Can We Get the Name Right At Least?

Story and Photos by Ron Sokol

First, what does the name mean? I sure thought it was simple, that it means “The Port.” This is why it has the name El Porto. The Spanish word for port is actually puerto. But wait a second; research shows the Portuguese word for port is porto, but its article is “o,” not “el.” Maybe the name came from both languages?

Bottom line: for sixty years the nearby area called El Porto was a county island, unincorporated and unattached. It was considered part of the El Segundo School District. Finally, in November 1980, El Porto, then about 34 acres with a population of approximately 1,185, was annexed from the County of Los Angeles by our neighboring City of Manhattan Beach. One article I read dubbed El Porto the region’s “worst wave.” Quite a few articles, however, say it is among the most popular beaches in the South Bay “with surfers from near and far because of an underwater canyon that creates waves usually larger than those at neighboring beaches...”

Once again, El Porto is a bit of an anomaly. Maybe it will make more sense by taking a look at its history. El Porto started in 1911 when landowner and developer George Peck subdivided 27 acres of ocean-front land between El Segundo and Manhattan Beach. He then posted sizeable advertisements about the new tract in the Los Angeles Times. The lots were designed by Mr. Peck so that each would abut a street in front of an alley in the rear. In time, the dirt streets would be given names. The main north-south pathway, Highland Avenue (aptly named), extended from then minimally populated Manhattan Beach toward El Segundo. Eventually, the east-west streets chose to utilize Manhattan’s numbering system; this covered 38th Street to 45th Street Crest Drive, which is a little west of the Chevron refinery.

Although today El Porto is (all things considered) a rather modest-sized stretch of territory, it is a destination, a place many people go to for shopping, eating, enjoying the beach, bicycling, and living. There is a dedicated parking lot, volleyball nets, swings, a sitting area adjacent to the bike path, restrooms, and a wonderful beach café where you can rent surfboards, among other items.

Obituaries

Charles Prescott Burton

On Sunday, August 27, 2023, Charles Prescott Burton (Scott) passed away unexpectedly in El Segundo, California. Scott was born in December 1972 to Marion and Charles G. Burton and raised in Fairfax, Virginia. After earning his Bachelor's degree in Communications from Virginia Tech, Scott headed west. But Scott, always one to go above and beyond, kept going until he landed in the Pacific Islands. Scott shuttled between Guam and Hawaii as he worked in several key roles for IBM / PriceWaterhouseCoopers. However, Scott's most impressive achievement was meeting the love of his life, Serena Cutler, at Duke's in Hawaii.

Scott loved the Southern California life-style and truly embraced every aspect of what it offered. After getting married, he and Serena chose the charming town of El Segundo to raise a family. Scott continued his business career there, becoming a beloved colleague at Acumen Solutions, Veeva Systems, and Salesforce.

Scott was an avid sports fan and loved cheering for the Washington Redskins (Commanders) and the Virginia Tech Hokies. He was the ultimate storyteller, with an infectious laugh that lit up every room. His passion for life, people, and adventures was contagious. Scott was the most loyal friend with a gift for connecting people. He created a wonderful circle of friends that spanned all stages of his life. He never met a stranger because every person in the world, to him, was just a friend he hadn't met yet.

Family was everything to Scott Burton. He loved and adored Serena and their children, Makena and Tanner, along with his beloved dogs. Fatherhood was his greatest accomplishment and perfected him. He beamed with pride when he spoke about his children. You would often find Scott on the sports fields of El Segundo, cheering on his children and their friends. He proudly served as a Board member for the El Segundo Little League and was the biggest cheerleader during the team's historic run to win the Little League World Series.

