Council Hears from Hyperion Consultant; Smoky Hollow Pilot Program Approved

By Liz Spear

The El Segundo City Council worked its way through a tidy, focused agenda Tuesday night, taking close to two hours to cover, among other subjects, a pilot parking program in Smoky Hollow, a possible new business focus for an aquatics subcommittee, and the potential hiring of project management to help speed up city development projects such as The Plunge and Recreation Park. City Manager Darrell George also introduced Michael Stenstrom, Ph.D., “the expert in the field of wastewater treatment plants,” who has been hired by the city to assist in its quest to put pressure on the City of Los Angeles to make improvements and upgrades to its Hyperion Water Reclamation Plant that will satisfy the regulations of the South Coast Air Quality Management District and attempt to assist the plant with moving forward into preparing for the future. Residents of El Segundo continue to experience ongoing issues and concerns that were brought to the forefront during and in the aftermath of the plant’s 2021 emergency release/spill of sewage into the ocean and the flooding of the plant. Safety, health, and community impacts have been ongoing since that event in July 2021.

Stenstrom’s credentials are decades in the making, with his work spanning close to 50 years. He is a Distinguished Civil and Environmental Engineering Professor at UCLA in its Institute of the Environment and Sustainability. His expertise is in aeration systems and large treatment plant design and operation, and he is a frequent consultant to large cities and private industries. His list of honors and accolades is vast. According to his LinkedIn profile online, his most recent was in July 2021, when he received the Association of Environmental Engineering and Science Professors (AEESP) O’Melia Distinguished Educator Award “For outstanding teaching and research contributions and inspirational mentoring.” He was named an AEESP Fellow in 2020 and a Distinguished Fellow with the International Water Association. Notably, he has worked with the City of LA Sanitation Department on all four of the city’s wastewater treatment plants. Stenstrom also was recruited by the City of Los Angeles Board of Public Works to chair the ad hoc advisory committee formed after the Hyperion emergency and was the principal author of the report that documented the causes of the emergency and recommendations to prevent it from happening again, noted George.

“I’m pleased to be of assistance to the City of El Segundo,” he said at the podium when asked to address the city council. “I understand you’ve been gassed a lot lately. And I know something about treatment plants. I know where those gasses typically come from and what industry-standard state-of-the-art techniques are to control those. I’ll admit that working for the City of LA is difficult. It’s really hard to have a contract with them if you’re not a minority business. And the agencies are big, and the people that are in the agencies have a lot of experience, but it’s usually only at one treatment plant. And I have experience at more than 200 treatment plants. And so, I am anxious to try to help the City of El Segundo resolve their issues with the Hyperion treatment plant and to improve their overall performance, both in reducing odors and other problematic things, as well as helping them into the future because we need them to reclaim wastewater in the future.”

In response, council member Ryan Baldino said, “First, thank you so much for your assistance. We’ve taken this extraordinary step of retaining our own expert because, frankly, the people in this town no longer trust what Hyperion’s been telling us. We’ve been living through this for years now, and we look forward to using your experience and your knowledge to help explain what’s going on and set a clear path forward.”

Stenstrom noted that the report he authored from the ad hoc advisory board made 33 recommendations in three categories when Mayor Drew Boyles asked about the progress on those recommendations. One of the categories addressed how to prevent a spill from happening again, and the second category addressed how people should be notified in the event of an emergency or spill, “and that’s an easy one to solve because it doesn’t require construction,” noted Stenstrom. “The third category was longer-term issues that would ensure against a future spill. For example, one of the issues that we recommended, and these are mostly capital improvements, which were largely my efforts, but one was to contour a road differently so that if there was a spill, it didn’t flow into the electrical headworks and so forth— something that might have been done differently by design. But we did not recommend it, and I believe this will happen while I work with El Segundo and the city about future improvements to odor control.

Gary Wilson

Gary Wilson passed away peacefully at Kindred Hospital in L.A. on February 25, 2023.

Gary was born in Brooklyn N.Y. in 1945 and moved to Des Plaines, Illinois at the age of 4 years.

