Wiseburn School Board Welcomes Back Three of Its Veteran Members

By Duane Plank

In many school districts across the state, the first, and for some, only board meeting in December that follows an early November election date will include the swearing in of newly elected members, as well as a shuffling of duties. Not so this time around in the Wiseburn Unified School District (WUSD). The School Board returns intact as it head towards 2019. Three Board slots were up for grabs in the recent Nov. 6 election, but current members Roger Banuelos, Israel Mora and Nelson Martinez ran unopposed on the ballot, so all returned for another term.

JoAnne Kaneda returns as the president for another year, with Banuelos continuing as the vice president/clerk. The Board also selected members to fill slots for the upcoming year on multiple committees on which the District serves. There were no special presentations on the evening’s agenda, which Superintendent Dr. Blake Silvers said is standard for the District’s December meeting.

Members of the public approached the Board at the beginning of the 80-minute meeting, with topics including the successful synergy achieved between the District K-8 campuses and Da Vinci; the concern of some parents regarding a perceived safety issue, specifically at Anza Elementary; and the wish to improve communication between the District and parents regarding agendas at upcoming PTA meetings.

Siobhan Scott, representing the group Wiseburn Watch, voiced her group’s concerns about traffic safety issues that she said are currently taking place surrounding District schools. Ms. Scott cited multiple vehicle accidents that have occurred during drop-off and pick-up times. She said she will “form a committee in January” of community members to “make sure we get a light” at the intersection of Utah and Douglas streets. “We are not going to wait for our kids to be killed,” she said.

In member reports, Neil Goldman, a participant at the recent California School Board Association conference in San Francisco, which he termed “very productive,” touted new state-of-the art practices unpacked at the conference. He mentioned best practices that were articulated, including dealing with funding issues that are paramount for districts to continue to achieve financial solvency.

Mora encouraged all to attend tonight’s (Dec. 20) District open house for the pool and gym site on the Douglas property, and highly recommended that interested folks avail themselves of touring the Da Vinci facilities.

Banuelos echoed earlier member comments, adding that “our students are getting one of the best educations in the country.” Kaneda then noted it was a “time to pause and look back, but also time to look forward.” She said that a lot of the same people are here, maybe in different roles,” but added that “we make each other better, together. I applaud all of you, thanks for a wonderful set of years.”

Next to report was Chief Business Official Dave Wilson, who noted a recent article published by the Daily Breeze that spoke of alleged financial woes that are or will be plaguing California school districts, including Wiseburn.

Wilson disputed the findings of the article author, saying that that the reporter had written a piece that was “misleading and inaccurate in its analysis.” He explained certain budget numbers that the author had used were dubious, calling the findings “completely inaccurate, misleading and baseless.”

During his report, Silvers said this was “the thanking time of year,” giving his regards to school principals and mentioning how inspired he had been during his recent trips to tour elementary campuses. He also gave high praise to his administrative assistant Wendy Tsubaki, who, he said, “sits over there quietly [at the meetings].” He noted how she has helped him navigate the first five months of his tenure as superintendent.

Silvers also mentioned that the District is steadfastly working on developing its long-range facility master plan, which includes working with Actus Consulting and their expert David Klug, an active police officer, who provides threat assessment strategies and emergency response options, Klug has walked all the sites and provides recommendations concerning site safety, with the District working in conjunction with architects to make those “safer.”

Post the member and administration reports, the Board then got down to the brass tacks of the meeting, giving their qualified approval to the twice-pulled from the agenda joint-use agreement with the City of El Segundo regarding the Aquatics Center. The Board approved the agreement, with the stipulation that the final verbiage was still to be negotiated.

Also approved was an agreement with planning experts LPA to work with the District to develop the long-term master facilities plan for a cost not to exceed $137,500. Silvers explained how LPA was selected, calling the firm “our best fit” and reporting that a safety audit had been performed, with Klug making recommendations about improving safety barriers – with many of them concerning entry and exit points at all District sites. Silvers foresees the development of a “very comprehensive master plan.”

Wilson later spoke about the positive certification for the mandated filing of Wiseburn’s first-interim financial report.

