here in the city.”

The comment ignited an off-mic back and forth between the two men as City Clerk Norb Huber was trying to read out instructions to the audience.

Brown backed away from the mic to tell Vargas, “That was the wrong thing to do this weekend,” and “Move out your mom’s house,” to which Vargas replied, “Are you threatening my mother?”

Michelin finally interjected saying, “You guys need to stop. We’re having a meeting here. Can you guys cut it out?”

Amid all the political tension, there were some actual issues that were addressed. School board unification and transportation were key issues that opened the council meeting.

Mayor Pro Tem Olivia Valentine, introduced the issue of school board unification between Hawthorne schools and the Centinela Valley School districts. Valentine said that the issue had been brought to her attention by a number of parents but cautioned in her closing remarks that the process could take a very long time.

“I am in favor of unification and I guess people would ask why the city would be interested in this issue and the answer is because good schools with academic achievement create an attraction for people to move in to a city,” Valentine said. “I remain adamant though that it has to be initiated by the parents. The parents have to be in the forefront of taking the lead on this because it takes years and years to achieve.”

Meanwhile, Acting Director of the Transportation Division for the Southern California Association of Governments, Naresh Amatya addressed the council the future of the city in terms of residents, employment, and how those changes will impact the city.

According to Amatya, the Los Angeles county area expects to have more single/non-children homes, an increase of 3.75 million people, and an elderly population of people 60 years and older that will double.

Total funding for the next 25 years is estimated to be around $554 billion, with about $350 billion worth of funding currently identified from known sources.

“Our shortfall is about $200 billion and we have to identify new strategies to fill that gap,” Amatya said.

In terms of transportation, Amatya mentioned that our roads and highways are in immediate need of repairs.

Valentine asked Amatya about a proposed “road user fee,” and how that would impact citizens.

“The form of funding at the state and federal level right now is the excise tax on gas that everybody pays,” Amtaya said. “It is in a way a user tax because the more you drive, the more gas you buy. But the problem with that is our vehicle fleet is getting cleaner with hybrid cars, electric cars, so the consumption of gas is decreasing.”

“At the same time, the excise tax isn’t indexed, it stays stagnant,” Amatya continued adding that the last time the tax was raised was in 1993. “At the same time, the cost of construction and the cost of projects has gone up significantly. So our proposal is to move from the excise tax to a user based fee which would be based on the miles you drive.”

The council also approved an upgrade and reconstruction of traffic signals along Inglewood Ave. at the intersections of Imperial Highway, 118th Street, 120th Street, Broadway, and El Segundo Blvd. •

City Ready for 4th Annual Family and Pet Extravaganza

Raffles, carnival games, animal rescue demonstration and a free concert will all be part of this year's 4th Annual Hawthorne Family and Pet Extravaganza celebration. Hosted by Hawthorne School Board Clerk Luciano Aguilar and celebrity Vivian Fabiola, this year's pet extravaganza will be take place on Saturday, Sept. 26. at Kornblum Elementary School, located at 3620 El Segundo Blvd., from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

City and district employees, students, families, residents and friends are encouraged and welcome to attend the fun and informative event.

"The are multiple layers to this event but the main reason why I wanted to organize this event is that I actually grew up three blocks from where the event will take place," Hawthorne School Board Clerk Luciano Aguilar said. "In that neighborhood the dogs you encounter are normally barking at you from behind the fence, tied up and barking at you or even chasing you. Times are changing but back then that is how things were and because of that I grew up afraid of dogs. It wasn't until I joined the military that I found a passion for dogs when I became a K-9 handler."

The day's activities will feature a free concert from performers Gerardo Coronel, Pigeon John, Lighting Cloud, DJ Hydroe, Carlos Arturo, Eryn Pacheco, among others. Also featured at this year's event are the American Diving Dogs, along with therapy dogs. Attendees will also be entertained by dogs doing tricks and have the opportunity to pet and play with dogs who simply enjoy human companionship.

"What we have, through American Diving Dogs, is a doc-diving competition where the dogs jump off the docs into a swimming pool and they go for distance, they go for height and they go for speed. That is a crowd pleaser because the bigger the splash is, the bigger the cheer is," Aguilar said. "We are trying to educate kids, trying to show them a good time and this is an event for the community by the community. We are raising money to bring back programs that we had to cut, so there are a lot of different things going on."