In 1974, after nearly being blown into Lake Michigan one very cold day, Gary decided to move to sunny California where he met the love of his life, Mary at Brennan's Pub in Marina Del Rey. They were married in 1980. He loved his annual travels to her family cottage in Prince Edward Island which he described as the most peaceful place on earth.

Gary worked in the Executive Search Business for many years prior to becoming a Real Estate Agent and Broker in 1990. He treasured the people he felt privileged to work with in Frazier Park and Pine Mountain Club over these last 40 years. They were his other family.

In 1985, Gary joined the El Segundo Rotary Club. His ability to connect with people made him a valued member of Rotary. He served as President from 1993-94 celebrating many events and making it a point to pay tribute to those who served before him. The friendships that arose from his involvement with his fellow Rotarians were deep and meaningful.

Gary was truly a renaissance man. He loved reading, music, nature, black labs, L.A. teams, cooking, sharing a glass of wine and discussing a wide range of topics with insight and humor.

Gary and Mary bought their house in El Segundo in 1980. Gary frequently expressed his good fortune in getting to live in this remarkably caring neighborhood and City.

He was predeceased by his parents A.C. and Lillian Wilson, his beloved Aunt Evie and his sister-in-law Kathy Wilson. He is survived by his wife of 42 years, Mary Poirier Wilson, his brother Bruce Wilson, his sister Nancy Paul and her husband Joe, his sisters in law Sylvia Poirier and Pat Garrity and her husband Frank. He is also survived by much loved nieces and nephews and grand nieces and nephews in Canada and the US who will miss him greatly.

He also leaves behind his buddy and couch companion Muncy. Gary lived a life full of love. It was all about being good to and connecting with people. A celebration of the life of Gary Wilson will be held at a later date.

William Duane Bue Sr.

William Duane Bue Sr. passed away peacefully on Saturday January 21st with his wife of 60 years, Jean Bue, by his side. Bill led an incredible life based on faith in God and the American Flag.

He served in the Marine Corps during the Korean War prior to becoming a Baptist Minister in Cherokee Kansas. He also played a role with the Wichita Sheriff's Department as part of the underwater search and rescue unit.

Upon arriving in El Segundo he maintained a love for the game of baseball and coached it for 16 years in Kansas and El Segundo. Bill secured a job at Hughes where he was a division manager and worked with over 240 personnel. He then parlayed his management skill set and community relationships into a long career serving the city of El Segundo and State at many different levels. He served on: City Council, was the mayor for 2 years, served on the Rec Parks Commission, LA County Crime Commission, El Segundo School Board, Criminal Justice Juvenile Division, Delinquency and Crime Division, CA Criminal Justice Planning, VPLA County Delinquency and Crime – Senior Division, City Treasurer, State Park Commission, and President of the El Segundo Golf Club.

The above list is something most would hope to achieve in two lifetimes, Bill was able to accomplish it prior to retiring at 55, all while being an exemplary Father, Husband, Grandfather, and Great Grandfather.

He was able to spend many of his retirement years combing the shores of Lake Casitas for Largemouth Bass or playing golf with friends and family. •

One Sided School Board

On February 28th the school board had a heated dialogue brought to attention by member Wagner. Wagner presented his argument in an eloquent and calm way, and was quickly dismissed by his fellow board members. It was very disappointing to see the other distinguished members of the board conduct themselves in such a rude manner. One member accused him of being narrow minded. Others dismissed him entirely, as they followed each other in lock step. The message here was clear: even though ESUSD claims to embrace diversity, diversity of thought is not allowed. Although Wagner made some valid points regarding a professional development speaker who, on her website, wants to “reinvent education”, no one wanted to listen. If this board hopes to model to the community ways to have productive conversations with others that share a different opinion, they are doing a poor job. Stepping away from group think and opening up the dialogue to diversity of thought is needed.

