Prepared to Keep Our City Safe

The Fire Chief conducted her annual inspection of all platoons at Station 1 and Station 2. Each Station goes through a rigorous cleaning from top to bottom. Front-line apparatuses, firefighting, medical and other specialized equipment are all inspected for condition, functionality and cleanliness. This is in line with the ESFD mantra "Be professional, be ready, and take care of each other." The El Segundo Fire Department takes great pride in preparing for the Chief's inspection. Honoring One's Life and Legacy

By Allison Armijo

When Tim Wheeler asked his childhood friend, former El Segundo Mayor Suzanne Fuentes, if she received a police badge for her time in civil service, Fuentes responded, yes, she did. Turning the question back on Wheeler, Fuentes asked if he had the badge that once belonged to his father, former El Segundo Police Lieutenant Emmett Burdick Wheeler II. "I never thought to ask my mom about it when she was alive," Wheeler said. "I just assumed he was buried with it, or it was turned into the department. I didn't know what the protocol was."

Wheeler's mother saved everything from her husband's time as a police officer, including three sets of uniforms. When she died, Wheeler and his two older sisters each received a uniform for safekeeping, but something was missing. "I like to call it the search for the holy grail," Wheeler explained, as neither he nor his siblings could find their father's police badge in his belongings.

After asking Fuentes if she knew where the badge might be, Wheeler didn't hear anything more about it for the next two years. What he didn't know was that at the same time, Fuentes was in communication with El Segundo Police Chief Bermudez, who agreed to help her find the badge for her childhood friend. "Although we couldn't locate the exact badge worn by Lt. Wheeler before his death, we located an original "eagle top" badge just as those worn by El Segundo Police Officers at the time," Chief Bermudez explained. The badge was engraved with Lt. Wheeler's years of service and his employee number.

Finally, in December 2022, Fuentes reached out to Wheeler and asked to meet for breakfast in town. "She said, Tim, I've got some great news for you," Wheeler explained. "A week after that, there was a knock on my door, and there was a box from the El Segundo Police Department. I was like a kid at Christmas; I ripped that thing open, and sure enough, there was my dad's badge."

Wheeler put the badge in a shadowbox his uncle made for him to hold his dad's service revolver and police department patch, amongst other things, from his time on the

How We Pick People to Profile

By Duane Plank

So, we at the Herald have been penning these friendly, weekly profiles for nearly three years. We started highlighting the accomplishments of local residents when the COVID-19 scourge became a reality, at least in California, in March of 2020, and not just a 30-second blip on the nightly news or a page ten three-inch story buried deep in your daily newspaper.

I am often asked, "how do you find the folks to profile?" Well, one way is for you kind readers to send in your recommendations for a resident to profile, with their contact information, to letters@heraldpublications.com, after receiving the prospective candidates, OK.

But most of the folks who I end up interviewing are from referrals from past profiles. At the end of our phone interview conversation, I always ask, "please send me the name[s] of any other residents or business owners whom I might spotlight?"

It seems to have worked out well. I would say that about a third of the candidates for a profile are happy to oblige; a third of the candidates answer politely "thanks, but no thanks," and the rest do not respond to my email, text, or phone call. I do not take that personally; it is part of the gig.

The first piece of information that I secure is an emailed family history, bio, resume, or something similar so that I can devise somewhat intelligent questions when we conduct a phone interview. I also ask for the contact information of two to three friends, neighbors, co-workers, etc., to whom I might get a quote or two. And I grab two-three photos with captions to add to the story.

That is how the process works. Please consider being profiled or recommending someone. Send your suggestion directly to me at theplanks1932@sbcglobal.net. This week's profile of El Segundo's Danielle Christian is one lady who positively responded. See her story on page 2. •

Danielle Christian: Multitasker

By Duane Plank

The Danielle Christian is a multi-talented lady who just happened to celebrate a birthday last week. Danielle was raised in Los Angeles and attended Dorsey High School. She said her upbringing was typical; she attended a Magnet Program at Dorsey to prepare her to matriculate to college. She also dabbled in involvement in available school and community service organizations, a compassionate trait that endures to 2023.

