Sailor Bill Watkins: Charting a Course for the El Segundo Community for 60 Years.

By Duane Plank

We usually have a formula for these popular Herald profiles: Start with bio information on the subject, chronicling their careers and conquests; sprinkle in a quote or two from folks in their circle of acquaintances; then relay tidbits about the subject's life in El Segundo.

Today, we shall flip the script a bit. Off the top, here are what some folks say about El Segundo's iconic educator, citizen, and sailor, Bill Watkins.

Jim Garza, currently the principal at Torrance's Bishop Montgomery High School: "My relationship with Bill goes back over 40 years. Since Bill is a former outstanding English teacher, I can still tell you every novel we read in his class; I think he would appreciate a Shakespearean reference, "One man in his time plays many parts," Garza emailed, "and Bill has done that for our lovely community. First as a teacher, then as a school administrator, serving as Superintendent, then as a long-term board member. Over the years, I have shared the stage with him, first as a student, then as a fellow administrator, and finally as a board member. The one constant for Bill has been his commitment and appreciation of our very special town and in particular, his dedication to the students of the ESUSD."

Here is what Dr. Melissa Moore, the Superintendent of the El Segundo Unified School District (ESUSD), has to say about Watkins: "Dr. Watkins is an exceptional leader, ESUSD historian, and elder statesman who can always be counted on to provide positive affirmation and validation," Moore emailed. "He has a unique perspective, having served in numerous positions within the school district. [including] as a member of the Citizen's Bond Oversight Committee. His wisdom and commitment to ESUSD are simply remarkable. I will forever be grateful to Bill for the opportunity to serve as Superintendent, as he was one of the five who hired me. His service has indeed truly made a long-lasting difference in the lives of our students!"

Adds longtime teacher and current ESUSD school board member Paulette Caudill: "I have known Dr. Watkins for 34 years. He hired me for a teaching position at El Segundo High School, for which I have always

Sam Lee Brings El Segundo into the Art World

By Kiersten Vannest

"When you think about programs that have an art component in it... whenever there's any sort of limited funds, it's usually the art that's cut from the program."

Sam Lee is the arts and culture coordinator for the city of El Segundo. A very educated man with a long history of art in his background, Lee is working to incorporate art into the community through programs, integrations, commissions, and partnerships.

"Art is used to inspire. It's used to protest, it's used to celebrate, it's used to reflect the communication it's depicting," he says. From childhood, Lee was always interested in visual arts. With an eye for beauty and a taste for talent, he is meant for his job. However, entering college, his journey nearly led down a different path.

Starting out school, Lee was studying for a business degree. Throughout freshman year, though he excelled, he wasn't quite where he wanted to be. Something was missing. He was close but not quite there. That's when he found art history.

In his sophomore year, he fully embraced his love of art and art history and went on to complete his major in the field. From there, he went directly into working for nonprofits and museums like LACMA and several other prominent museums in San Francisco and Los Angeles. As a registrar

Janice Ada Peebles

Jan Peebles passed away suddenly of a broken heart on March 25, 2022, one day before her son's memorial. She was loved by many and missed by all.

Jan was born on June 27, 1943 in Berkeley, CA, and lived her formative years in Long Beach, CA. She graduated with a teaching credential from Cal State Long Beach in 1963 and moved to El Segundo with her first husband, Tom Pickard, and two children, Kelly and Don, in 1967. After the children entered school, Jan began her teaching career at Center Street School in El Segundo in 1971 and continued with the district for over 30 years. In addition to being a teacher, many knew Jan (or later found out) that she was Mrs. Claus in the El Segundo Christmas parade. Jan loved to decorate her home and entertain, especially during Christmas. She was generous in spirit and bought thoughtful gifts for everyone. Her legacy is her family, as well as the hundreds of children that she taught in El Segundo.

She is preceded in death by her mother and father, Thelma Smith and James Heaton; her second husband of 22 years, Daniel David Peebles; and her son, Don Curtis Pickard. She is survived by her sister, Jimmie Inkman and her husband Ed; son Kelly and his wife Kimberly; three granddaughters, Hannah Pickard, Laura Pickard, and Leona Pickard; two grandsons, Benny Pickard and Tom Pickard; as well as children and grandchildren from her second marriage. Services are planned at Douglass Mortuary in El Segundo on Saturday, May 7 at 2:30 pm. The family thanks the community for their love and support. •

Historic and Scenic Train Rides in the West (Part I)

Travel at a Slower Pace with These Locomotives from an Earlier Era

May 10, 2019, marks the 150th anniversary of the completion of the nation's first transcontinental railroad. When the ceremonial gold spike was driven in at Promontory Summit, Utah, joining the Central Pacific and the Union Pacific rail lines, traveling coast to coast became easier and faster, opening the West to more settlement, commerce, industry, and tourism. Vacationers from other parts of the country rode the railroad to see the stunning landscapes of the West—the buttes, canyons, deserts, and mountains. Now, more than a century later, tourists are still seeing these landscapes by train. On these historic railroads, watch soaring trees or rolling vineyards pass by your window as you view a new angle on the American West.