Islands of Abandonment: Nature Rebounding in the Post-Human Landscape by Cal Flynn

By Library Assistant Mary Martes
Islands of Abandonment: Nature Rebounding in the Post-Human Landscape by Cal Flynn is a fascinating book that explores how nature is reclaiming abandoned spaces left behind by humans. She takes the reader on a journey to various locations across the world where the landscape has been ravaged and left behind, including the abandoned mining towns of Scotland, the war-ravaged countryside of Verdun, France, the industrial remnants on Staten Island, New Jersey, and the parched seabed of the Salton Sea in California. Flynn dives deep into these eerily desolate places across the world and examines the impact of human habitation and development prior to abandonment. She then explores how nature has taken over in the absence of humans, with the proliferation of wildlife and vegetation in what were once barren environments. As an experienced investigative journalist and writer, Flynn has the ability to evoke a sense of wonder and awe at the adaptability of nature. Her descriptions of the abundance and variety of wildlife in the reclaimed spaces are vivid and mesmerizing, bringing us along on her journey in an intimate exploration of man’s destruction and nature’s resilience. The book is not a treatise on environmentalism, but a celebration of nature’s ability to rebound after devastating destruction. It is a cautionary tale of hope, noting how the ecosystems that flourish in these “post-human landscapes” are not what they once were, but with the knowledge of the processes of adaptation and resurgence, can help us find more sustainable ways to interact with our planet. Islands of Abandonment is an engaging and thought-provoking read that offers a unique perspective on the relationship between humans and the environment. Flynn is an excellent writer and tour guide. Anyone with an interest in the natural world will be interested in her examination of these wild, abandoned places. •

Where To Watch Everything Everywhere All at Once and Other Indie Spirit Award Winners

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy
Last Saturday, Cinemacy returned to the giant tent on the Santa Monica beach to celebrate the 38th annual Film Independent Spirit Awards. The event has become a mainstay throughout awards season for its total dedication to celebrating independent storytellers, and always attracts top talent who recognize the importance of keeping indie film alive. This year brought new changes too, including the switch to gender-neutral acting categories (“Best Actor/

Everything Everywhere All at Once, courtesy A24.

Actress” became “Best Lead Performance”), a distribution shift from being broadcast live on the IFC channel to IMDb.com, and – perhaps most impressively – Everything Everywhere All at Once’s awards sweep. With the Academy Awards only days away, the Spirit Awards have had a history of predicting who will walk away with an Oscar on Sunday. Keep reading for highlights from this year’s awards show, as well as where you can watch the winners. Everything Everywhere All at Once This is no doubt the darling of awards season, racking up seven total trophies at this year’s awards show including Best Feature, Best Director, Best Screenplay, Best Lead, Supporting, and Breakthrough Performance, and Best Editing. Directed by Daniel Kwan and Daniel Scheinert, the film stars Michelle Yeoh, Ke Huy Quan, Stephanie Hsu, and Jamie Lee Curtis in roles that are guaranteed to take you through the full spectrum of emotion. The logline is simple: an exhausted Chinese American woman can’t seem to finish her taxes. But this doesn’t even begin to scratch the surface of the absurdist comedy’s unexpected depths, its unmatched genius vision, and unforgettable pop cultural moments (hot dog fingers, raccacoonie, everything bagel). You can rent Everything Everywhere All at Once on iTunes and Amazon, now streaming on Showtime. See Film Review, page 8

Student-Athletes Sign Their Letters of Intent

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin
Each year high school seniors nationwide sign a letter of intent to attend a college to further their education. These seniors have a special talent besides being brilliant in the classroom; they excelled athletically too. Eight El Segundo high school seniors recently gathered with family and friends to sign their letters of intent to continue their education in the fall. These last four years have been a culmination of hard work in both the classroom and on the field of play, and it has paid off in the form of a scholarship. To be a student-athlete in high school is one thing. To continue that drive, ambition, and passion for playing a sport at the college level while concentrating on a potential degree is only reserved for some. These eight special students will pursue degrees in Economics, Computer Engineering, Business Management, Psychology, Nursing, Media Design, and Elementary Education. Those student-athletes include Nolan Kelly, Charlie Gerson, Luca Romero, Marly Smith, Alexander Cole, Madison Reed, Alyssa Mullane, and Maya Jaeger, who put their signatures to their letters, essentially binding them to the school they have selected to attend.