In other news, the District recognized and appreciated the musical talents of students earlier this week, with events including the Wiseburn/Da Vinci Winter Concert featuring the Dana Middle School Beginning and Advanced Orchestras; the WUSD Elementary Strings; the Da Vince Studio Orchestra; and Da Vinci Rock Bands. The following evening, the WUSD Winter Concert was presented at Dana and featured the WUSD Elementary Band, the Dana Concert Band, the Dana Symphonic Band, and the Dana Singers choir. Silvers lauded the efforts of all involved in the musical program: “We have a phenomenal music program -- it is great to see the kids on stage,” he said.

The winter break commences tomorrow as the dismissal bell rings, with the next Wiseburn School Board meeting set for Thursday evening, Jan. 10. •

Stargirl by Jerry Spinelli

By Jasmine Rahman, Library Assistant

Stargirl is probably not a title that you recognize at your local library’s shelf and it could possibly be because author Jerry Spinelli decided to represent the title with pictures instead of words. This results in a small yellow star and a stick figure of a girl, which represent the title, Stargirl. This may be confusing to the readers, but the pictures in the title are worth a thousand words.

Stargirl by Jerry Spinelli

Stargirl. You probably never met a girl like her. She comes to school in strange outfits, dances around the cafeteria with her ukulele, and sings happy birthday to every student when it’s their birthday. The students find it very strange and they start to reject her. They call her a fake and even start spreading rumors about her. But it doesn’t take long for Stargirl to gain popularity once she joins the cheerleading squad. Suddenly, people want to mimic everything she does. She even stole ordinary Leo Borlock’s heart with one smile. But is Leo the right one for her? Leo is the exact opposite of Stargirl. He’ll do whatever it takes to conform to the peers in his society and not be...weird. He is stuck between choosing to live “normal” or be different with Stargirl. Before you know it, Stargirl’s popularity doesn’t last too long. Stargirl is suddenly neglected for her every move that makes her different from her peers. Leo, panicked and vulnerable, encourages her to do the thing she hates most: being “normal.”

This Young Adult novel was a weird read, but in a positive way where the main character breaks the “normal” standards of her generation. Spinelli did a great job exposing the difficulties that a young teenager can face. It’s not easy being yourself in an environment where everyone expects you to be just like them. I loved this book because the main character was a free spirit and always did what she believed in. She disregarded how others judged her, which we don’t see too often in this generation. People will do anything these days to fit in even if it means to lose their true selves.

Spinelli does an astonishing job tying the cover of the book with what he wants the readers to take from the story. He wanted to be different with his title, so he used pictures to represent his title instead of words. He leaves an impression on the readers to never be ordinary, but to always be different and stay true to yourself.

If Beale Street Could Talk: Keeping Love Alive

By Morgan Rojas
for www.cinemacy.com

If there are any people who still believe that La La Land should have taken home the Best Picture Oscar, Barry Jenkins has reminded us why he deserved that divisive win. While Damien Chazelle’s Neil Armstrong biopic, First Man, received lukewarm

Unlike Moonlight, however, Beale Street jumps the narrative timeline and instead floats in and out of Tish and Fonny’s life together and apart. Another inventive technique is how the characters share their intimate conversations of distress and longing while looking directly into the camera. They address each other while visually addressing the audience, which can reviews across the board, Jenkins has done the seemingly impossible in his follow-up feature to Moonlight by creating an equally moving and beautiful portrait with a familiar theme: love triumphs above everything else. Adapted from James Baldwin’s 1974 novel, If Beale Street Could Talk is another instant classic as it tackles the radically unjust racial stereotype of being a black man in 1970s America and the lengths a young woman is willing to go for the love of her life.

Tish Rivers (KiKi Layne) and Alonzo “Fonny” Hunt (Stephan James) were childhood best friends whose sweet friendship blossomed into a loving relationship as they grew into young adults. Tish is a gentle, innocent soul with a personality that perfectly complements the gentlemanly gestures of Fonny’s genuine love. Although they are young -- Tish in her late teens and Fonny in his early twenties -- they have big plans and dreams for their future, which now includes a baby. But on the night Tish announces she is pregnant, a cause worthy of celebration, she is also dealing with the reality that her soulmate and best friend is sitting in a prison cell for a crime he didn’t commit.