Grand Canyon Railway

Round-trip length: 65 miles
Time: 2 hours and 15 minutes
Price: From $45 for adults and $33 for children

Info: 928-635-4010; thetrain.com

What you'll see: Ride aboard a century-old route that departs from Williams, Arizona, and heads north to the South Rim of the Grand Canyon, as musicians and cowboy characters entertain you. You'll have a choice of several types of cars (some with air-conditioning), including restored 1920s Pullmans and 1950s railcars. Overnight packages with stays at the Grand Canyon Railway and Hotel are available.

Who it's for: Everyone, including families with children of all ages. AAA members save 15 percent off train, hotel, and RV park reservations year-round, and 20 percent on the AAA "Rails to the Rim" and "Rails to Rim Plus" packages.

What's special: Every year through December and into early January, hop on the annual Polar Express and travel 90 minutes to the "North Pole," located near Williams, Arizona. Mr. Claus and his reindeer greet those on the "nice list" with a holiday present. While sipping on hot cocoa and eating freshly baked chocolate chip cookies, passengers will get into the Christmas spirit as they listen to a reading of the Chris Van Allsburg story of "The Polar Express." (Note: Spots tend to fill up quickly.)

Girls' Eagles Softball Showing Their Potential

By Gregg McMullin

This season, the El Segundo high school's softball team's rise has displayed the type of promise that most thought could be possible. After missing out on the CIF Southern Section playoffs a season ago and losing five starters to graduation, this team was expected to be good. How good remained to be seen but with arguably the best catcher in the South Bay and a dominant pitcher, the Eagles had the potential to be successful. One legendary coach once said, "The potential one has only means they haven't arrived at their successful level yet. "John Stevenson's words remind us where this season's softball team has come from and has arrived at its potential.

The Eagles play in one of the most competitively balanced leagues in the South Bay. They have played a demanding non-league schedule, are 17-3 overall, and are ranked fourth in the latest CIF Southern Section Division 2 polls. So how did a team that lost so many starters become so well respected and one of the South Bay's top teams? The potential they had, the improvement of several players, and the addition of new players that have reached their potential have created a recipe for success.

The Eagles were to play South Torrance, See Eagles, page 6

Allie Stevenson turns on a fastball and drives in a run against Bishop Gorman. The Eagles blanked the Gaels 8-0.

El Segundo Girls 12U Softball Team Wins South Bay Tournament

El Segundo Girls Softball Spring Season is in full swing. This year teams are starting at the 6U level and going to 14U. The Gundo Girls are fortunate to play friendly games and in local tournaments competitively.

This past weekend, the ESGS 12U Select Team took home the championship in the USA Softball LA/South Bay Select Tournament hosted by Torrance Girls Softball. The tournament included teams from Santa Monica, Torrance, Redondo Beach, and Manhattan Beach. The Gundo Girls earned first place in the 12U pool by beating Manhattan Beach 8 to 4 and then routing Santa Monica 22-0. They then moved on to the single-elimination round, where they again faced Santa Monica. The second time around, the Gundo Girls won easily 11 to 2. This win earned them a spot in the finals.

They played Manhattan Beach for a second time, as the bracket would have it. This time the game was much closer. Going into the last inning, the Gundo Girls led four to zero. Manhattan Beach rallied and earned three runs. However, El Segundo held them off and won four to three. It was quite a nail-biter! Congratulations to the Champion, 12U Select El Segundo Girls Softball team! Throughout this tournament, El Segundo scored thirty-five runs and only allowed nine.

The 12U Select team is Ava Waters, Brooke Englehart, Catherine Reed, Ella Sabosky, Grace Linares B., Kathleen Lane, Breezy Laurent, Layla Yermian, Madeline Ferrier, Maya Bonner, Molly McAndrews, Olivia Galaviz, Sadie Gramajo. They are coached by Steve Cleland, Matt Sabosky, Dave Reed and Brian Galaviz.

7 Days Finds the Heart in Sheltering In Place Together

By Ryan Rojas, Cinemacy (www.cinemacy.com)

Where to watch: Now playing in Los Angeles at AMC & Alamo Drafthouse Downtown.

Originally making its world premiere at the Tribeca Film Festival 2021, 7 Days is a feel-good, charming and heartfelt rom-com that perfectly captures this modern moment. It's a pretty conventional rom-com set-up that we've seen before: two young people go on an awkward first date, and when forces greater than them trap them together, must endure each other for much longer than anticipated.