Like past events, this year's pet extravaganza was put together through the work and effort of various volunteers, including parents, animal lovers and local teens. All of the money will be donated in its entirety to the Hawthorne Education Foundation, which will distribute the funds among the district's schools.

"A couple of years back when we started this event we were hurting for money and we were cutting different programs, cutting down supplies so we needed to come up with inventive ways to raise money," Aguilar said. "Times are getting better, especially for a district like ours, with the new way they are doing the budget. At the same time we can't depend on it because we know it's a roller coaster with the ups and downs so we are trying to create a different source of income."

Aguilar returned to the City of Hawthorne after being honorably discharged from the Air Force to start his dog-training company; soon he would become a school board member. Recognizing that one of his strengths was organizing events and public speaking, Aguilar decided to move forward with the Pet Extravaganza to address questions or fears that residents and kids might have regarding dogs.

"The Pet Extravaganza, if I didn't bring it to the kids of Hawthorne, chances are they may never get to experience something like this and would remain afraid of dogs," Aguilar said. "What we do at the Pet Extravaganza is that we educate kids that not all dogs are bad; you have dogs that have jobs, you have dogs that compete and dogs that do everything and anything."

Personal pets will not be allowed at the Pet Extravaganza due to the lack of control that the organizers can have over people's dogs' attitudes.

"The dogs that we have there are for people to come and enjoy," Aguilar said. "They have insurance and all the necessary coverage to be in this situation. We don't want somebody to come from home and it might be too much for their dog. There will be lots of kids running around and if you have ever seen a kid with a dog, they are very persistent if they want to play with the dog and we don't want to put the public's dog in a losing situation."

Persons interested can make donations to this fundraising event directly at the pet extravaganza and to the Hawthorne Education Foundation, which will be represented at the event.

"Every one out there is donating their time," Aguilar said. "It is definitely one of those events you want to support because what we are saying that we are doing, is happening. It is very transparent and everything goes straight into the classroom."

One Man's Foot is Another Man's Treasure in the Documentary Finders Keepers.

By Morgan Rojas for CINEMACY

In 2007, a North Carolina man got a lot more than he bargained for when he bid on a used grill from a repossessed storage unit at a local flea market. Much to his surprise, when Shannon Whisnant took the grill home, he discovered a severed human foot inside. An egotistical and boisterous personality, he unapologetically intended to keep this foot forever, despite demands of its return from the man whose foot it was. As bizarre as it out of tragedy— John lost his foot in an airplane crash that also left his father dead. On top of struggling with drugs and alcohol for years, the death of his dad was especially hard on him, so he decided to mummify his foot in memoriam. It's an unconventional idea, but the way John speaks to the camera and explains his hardships so honestly and, now seven years sober, so openly, we can't help but support his decisions, no matter how crazy they may be. Directors Bryan Carberry and Clay Tweel have sounds, this all happens within the first act of the film Finders Keepers, truly one of the strangest and funniest documentaries of the year.

While most people who discover an amputated body part would either alert authorities or get rid of it as quickly as possible, Shannon found this as an opportunity to cash in on 15 minutes of fame. Assuming that this severed foot would be an easy moneymaking spectacle, he charged $1 for children and $3 for adults to take a peek at just the grill the foot came in. He was making a name for himself as a ruthless media hog, and much to the dismay of his family, Shannon thought this was his big break. He always wanted to be "famous." However, when John Wood caught word that Shannon had the foot, his foot, he publicly demanded it back. What happens next is a ridiculous media frenzy, a fantastic chain of events that ultimately leads to a custody battle over the foot on the Judge Mathis TV show.

Just how did the foot get in the grill in the first place? This is the question asked by so many throughout the course of this bizarre, true-life tale. Unfortunately the story is born really found a needle in a haystack with Finders Keepers. While it is tonally a funny film, they don't shy away from hitting poignant, emotional notes that ground the film and give it substance. While it could have been easy to laugh at and look down on the situation, the way Carberry and Tweel capture John's essence and Shannon's ignorance is sweet; we laugh not at them, but with them.