The magic that Barry Jenkins captured in Moonlight is back in Beale Street and, any way you look at it, this film radiates beauty. The original score by Academy Award-nominated composer Nicholas Britell is layered with methodical orchestral sounds of bold strings and classical piano. Each strum of the bow tells its own heartbreaking and emotive story. Musically, this is the most powerful film of 2018. Visually, cinematographer James Laxton continues to create art within every frame. Laxton, who worked with Jenkins on Moonlight, brings the same intimacy and dreaminess that made him an Academy Award nominee back to the big screen (and another nomination seems obvious).

feel jarring at first. However, this tactic brings the story closer to home, which prompts the audience into an indirect yet burning desire to emotionally support Tish and her family in helping clear Fonny’s name. This voluntary obligation stems directly from these intimate conversations, showcasing the power of words and the passionate people behind them.

If Beale Street Could Talk is a cinematic masterpiece and the complete package: a powerful cast of mostly newcomers to the screen, a story that hits the emotional pinpoints, and a superb filmmaking team behind the scenes. Stephan James quietly commands the picture as a role model for men, and KiKi Layne equally captivates in her feature film debut. Powerful supporting performances from Brian Tyree Henry, Colman Domingo and Dave Franco add to its emotional impact. When watching If Beale Street Could Talk, prepare to be engulfed in emotions as you witness the pureness and fragility of true love.

If Beale Street Could Talk is rated R for language and some sexual content. 119 minutes. Now Playing at ArcLight Hollywood and the Landmark, expanding on Christmas Day. •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

WINTER WONDERLAND

It's finally here. The Parks and Recreation and Community Services Department of the City of Hawthorne's Winter Wonderland had snow, games, gifts, food, fun and a real Santa and Ms. Claus. It's this Thursday, December 20th from 5 to 9 p.m. at the Memorial Center and Park. Tickets can be purchased at the gate, but be sure to get there early, the line was long last year. Start your Christmas celebration off with a great family activity. Thank you City of Hawthorne for putting on such a nice event.

HAWTHORNE HISTORICAL SOCIETY ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

An election for the 2019 officers of the Hawthorne Historical Society took place recently. The following Hawthorne residents were elected: President: Bob Jensen, VP: Pam Fees, Secretary: Sue King, Treasurer: Richard F. Huhn. Board members: Jim Phillips, Lee Leonard, Al Richards, Tim Hagerty, Loretta Hagerty. The new leadership looks forward to increasing membership in the Society and undertaking many new projects in 2019. Congratulations to the new board and celebrate Hawthorne past, present and future.

TIME TO QUIT? NO IT'S A TIME TO CELEBRATE!

Maybe, just maybe, the end of 2018 would be a good time for me to hang up this Hawthorne Happenings gig. It's been a good run. You've heard all of my spiel. Hearing me tell you to relax and enjoy life gets old after a while. Maybe the handwriting is on the wall, maybe my time has come and gone. There is a time to be stupid and time to just shut up. Like it says in the book of Ecclesiastes: "There is a time for everything, and a season for every activity under the heavens: a time to be born and a time to die, a time to plant and a time to uproot, a time to kill and a time to heal, a time to tear down and a time to build, a time to weep and a time to laugh, a time to mourn and a time to dance, a time to scatter stones and a time to gather them, a time to embrace and a time to refrain from embracing, a time to search and a time to give up, a time to keep and a time to throw away, a time to tear and a time to mend, a time to be silent and a time to speak, a time to love and a time to hate, a time for war and a time for peace." Ecclesiastes 3:1-8. Tell me Christmas is not a time to quit. Tell me to just have a cold one and forget about quitting. Now is not the time to stress out about things. It's a time to celebrate, celebrate the birth of Jesus, our Savior. It's a time to enjoy family, friends, food, and yes football. Okay, you have convinced me to come back for another week. Now, enjoy, be full of joy, don't be a quitter, don't give up, rejoice and be glad, have a cold one, remember that God loves you just the way you are so you can love and accept others just the way they are, and finally, have a Blessed, Merry, Cheery, Christmas celebration.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF:
CORAZON PE BENITO MILAN AKA CORAZON LAUGUICO
CASE NO. 18STPB11118