But 7 Days adds to that simple setup. The film's writers-director Roshan Sethi, and one half of the film's stars' Karan Soni-give 7 Days its unique voice by crafting the central premise around experiences they both know well: the pressure felt by young Indian-Americans from their traditional parents to find their future spouses.

We soon find that Ravi (Karan Soni) and Rita (Geraldine Viswanathan), pleasant as they are in person, don't exactly attract.

The comedy comes quickly once they find themselves trapped together by COVID's shelter in place orders (the film was shot during the pandemic as well), and it's here where we find that there are some discrepancies in who their parents promoted them to be on their date.

Rita (Geraldine Viswanathan) turns out to be less than traditionally conforming, cracking a morning beer and stowing away to talk to her "daddy" while carelessly leaving her vibrator lying around the house. This shocks the straight-laced and more traditionally-minded Ravi (Karan Soni), on track for medical school and startled to see Rita's true colors.

Between the laughably awkward moments and reveals that Ravi and Rita experience together, 7 Days makes for a very funny time. Geraldine Vaswanathan adds her effortless appeal here, but it's Karan Soni who, as the hilariously effeminate and uptight Ravi, earns most of the laughs, each new reveal eeking out a quietly terrified reaction.

Past the cute setup, 7 Days takes on the more grim reality of COVID (impressively, director Roshan Sethi is also a doctor), and we are given a deeper emotional story than before. It's here when real life health concerns force Ravi and Rita to acknowledge the larger parts about their lives, with their anxieties about getting older and the pressure of finding their future spouses.

Although it all takes place in a single room, the film presents a much bigger scope of life and explore's how the world's bigger than ourselves. The single location does present a limited vision then what you might be familiar with, but it's also what allows the actors to be so comfortable. And it's so well-paced that it doesn't feel limited, exploring little moments like cooking food together and getting drunk in fun ways.

There's definitely not as much cinematic bravado as say, Netflix's Malcom & Marie, a much more self-serious and technically deliberate look at dating and exploring space within a single location. But here, watching Ravi and Rita is like hanging out with fun and affable friends, and the relaxed writing and performances all adds to the film's simple charms.

To these ends, 7 Days is impactful because of its accurate look at young people's mindsets, of which looking for love, completion and the future are all so present. It's also impactful because they track COVID's deadly progression along with the meet-cute story, which is a strange layer of reality to see so soon following the very real pandemic.

And yet, 7 Days remains a fun, easy-to-watch romantic comedy that's straight up funny, going for every laugh it goes for, before becoming a sincere and heartfelt story on relationships in the age of a pandemic. It also leaves you wondering, how am I going to live after COVID? Who will I choose to be, and who will I choose to love? Will I choose to play things more traditional and safe, or dare for something more in this new world full of possibilities?

Other People's Clothes by Calla Henkel

By Library Assistant Mary Martes

Zoe, an art student living in New York is adrift after losing her best friend to a gruesome crime. Ivy was her other half from childhood, her only real friend. Unable to concentrate enough to continue school, her career counselor advises her to go abroad as an exchange student. Although not her first choice, Zoe lands in Berlin along with fellow student Hailey. They have classes together but are not well acquainted. Being in a foreign city and unable to speak the language, Zoe is happy to team up with Hailey. Thus, begins their adventure.

Hailey is everything Zoe is not – outgoing, ambitious, well-traveled, fluent in German, and from a very wealthy family. Zoe is unsure of herself, attends art school on scholarship, and hails from a small town outside Orlando, Florida. Looking for a place to stay, they happen upon an old pre-war apartment with cavernous ceilings and architectural detail. Beatrice Becks is a bestselling crime thriller novelist who is attending a writer's retreat for the summer and wants to sublet the apartment. Hailey and Zoe quickly agree to move in despite the peculiar behavior of their landlord and her lookalike mother. As time passes, they notice that something is not right. Could Beatrice be spying on them as models for her next book? Hailey decides that if Beatrice wants to write a thriller using them, she will take control of the narrative. Drugs, debauchery and destruction result as their days become a routine of hangovers, club nights, and bohemian society. As the women dive deeper into questionable notoriety, Hailey becomes increasingly unhinged and Zoe is plagued with paranoia, seeing signs of Beatrice everywhere.

The pace of this book feels like a movie score. It starts off slowly, melodically, relaxing into the rhythm. The tempo begins to quicken as does your heart, and the story begins to accelerate, steadily becoming more urgent and dances like the characters with wild, joyous abandon. As the tension rises, a dissonance grows beneath and explodes with a shattering crescendo and a shuddering halt. And just when you think it is over, the slow, discordant notes end with a shocking inevitability.

If You are 50 and Older, You May be At Risk for Shingles

(BPT) - If you are 50 years of age or older, the virus that causes shingles is likely already inside of you. In fact, nearly all - 99% - of adults carry the virus that causes shingles, yet research has showed that only 7% of adults over 50 believed they were at an increased risk of developing the disease. But did you know there are steps you can take right now to prevent yourself from getting it?