The loss of Scott is felt immeasurably by his family and everyone who loved him. Scott is survived by his wife Serena, daughter Makena and son Tanner, mother Marion Burton, sister Julie Burton Wiggins (Mark), nieces Katie, Emily, Anna, and Mary, father-in-law Bobby Cutler, several treasured cousins, and many friends. He was preceded in death by his father, Charles G. Burton. •

40th Annual Christmas Eve Dinner

This event was co-sponsored and hosted by the El Segundo Rotary Club and El Segundo Recreation, Parks & Library Department at the Joslyn Center. This year, approximately 100 residents enjoyed a free holiday meal, played some games for prizes while enjoying fellowship with others on Christmas Eve. Guests were served a holiday meal by Rotarians, a few community volunteers and some of El Segundo's finest firefighters. Also on hand, the founder of this event, Chris Sherrill, who came out of retirement to help serve the residents in attendance once again. Chris was recognized for her community contribution and 20-plus years of dedication to this very enjoyable community gathering.

The Second Half of 2023 Sports

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

We just welcomed the New Year, and with it, we said goodbye to 2023. It was a historic 12 months in sports for our community. It included CIF championships and a summer we'll never forget, thanks to a Little League All-Star team that captured the hearts of a nation. We looked back at the first half of 2023 sports, so, let's reminisce and relive the remainder of the history-making year.

June: Little League and Softball Crowns League Champions

The El Segundo Little League's season came to an end when three championship games decided the Major, Triple-A and Double-A level champions.

In front of an overflowing crowd, the Major Division Braves and Cardinals played an exciting game that was in doubt until the bottom of the sixth inning. That's when the Braves' Griffin Goshi hit a ground ball through the infield, scoring Ethan Mooney from third base, to give the Braves a 3-2 win for the championship. The Triple-A championship game came down to the last inning in another exciting contest. The Giants had a big first inning and then held on for a 9-8 win over the Padres. Trailing 9-7 in the sixth inning, the Padres' Hunter Zajicek singled and scored later on a ground ball by Kaden Perez to make it 9-8. With two outs, Levi Robinson hit a line drive up the middle only to have it caught by pitcher Wyatt Becker for the game-ending final out. The Double-A championship game had good pitching, great defense, and a grand slam. In front of nearly 300 fans, the Dodgers and Braves battled each other, but in the end, the Braves overcame an early five-run deficit to win it 11-10 on a walk-off hit by a pitch batter.

The El Segundo Girls Softball League celebrated its 57th year by crowning league champions in the 10U and 12U divisions. The 10U championship was a high-scoring affair won in the final inning. Trailing by five runs the Devils put together a winning rally climaxed by Harper Green delivering the winning two-run RBI single to win it 16-15. The 12U championship game was between the Iron Maidens and Bombers. The Iron Maidens put together three consecutive runs, producing innings to win 11-3.

The sixty-sixth season of the El Segundo Babe Ruth League wrapped up their regular season schedule. The post-season tournament culminated with the Angels winning the league championship.

July: Baseball Teams Advance to State Tournaments

Baseball continued to give us thrills at the State Tournaments. The El Segundo Little League team demonstrated how good they were by advancing to Southern California State Championship Tournament. The American

Hi, Koo! Written by Jon J Muth

By Cathie Hinkle-Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

The catchy title and cute panda on the cover of this book caught my eye. That it is a book written completely in Haiku made me pick it up. Haiku is a short poem, usually inspired by nature, that originated in Japan. It consists of three lines and these three lines are made up of 17 syllables in a 5,7,5 format.

This book tells the story of a panda who is experiencing a year of seasons starting with Fall, my personal favorite. The panda gazes up at leaves falling from the sky, broom in hand, and wonders what the leaves are dreaming about.

In Winter we find Panda dressed in bright red galoshes stomping through powdery white snow and exploring the white wilderness with two friends, a black cat and a red cardinal. The watercolor and ink illustrations capture the peacefulness of a winter walk with surprising pops of color from wildlife.

Spring is a time for new beginnings. Panda and friends venture outside to breathe in the air, spring sky and take time to read to some lucky sparrows.

Panda's year finishes with Summer. There are fireflies, friends and fun.

Our fuzzy friends' seasonal journey is imaginative and heartwarming, taking the reader on a beautifully illustrated peaceful poetic path.

As a bonus if you look closely while reading, you will find a hidden alphabetized path by following the capitalized words in each haiku.

Legion team advanced to their fifteenth American Legion California State Tournament.