She enrolled at Cal State Long Beach, where she achieved a degree in Psychology, and immersed herself in campus opportunities, joining the Delta Sigma Theta Sorority, which she said is “a non-profit Black Greek Letter Association whose purpose is to provide assistance and support through programs and community service”; she is still an active member of the non-profit.

Her grand plan was to pursue a master’s degree in social work, but that did not pan out. She instead took a job with Pac Bell, which AT&T gobbled up. After Christian had her first child in the early 2000s, she decided to concentrate on being a Mom first, putting career aspirations on the back burner.

She immersed herself in getting her growing family to and from school, as well as school-site volunteering. When it came time to re-enter the workforce, Christian said that she decided to put her real estate license to good use. She had acquired her license when she and her husband Mark bought their first house.

She said she “loves the [real estate] process.” And with the kids growing up and becoming more self-sufficient, she made real estate her career about eight years ago and is currently working for Compass South Bay.

“I am passionate about my career in real estate and enjoy helping my clients achieve generational wealth through homeownership,” she said. “I serve my clients with a wealth of knowledge, business experience, and a passion for helping others succeed.”

Her children, of which she has three, started attending the El Segundo Unified School District [ESUSD] in 2011. Because, at that time, she and her family did not live in El Segundo, her school-age kids were “permitted in” to allow them to attend the top-notch schools that the ESUSD boasts. Her oldest child, Gold, currently attends El Camino College;

Christian said she “immediately fell in love with the El Segundo vibe, the sense of community,” but did not move to town until 2016. She considers El Segundo “an island in the middle of the city,” citing the natural borders that encase most of the tad-bit-below 11 square miles of El Segundo.

Although she returned to the workforce, once Christian landed in El Segundo, she continued to want to make a difference in her new community. She is currently the membership

Spring Sports are Upon Us

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

The winter sports have officially ended. With the girls' water polo and soccer teams finishing their seasons in the first round of the CIF playoffs and the boys' soccer team losing a heartbreaker in the second round, it signaled the end for the Eagles. Though the calendar says it's the third week of February, it is the starting line for high school spring sports. The El Segundo Eagles Athletic Department will be busy fielding eleven varsity and lower-level teams in each sport this spring season. Those sports include baseball, softball, boys' volleyball, boys' golf, boys' tennis, track, beach volleyball, swimming, and girls' and boys' lacrosse and swim teams. We'll preview baseball, softball, volleyball, and golf this week and take a look at the rest next week.

Baseball Team Looks Like a Winner

The Eagles look to return to the CIF Southern Section playoffs after missing out the past three seasons. To be fair, the 2020 season didn't count because of Covid, and no postseason games were played. This season's team has prepared for the upcoming schedule and a return to the postseason by playing a successful summer schedule, working out in between rain storms, and focusing on team play. Head coach Billy Traber, in his seventh season, is optimistic about his team, saying, "They work hard in practice, they challenge and motivate each other to do better, and they hold each other accountable."

The Eagles are loaded with talent and have a deep pitching staff. Returning seniors are infielders Dylan Immel, Lucas Bonham, and Cooper Gamble, outfielder Tucker Stevens, and pitchers Brady Engelhardt, Colby Sutherland and Luke Elward. The juniors that will make an impact and give the team depth will be Anthony Temesvary, Hudson Comer, Wil DeBlanc, Dylan Alcala Mateo Heredia and Louis Church.

The Eagles have a challenging schedule and an even more arduous Pioneer League slate of games. Each of the Torrance schools has solid programs, and according to Coach Traber poses a daunting chore to claim the program's first league title in four years. They will host the 56th Stevenson Tournament (formerly the El Segundo Tournament) to start the season and are entered in the El Camino Real Tournament (formerly Redondo Sea Hawk Tournament) as well as the Elks Tournament during the Spring Break. The

Gout Causing Winter Woes? Ways to Manage the Condition

(BPT) - Many people love to travel, celebrate and indulge in favorite foods during the winter months. However, overdoing it can have a big impact on your health, especially if you have a chronic condition like gout.