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of CORAZON PE BENITO MILAN AKA CORAZON LAUGUICO. A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by RAMON M. ESPIRITU in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES. THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that RAMON M. ESPIRITU be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent. THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority. A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 01/07/19 at 8:30AM in Dept. 99 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012 IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder’s office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. Holiday Cut-out Sugar Cookies

Recipe provided by Brandpoint

Ingredients

Cookies:

- 3/4 cup butter (softened)
- 3/4 cup vegetable oil
- 1 cup white sugar
- 2 Egglard’s Best Eggs (large)
- 2 teaspoons vanilla extract
- 1/2 cup sour cream
- 6 cups white flour
- 4 teaspoons baking powder
- 1 teaspoon salt

Frosting:

- 1/2 cup vegetable shortening
- 3 1/2 cups powdered sugar
- pinch of salt
- 1/3 cup Egglard’s Best Liquid Egg Whites
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- small squeeze of lemon juice

Preparation

Cookies:

- In a large mixing bowl with a hand mixer or in a stand mixer with a paddle attachment, cream together the butter, shortening and sugar until fluffy and pale in color.
- Add in the eggs, vanilla and sour cream and mix until combined.
- Add the baking powder, salt and flour (one cup at a time), mixing until everything is evenly incorporated.
- Cover and chill the dough, preferably overnight for best results.
- Preheat the oven to 350 F. On a lightly floured surface roll the dough out to a 1/4- or 1/2-inch thickness.
- Cut into holiday shapes with a cookie cutter.
- Transfer cookies to a lightly greased cookie sheet and bake for 10 minutes. Remove from oven and move cookies to a rack to cool.

Frosting:

- In a large mixing bowl with a hand mixer or in a stand mixer with a paddle attachment, cream the butter until fluffy.
- Add the confectioners’ sugar, 1 cup at a time, and mix until combined.
- Add the salt, egg whites, vanilla and lemon juice and beat until ingredients are incorporated.
- Spread over cooled cookies, sprinkle with colored sugar and serve immediately.

New Restrictions on DUIs, HOV Lanes Coming on January 1

By Rob McCarthy

Get locked up, then locked out. That’ll be the consequence next year when California requires drunken-driving offenders to install breathalyzer devices on vehicles to prevent them from starting when the driver had too much to drink. The law expands on a pilot program used by Los Angeles County courts that supporters say can catch and stop repeat DUIs before they happen.

The new restriction will be placed on drivers following a DUI conviction for alcohol or a combination of drugs and alcohol. A person convicted of a DUI who installs an ignition lockout device on their primary vehicle can qualify for a restricted driver’s license. This allows them to drive to work and school while they serve their sentence or probation as long as they don’t commit another DUI.

The breathalyzer device must stay in the vehicle for 12 to 24 months. Tampering or removing the lockout device would result in immediate suspension of a driving privilege. Lawmakers have tried to balance public safety from impaired drivers with a punishment that is effective, yet more lenient.

Under existing motor vehicle law, first-time DUI offenders who cause an injury lose their driving privileges when their blood alcohol level exceeds the legal limit of 0.08 percent. Commercial drivers with ridesharing services, including Uber and Lyft, are considered over the limit at 0.04 percent.

Several new rules of the road are coming on Jan. 1. However, none is more pressing than the ignition lockout requirement. Police and courts are in catchup mode since recreational marijuana was legalized. L.A. County recently secured a nearly $1 million grant to train prosecutors in drug-impaired DUI cases. The funding will pay for training for prosecutors who review deadly DUI cases and decide whether to charge a driver with vehicular homicide, according to the DA’s office.

Judges can order a first offender to install a lockout device for six months, even when no one was injured. A non-injury first offender who isn’t ordered to install an ignition lockout device may apply for a driver’s license that allows them to work and attend a DUI treatment program for 12 months.

