City Council Addresses Legalized Marijuana, City Issues in New Year

By Derrick Deane

In its only meeting of the month on December 13, the Hawthorne City Council turned its attention to major issues to be discussed in 2017. Topics ranged from how the City of Hawthorne plans to address the recent legalization of marijuana to code enforcement and the ongoing concerns about parking.

The Council, led by a request from Mayor Pro Tem Angie Reyes English, will look at neighboring South Bay cities to see how those are dealing with the upcoming legalization of marijuana before Hawthorne moves forward on the matter. “There’s been a lot of emails to all of us and some time ago when we brought up this item and brought it to a vote, there were some concerns having to do with medical purposes and making that be an easy process in coming through for delivery to patients especially that can’t drive,” Reyes English said. “How are we going to at some point provide language somewhere to address those concerns?”

Reyes English agreed that more information would be needed from local cities that “have a similar predicament” before distinct and specific language could be drafted to amend the City ordinance. “We’re not trying to hinder anything,” she said. “I’m trying to be sensitive to the needs of those that are medically challenged and are in need of it for medical purposes. That’s my concern. I think it’s important that we all collaborate and make efforts to address those similarities and provide language in hopes of coming to a compromise and drafting a policy.”

Mayor Alex Vargas followed in agreement with Reyes English, noting that the Council needed more information on potential impacts before moving forward with a policy. “We need to find out what it’s telling us to do, what we don’t have to do,” he said. “I have concerns because sometimes what the state or special interests asks us to do or proposes are not necessarily a benefit to society.” Vargas added that former mayor Chris Brown is now “in the business of weed cultivation.”

“We have people who invested in Hawthorne, bought property, rented and chose to live in Hawthorne...”

In his closing statement, Vargas mentioned a few other code enforcement issues that he would like to see the City address in the upcoming year, specifically between 130th Street and 135th Street and Hawthorne Boulevard. “We need to start getting control over that,” he said. “I know that there’s an issue with people who are transients or homeless--but the thing is we’re trying to be benevolent, but our obligation is to the residents of Hawthorne. We have people who invested in Hawthorne, bought property, rented and chose to live in Hawthorne...and Hawthorne isn’t going to be the place that people go just to camp out wherever they want.”

Vargas tempered his straightforward comment by adding, “Sometimes the people that are out are people who refuse assistance. That’s the bottom line.”

The Mayor also wanted the City to address littering and weed abatement. “We need to look at our code enforcement for the next year and see what our policies are and maybe we have to go around with a little bit of a heavier hand,” Vargas said. “Hawthorne is changing successfully in the right direction. We’ve been able to start the turnaround with the different projects that we have in the city, but in the meantime we need to look at good intermediate development that we can have that can bring in sales tax and money and turn the situation around economically sooner than later.”

Following concerns raised by a resident earlier in the meeting, Vargas stated that he wanted the City to actively investigate parking along the southern section of Hawthorne Boulevard from around 138th Street to Rosecrans Boulevard. Businesses in that area appear to have seen a drop in revenue due to lack of parking for customers. “I’d like for us to actively review the use of parking on the southern part of Hawthorne Boulevard and to find out if the uses are appropriate--and if not, I would like for them to be addressed and shut down,” he said. “We have to have some control over what happens in our city. We can’t let things like this go on and turn a blind eye to things.”

Vargas closed the meeting by praising the other Council members for working together to push Hawthorne back on the road to recovery. “I want to congratulate every single one of my Council colleagues for working together. We might disagree sometimes, but in the end we come to the compromises needed to move the city along,” the Mayor said. •

Free Rain Barrel Distribution at The Forum on December 20

Catch the rain when it hits with a free rain barrel from West Basin Municipal Water District (West Basin). California has been in a statewide drought for five years, and likely a sixth. In response, West Basin is increasing public conservation and education by hosting no-cost rain barrel distribution events throughout the South Bay this fall season to qualified residents in the West Basin service area.

RSVP by visiting www.sbesc.com to participate on Tuesday, December 20 at The Forum in Inglewood.