Gout is the most common form of inflammatory arthritis and is caused by an accumulation of uric acid crystals in the joints. Gout is extremely painful and tied to several other serious health conditions. During the winter months, it's important to prioritize your health so gout and other conditions are properly managed.

"More than 9 million Americans have gout and the numbers are increasing," said Dr. N. Lawrence Edwards, a rheumatologist and chairman of the Gout Education Society. "There are many misconceptions about gout, such as it is a condition that results from unhealthy diet. The truth is gout is a hereditary disease, meaning it runs in families."

There is no cure for gout, but lifestyle changes and some medications can reduce and even eliminate the painful flares and reverse the damage gout has caused to joints and cartilage. Edwards suggests these five ways to manage gout and feel your best:

Whether it's the end of the year before health benefits expire or the beginning of the year as new benefits kick in, schedule a routine doctor's appointment to either confirm a gout diagnosis or ensure a proper treatment plan.

Once a gout diagnosis is confirmed, uric acid levels should be tested every six months, with a goal of keeping levels to 6.0 mg/dL or lower, depending on what the doctor recommends. Most experts agree that lowering uric acid levels is the best way to prevent future gout flares, as well as other health conditions associated with gout, such as kidney stones or kidney disease, diabetes, heart attack, stroke and more. Amid travel plans and gatherings with family and friends, be sure to take daily uric acid-lowering medications as prescribed by the doctor. These will help keep gout flares at bay so you can enjoy activities and make positive memories.

During the winter, it's common to indulge in extra treats, including purine-rich foods like red meats and alcohol, sweets and other processed foods that have been known to trigger gout flares. While it's okay to eat these foods in moderation - especially if uric acid levels are under control - sticking to a healthy diet can help stave off a gout flare.

While certain foods have been known to trigger gout flares, there is no regimented "gout diet." However, some doctors have recommended the Mediterranean diet to help with managing gout or the DASH diet (which stands for Dietary Approaches to Stop Hypertension) that focuses on fruits, vegetables and low-fat foods.

As you're out and about celebrating, keep in mind alcoholic and caffeinated beverages can be dehydrating. What's more, fruit juices and sodas are high in sugars, so remember to enjoy in moderation.

Your best option is to drink at least 64 ounces of water daily. Water helps the body transport nutrients and waste, regulates body temperature and cushions joints and tissues. Research also suggests that drinking adequate water might guard against kidney stones and constipation. Stay up to date with the latest in gout research and treatment in order to learn more about how best to manage the disease. How to Keep Your Documents Organized and Stress Levels Down for Tax Season

(BPT) - Taxes can be a daunting task. Some people are so anxious that they put it off until just before the April 15 deadline. According to a survey by IPX1031, 32% of Americans waited until the last minute to file taxes in 2022. Of those who procrastinated on filing, 25% said that they waited because filing taxes is too stressful and complicated.

self-employment forms. Lastly, make an investments folder. Here, you can save retirement contributions to IRAs or other accounts, tax-deferred investments, nondeductible investments and any other taxable investments. By setting up and using this organizational system throughout the year, you'll be Start early to help ease your tax season stress, so you have plenty of time to input and review your information. If you wait until the deadline, you'll only get more anxious about the prospect of being late or making mistakes on your tax forms.

Another way to manage tax time stress is to tackle your tax forms one section at a time. You can do this over the course of a few days or a couple of weeks. You can enlist the help of a partner or friend to keep you accountable and sit with you while you do your taxes.

Whether you're doing personal or business taxes, creating a system with specific categories will help you stay organized throughout the year. That way, when it's time to tackle taxes, you'll have everything you need right in front of you.

First, create a deductions and expenses folder. In this folder, you'll keep cellphone and internet bills, receipts for supplies (like pencils, pens and papers), client dinner receipts and documents of charitable donations.