The El Segundo Little League's 11-12 All-Star team breezed through the District 36 tournament, the Section 4 tournament, and the first three games of the Southern California State tournament. They had a record of 11-0 through their first eleven summer games and outscoring their opponents 92-9. But in the first elimination championship game against Sherman Oaks, the locals lost 4-3. It forced a championship game that saw El Segundo trailed 2-1 in the sixth inning. Brody Brooks homered to tie the game. Louis Lappe, who had singled and later ended up at third, scored on a passed ball, giving El Segundo the win and sending them to the Western Regional.

The El Segundo American Legion Blues faced some of the state's top American Legion teams after winning their league tournament. They faced East Bay (Antioch) in the opening round and won 11-4. In the second round, the Blues faced West Hills (Santee) and came from behind to win 7-5. In the third game, the Blues faced the Petaluma Leghorns, the four-time defending state champions, and put together an exciting 12-10 victory. Since the Blues were undefeated in tournament play, it meant the Yuba City Stripers would need to defeat El Segundo twice to win the championship. The Stripers did the unthinkable by handing the Blues an 11-1 loss in the first game and a 9-4 loss in the championship elimination game.

The Eagles finished their season 32-0 and captured the program's fourteenth CIF Southern Section title.

August: Little Leaguers Win World Series Title

The ESLL All-Stars advanced to the Little League Western Region as the Southern California representative for the first time in league history. In the opening round, El Segundo took advantage of a critical error that led to three unearned runs. Then they held on for a 4-3 win over the Northern California champion, Bollinger Canyon (San Ramon). In the second round El Segundo came up with four runs in the third inning and went to defeat Hilo, Hawaii, the defending champions 6-0.

El Segundo advanced to the finals of the Western Region that, had 8500 fans in attendance, and a national audience watching on ESPN at home. The pitching matchup between arguably two of the top 12-year-olds on the West Coast came to fruition. Bollinger Canyon's Brandon Manivong and El Segundo's Luis Lappe each throw into the mid-70s or an MLB equivalent mid to upper 90 MPH.

El Segundo scored three runs in the first inning, highlighted by Lucas Keldorf's two-run single off Manivong. It would be the only runs El Segundo would score, but with Lappe on the mound and Jaxon Kalish in relief El Segundo held on for a 3-1 win to advance to the Little League World Series.

Our community was mesmerized, along with the rest of the nation, by what twelve players and the three coaches accomplished at the Little League World Series. Playing in front of tens of thousands of fans and a national TV audience the stage was never too intimidating.

The El Segundo Little League All-Stars defeated a team from Curacao to win the 76th Little League World Series.

In the World Series opener El Segundo faced Great Lakes Region winner, New Albany from Ohio. Trailing 3-1 El Segundo came up with a three-run third inning on back-to-back home runs by Brody Brooks and Luis Lappe to win it 4-3 after weather-related issues in the fourth inning. In the second game, El Segundo faced Needville, Texas, the Southwest Region champion. Needville pitcher DJ Jablowski held El Segundo to four hits and handed El Segundo a 3-1 loss.

In the third game, El Segundo faced the Metro Region winners from Smithfield Little League from Smithfield, Rhode Island. It was a relatively easy 9-3 win. El Segundo faced Nolensville Little League from Nolensville, Tennessee, the Southeast Region champions, in another elimination game. Louis Lappe's two-run home run in the bottom of the fifth Curacao tied the game 5-5 on a fifth-inning grand slam. That would set up the Hollywood ending when Luis Lappe hit a walk-off home run in the bottom half of the sixth inning. It gave El Segundo Little League the 6-5 win and, with it, a lifetime of memories.

September: NSA Western National Championship and High School Sports Return

The 14U girls' softball team had an incredible run to win the NSA Western National Championship. El Segundo maneuvered through the double-elimination tournament undefeated to reach the finals. Trailing 7-6 in the bottom of the seventh inning, Sadie Gramajo scored the tying run on Jazzy Siagaran's RBI single. Maya league title and forty-eighth CIF playoff tournament appearance. In the quarter-finals against University (Irvine), there were 15 lead changes in an epic one-to-remember game that went into overtime. With eight seconds left, Cooper Albano sealed the victory with his third goal and an 18-16 victory. In the semi-finals against Yucaipa, the game was played in front of the largest water polo El Segundo home crowd in school history. Nolan Barnett led the Eagles with four goals, an assist, and three field blocks in the 9-6 victory.