Shingles, also known as herpes zoster, typically presents as a painful rash that develops on one side of the face or body. Shingles is caused by the reactivation of the varicella zoster virus (VZV), the same virus that causes chickenpox. After chickenpox, the VZV remains dormant in a person's system and can reactivate years later. This reactivation causes shingles.

Unfortunately, experiencing shingles can be an isolating and painful experience. More than 96% of people who get the disease experience acute pain, often described as aching or burning. The symptoms can cause significant disruptions in a person's day-to-day activities for up to several weeks.

People may also have long-term effects from shingles. Once the rash is gone, some people experience what is known as post-herpetic neuralgia (PHN) - a painful complication that can last for several months, and in rare cases up to several years. PHN is one of the most common complications of shingles, and occurs in anywhere from 5% to 30% of people who have had the disease.

As people age, natural immunity tends to wane and hinders the body's ability to prevent the virus from reactivating and causing shingles. This waning tends to happen around 50 years old but can occur earlier.

Ways To Build Your Credit History

(BPT) - Whether you just graduated or haven't been able to start building credit, you should know a lack of credit history can create difficulties down the road. Without a credit score or solid credit history, you may be unable to borrow money to buy a car, or could have trouble getting an apartment or job. Your credit history is viewed by many as not just a summary of your creditworthiness, but also trustworthiness, which is why some employers and landlords check your credit history. Credit histories take time to build, and to some degree may indicate to others how good you are at managing your money.

To build and improve your credit history, here are important tips to follow.

1. Use Credit - Carefully

Some may think using no credit is the way to a better credit score, but the opposite is true. Using a credit card to make small purchases, then paying them off on time is the best way to build your credit score.

Your score will improve due to how long you hold credit accounts, and also by:

- Making on-time payments every month
- Using no more than 30% of your available credit
- Not having too many lenders checking your credit at the same time
- Not applying for multiple loans or credit cards at one time

2. Plan Ahead to Pay Bills on Time

Use calendar reminders to keep track of payment due dates each month. If money is tight, contact creditors ahead of the due date to let them know you're having difficulties, and to ask about options like making a partial payment or changing the due date.

3. Apply for a Standard Personal Loan or Credit Card

Begin building your credit history by applying for a personal loan or a credit card. Keep in mind: Not all lenders will approve you without a credit history. Instead of applying to a bunch of credit card companies at once, which can hurt your credit score, seek lenders like Oportun who specialize in making loans to people with limited or no credit history. For example, the Oportun® Visa® Credit Card relies on A.I. and alternative data to underwrite hardworking people, many of whom are outside the mainstream. Unlike other card products available to financially responsible people with limited or no traditional credit history, the Oportun card is unsecured and offers credit lines starting up to $1,000.

"Our card provides individuals with a limited credit score the opportunity to start building a positive credit history and start them on their journey to financial success," said Gonzalo Palacios, Senior Vice President of Credit Cards, Oportun. "We are proud to say that our use of technology and A.I. is helping bridge the financial inclusion gap left by more traditional financial institutions."

The Oportun Visa Credit Card:

- Requires no credit history or security deposit
- Is available to financially responsible, hardworking people typically denied the opportunity, including those without a credit score, Social Security number or U.S. I.D.
- Is accepted worldwide, with no foreign transaction fees
- Includes 24/7 online account management, with support in English and Spanish
- Offers easy payment options: online, mail, phone or cash

the top-ranked team in the South Bay, but a rainout has delayed that match up for another couple of weeks. They did, however, face West Torrance in another key Pioneer League matchup. The Warriors ranked tenth in the CIF-SS Division 2, have a pitcher that throws hard and kept El Segundo off-balance with her breaking ball. The Eagles scored a first-inning run and one in the third inning and held off West Torrance in their 2-0 win.

In the first inning, Sammie Kleiger led off with a double and later scored on a sacrifice fly by Sophia Marrero. In the third inning, Maya Holtzman had a two single and scored on freshman centerfielder Allie Stevenson's triple to give the Eagles a 2-0 lead. It would be all the runs El Segundo would need. Bailey Douglass-Gertsch dominated in the circle by holding the Warriors' potent offense to just five hits while striking out seven in her complete-game victory.

El Segundo faced Bishop Gorman, the top-ranked team in Nevada's Division IV. The game was part of a tournament both teams were entered in. The Eagles were not daunted by the Gaels and scored an 8-0 win.