Next, you'll set up an income folder where you'll store your paystubs, bank statements and other records that prove any income you have produced during the year. If needed, you can create another folder for business tax documents like W-2s, property taxes and able to breeze through your tax forms with minimal stress.

Now that you've got the system in place, it's time to simplify taxes by going digital. Recreate the organizational system above on your computer. You can also store or sync the folders on the cloud or mobile device so you can access documents on the go. You can also upload invoices, receipts and other documents into digital files as soon as you receive them.

The easiest way to convert physical documents into digital ones is to scan them. Simplify the process by using an application like Mopria Scan. This app allows you to scan directly from any Mopria certified device to your Android device without installing multiple apps, software or drivers for every scanner or printer you use at home or the office.

You'll also have easy access to scanned pages on your Android device's cloud storage or other applications. You can even scan your stuff and email it to your professional accountant so they can deal with it! Download the Mopria Print Service or Mopria Scan apps and relieve tax time stress.

Don't let tax season anxiety get you down. Using these three tips, you'll be able to complete your tax forms quickly and set yourself up for success for the next tax season. •

(BPT) - Spring is the perfect season for home improvement as it presents many opportunities for homeowners to be more thorough when it comes to maintenance. “Many homeowners perform spring cleaning tasks to freshen up and declutter their homes, but it’s also crucial to tackle important maintenance tasks,” said Viviane Essex, merchant at The Home Depot. “For most people, their home is their biggest investment. The Home Depot’s Home Services can help homeowners with routine repairs and installation projects that provide comfort, safety and most importantly, peace of mind.”

Your heating, ventilation and air conditioning (HVAC) system is crucial to keeping your home cozy in the winter and cool during the summer. Most systems have a lifetime of 10 to 20 years, and efficiency can drastically decrease as your equipment gets older.

If your HVAC system is working harder and not performing as well as it should, it may be time to replace it. Book a consultation with a certified professional who can inspect your existing system, make recommendations and give you an estimate for a new system.

Water is used throughout your entire home, from showering and bathing to cooking and watering your lawn. To ensure you are using quality water, you’ll need to inspect, replace and repair your water heater.

Look for water buildup around your water heater, water-quality issues, changes in water temperature or temperature duration, a broken pilot light, noise in your unit or pipes, or the smell of gas around your water heater.

The exterior of your home is just as important to inspect and repair as the interior. During winter, you may feel drafts or frequently see condensation on your windows. As the seasons change, you may notice cracking or peeling around window exteriors. This spring, book a window replacement. Windows should be inspected by a licensed professional every 20-25 years to see if they need to be replaced. A new high-quality window with thick, insulated glass is more energy efficient than older single-pane windows. Best of all, new windows can also improve your home’s appearance.

Another external item to inspect this spring is your garage door. You may not think your garage door needs regular maintenance, but just like a car, it needs regular tune-ups. Small issues can quickly turn expensive down the line. Also, some garage door problems can pose a safety hazard and cause serious injury. Replacing your garage door can improve the look of your home and increase its market value.

Finally, consider installing a new fence around your property. Fences provide privacy and security. They can help keep children and pets safe inside your yard, while also keeping out unwanted animals and trespassers.

For all your indoor and outdoor spring-cleaning projects, The Home Depot’s Home Services can help you choose the material and style that best fits your property and needs. All certified service providers are local, licensed, insured and background checked. To learn more and book appointments to spruce up your home this spring, visit HomeDepot.com/Services. *

Eagles start their season Friday night at home against Bay League power Palos Verdes at 6 p.m. and visit Mira Costa on Saturday at 10 a.m. in non-league games.