Nolan Kelly, Princeton (Volleyball)
Nolan comes from an athletic family and is so grateful that his family has been so supportive throughout his young life. He played multiple sports growing up along with his brothers Joe and Chris. The Princeton Tigers will be getting their second Kelly to play for them. Joe played four years for the Tigers before graduating in 2022, and his other brother Chris is starting on the front line for Stanford. Besides being a standout athlete, Nolan excels in the classroom too. He’s been an Honor Roll student all four years and is a CIF Scholar-Athlete award winner. He’s also a decorated volleyball player, having been selected to the All-League team each year. But ask him his favorite memory of high school, and he’s quick to answer, “Playing on the same volleyball team with my brother.” Nolan will take his athletic skills and drive for higher education to Princeton and study Economics; congratulations Nolan. Luca Romero, UC Santa Barbara (Cross Country) Luca is one of those gifted athletes who See Eagles, page 6

Nourishing Dementia

By Lauren Mahakian, Family Connect Memory Care
Feeding a loved one with dementia can be a challenging experience for family and caregivers. Dementia is a progressive condition that affects a person’s memory, communication, and ability to carry out everyday activities, and part of that includes individuals potentially losing the ability to feed themselves as the disease progresses. This can create physical, emotional, and financial demands for caregivers while also taking a toll on the dignity and self-esteem of the person with dementia. Additionally, the process of feeding can take an hour or more, which can be both time-consuming and emotionally draining for everyone involved. However, employing strategies and favorite tips may help to make feeding a loved one with dementia more manageable and even positive experience. Arm yourself with patience and compassion. Understanding that they come from a place of confusion explains why your priorities (nutrition, timeliness, messiness) may not be in synch with theirs

Create a calm and peaceful atmosphere. Try describing the food they are eating, avoiding distractions, and keeping your tone of voice soothing and soft. Caregivers should avoid sitting across from their loved one while feeding, as it can be intimidating. Instead, it’s best to feed from the side, which can help the person feel more comfortable and relaxed. Giving small amounts of food at a time and alternating each bite with something sweet can also help prevent the person from feeling overwhelmed or upset. Swallowing difficulties can be a common issue for those with dementia due to the decline in muscular dexterity and coordination as well as forgetting to swallow. Reminding the person to swallow can be helpful when done in a compassionate and gentle way. To help prevent swallowing issues, caregivers should ensure that food is cut into small pieces and is soft enough for the person to eat. Grinding or blending food or offering soft foods such as yogurt, mashed avocado, sweet potatoes, and bananas can be helpful in making food easier to swallow. See Dementia, page 8 has made an indelible mark on nearly every El Segundo high school cross country record and several track distance events. He is a relentless, highly competitive athlete and always striving to improve. In his four years on the cross country team, he shaved three full minutes off his three-mile time from his freshman year to running a 14:39.2 his senior year.

Luca takes his 4.1 GPA and honor roll status to UC Santa Barbara and plans on studying computer engineering while running for the Gauchos. He says he is committed to being one of the top runners for the Gauchos, so he continues to push himself. He will be running distance events for the Eagles this spring to help him keep his competitive edge.

Marly Smith, Villanova (Volleyball)

Marly is a four-year standout for the Eagles and has been the team's captain as a junior and senior. She comes from an athletic background where her brother excelled in water polo, her mother was a standout volleyball player, and her grandfather was a pitcher in the Los Angeles Dodgers organization.

Marly will undoubtedly be one of El Segundo high school volleyball's finest players in the program's history. She is a three-time all-league selection, two-time All-South Bay, two-time All-CIF, the school record for most kills, and the team's MVP. Marly is also a member of the Beach Volleyball team and is a decorated track and field athlete. She is the record holder for the girl's high jump and has advanced to two CIF track finals.