The Eagles scored early in the first inning when Kleiger reached an error and scored on a fielder's choice. They scored a six-run fifth inning and took advantage of three errors and two walks. Kleiger reached on an error and later scored on a throwing error. Stevenson had an RBI single, followed by freshman shortstop Sienna Mayer's RBI single to centerfield. Sara Stevens reached base on a five-pitch walk, and Miranda Sullivan's RBI walk made it 7-0. In the sixth inning, Sophia Marrero reached base on an error and scored on a sacrifice fly by Maya Holtzman to cap the scoring.

Three Eagles combined to shut out Bishop Gorman. Maiya Anderson started the game and looked solid in her three innings, allowing two hits. Douglass-Gertsch struck out two in her one inning, and Hailey Wantz completed the shutout by limiting the Gaels to a couple of hits and struck out two in her three innings.

The Eagles had this week off and host Lawndale next Wednesday at 3:15 p.m., North Torrance next Friday, and South Torrance on Monday, April 18.

Eagles Drop Pair to Torrance

In a key Pioneer League matchup, the El Segundo high school's baseball team dropped a pair of games to the Torrance Tartars, 7-2 and 10-5. The two losses hamper their chances of winning a league title for the first time since 2019. They aren't out of it yet because of the Pioneer League's evenly distributed talent and competitiveness the league has.

Sienna Mayer singled, stole second base, and scored in the fifth inning against Bishop Gorman.

Torrance took a 2-0 fourth inning lead en route to a 7-2 win over the Eagles in the first game. Ricky Ahumada singled and scored on Corey Nunez's RBI single, and he scored on the double by Matt Chavez.

The Eagles responded in the bottom of the inning with a four-hit inning but scored just one run. Dylan Immel had an infield single, and Jack Stoker had a single but was picked off at second base. Lucas Bonham's RBI single scored Immel to cut Torrance's lead to 2-1. Anthony Temesvary's single put runners in scoring position, but the Eagles failed to capitalize, and Torrance got out of the jam.

In the fifth inning, Mason Martinez's two-run single gave Torrance a 4-1 lead. El Segundo's rally at the bottom of the fifth was cut short. Zack Ekstrom had an infield single and scored on Immel's RBI single. But the rally fizzled out, and the Tartars escaped what could have been a big inning for the Eagles. Torrance would go on to score two more sixth-inning runs and one more in the seventh inning for a 7-2 win.

In the game at Kendall Field, the Eagles took a first-inning 2-0 lead. Jack Aguilera and Dylan Immel had singles and scored on Lucas Bonham's two-run double. Torrance replied with a sacrifice fly in the bottom of the first inning to cut the lead to 2-1. The Tartars evened the game in the fourth inning when Brock Mayer walked and scored on a sacrifice fly.

In the fifth inning, a potential big inning for the Eagles was cut short. Immel singled, Stoker reached on an error, and Bonham drew a walk to load the bases. Cooper Gamble's RBI walk gave the Eagles a 3-2 lead, but the rally soon evaporated. Torrance came up with a five-run fifth inning to take a 7-3 lead. In the El Segundo sixth inning, they made it closer by scoring two runs. Stoker's two-run single cut their deficit to 7-5. That would be as close as they would make it when the Tartars came up with three runs in the bottom of the sixth inning.

The Eagles opened their Orange County Spring Break tournament with a 3-2 win over Laguna Beach Hawks. They had their challenges in getting any offense going until the fifth inning. Trailing 1-0, Zach Ekstrom singled and scored on Dylan Immel's RBI single. Jack Stoker singled and stole second base, and both Immel and Stoker scored on Lucas Bonham's double to give the Eagles a 3-1 advantage. The Hawks loaded the bases in the bottom of the fifth but came away with just a sacrifice fly to cut the lead 3-2.

Josh Zarneke started for El Segundo and went five strong innings before giving way to Colby Sutherland. Both Zarneke and Sutherland worked out of jams by handcuffing the Hawks with timely strikeouts.

The Eagles continued their play in the tournament by facing Mira Costa on Monday, Ontario Christian on Tuesday, and Kennedy (La Palma) on Wednesday. They'll continue Pioneer League play next Wednesday at West Torrance and host the Warriors on Friday, April 15, at 3:15 p.m. •

Despite Growth in Digital Real Estate... You Still Need a Realtor

(BPT) - In one sense, technology has made real estate more accessible for both buyers and sellers. And yet, while everyone can see detailed property records on their phones or computer within seconds, not everyone can be a negotiator, price setter or resource. Home buyers and sellers can have difficulty navigating the expanse of information available, leaving many unsure how best to use this data to their respective advantage.

Bringing in an expert with a deep knowledge of the home buying process and marketplace is the most effective way for a homebuyer to ensure, for example, they can win a bidding war without overpaying for a home. In a 2020 study conducted by the National Association of REALTORS (NAR), more than 50% of buyers said agents helped them collect more valuable information from online listings than buyers could have uncovered on their own - saving time, money and stress.