In the CIF Finals, the Eagles used a well-rounded performance to sink second-seeded Canyon (Anaheim) 15-7 to win the program's 14th Southern Section water polo championship, tying Newport Harbor for most in Southern Section history. It was the first since 2009 and the twenty-first finals appearance. Tristan Foster led the Eagles with four goals, followed by Cooper Albano with three goals and Patrick Wang, Carter Williamson, Nolan Barnett, and Max Hale, who each collected two goals. Four-year starting goalie Luc Giroux had seven saves. The Eagles ended the season 32-0, and for the first time in school history, a team ended undefeated by winning a CIF title.

unblemished season and improved to 26-0. The Eagles swept through the Central Orange County Tournament, defeating Segerstrom 19-7, Brentwood Academy 21-2, Woodbridge 16-7, and Capistrano Valley 12-7 in the finals.

November: Seven Sign Letters of Intent, Water Polo Team's CIF Title Run

Seven El Segundo High School seniors and their families and friends gathered to witness the signing of their colligate Letters of Intent. Included were Emily Ramirez, UC Berkley (water polo); Hudson Comer, UC Irvine (baseball); Tanner Ijams, U of Washington (soccer); Lauren Neely, CSU Monterey Bay (volleyball); Anthony Temesvary, Columbia University (baseball); Holly Wilbanks, LMU (soccer); and Gabriel Blanco, Claremont McKenna College (football).

The water polo team entered the playoffs on a roll. It was the program's thirty-ninth Division 5AA polls. The Eagles swept through the Dwan Hurt Holiday Tournament to win their first tournament in years. Jack Pintens was named MVP, while Eli Coles and Gavin McKinnon were named to the All-Tournament team.

The boys' soccer team is off to a 5-3-2 record after starting 1-3 to begin their season. The girls' team has a new coach after Skip Jones stepped down after six years as head coach. Jones led the Eagles to six consecutive playoff berths and guided the Eagles to back-to-back CIF championships in 2021 and 2022. After searching to replace Coach Jones, they hired Rob Duffy. The Eagles are 4-1 in their last five games after starting the year 1-5.

It was an incredible year in sports for our community. 2024 should be another banner year as we follow and support our young athletes as they chase their championship dreams. •

Joe Franklin, the Mayor of Manhattan Beach, moved to El Porto with his wife a few years back while their Manhattan Beach home was being remodeled. “We had a lot of fun living on the Strand near 40th Street in a 1932 duplex. We loved it.

The major difference from my perspective is that El Porto is home to many families who live here throughout the year, giving it a real sense of community and energy. Being steps away from the ocean has great appeal, and you see this migration to the waves every morning with surfers who live there or, for the price of a few quarters, drive and park there. The parking lot is a community in its own right, which adds to the charm.”

Given what Joe told me, I walked east from the beach to Highland Avenue, although a bit slowly, given the steep incline. There, you can enjoy shops and good food and drinks of a very diverse nature, from the comfortable bar-restaurant OBs to the venerable and fun

Panchos to the delicious and classy Fish Bar, among others. El Porto is not far from Los Angeles International Airport. You can see planes taking off, lifting up, and soaring into the welcoming sky. In fact, I have learned that in the past, El Porto had a reputation as “a place for pilots and stews”.

Up the coast, a short distance from El Porto is the Hyperion Water Reclamation Plant, which has been in operation since 1894 with multiple expansions and improvements. Granted, the Plant is not attractive to look at, but there is so much beauty as you look out at the ocean. The Plant also performs a vital task indeed.

The northern border of El Porto is called “the Stacks,” which are part of the El Segundo Chevron refinery. A wise surfer told me, “When the stacks are smokin’, the waves are great!” To be clear, I have not verified this, so just sharing some local lore.