Softball Team Has a New Optimistic Coach

The Eagles had a successful season last year when they won 19 games and advanced to the CIF Division 2 playoffs. Though they lost 1-0 on a first-inning sacrifice fly ball to Mission Viejo, the eventual CIF champions, they demonstrated they could play with anyone. This season the Eagles will be guided by new head coach Rob Croxall a 1990 ESHS graduate who pitched the Eagles to a CIF final. Coach Croxall comes with a wealth of knowledge and says the transition as a new coach has been seamless. “There are a lot of changes, but the girls are doing well adapting to my philosophy which closely follows what they have had here previously.”

Coach Croxall says the strength of the team are the number of quality players they have returning. The pitching staff looks solid, with Hailey Wantz and Maiya Anderson in the circle.

The outfield from last season returns, including Sammie Kleiger, Avery Chavez and Miranda Sullivan. Sophomore shortstop Sienna Mayer, second baseman Maya Holtzman and Bella Gridley will anchor the infield. Utility sophomore phenom Allie Stevenson will see time between the infield, outfield, and catching, where she is stepping up to fill a void along with Maggie Green.

Dylan Immel will help anchor the Eagles on defense while being one of the top hitters on the team.

starters. To prepare for the arduous league schedule, the Eagles will face some of the top-ranked teams in the CIF Southern Section. They open the season next Tuesday at home against Notre Dame (Sherman Oaks) at 3:30 p.m.

Volleyball Team Leaning on Experience for Success

The Eagles are looking to turn heads with talented players returning. Coach Luke Dallavo, in his fifth season, believes the Eagles will be prepared to challenge Torrance, the defending Pioneer League champs. He says a lot of work and is ready to take on anyone that steps on the court.” The Eagles look forward to battling for the league title and making waves in CIF Division 3. The Eagles will be tested from the start when they host perennial national powerhouse Mira Costa next Wednesday at 4:30 p.m.

Boys Golf Returns

The Eagles have brought back golf for the first time in over thirty-five years. First-year head coach David March is excited about the prospects of the program returning. “As a new program, we will not focus on our league

March will look to a roster full of freshmen and sophomores to lead the program’s return. The top two scorers so far have been Collen Ungaro and Jack Harris. Both are year-round tournament golfers that should provide the leadership and experience needed to succeed in team matches.

The Eagles may lack the experience of their league counterparts, including Mira Costa, Redondo, South Torrance, West Torrance, and Santa Monica, but their passion is equal to any of their seasoned players, according to Coach March.

Eagles Fall in CIF Playoffs

The defending CIF champion girls’ water polo team lost a heartbreaking first-round game to the Dos Pueblos Chargers 9-7 in the first round of the CIF Southern Section Division 1 playoffs. The Eagles, who won the Division 4 championship last season, were inexplicably moved up to Division 1 this season and competed valiantly against a physical Chargers team. Though the Chargers were obviously more aggressive on defense, the Eagles were the ones who were hit with seven exclusions that included three penalty five-meter shots and scored on five of those advantages.

The two-time defending CIF champion girls’ soccer team went on the road for their playoff game and lost to San Dimas 1-0. The Eagles defeated San Dimas 2-1 for their first consecutive championships two seasons ago. This time the Saints scored an early first-half Sienna Mayer will be counted on for her explosive bat as well as her shortstop skills.

The Eagles will add three sophomore newcomers to the roster. Jacy Lindsay adds depth in the circle, while Jazlene Ramos is a super smooth athlete and should see time in the infield and as a pinch-hitting slapper, while Charlie Pages brings a big bat and outfield skills to the team.

The Eagles play in arguably one of the top leagues around. Last season they placed fifth in the Pioneer League behind all four Torrance schools, and each advanced to the CIF playoffs. This season should be no different, with each team returning several the team has been in the gym four days a week, training hard for the upcoming season.

Coach Dallavo says, “The strength of the team is our veteran leadership.” Nolan Kelly, who will be one of the captains, has signed a letter of intent to play for Princeton next year, and senior Connor Logan brings a lot of experience to the team. With Kelly (setter), Logan (libero), Dylan Pilkvist (outside hitter), and Ryan Pilkvist (outside hitter), the Eagles are well-equipped. Look for newcomer Jett Antell to make an impact as a hitter and passer.