According to NAR, 87% of buyers purchased their home through a real estate agent or broker, a share that has steadily increased from 69% in 2001. Similarly, home sellers can benefit from an agent's support in effectively pricing and marketing their homes. And while the human element will always be an important part of real estate, that doesn't mean tech isn't changing how that relationship works. "Real estate is local and, in most cases, hyper-local," Goldberg said. "While buyers and sellers may have some understanding of the market, REALTORS bring the experience, expertise and market intelligence that cannot be found from online sources."

There's substantial opportunity to integrate new technology into the buying and selling process, and real estate agents embrace these trends. Sellers and their agents now have the option to give up the traditional office environment and go fully virtual when they meet to discuss marketing strategies and review paperwork. Drone photography now provides an added glimpse into a home. And virtual tours give prospective buyers from all over the world a chance to view a property.

One example of how technology is making the buying and selling process easier is through the use of electronic signatures. For 20 years, NAR has supported efforts to legalize eSignature broadly and in particular for the real estate industry. Today, DocuSign is one of the most well-known eSignature tools and empowers agents to better serve buyers and sellers by getting transactions done quicker and easier.

Technology today has provided consumers with access to more information than ever before, and for real estate agents, access to technology products and services enable a higher level of customer service. And in the process, consumers get the best of both worlds: Technology at their fingertips to get them started and real estate agents making sense of all that information and other technology to help people make the right choice about where to start a family, raise their children and build lifelong community. *

Napa Valley Wine Train

Round-trip length: 36 miles
Time: Lunch and dinner trains, 1.5-3 hours. Half- and full-day winery tours are also offered.

Price: From $150
Info: 800-427-4124; winetrain.com

What you'll see: You'll ride in luxury aboard restored 1915 Pullman carriages once used by the Northern Pacific Railway. The carriages have mahogany paneling, brass accents, etched-glass partitions, and armchairs that mimic first-class travel in the early 20th century. While rolling past vineyards, you will learn about the history of Napa Valley's wineries and restaurants.

Who it's for: People who love good food and fine wine. Family-friendly excursions offer multicourse gourmet meals and stops for tours and tastings (for those 21 years and older) at some of California's best wineries.

What's special: Cinco de Mayo marks the start of Tequila Train excursions, where passengers can sample tequila from Casa Dragones, a small producer in San Miguel de Allende, Mexico.

Bill Watkins

been grateful.

"There are so many traits that make him a legend at the ESUSD and within the entire community. I made a list and produced fifteen traits. My top five favorites," emailed Caudill, "a true gentleman, kind, positive, good-hearted, and warm-hearted."

"I always enjoy talking to him not only about education, but particularly about one of our shared interests - British cars! He is ready to help me keep the car running. He is just an all-around Good Guy!"

Watkins began teaching at El Segundo High School in 1963. Watkins said his mother was a schoolteacher while noting that he had other relatives who followed an education career pathway. As an English major in college, he later achieved a Doctor of Education in Institutional Management from Pepperdine University.

After returning from his first day of being a classroom teacher, he told his wife Carol, "I can't believe that they are paying me to do this, sit in a classroom and talk about books, novels, and stories."

Born and raised in Los Angeles, Watkins and his family also lived in South San Gabriel. Watkins's father scored a job in Inglewood, so the family relocated to the Del Aire area. He attended schools in what is now the Wiseburn Unified School District. He later graduated from Hawthorne High School, spent a couple of years at El Camino College, and continued on the higher-education pathway.

After receiving his teaching credential, Watkins worked for the L.A. Unified School District for one semester. He had a good friend of the family who, at that time, was the assistant principal at El Segundo High School and mentioned that one of the teachers at the school was going on a one-year sabbatical. Watkins jumped at the opportunity to join the ESUSD in 1963.

Once Watkins completed his first year at the high school, a teacher in the English department retired, so Watkins seized a permanent position. In 1965, he began coaching the school's tennis team. Moving forward to the 1979-80 school year, Watkins was installed as the activities/athletics director.

In 1980, he began serving as the school's assistant principal. Next, promotion to the principal position in 1984. He was the principal until 1994 when he took a position as the ESUSD's Director of Curriculum and Instruction. When the Superintendent position opened up in 1997, Watkins was selected to fill the job opening, where he served the district until his retirement in 2001.

Post-retirement, Watkins served on the El Segundo Educational Foundation (Ed!) board until he won election to the ESUSD school board in 2005. Watkins continued his community service on the school board until 2018. Not one to sit around idly when there are community service options, Watkins went back to work for the Ed! Foundation, chairing the Superintendent's Roundtable committee, and serving on the ESUSD Bond Oversight committee.

Kiwanis-sponsored organization, and faculty advisor from 1963-to 1979. He is still an active member of the Kiwanis Club, which he joined in the early 80s.