Mothers Against Drunk Drivers supports passage of laws requiring ignition lockout devices for convicted drivers. The group cites statistics that drunken drivers break the law 80 times before they are arrested for a first time. More than two million drunk drivers had three or more convictions. MADD says.

An ignition interlock is a device about the size of a cell phone that is wired into the ignition system of a vehicle, according to MADD. A convicted drunk driver must blow into the device in order to start their vehicle. If they have a measurable amount of alcohol in their system, the vehicle will not start.

“It is a simple and economical way to make sure that offenders can drive to and from work, but that they can’t drive drunk,” the group says. Research by the Centers for Disease Control backs up MADD’s claim that ignition lockout devices deter a second DUI. States that passed the public safety legislation saw repeat drunk-driving offenses drop dramatically -- by almost two-thirds -- after passage.

DUI checkpoints are another deterrent, which is why the Hawthorne Police Department will be stopping drivers on Dec. 20 from 8 a.m. to 2 p.m. at an undisclosed location. Officers will be checking driver’s licenses and watching for signs of intoxication. The announcement about the checkpoint added a reminder that a DUI isn’t limited to alcohol. Medication counts too.

“If you take prescription drugs, particularly those with a driving or operating machinery warning on the label, you might be impaired enough to get a DUI. Marijuana can also be impairing, especially in combination with alcohol or other drugs, and can result in a DUI,” the Hawthorne Police Department said ahead of tonight’s checkpoint.

The high-occupancy-vehicle (HOV) lane isn’t automatically open to single drivers of a low- and zero-emissions cars starting Jan. 1. The green or white decal, which allows any alt-vehicle driver to use the diamond lane, expires on Jan. 1. Vehicles displaying the old stickers -- issued between Jan. 1, 2017 and March of this year -- no longer will have carte blanche use of the HOV lanes.

Affected vehicle owners are eligible to apply for a red decal that grants them access to HOV lanes through 2021. The DMV says it has notified vehicle owners by mail of the change and the department will issue replacement decals to display immediately on low- and zero-emission vehicles. A purple sticker for HOV access also is available for owners meeting income requirements who’ve participated in the Clean Vehicle Rebate Program. For eligibility and exceptions, visit the DMV’s Clean Air Vehicle Decals webpage or the California Air Resources Board website.

Other changes that will affect South Bay motorists and cyclists in the new year are:

Safety around trash trucks: When approaching or overtaking a rubbish collection truck with its amber lights flashing, drivers must move into an adjacent lane, if possible, and pass at a safe distance. If it is not possible, drivers must slow to a safe and reasonable speed, cautions the Highway Patrol. “This law provides a safety margin for sanitation workers while they are actively working,” a CHP news release says.

Bike path hit-and run: A driver involved in a collision resulting in death or injury to another party is required to stop at the scene. That requirement will apply to crashes on bikeways and allows authorities to hold individuals accountable for reckless behavior.

Bicycle helmets optional: Bicycle helmets are no longer required for riders of motorized scooters who are 18 or older. Motorized scooters may operate on bikeways and on highways with speed limits up to 25 miles per hour. Local jurisdictions may pass ordinances to allow motorized scooters on highways with speed limits up to 35 miles per hour. However, it is still illegal to operate a motorized scooter on a sidewalk.

Anyone under age 18 not wearing a helmet on a bicycle, scooter, skateboard or skates will receive a “fix-it” ticket. A citation is correctable if proof that the minor has completed a bicycle safety course and has a helmet that meets safety standards is presented within 120 days to the issuing law enforcement agency.

Vehicle exhaust violations: A fine will become mandatory when loud motor vehicles and motorcycles are cited. Previously, a driver or motorcyclist who was cited for modified or excessively loud exhaust or muffler systems could correct the violation to avoid a fine.

Gender on driver’s licenses: The new law allows individuals applying for a California driver license or identification card to self-certify their chosen gender category of male, female or nonbinary in the application. Applicants who select nonbinary will receive a card with an “X” in the gender category. •

Bring joy to your world. Bring a new best friend home this holiday season.