I first saw Finders Keepers when it screened during this summer's Sundance Next Fest, and while I initially didn't have high expectations that this documentary would be anything out of the ordinary, I did predict that I would be in for a wild ride. Now having seen the film, the term "wild ride" seems like an understatement. Funnily enough, when I left the theater at the Ace Hotel in Downtown L.A., I ran into John and his wife about a block away. I stopped to talk to him for a good 20 minutes, and he told me even more outrageous facts that will possibly be made into a narrative film. You heard it here first. Finders Keepers opens in Los Angeles this Friday, September 25th; VOD October 2nd. •

OCTOBERFEST STARTS EARLY

Germans like to drink beer. A good brat and brew is their idea of having a good meal. This past Sunday with my cousin in town, we drove down to Huntington Beach to the Old World Oktoberfest. In addition to the food, drink, music and dancing this event had Dodson dog races. The "wiener dogs" were dashing as their owners cheered them on. My grandkids enjoyed the festivities. Most Oktoberfest events run from the middle of September til the end of October.

Purrrfect Companions

Kalea loves to play with other cats and humans.

Looking for your purr-fect match? Kitties of all colors and sizes are ready for the forever home with you. There's still time to join us for our 7th Annual Fur Ball, Sunday, October 4, 6 pm. It will be a magical evening with celebrity guests, dinner, an open bar, silent and live auctions...all benefitting the forgotten felines of Los Angeles – more information and tickets are at our website... www.kittenrescue.org.

Kalea was rescued from the shelter when she was just 4 weeks old. From the start, Kalea was a tiny kitten with dainty paws and a lithe body dancing about in her miniature tuxedo with extreme grace. From her goofy mustache, to her front "opossum toes" dipped in white, Kalea is equal parts elegance and silliness. Affectionately deemed a little "bump on a log," Kalea has always been rather sedate for a kitten. She loves to snuggle and cuddle with her foster siblings, and will definitely engage in romping and wrestling from time to time. She's more low-key than them, so she's likely to be a more regal kitty when she grows up. Kalea loves the adult kitties, who will play when she feels like it and leave her alone the rest of the time. She would be great for a young adult who wants a friend to hang out with. Kalea must be adopted to a home with another kitten or young cat, as she does love to play and thrives off the company of other kitties. She can't wait to find a loving forever home, who will cherish her and whoever her forever feline friend will be!

Merlin was rescued from a woodpile a few days after the Fourth of July. He was terrified out of his mind, jumping at every sound, but the instant he was in human arms this boy was all purrs. Whatever trauma he went through still lingers as loud noises and the unknown are scary prospects. However, Merlin loves human attention and petting. Give him some pets and he turns on the charm, purring away and even asking for belly rubs! He loves to kiss your fingers when getting pets too! Merlin would do best in a calmer environment, away from loud sudden noises. He loves other cats to pieces and takes comfort from their presence. First time he met his foster buddies, he just sat there and let them sniff him all over - not one hiss! Merlin is absolutely adorable with his eye liner and tabby patches. He would do best in a home with adults or mature children as sudden noises and movements are still a bit scary for this sweet boy.

Speckled with tortoiseshell colors and boasting proud tabby striping, Elektra is a visual bouquet of color and fun! A little livewire, this girl loves to play all day long! She made instant friends with the other kitties, romping and wrestling with them, or just playing with toys by herself when the others were napping. Scaling the cat tree without fear and always ready for the next adventure, Elektra loves a daredevil challenge. Elektra needs a forever kitty friend, she would be super lonely and bored as an only kitty. She does great with other cats and especially enjoys pouncing on them.

At just six weeks old, Holly wound up hospitalized where it was discovered she had a motility issue with her colon. The next two months of her life were filled with painful behind baths, medications, and continuous vet visits. But then, at just three months old things began improving at lightning speed. Now Holly is completely normal and hasn't had a single problem in months! This very special little girl almost didn't survive, but she fought hard and beat the odds. Due to the numerous medical procedures, Holly is nervous of new people and skittish of people walking around as she is convinced you are going to take her to the vet. However, when you are lying in bed, Holly turns on the charm and becomes the mega affectionate little diva hiding inside! She purrs like a motor, butting her head into your hand, and will demand her fair share of attention. Holly loves wand toys she can grapple with and will come running when she hears a toy come out. Holly gets along with other cats and is super curious about other kittens. This precious girl needs a loving forever home who will dote on her, be understanding of her skittish silliness, and treasure the trust and love she will shower on you every single morning. Holly would like a calm, quiet home with no children and is ok with calm, small dogs who leave her alone. She can be adopted into a home with other kitties or would be fine as the only kitty in your home. Holly is very photogenic and would be happy to pose for photos for you all day long.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Leuzinger Sweeps Wiseburn-Da Vinci, Lawndale

By Joe Snyder
Photos by Joe Snyder

Leuzinger High's girls' volleyball team is showing signs of improvement by already recording sweeps over cross town rival Lawndale and easily defeating a local first-year program from Wiseburn-Da Vinci from Hawthorne recently.