The South Bay bike path winds through El Porto. Do not be surprised if you find yourself stopping to take in the view, experience the ambiance, and enjoy the sight of all those on the beach and in the water. Seagulls are often plentiful. Their cries may well be cries of joy!

There is a terrific café (the Surf Food Stand) on the beach, a little below the El Porto parking lot, which has a great diversity of food and beverages.

A posted sign indicates the Stand is open year-round unless the weather is prohibitive. Bottom line, I think the Surf Food Stand is a gem, complete with Flamingo guitar music often playing over the speakers. Chairs and tables right on the sand, umbrellas to provide shade.

The expression “Good things come in small packages” could be modified to describe El Porto. Superb beach community comes in a small package as well..” •

New Study Reveals 6 in 10 Americans Don’t Talk About Money

(BPT) - America, it’s time to have the money talk. According to research by Empower, a financial services company, 62% of people don’t talk about money. Many people would rather discuss politics (43%) and death (32%) than their finances (24%).

Carol Waddell, president of Empower Personal Wealth, says, “Conversation is a currency on the pathway to financial security, and open discussions about money can have a truly transformative effect on society. Our study shows people believe that clarity about their financial picture, talking to an advisor and financial education are key to achieving financial success.”

1. Growing Up Without Money Conversations

Don’t talk about money: that’s the message half (52%) of Americans hear, learning it’s impolite to talk about finances (26%), and certainly not what you earn (35%). The taboo prevails for nearly two-thirds (60%) of people who don’t feel comfortable on the topic.

Americans recall stowing away coins in a piggy bank (41%) but say many practical financial lessons weren’t discussed - like the importance of having an emergency fund (31%), building good credit (30%), and managing debt (27%) - as kids or adults. This might explain why Americans tend to clam up when the conversation turns to money. While many received an allowance (36%), the majority (68%) were never taught how to manage a budget. Nearly a quarter of Gen Zers (23%) grew up in a household with a swear jar teaching about money and manners - yet 79% of all people say they never spoke about how much is “needed” to be financially secure.

2. Talking About Money at Work

Figuring out personal finance is intimidating and overwhelming for half of Americans (48%), and when it comes to managing their money, 39% say they don’t know where to start, including 41% of women and 37% of men. Compare that with sky-high confidence managing money at work: 73% feel at ease overseeing company budgets and the majority say they clearly understand their employer’s finances and performance (70%).

Americans say they avoid uncomfortable money talk at work (68%), and more than half (56%) wish discussing salaries wasn’t taboo. Do you know how much your co-workers make? Just 19% of respondents say they’ve asked. But the workplace isn’t the only area Americans are staying quiet. People haven’t asked their friends (68%) or family (60%) either. Women are less comfortable talking about money with co-workers than men (36% women versus 50% men).

That said, people may not be as shy as expected: 58% of millennials and 53% of Gen Z (and 34% of Americans overall), would share their salary information on their LinkedIn.

What’s it amount to? According to 62% of respondents, open money conversations could solve the gender wage gap. Americans say greater wage transparency would motivate employees to work harder (50%) and help avoid miscommunications (60%).

3. Speak with an Expert

More than three-quarters (77%) of Americans want to see society take on more “money talks” about ways to save for the future (41%), money mistakes they’ve made (36%) and basic financial literacy (34%). A quarter want more discussions about how to negotiate (26%) and pay for big expenses (24%). Even more open dialogue about the emotional aspects of money would be helpful for 20% of respondents. So, how does America get there? Respondents agree that clarity about their financial picture (40%), talking to an advisor (36%), and financial education (34%) are key to achieving financial success. •

Four Menopause Myths, Debunked by New Science

(BPT) - Menopause is a natural transition every woman goes through. Yet, it remains misunderstood and often misidentified.

A groundbreaking study of more than 32,000 women may revolutionize this. The study, conducted by Phenology - a pioneering women’s health brand that provides non-hormonal menopause solutions - offers insights that debunk some of the most prevalent myths surrounding menopause. Knowing the facts can empower women to advocate for effective care from healthcare professionals.

Myth 1: Menopause Usually Happens After Age 50

According to Phenology’s study, the average age of menopause onset was 53, but women as young as 35 were observed in the early stage of perimenopause.