To obtain additional information on West Basin's Rain Barrel Distribution Program, qualified residents must register with South Bay Environmental Services Center by visiting www.sbesc.com or calling 310-371-4633. West Basin's service area includes El Segundo, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Lawndale, Manhattan Beach and Torrance, among other communities. For additional information on other water conservation programs, visit www.westbasin.org •

Hawthorne Looks to Turn Tides in Ocean League

By Adam Serrao

The Hawthorne Cougars girls' basketball team has hit the hardwood to embark on another challenging season that players, fans and head coach Paul Mason all hope ends successfully this year. It has been a few years since the team can say it experienced a successful season, at least statistically, but a new year brings with it new opportunity. A young and athletic roster combined with a first-year head coach in Mason may just be what the Lady Cougars need to provide the team with a winning recipe.

The 2012-'13 season was the last time the Lady Cougars girls had a positive record at the end of the year. That season, the team finished with a 15-13 mark and went 7-3 in league play--good enough for a second place finish in the Ocean League standings and a playoff berth. Though the Lady Cougars have had playoff potential in the recent past and have often made it into the first round of the CIF postseason, they've consistently had trouble getting past that hurdle.

Last season was one full of ups and downs for Hawthorne. After opening the year with two straight losses, the Lady Cougars rattled off a six-game winning streak to keep themselves in contention. A less-than-stellar league play season followed, in which the girls went 2-8 overall--beating the likes of only Beverly Hills in a 46-8 blowout, and Santa Monica. The team's poor record within its own division dropped Hawthorne down in the standings. A fifth place finish out of six teams isn't necessarily where the Lady Cougars envisioned they'd be at the end of the season, but their standing was still good enough to get them into the playoffs. A first round date with Cerritos ended in a 67-25 loss, concluding Hawthorne's season rather abruptly, but the team is back this year and ready to improve on last year.

The Lady Cougars will have to get the job done this time without the services of six departing seniors who were on the team a year ago. Three of those seniors include captains Brianna Anderson, Tiffany Harris and Kierra Wilder. Returning to the team, however, is junior guard Brianna Mendoza, who will be joined by newly appointed captains Diamond Mitchell and Gloria Jones. An entirely new crop of players (with the exception of Mendoza), in addition to a new head coach, may make the process of gelling together more trying than it might otherwise be.

That trying process reared its head in the Lady Cougars' first game of this season when they took a loss to Leuzinger in a rivalry match that ended with a final score of 90-4. The only points Hawthorne was able to muster came on one basket in the third quarter and another in the fourth quarter. Despite the horrific loss, the Lady Cougars were able to come out and forget about the past with a 56-31 win over

George Washington Prep. There's no telling what the rest of the season will have in store of Hawthorne, but more games like the one against George Washington and less like the one versus Leuzinger would make everyone involved very happy.

LAWNDALE HIGH

The Lawndale Cardinals girls' basketball team is coming off of an extremely successful season within the Ocean League. The Lady Cardinals put up a 7-3 record in league play and finished in second place in the overall standings. Lawndale seems to be contending with the Culver City Centaurs every year. Their rivals have finished in first place and won the Ocean League title five seasons in a row now. Lawdale's head coach Anthony Gibson is confident that this will be the year that his team will overtake Culver City and finally capture an Ocean League title of its own.

Leading the charge for the Lady Cardinals will be a player that came over from the Hawthorne Lady Cougars. Summer Grant, who played well as a freshman last season, transferred to Lawndale for her sophomore year and will now join a roster full of talented seniors. Captains Jazzmin Oddie (forward) and Kamsi Metu (center) will lead a roster that also expects key contributions from Rejinae Crandall and Zyaire Nelson. Crandall was perhaps the team's most explosive player from a season ago. This year's season is already underway and the Lady Cardinals have gotten out to a slow start. A 1-3 record through the team's first four games should certainly improve, however, in what will be a long, competitive season.

INGLEWOOD HIGH

The Inglewood Sentinels girls' basketball team is longing for a season like the one it had in 2013-'14 when it finished in second place in the Ocean League standings and went all the way to the championship game of the CIF Division 3A playoffs. Since that time, the Lady Sentinels have not only transferred over to the Bay League, but have also only managed to win one game over the course of two entire basketball seasons. A combined record of 1-42 with only one league play win over Morningside has the girls' basketball team and its head coach Charles Michael Cain searching everywhere for answers.