Marly, who is an Honor Roll student, will attend Villanova and play for the Wildcats in a competitive Big East Conference while studying Psychology and Criminology.

Alexander Cole, Purdue University (Swimming)

Alexander says he has been swimming since he was nine years old. Over the years, he became increasingly serious as he competed at every level. In high school, he became a sensation and, as a sophomore, swam a 1:40.46 in the 200-yard freestyle and 500-yard freestyle in 4:34.39 and earned his SoCal Swimming Futures cut in both events. He is a USA Swimming Scholastic All-American and was the school's Athlete of the Year in swimming. He says his favorite high school moment was the team placing fourth at the CIF Southern Section Division 2 meet.

Alexander has been on every Honor Roll since middle school. He will pursue a degree in Business Management at the University of Purdue while swimming for the Boilermakers in the Big Ten Conference.

Madison Reed, Gonzaga (Rowing)

Madison is believed to be one of the first El Segundo high school students to accept a scholarship and compete in the sport of rowing. She has been rowing competitively for many years and has embraced the sport so much it has become her passion. With

The Eagles placed fourth in the prestigious TNT Tournament. her four years as an Honor Roll student, she will take her brilliance in the classroom and her athleticism to Gonzaga University to row for the Bulldogs. She will join a team that competes at a high level at the Division 1 level in the West Coast Conference. Madison will study the Master of Science in nursing, which Gonzaga is ranked in the top ten nationally.

Maya Jaeger, George Mason University (Lacrosse)

Maya is another student/athlete who comes from an athletic family. Her brother Mason was a standout water polo player who is playing for the Santa Clara Broncos. Maya has been involved in playing lacrosse since she was 12 years old. She enjoyed the sport so much that she played in youth leagues and found her niche as a midfielder. She has been a standout for the Eagles and says helping to bring the school its first league championship was one of her favorite moments as a junior. She was also recognized and selected to the National Select California team and an all-league selection last season.

Maya, who has excelled as a midfielder, says she will likely play defense for the George Mason Patriots. To wrap up her senior year, she is looking forward to helping to lead the Eagles back to the CIF playoffs this season. Maya will take her 4.0 GPA to George Mason to study and earn her degree in psychology. In the future, she says she would embrace coaching lacrosse.

Alyssa Mullane, Marist College (Water Polo)

There is a common thread among student-athletes who excel in the classroom and their sport. They come from an athletic family, and Alyssa is no different. She has been an athlete all her life, especially in the pool. Alyssa started her journey toward earning a water polo scholarship when she was nine years old. Alyssa was a natural in the pool, much like her older sister Christina. They would train together and push each other, and it paid off. Christina was a highly decorated water polo player, who graduated in 2021, earned a scholarship, and is playing for the University of Hawaii. In her four years, Alyssa earned four all-league teams, earned All-CIF first team, attended the USA Water Polo National Selection camp, was a 2022 Junior Olympics Gold medal winner, and was an Academic All-American. Alyssa says her favorite high school moment was celebrating with her teammates when they defeated Oxnard 13-7 in the 2022 CIF finals.

Alyssa will take her talents as one of the top water polo players to Marist College, which is located in Poughkeepsie, New York, and study Media Design.

Softball Team Earns Fourth Place in Tournament

The Eagles completed play in the TNT Tournament in Torrance. The tournament draws some of the top teams in the CIF Southern Section, and the Eagles advanced to the semi-finals by defeating Bishop Montgomery, Mira Costa and Torrance. They lost a nail-biter to Grand Terrace when the Titans, trailing 2-1 in the sixth inning, scored four runs and held off the Eagles 5-2. In the third-place game, El Segundo faced 2022 Division 1 finalist Gahr. The Eagles gave up four first-inning runs and were shutout 4-0. Sienna Mayer led the Eagles in hitting in the tournament by going 7-for-12 and is hitting a .611 on the year.