Coach Dallavo said, “This team has put in scoring but, more importantly, individual and team scoring. With a young team, we want to see improvement throughout the year and then evaluate what needs to be done in the off-season to compete at a higher level.”

The Eagles have prepared for the upcoming season with a three-week tryout to determine the top-scoring golfers. Once the team was set, they started getting in practice time at Top Golf. During the season, the team will have practice rounds at The Lakes and Westchester Golf Course.

With no returning roster to lean on, Coach goal, and it held up to make the Eagle’s exit that more painful.

The third-ranked boys’ soccer team’s 1-0 overtime loss to Norco ended a promising season. It came after they defeated La Canada 4-1 in the first round of the CIF Southern Section playoffs. In the first round, Tyler Cleland gave the Eagles an early 1-0 lead, Liam Moore made it 2-0, and Evan Chen’s goal made it 3-0 in the first half. In the second half, Constanin Papadopoulos’ penalty kick made it 4-1, and the Eagles would advance to the second round. •

Emmie Ramirez looks to score in the first round of the CIF Southern Section Division 1 playoffs.

Liam Moore chases down a pass before connecting on a score against La Canada in the first round of the CIF playoffs.

chair of the ESHS PTSA and has previously volunteered for positions at Richmond Street and Center Street Schools.

She is proud of the fact that while volunteering at Richmond Street School, she was the chair of a very successful campus Dance-A-Thon has a passion for giving back the best she can to our students. She is smart and thoughtful in her decisions. She always has a contagious smile on her face. And her personality is so warm, engaging, and friendly. I have loved volunteering with her over the years. She always and received an Honorary Service Award in 2019 from the ESUSD.

An “ardent supporter” of the Ed! Foundation for many years, she currently serves as the group’s vice president while supporting Ed! Foundation fundraising soirees, and was a model at the always fun Ladies Night Out shindig in 2017.

Christian said that she always had a service-oriented bent and that her children appreciated her showing up at their schools to help with campus events. She said her focus now is working for and with the Ed! Foundation. She and her husband have been, she said, Superintendent’s Roundtable Donors for more than a decade.

With work requirements, being a wife and a mother and perennial volunteer, Christian said that she does not have a lot of spare time for recreation, but when she does take time for herself, she enjoys reading and spending time with her family and her girlfriends.

Cheryl Smith is one of Christian’s girlfriends: “I have known Danielle for at least five years, [working] together through the PTA at the Middle School and High School.

“Danielle has a “can do” attitude, and she always says “yes,” continued Smith. “She just can’t say no to helping out our children. She is all in it for all our ESUSD students. She truly makes time to be present at PTA meetings or events, even when she has a million other things going on.”

ESUSD school board member Dieema Wheaton has considered Christian, a friend for nearly two decades. “Danielle and I go way back,” she emailed. “We met in the 9th grade at Audubon Middle School (back then, it was a junior high school). I am convinced that the universe wants us together, which explains why we have lived and raised our children in the same two communities for a total of 19 years, from Ladera Heights to El Segundo! If you know Danielle, you know three things for sure: (1) she is kind, (2) she is loyal, and (3) she will not say no! The last reason is why she has ended up with so many PTA/PTSA positions over the years. In fact, I think all three reasons support her incredible community involvement. I simply adore her because her heart is big, her friendship is incredible, and her service to this community (especially the school community) is admirable. Danielle is a giver by nature,” concluded Wheaton, “a real estate agent by trade, and a leader by choice, she truly has a heart of gold, so I hope anyone reading this will make it a priority to get to know her. I promise they will thank me for the recommendation!” •

Chicken BLT Skillet

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

Follow our Chicken BLT Skillet recipe for an easy dinner that the whole family will love. Instant brown rice simmers to perfection in our delicious bacon soup for a dish with rich, creamy risotto-like texture but without the effort. We also have a fun foil packet version- just assemble and throw on the grill. See the tip below for how.