Ultimately, there’s no standard timeframe for the menopausal transition, which can last between 7 and 14 years. In the Phenology study, 50-year-old women were in the 25-75th percentile range across four different menopause stages: early perimenopause, late perimenopause, early postmenopause and late postmenopause. This means that at the age of 50, some women are just starting their journey in early perimenopause while others have already entered late postmenopause.

Myth 2: Postmenopause Means It’s Over

Postmenopause is the last stage of menopause; but counterintuitively, it’s marked by an increase in symptom number and frequency. Phenology found that women experience an average of 11 symptoms during postmenopause, compared to 8 during perimenopause. Late postmenopause had the highest incidence of hot flashes (73%), night sweats (68%), brain fog (77%), and insomnia (70%). Sexual issues also intensified in this phase, with 62% of women reporting low libido and 52% noting vaginal dryness, which can lead to painful intercourse.

The label “post” in this case is somewhat deceiving, and doesn’t capture women’s actual experience.

Myth 3: Hot Flashes Are the Main Symptom Worth Treating.

Menopause is more than just hot flashes, with women experiencing an average of 9 symptoms simultaneously over the course of the transition. They range from physical - hot flashes, night sweats, insomnia and brain fog - to emotional - anxiety, mood swings, irritability and depression - to sexual, like low libido and vaginal dryness. These are frustrating at best, life-disrupting at worst, and plenty deserving of treatment.

Early perimenopause especially is marked by emotional symptoms that could be mistaken for mental health. Phenology’s study found that 72% of women in this stage reported mood swings, 70% felt anxiety, 67% experienced irritability and 60% indicated a depressed mood. Understanding that these emotional changes might be caused by hormonal shifts can help women get proper care.

Myth 4: Menopause is the Same for Everyone.

While all women will go through the menopausal transition, Phenology’s study found that the experience is remarkably different for each individual. Across 32,000 women, Phenology identified over 15,000 completely unique symptom combinations. Chances are, a woman and her closest friends will each experience different symptoms - making it near impossible to get accurate advice from peers.

With only 31% of OB-GYNs receiving formal menopause training, getting proper care from a doctor isn’t always easy, either. Private companies like Phenology are stepping in to fill this gap, leveraging technology to deliver the personalized, non-hormonal relief that 82% of women prefer. They’ve partnered with Vitamin Shoppe to make non-prescription menopause solutions more accessible. Women can now get personalized supplement advice at Vitamin Shoppe, paving the way for a transformed menopause experience. •

Barley Salad

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

Cooking the barley right in the broth gives this salad an extra flavor boost right from the start. Lemon and parsley give it a bright, fresh note to contrast the rich flavor from olives and feta.

Ingredients

- 3 cups Swanson® Vegetable Broth
- 1/2 teaspoon dried oregano leaves, crushed
- 1 cup uncooked pearl barley
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon zest
- 3 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 seedless (English) cucumber, peeled and diced (about 1 1/2 cups)
- 1 large red bell pepper, diced (about 1 1/2 cups)
- 1 cup crumbled feta cheese(about 4 ounces)
- 1/2 cup pitted or Kalamata oil-cured olives cut in half
- 2 green onion, thinly sliced (about 1/4 cup)
- 3 tablespoons chopped fresh parsley (optional)

Directions

- Step 1: Heat the broth and oregano in a 2-quart saucepan over medium-high heat to a boil. Stir in the barley. Reduce the heat to low. Cover and cook for 45 minutes or until the barley is tender but still chewy. Spread the barley in a thin layer on a large plate and let cool for 15 minutes.
- Step 2: Beat the lemon juice, lemon zest and olive oil in a small bowl with a fork or whisk.
- Step 3: Stir the barley, cucumber, red pepper, cheese, olives and green onions in a large bowl. Add the lemon juice mixture and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate for 1 hour. Season to taste. Sprinkle with the parsley before serving, if desired.

Tips

- Ingredient Note: Try peeling the cucumber in strips, leaving some of the peel behind to create stripes before dicing.