If you've been around the Inglewood girls' basketball team over the last two seasons, then the beginning of this year didn't necessarily bode well either. The team has started off at 0-2 with losses to Marlborough (58-10) and Banning (44-27). Senior captain Chinyere Osuigwe will try to get things turned around for the team in what has the potential to be another very long season. The team will hope to get at least a few wins on the board this year and somehow stay out of the cellar of the Bay League standings. •

Butternut Squash Soup Shooters

For more seasonal recipe ideas, visit www.simplyorganic.com, provided by BPT.

Butternut squash soup turns shooter in this recipe featuring organic squash and curry powder.

Ingredients

- 2 teaspoons Simply Organic Curry Powder
- Simply Organic Crushed Red Pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or olive oil
- 1 medium onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 4 celery stalks, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 3 garlic cloves, crushed and chopped
- 1 3-pound butternut squash, peeled and cubed (about 5 cups)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 5 cups vegetable broth (or a water and broth combo, if desired)
- 1 cup canned coconut milk
- fresh cilantro, for garnish
- cooked chickpeas, for garnish

Preparation

1. In a large stock pot, over medium heat, melt the butter or heat the oil. Add the onion and celery. Cook for four to five minutes, until the onions are translucent and the vegetables “sweat.”
2. Stirring frequently, add the garlic and cook for one minute, until fragrant. Add the butternut squash, salt and curry powder. Stir.
3. Add the vegetable broth and bring to a boil. Then reduce to a simmer and allow to cook for 25 to 30 minutes, until the butternut cubes are soft when pierced with a fork.
4. Into the soup, stir coconut milk, then remove the soup from the heat. Using an immersion blender, blend the soup until smooth and creamy. Serve in shot glasses with a garnish of cilantro, chickpeas and red pepper flakes.

5 Ways to Find Extra Money During the Holidays

(BPT) - The holidays are here again. It's that time of year when you get together with family and friends, take some time away from work and live out the definition of "it's better to give than receive." And, if you're like many Americans, this is also the season when you give a little too much and find yourself over budget on your holiday spending.

Research from MagnifyMoney shows Americans incur $986 in additional debt throughout the holiday season, money they are then forced to pay off during the new year. If you've had problems with holiday-induced debt in the past and you've tried - and failed - to stem your holiday spending, take a different route this year and see if you can generate extra money to cover those increased holiday expenses. You can do it in a short period of time, so here are a few tips to get you started.

Clean house. As you're picking up your house and getting ready for guests to come over, take a good look under the couch cushions for spare change, and don't forget all those things you're moving to the basement. Add up that spare change to put toward your holiday budget. And, could you move some of your possessions out the door instead? Craigslist, eBay and Facebook all make selling your old possessions easier than ever. And don't forgo the traditional garage sale - one successful Saturday could give you the money you need to enjoy the holidays without debt concerns.

More money than you think. The money beneath your couch cushions may be worth more than you think. Research from Coinstar shows Americans, on average, believe they have $41 in spare change on hand. However, Coinstar's own nationwide kiosk data indicates the amount of spare change consumers have on hand is even more than that. Bring your spare coins to a Coinstar kiosk today and trade them for cash or no-fee eGift cards to retailers such as Amazon, Nike and Best Buy. On average, people cash in $68 when they convert their coins to no-fee eGift cards. Whether you keep the cards for yourself or give them as gifts is up to you.

Take a seasonal job. If you want a little extra money and a short time commitment, seasonal employment during the holidays is a great idea. Retailers across the country are looking to bolster their staff for the holiday season and you can enter this environment with minimal training and hit the ground running - especially if you have prior retail experience. Choose a product you're passionate about and it's a win-win, just make sure you don't spend all of your earnings before you leave the store.

Cash in those unwanted gift cards. Nearly three in four consumers have unwanted gift cards lying around because they are for stores that are too far away, or places they've never shopped before. If you're one of them, turn those cards into cash you can use. Coinstar Exchange allows you to exchange those unwanted gift cards for cash so you can tackle that holiday shopping list without debt concerns.

Cash in your credit card points. When you're shopping for a new credit card, reward points are a big deal in your consideration. But how often do you use them? Research shows that Americans rake in $48 billion worth of credit card points each year, yet only $32 billion are redeemed. The holidays are the perfect time to redeem those points, so don't forget to use them and find that extra cash you've been missing.