The most recent Olympian victory came in the Venice Tournament where Leuzinger rolled over Wiseburn-Da Vinci 25-7, 25-9. It was the only Leuzinger wins in the classic, as the Olympians (2-3) were swept by Wilmington Banning 25-11, 25-11; host Venice 25-16, 25-14; and Reseda Cleveland 25-12, 25-15. Leuzinger finished 2-6 in its pool.

The Olympians, though, return a majority of their players, led by senior outside hitter-middle blocker-defensive specialist Aiko Waters. The five-foot-10 player had several kills, blocks and other good plays to lift Leuzinger over the Wolves.

Leuzinger also has two good setters in junior Janet Ruiz and sophomore Briana Salas that should be a big lift in aiding the Olympians to be, at least, respectful in the tough Pioneer League, led by defending CIF-Southern Section Division IIAA and Southern California Division II champion South Torrance. The Spartans should continue to be the favorite in the Pioneer, behind returning all-California State player Karly Eastley. Eastley is also a preseason all-American.

"We're showing improvement," Leuzinger coach Jon Wynn said. "We hope we can do our best. We have some tough teams in our league."

The Olympians began their season at home on September 2 in a non-league match against cross town rival Lawndale. Leuzinger soundly defeated the Cardinals 25-8, 25-14, 25-13. Ruiz sparked Leuzinger with 11 ace serves and six assists. Waters and Marcella Castro each recorded six kills.

Like other small school first-year programs, Wiseburn-Da Vinci is mostly young and inexperienced and struggling. The Wolves are 0-5 overall. Besides their loss to Leuzinger in the Venice Classic, the Wolves also were swept by the host Gondoliers 25-10, 25-18; Banning Leuzinger setter Briana Salas sets to Aiko Waters in Saturday's Venice Girls' Volleyball Tournament action against Wiseburn-Da Vinci from Hawthorne. The Olympians swept Wiseburn-Da Vinci, which is fielding girls' volleyball for the first time.

Erica Bentley of Wiseburn-Da Vinci High hits ball to the Leuzinger side in Saturday's Venice Girls' Volleyball Tournament action.

25-5, 25-14; and Cleveland 25-18, 25-10.

"We have mostly players who have not played before," Wiseburn-Da Vinci head coach Corey Halaudy said.

The Wolves are mostly young, led by junior outside hitter Brianna Willis and sophomore outside hitter Stefany Diaz-Huete. Wiseburn-Da Vinci had one earlier non-league game against cross town rival Hawthorne Math and Science Academy on September 3 at the Betty Ainsworth Gymnasium. The Aviators swept the Wolves 25-11, 25-14, 25-8.

Wiseburn-Da Vinci will play in the Mulholland League with defending league champion Pacific Lutheran from Gardena, Shalvahet of Los Angeles, Inglewood Animo Leadership, Hawthorne Math and Science Academy and Ambassador Christian from Torrance.

The Wolves visited Summit View West in L.A. on Tuesday. They begin league at Ambassador Christian next Wednesday at 3:15 p.m. Leuzinger had non-league matches at Lynwood on Monday and Orangewood Academy Wednesday before hosting rival Hawthorne next Tuesday at 3:15 p.m. The Olympians begin the Pioneer at West Torrance next Thursday.

LAWNDALE ROUTS LEUZINGER

After a disappointing season-opening 33-21 home loss to South Torrance on September 4, the Cardinals rebounded in a big fashion by upsetting highly regarded Encino Crespi 35-19 a week later at Lawndale. At Lawndale last Friday, the Cardinals rolled to their second consecutive non-league victory over cross town rival Leuzinger 42-14.