Priscilla is a small and squishy little doll. She loves to be held and flops down at your feet, begging for love. Priscilla becomes a limp noodle in your arms and wants to be carried anywhere you go. She loves to play with toys and does fine with other kitties too. Priscilla was found in a feral cat colony and was luckily rescued before she starved. She's a petite little girl, weighing just 5 pounds.

Bella is the cutest and most playful kitten! She has big, beautiful and curious green eyes and the softest fur. When she is not running around playing with her toys, or hiding in a box, you will find her taking a kitten nap with her "blue bear." Bella is full of curiosity and will follow you around the house and keep you company while playing with her toys. She is always camera-ready! At the end of the day Bella has one last play session, a bedtime meal and then falls asleep in her basket with her blanket and blue bear. Bella is a happy kitten and is ready for her loving, forever home.

Komomo is a kind, gentle, playful little boy. He and his sister were rescued in West LA and were love bugs from the moment they went to their foster home. Komomo will adapt easily to other pets. He is a joyful kitty who would be great paired with his sister or other friendly cats. Your heart will melt when you meet Komomo.

Komomo

Frida is an incredibly adorable, sweet kitty. Her "kitler" look makes her even more adorable. She is a little shy, but warms up to anyone with her favorite treats. Frida will sleep on your bed and purr in your arms once she knows you. She is extremely playful with her toys and other kittens. Wrestling and snuggling with other kittens are definitely among her favorite activities. Frida needs to be adopted into a home with another young kitty who will play with her and show her the ropes of her forever home.

Pandora is an adorable "plug and play" kitten. Just let her directly out of the carrier and she is good to go. No adjustment period needed! Pandora loves to play or get on your lap and slowly fall asleep as you caress her head. This stunning girl is a "Hemingway" or polydactyl kitten, meaning she has extra toes. They look like she has on mittens...so cute. Pandora gets along great with other cats and kittens and needs to have another cat or kitten to play with, as she is still developing her personality. She lives with several of her closest friends and her twin brother at our Adoption Center.

Archer is an adorable little pocket panther. He's got a panther swagger as well. Archer loves treats, crinkle balls and getting petted...not necessarily in that order. He's very quiet as far as kittens go and has the tiniest little meow. When you reach out to touch him, his little back arches with happiness. Archer will lean in to your touch and begin to purr. He would be the perfect companion for a single kitty in need of a (non-pushy) kitten friend. He has lived with several kittens and adult cats and gets along with everyone. And, if you are interested in adopting two fur babies, his friend Wyatt is also up for adoption.

Minnie is a sweet girl with a friendly, outgoing personality who is one in a litter of seven.

Bella

She enjoys toys and playing with her siblings and the other kitties at the sanctuary. She also likes to monitor the caretakers at the sanctuary and sneaks in to get attention while they are trying to clean. Minnie enjoys snuggling with her siblings at night and is hoping to be adopted with one of them.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Saving one animal won't change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. •

Pumpkin (19-00817): An 8-year-old domestic long-haired male cat.

“Hi, my name is Pumpkin and I am a super lovable cuddler! My favorite hobbies are playing, eating cat treats and sunning myself on the window. Stop by the South Bay Pet Adoption Center and visit me today!” More info: <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=19-00817>

Landon (19-01457): A 1-year-old male Pit Bull mix.

“Hi, I’m Landon! I am a sweet, handsome, smart young Pibble who would love to meet you! I’ve been working with middle school kids teaching them love and compassion. In return, they’ve taught me trust, bravery, and lots of neat tricks!” More info: <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=19-01457>

Spice (19-00818): A 6-year-old domestic short-haired female cat.

“My name is Spice and I’m a beautiful cat with a wonderful purrsonality. Come pet my fluffy coat and I know you’ll want to take me home and be my Friend for Life!” More info: <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=19-00818>

Harry (19-01382): A 3-year-old male Chihuahua mix.

“Arf! I’m Harry, a sweet boy who wants nothing more than to cuddle up with my new Friend for Life. I can’t wait to find my forever home where I can train with my family. Stop by for a visit and you’ll see how affectionate and loving I am!” More info: <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=19-01382> •

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!

Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