The holiday season is a wonderful time of year and it's more enjoyable if it doesn't leave you with lingering debt. So start preparing your extra revenue streams today and give yourself the gift of a happy, debt-free holiday. To learn more about how Coinstar can provide you the extra income you need this holiday season, visit www.coinstar.com. •

Bambi

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway in Redondo Beach from noon-3: 30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one!

"Hi, my name is Bambi and I was named that because my huge, dark eyes are fringed with luxurious eyelashes. Well, that's what everyone is telling me but I'm not sure what luxurious means. I do have a lot of eyelashes though! I'm a three-year old, female purebred Miniature Schnauzer who wants to be your best friend and companion. I was rescued from an LA County shelter after I got lost and the shelter folks found me. They called me a stray, but I really just took a wrong turn when out for a walk. Someone was going to adopt me, but they must have changed their mind because no one ever came for me and I was so disappointed. I get along well with other dogs and I'm super nice to everyone because I enjoy having friends. I'm about 18 pounds, but I can assure you it's all sweetness and pure love. I know that once you see me, you'll just have to make me a member of your family." If you are interested in Bambi, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Let me introduce myself...I'm Eugene, a three-year old, male purebred Miniature Schnauzer. One night, my brother Banks and I decided to go for a walk and visit some pals. The next thing we knew, we were at an Inland Empire shelter and we were labeled as strays. So much for socialization! My brother found a great home, but I'm still looking for someone to share my life with. I love hanging out with other dogs and easily make friends. I'm only 21 pounds--so even though I'm big enough to play, I am also easily transportable. Originally the shelter folks said I was four years of age, but the general consensus is that I act more like a three-year-old than a four. If you're looking for a handsome guy to enrich your life, I definitely would be the perfect companion for you!" If you are interested in Eugene, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Did you know that the name Carly is of English origin and means "little and strong?" Well, I'm here to tell you that I have earned my name. I'm a one-year old, female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer. I have lovely natural ears that stand up and a natural plume of a tail. My favorite pastime is playing ball and if you want to play with me, I'll be your friend for life. I'm just a bit of gal--only 12-pounds--and that's why I'm skittish around small children. They just move too quickly to suit me. I was rescued from an LA County shelter after being brought in as a stray and that was quite an experience. They put a

Carly

Eugene

"caution" label on my kennel card because if I feel confronted by other dogs, I won't shy away. That said, I do get along fine with the submissive ones. When I'm with people, like my rescuers and my foster family, my true loving temperament shines through. I'm very sweet and good with people--but when I'm in unfamiliar territory, like the vet's, I have a tendency to stand my ground. I also have to admit that when I'm anxious, I can be a little bit of bully. So I think I would do best as an only dog in a home without children." If you are interested in Carly, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Hi there, I'm Eric! I'm a five-year old, male Miniature Schnauzer--and maybe Shih Tzu mix. It was kind of hard to tell what I was when I first arrived at an LA shelter as a stray because I was extremely neglected. In fact, I looked about five pounds heavier than my weight of 10 pounds with all the matting and my dreadlocks. As hard as they tried, I still had to be shaved down--but not to worry... my coat is growing in nicely. After a trip to the veterinarian for neutering, a dental (now my pearly whites really are) and breed evaluation, I'm ready to find a forever home. It was decided that since I'm a tiny guy with a bit of a longer body, definitely a non-shedder, the best guess is that I'm a Schnauzer/Shih Tzu mix! We're certain that I'm a real cutie who gets along great with other dogs and I'm a quiet little fellow." If you're interested in Eric, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Lotus and her new family. Lotus battled stomatitis for eight months trying to save her teeth, but unfortunately a couple of weeks ago she had to have all her teeth removed. She and her folks met on the first day she was available--and even though they actually came to see Clay, they fell head over heels for this sweet gal. These long-time Schnauzer lovers, who recently lost their 16-year old Schnauzer, are the perfect match for Lotus. One of her dads works from home, so she'll have love and attention 24/7. After her long battle with her ailments, it truly is a "happy tail" for her with her health issues resolved and a home where she'll be adored. •