Lawndale, which improved to 2-1, used an effective running game with 353 yards on the ground. Zach Cooper rushed for 183 yards and three touchdowns on 15 carries, and Bryant Perkinson ran for 145 yards and two TD's on eight carries. The Cardinals dominated the Olympians (0-3) in building a 42-0 lead in the third quarter before Leuzinger closed out the game with two touchdowns.

Cooper scored on a pair of 64-yard runs and a 13-yard run. Perkinson added a 56-yard scoring run in the first quarter that helped Lawndale lead 14-0, then building that advantage to 28-0 by halftime. For the Olympians, quarterback Malik Jackson threw for a pair of second half passes of 39 yards to sophomore wide receiver Andre Hunt and 70 to Talip Culpepper.

Lawndale visits Peninsula High in Rolling Hills Estates Friday at 3 p.m. The Panthers are 1-2 after picking up their first win over Torrance 13-7 Friday at Peninsula. Leuzinger has an off week before its home Mayor's Cup rivalry against Hawthorne on October 2 at 7 p.m.

BANNING ROUTS HAWTHORNE; INGLEWOOD EDGES BELL

Hawthorne High's football team is 0-3 after getting routed by Banning High from Wilmington 47-6 in non-league play last Friday at Hawthorne. Things will not get any easier for the Cougars as they visit Golden Valley High at Canyon Country High in Santa Clarita tonight at 7 p.m.

Inglewood High's football team won its first game of the season over host Bell 21-20 last Friday. The Sentinels (1-2) will host North Torrance in non-league play at Coleman Stadium tonight at 7 p.m. The Saxons (3-1), led by dominating all-around player Mique Juarez, won their third straight game over Ojai Nordhoff 49-0 last Friday at North. •

3 Steps To Prepare Your Credit For Homeownership

(BPT) - Homeownership is a dream for many Americans, and maybe it's one of yours as well. Making this dream a reality requires hard work, dedication and the proper preparation. You must figure out where you want to live, what type of home you desire, what you can afford and also how your credit rating may impact your home-purchasing goals.

Your credit rating can play an important role in the home buying process, and your creditworthiness could also affect the amount that you can borrow, the interest rates you will qualify for and your ability to obtain a mortgage loan in the first place.

"A consumer's credit is one of the biggest factors that goes into the mortgage-application process," says Eric Hamilton, President of Vanderbilt Mortgage and Finance, Inc. "Before applying for a loan, it is crucial to get your credit in the best shape you possibly can."

To help you build good credit and increase your ability to obtain better loan terms, Vanderbilt Mortgage and Finance, Inc. offers these tips for improving your credit:

Pay Your Bills On Time

Late or missed payments on any of your credit accounts, such as credit cards, mortgages and other loans, could cause a drop in your credit score. To prevent this, make your payments on time. Making additional payments whenever possible and paying extra toward the principal balance will also help to keep a good payment history and decrease the payoff timeline. Using an Extra Principal Payment Calculator tool can also help you calculate the savings that come with paying extra - generating additional motivation to do so.

Minimize Any Outstanding Debt And Keep Existing Debt Manageable

Paying your statement balances in full instead of letting debt accumulate can improve your credit scores, which may result in better terms being offered from lenders. Lenders often check your credit report when you apply for a loan and measure the amount of debt you're carrying against the loan amount they've requested. Excessive debt is one of the factors that could cause a lender to decline your application.

Avoid Applying For Unnecessary Credit

Credit applications can appear as inquiries on credit reports, which may suggest to lenders that an applicant is taking on additional debt. Be aware of advertising or sales promotions that offer purchase discounts if you apply for a credit card. Even these cards could show up as inquiries on your credit report. These inquiries remain on credit reports for two years. Instead of applying for additional credit, use your existing lines of credit to showcase your responsible credit management by paying bills on time and paying off the debt quickly.

"There are a lot of steps you can take to improve your credit, but it's important to remember that credit scores don't change overnight," says Hamilton. "It takes time to increase your credit rating, and while it may feel like a slow-moving effort, it is well worth the wait when you get to open the door to a home of your own for you and your family." •

The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. If the Trustee is unable to convey title for any reason, the successful bidder's sole and exclusive remedy shall be the return of monies paid to the Trustee and the successful bidder shall have no further recourse.