Ingredients

- 3 slices bacon
- 1 1/4 pounds boneless, skinless chicken breast
- 2 cloves garlic, minced
- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's® Condensed Cream of Bacon Soup
- 1 3/4 cups milk
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon Dijon-style mustard
- 3/4 cup uncooked instant brown rice
- 3 cups baby spinach
- 2 cups halved cherry tomatoes

Send us a photo and recipe of your favorite dish. We'd love to share it with the community.
Send to: web@heraldpublications.com

Directions

- Step 1: Cook the bacon in a 12-inch nonstick skillet over medium heat until crisp. Remove the bacon from the skillet. Drain and crumble the bacon. Reserve 1 1/2 tablespoons drippings in the skillet and pour off any remaining drippings.
- Step 2: Season the chicken with salt and pepper. Heat the reserved drippings in the skillet over medium-high heat. Add the chicken and cook for 4 minutes (make sure the skillet is hot before adding the chicken to prevent sticking). Turn the chicken over and cook for 4 minutes or until well browned and cooked through. Remove the chicken from the skillet, cover and keep warm.
- Step 3: Reduce the heat to medium. Add the garlic and cook and stir for 30 seconds. Add the soup, milk, lemon juice and mustard and heat to a boil. Stir in the rice. Reduce the heat to low. Cover and cook for 10 minutes. Stir in the spinach and half the tomatoes. Cover and cook for 5 minutes or until the rice is tender.
- Step 4: Season the rice mixture to taste. Serve the chicken over the rice mixture, sprinkled with the remaining tomatoes and the crumbled bacon.

Tip

- Try this foil packet grilled version! Heat grill to medium. Mix 1 can Condensed Cream of Mushroom Soup, 3/4 cup uncooked instant white rice, 1/2 cup water, 1 teaspoon Dijon mustard and 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder. Tear 4 (12x18-inch) pieces of heavy-duty foil. Layer the following in the center of each: 1/2 cup rice mixture, 1/2 cup baby spinach, 1 thin-sliced boneless chicken breast, 1/4 cup quartered grape tomatoes and 1 tablespoon crumbled cooked bacon. Drizzle each with 1 teaspoon lemon juice and fold up into packets. Grill for 15 minutes. Remove and let stand for 5 minutes before opening.

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS
Purrrfect Companions

Kitten Rescue rescues cats and kittens from a variety of situations. Most live in our volunteers' homes and those volunteers foster them until we can find permanent homes for them. Young or old, tabby or calico, we care for orphaned and abandoned kittens that need to be bottle-fed around the clock, moms with litters, cats that need socialization, and sick or injured animals. When they are finally ready for their forever home, we will help match you with the purr-fect one. When you adopt, you save a life... and in turn enrich your own.

Rocco was named after Elmo's feud with the pet rock "Rocco" in Sesame Street. He has a calm demeanor, loves to cuddle and get pets and hugs. Rocco enjoys jumping into boxes instead of playing with the expensive toys his foster family has bought him. He will take his time when eating to ensure he gets the full Friskies experience. Rocco is a lover boy and is always down for a cuddle session. He loves also to go on walks with his foster family to observe the birds – err, the neighborhood.

Marie is the only female from her litter and was named after the famous cat “Marie” from Aristocats. As it appears, Marie is very ladylike. She will not participate in ruckus with her siblings and is more of a watch-in-silence type. However, she will defend herself if need be. Marie is extremely vocal when it comes to mealtime as she will let you know how excited she is that you are feeding her food. She makes little hops that are so elegant that she looks like a little miniature horse when she is running. Marie is a chicken connoisseur and will dabble with salmon here and there. She is also a bit shy but will come around when she is given pets. Her constant purring is an indication she likes the head rubs and ear massages she gets.

Lenny is an adorable little guy who is waiting patiently for his forever home. He is very playful and loves to run around the house and play with his foster friends. He also loves to cuddle with his human and is a very affectionate young boy once he gets to know you. As you can see from his photo, Lenny would love a home with another cat or kitten.