Watkins, who moved to El Segundo in 1972, married Carol in 1961. They have two children, Carrie, and Eric, who both graduated from El Segundo High School. And you can add five grandchildren to the Watkins family tree, two of which, Amanda and Eden, also matriculated through the ESUSD.

Watkins has reveled in watching his grandkids grow up. "One of the great thrills," he said, noting that daughter Carrie also selected the teaching profession, working in the Wiseburn Unified School District and that one of his granddaughters teaches in Tustin.

So, Watkins was asked, what makes El Segundo unique? "I think we offer a fabulous education," he said. "Since we have received such great benefits [in the ESUSD], we must pass that on to the next generation."

As devoted sailors for more than 60 years, Bill and Carol have garnered multiple ocean miles, traversing the waterways of the Mediterranean, the Caribbean, the South Pacific, and the California Coast. They are members of Marina del Rey's California Yacht Club. They also enjoy the rigors of paddle tennis, with Bill occasionally hitting the golf course. Watkins said the current state of his golf game is "OK, nothing spectacular. I just enjoy going out there and hitting the ball."

As a life-long educator, what does Bill Watkins see as the challenge facing educators in 2022 and beyond? "We must prepare the next generation for where they are going," he said, "and whatever the outside world expects of them."

For 60 years, Bill Watkins has gone beyond what the El Segundo community has expected of him and is not ready yet to sail off into the sunset. •

• Includes zero fraud liability for unauthorized purchases

By reporting repayment performance on its personal loans and credit card products to the major credit bureaus, the company has helped over 945,000 people begin establishing a credit history.

For more information and to apply, visit Oportun.com/credit-cards.

4. Become an Authorized User

Another way to start establishing credit is to become an authorized user on someone else's credit card account. You can do this by asking a friend or family member who has a good credit history to add your name to their account. This gives you the benefit of having that person's credit payments included on your credit report. Being an authorized user is a great way to help build a positive credit history.

5. Check Your Credit Score

By law, consumers are entitled to request a copy of their credit report by contacting any of the three major bureaus - Equifax, Experian and TransUnion. Checking your reports helps ensure that all the information is accurate, as well as showing you what factors may be impacting your score so you can make improvements.

Follow these tips consistently over time, and you'll be able to build a solid credit history - and a better future. •

Even if you're a healthy, active person, you can still be at risk for shingles. Approximately one in three people in the US will develop shingles in their lifetime. It's important that you consider your risk of getting shingles seriously and take action, so it doesn't impact your life.

Since shingles is caused by a virus that can lay dormant in a person's system, there is also a possibility of recurrence. Due to the nature of the virus, it's difficult to pinpoint whether or not someone could continue experiencing recurrences. If you've had it once and haven't taken action to protect yourself, you still have a risk of developing shingles again.

Since the shingles virus is inside of you, social contact is not a precursor for getting the disease. The risk is always there if you've had chicken pox. It is worth noting that if you never had chickenpox or received the chickenpox vaccine and you come into contact with the fluid from the blisters of the shingles rash, you can develop chickenpox. This could put you at risk of developing shingles later in life.

There are preventable steps that adults can take to protect themselves against the disease. All adults 50 years and older should speak with their doctor or pharmacist to learn more about how they can reduce their risk of shingles through vaccination. • for museums, he constantly coordinated with curators, art handlers, dealers, owners, and everyone in between, shipping priceless art between museums and ensuring proper care of pieces.

Lee's love for art goes far beyond the canvas. His love for artists and support for art integrations led him to save up money, bolster his experience, use his business knowledge, and open his own gallery in Chinatown. His gallery opened in 2007, and despite the Great Recession in 2008, he kept his doors open for six years, boasting over fifty exhibitions, and even opening a second location. His goal is always to promote artists and their work and bring art into his community in an accessible way.

After he chose to close his doors and move back into the nonprofit sector, he began working with Los Angeles County and the major transportation systems around the city, like the Metro. He implemented projects such as the digital art kiosks located in stations along the lines and worked with local artists to commission digital art to display on the kiosks.

"It was a way to humanize the space, you know, and enhance people's commuting experience," he explains. He worked on murals, digital art, and art integrations throughout his time there into an otherwise pretty sterile experience to give people an easy way to interact with art. At its best, it allowed travelers to stop and think about the piece and communicate with the artist through their work, and at its worst, it made each station more beautiful.

Meanwhile, as Lee was busy making the city a more pleasant place to exist, the city of El Segundo passed a very important ordinance in 2019. This ordinance would require all developments over two million dollars to dedicate 1% of their total budget to the arts, which could be completed in one of two ways. The first is to spend 1% of the budget on a commissioned piece of art on their campus that is accessible to the public. The second is to donate the total 1% to the arts fund in the city of El Segundo. That's where Lee comes in.