Baseball Team Splits

The Eagles split games in their tournament, losing 5-1 to Peninsula and defeating North Torrance 4-3. El Segundo committed five errors leading to three unearned runs, but their lack of timely hitting led to them scoring just one run. That run came in the seventh inning when Luis Church scored from second base on a fly ball by Dylan Immel.

Coming off the loss to Peninsula, the Eagles scored three third-inning runs to take a 3-1 lead against North Torrance. Anthony Temesvary's two-run error scored Lucas Bonham and Hudson Comer. In the fifth inning, Comer's RBI double-scored Immel to give the Eagles a 4-2 lead. The Saxons made it close in the seventh inning by scoring a run, but Mateo Heredia got out of the jam to save the game for Luke Elward, who earned the win. •

Drinking fluids can be another challenge for individuals with dementia, and using a straw may be difficult and even dangerous. Instead, caregivers should offer small sips from a cup, and offer drinks of different temperatures – warm, cold, and room temperature – to see which might be easiest for the person to drink.

Encouraging and empowering feeding themselves as much as possible during meals can help maintain their independence and dignity. Hand-over-hand guidance can be an effective way to support the person if they need it while still providing a sense of agency and self-sufficiency. Although this process can be draining and time-consuming, it is essential to avoid rushing the person or using negative language, as this can create more stress and anxiety for both the caregiver and the person with dementia. It is perfectly fine and even encouraged to take a little extra time both during and after mealtimes to let both food and emotions settle. As part of this process, make sure that the person is in an upright, seated position during the meal and for at least 20 minutes after the meal.

Feeding a loved one with dementia can be a challenging experience for caregivers. However, by using the right strategies and holding compassion for everyone involved, it can become a more positive and manageable experience. It's important to be patient, kind, and understanding during meal times, and to create an atmosphere of joy, support, and peaceful energy. Offering small bites of soft food, feeding from the side, and encouraging independence can all help maintain the person's dignity and improve their quality of life. By providing compassionate care, caregivers can help make mealtimes a positive and enjoyable experience for both themselves and their loved ones with dementia. •

Aftersun

It's hard to believe that Aftersun is director Charlotte Wells' first feature. The mastery of craft and the confidence to let her actors, Paul Mescal and Frankie Corio, explore their characters on screen is something that usually comes with years of experience. It's no surprise that the Best First Feature award went to Wells, who generously shared the honor with her filmmaking crew. Aftersun tells the story of a young, single father and his daughter on holiday before she is set to return to her mother's house and start up the school year. Wells so effortlessly captures the innocence of childhood memories and the unbreakable bond between father and daughter. Aftersun still remains among Cinemacy's favorite films of 2023, and clearly, the rest of the independent film community agrees. We're all excited to follow Wells' career and are looking forward to seeing what she does next. Aftersun is available to rent on Apple TV and Amazon.

Women Talking

Director Sarah Polley and her incredible cast of actors took home the Robert Altman award for best ensemble. Sarah and her casting director John Buchan, who also happens to be her brother, accepted the honor by acknowledging the strength and power of the women who turned Miriam Toews' novel into a force of nature on screen. Women Talking tells the story of a group of women within an isolated religious community who grapple with reconciling a brutal reality with their faith. Starring Claire Foy, Rooney Mara, Jessie Buckley, Judith Ivey, and Frances

McDormand. Women Talking is available to rent on Apple TV and Amazon.

All the Beauty and the Bloodshed

Winner of Best Documentary, All the Beauty and the Bloodshed is a standout, revelatory addition to the growing number of films raising awareness around the opioid crisis. Academy Award-winning filmmaker Laura Poitras (Citizenfour) uses her gifts as a documentarian to tell the story of renowned photographer and activist Nan Goldin, whose mission has become to seek justice against the Sackler family, the pharmaceutical dynasty who was greatly responsible for the opioid epidemic's unfathomable death toll. Interweaving rare footage and intimate interviews, All the Beauty and the Bloodshed is a tough watch told in a tender way. All the Beauty and the Bloodshed is streaming on DirectTV, available to rent on Amazon and YouTube. •