Sandy is currently residing in the kitchen room at our sanctuary with his three siblings and mama, known as the 'Nature' family. The family was rescued by a good Samaritan who found them outside. One of our supporters won an auction to name the family, hence the 'Nature' theme. Sandy is a gorgeous light orange kitten. He likes to play hard yet is also super sweet and very social. He loves all his siblings so we would like him to be adopted with one of them – Windy, Roots or Bramble. We always prefer the kittens to be adopted out in pairs when they are still so young, have grown up together and need the companionship of another kitten to help their development.

Nature is the beautiful torbie mama to her four kittens currently residing in the kitten room at our sanctuary and featured on our livestream at <https://explore.org/livecams/kitten-rescue/kitten-rescue-cam>. Nature has been an outstanding mom to her beautiful kittens. Even though they are now 4 months old, they are still very attached to her and will comfort nurse on her, which she tolerates even though they are far too big now! She is very patient with her babies and will also play with them; she is still a youngster herself. Nature loves humans, welcomes attention, our network of foster homes and from the Sanctuary. At the end of each cat's profile is a link to the email address of the foster parent or adoption counselor, and you may reach out directly with questions or to arrange a virtual meeting.

and likes to be held and picked up. With her exceptionally sweet and loving personality, she will be the purrfect companion.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org.

Please check our website for the schedule of weekly adoption events or to make an appointment at the Kitten Rescue Adoption Center. To virtually browse our adoptable cats, please visit our Adoption Gallery where you can find photos and profiles of all the cats and kittens we have up for adoption from

The donations and support we receive from individuals like you, who share our love and commitment to helping cats and kittens in Los Angeles, are the sole reason we are able to do what we do. We are grateful for your financial help. By making even a small donation today, you can touch the lives of the many deserving, wonderful animals in our care. There are many ways you can donate and help, and every dollar means so much. Kitten Rescue is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit. Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 3519 Casitas Ave., Los Angeles, CA 90039.

force. “Looking back at [his] ten years in the El Segundo Police Department, that shadow box is something I’m able to look at every day,” he explained.

For Wheeler, putting the badge in the shadow box alongside his father’s other items from his time on the force means more than he can put into words. “My parents weren’t picture-takers, so there weren’t a lot of pictures of my dad. My constant connection with my dad is seeing his shadow box,” he said.

Reflecting on the overwhelming kindness from both Fuentes and Chief Bermudez, Wheeler still finds himself awestruck. “I am never at a loss for words, but at that moment, I was at a total and complete loss for words,” Wheeler explained, reflecting on the moment he first received the package from the police department. “I wish I could find the right words for how much I appreciate this gesture.”

A month after receiving the badge, Wheeler could visit the El Segundo police station to personally thank the department for their generosity. He spoke with Chief Bermudez and Captain Perez and went on a station tour, even recognizing some of the officers’ pictures and their plaques. “We spent time talking about my memories from my dad as a policeman, ... [and] went through handwritten jailing logs from his time [on the force],” Wheeler said. Bermudez spoke similarly of the event, adding, “It was a great moment for him and the ESPD.”

“This is a story about Chief Bermudez and Suzy,” he explained. After initially receiving the package, Wheeler posted to the Vintage El Segundo Facebook page thanking both Bermudez and Fuentes for their roles in the process, explaining how grateful he is to be able to keep his father’s memory alive in this way.

As the youngest child, Wheeler sees the badge not just as a way of maintaining a strong connection with his late father, but also as a way of honoring his legacy. “It is all about keeping his memory alive,” he said, “I am forever grateful.”

Both the badge and the shadow box will eventually be passed down to his father’s great-grandson, who also carries the name, Emmett. He mentioned that the name Emmett had been used as either the first or middle name of the firstborn son for five generations. In that way, knowing that both the badge and the family name will live on is something Wheeler deeply appreciates. “Very few things have touched my heart in my life,” he said, “This is one of them. •