Lee is in charge of these funds and making art a prominent feature of this seaside town. Currently, the city has several initiatives and programs in the works, and they've already begun implementing some seasonal events, like last year's Festival of Holidays, where participants from El Segundo and beyond could participate in and learn about celebrations of many cultures from around the world, like Diwali, Hanukkah, Christmas, Kwanzaa and more. Last year, though promotions were low as the event was still new, they garnered over seven hundred guests.

Already there is a mural in the community room of the public library, painted by a Native

Sam Lee

American artist depicting the natural beauty of El Segundo. The piece stands about ten feet tall and forty-five feet long.

Recently, Lee's department reached out to citizens to participate in an art exhibition calling on artists around the city to paint a four-inch square canvas to be displayed with dozens of other submissions from around the city. The artwork was displayed, and as the show closed out, entrants were entered in a raffle and gifted one of the other artists' works. Lee hopes to make these events more widely known and more common.

When he was working for Metro, Lee often found his artists by pulling from a pool of local artists whose names, work, and style were already filed. To keep art local and encourage participation from artists around the South Bay, he's initiated a local artist pool. Applicants can submit their work to be in the pool of available artists.

He hopes to boost El Segundo as an art destination and increase its art tourism. In addition to visual arts, he coordinates performance art, like concerts in the park and poetry readings. He wants to incorporate open mics and use outdoor dining spaces as platforms for performing arts and written arts to thrive. An example he gives is poetry on the spot, allowing poets to set up a small table at a patio and have patrons give them a word or idea, to be given a poem about it immediately to keep.

Lee envisions the future of El Segundo to be colorful and beautiful, and thanks to him, a local art community is growing and thriving. •

Easy Chicken Biscuits

Provided by Campbells Soup Corp.

This Easy Chicken & Biscuits recipe only takes 5 minutes to prep, making it perfect for weekday dinners, and it's also a great way to use up leftover chicken or turkey! Easy Chicken & Biscuits is like pot pie in a skillet! While the oven is heating, quickly simmer chicken and vegetables in condensed cream of potato soup- the soup makes a rich and creamy sauce that brings the filling together. Then, right in the skillet, just top the filling with refrigerated biscuits (we cut them up so you get bites of biscuit scattered all over the top) and bake until golden brown.

Ingredients

- 1 can (10 1/2 ounces) Campbell's® Condensed Cream of Potato Soup or Cream of Chicken Soup
- 1 1/4 cups milk
- 1/2 teaspoon dried thyme
- 2 cups frozen mixed vegetables (carrots, green beans, corn, peas) (about 9 ounces)
- 2 cups cubed cooked chicken or turkey
- 5 unbaked refrigerated biscuits (about 10 ounce package biscuit dough), cut in quarters

Directions

- Step 1: Heat the oven to 400°F. While the oven is heating, stir the soup, milk, thyme, vegetables and chicken in a 10-inch ovenproof skillet. Season with salt and pepper. Heat over medium-high heat to a boil, stirring often.
- Step 2: Arrange the biscuits on the chicken mixture.
- Step 3: Bake for 20 minutes or until the biscuits are golden brown and done.

Tips

- For the easiest cooked chicken, substitute 3 cans (4.5 ounces each) Swanson® Premium White Chunk Chicken Breast in Water, drained, for the 2 cups cooked chicken.

NOTICE OF PETITION TO ADMINISTER ESTATE OF HANS LENNART OSVALD OLSSON

Case No. 22STPB02677

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the will or estate, or both, of HANS LENNART OSVALD OLSSON

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by Mikael Koltai in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that Mikael Koltai be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held on April 22, 2022 at 8:30 AM in Dept. No. 9 located at 111 N. Hill St., Los Angeles, CA 90012.

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A Request for Special Notice form is available from the court clerk.

PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Featured Pets of the Week

Provided by Hannah Collett, spcaLA

Brighten your day with Constance. She is an 11 month old female domestic short hair who likes to burrow, so get her a little hidey-hole cat bed and she's in heaven. She likes to cuddle, too, so don't be surprised if you have a lap buddy while watching your favorite British procedural on Masterpiece. https://

Nadia is a beautiful 5-year-old female Belgian Malinois mix looking for a new home. While here, she is exercising her working breed muscles by participating in training time to practice and build basic obedience skills. She would do best in a home with an experienced owner, without any other pets. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=LACA-A-3208>

Roxanne is a nice 1 year old female domestic short hair Tabby kitty who was abandoned by her owner. She would love a new home where she can have a cat scratcher, some tasty treats, and a nice companion to call her own. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=LACA-A-3432>

Happy dog Oliver came to spcaLA because his owner moved. Oliver is a 2 year old male Pitt Bull/Housend mix who is working on his basic obedience with the trainers while he waits for his second chance family. He is affable, has a great personality, and loves to play with toys. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=LACA-A-3432>
