Resident Helps Home and Business Owners Get Organized

By Brian Simon

It can be daunting, and many of us don't know where to start. For those lacking organizational skills, getting things together in the house or at the workplace might seem like a monumental and exceedingly difficult task. Enter Alex Holz, an El Segundo resident who started her business, Tap to Organize, LLC, a year and a half ago. A professional organizer since 2015, Holz has a simple goal. "I help people get their homes or offices beautifully organized, one space at a time," she said. "I can take a space from chaos to calm, making the environment more functional and efficient."

Although she was already organized as a kid and loved visiting The Container Store every chance she got, Holz noted that this line of work was never on her career radar--and she wasn't aware such a vocation existed. A South Bay native, she majored in Graphic Design at Cal Poly, San Luis Obispo, and landed her first job out of college in that particular field at the Eureka! Restaurant near SpaceX in neighboring Hawthorne. But her fortunes would change soon enough. "I started doing blog graphics for another home organizer, and at that time, organizing wasn't as saturated a market...so I didn't know it was a career option," she said. "I told her I liked organizing, so she put me on a job, and the rest is history."

Holz reported that business is going well so far but hopes to get the word out--especially considering that many people may not realize they can hire a professional organizer. In explaining the process of her service, she said it always starts with a home or office consultation where the conversation focuses on the particular space(s) to improve along with the clients' overall end goal. "Once I am on-site, I then take everything out of the space, categorize like items together, purge items that are no longer being used [she added that she even takes away donations] and finally organizes all of it back into the space utilizing bins, drawer dividers, and other useful products. The last stop is labeling to allow the clients to maintain order going forward. "I hope to touch as many homes as possible no matter what their budgets or circumstances are," Holz said. "From a simple purge to a whole house move-in, I hope to tailor my services to whatever stage of organization the client is at." Indeed, her client base runs the gamut in scope. For instance, she worked on a massive 12,000-square-foot home, but it can also go tiny. "The smallest areas I've organized were an under-the-stairs nook triangle space or a 12 1/2-inch-wide pantry," Holz said.

Holz is pleased to see a homeowner's stress level markedly drop once their space is free of clutter and in a sensible order. While she finds the job in general to be rewarding, some cases can be especially memorable and meaningful. "I helped an older woman move out of her home in the Palisades piece-by-piece because the thought of a big move in one day overwhelmed

Rules for Split Lots Changing

By Rob McCarthy

A 2024 state law is forcing California cities to rewrite their building codes for split lots and duplexes so they are treated the same as single-family homes. Because El Segundo currently uses different sets of requirements, city leaders have to make decisions about front doors, roof heights, and landscaping.

Community Development Director Michael Allen on Tuesday laid out the challenge facing city leaders in sorting out which design features to keep or throw out to comply with Senate Bill 450, enacted last year by Sacramento lawmakers. The purpose of the bill was simple: to remove barriers to developing more housing in classic residential neighborhoods with one home, a garage, and front and back yards.

In 2022, after California lawmakers approved SB 9, which cleared the way for more housing by allowing urban lot splits and accessory dwelling units, or ADUs, cities were told they could impose different requirements on ADUs and front houses with a second unit in the backyard. That's what El Segundo did.

The passage of SB 450 removed the flexibility given to cities, which now must make the development standards for R-1 single-family homes identical to those for R-2 developments with multi-family dwellings. It's up to each city whether to impose the R-1 standards covering front doors, front porches and landings, landscaping dimensions, and driveway widths or mix and match the different sets of building rules.

her,” she said. “So we’d meet weekly and take a carload of belongings to her new place in Beverly Hills until the house was practically emptied. We had planned to get the last load of miscellaneous items the day the fires broke out. I am truly grateful and humbled that her home survived and we were able to remove her memorabilia in time.”

Holz lives in town with her boyfriend and is thrilled to reside in El Segundo. “Everything is walkable, we are closer to the beach, and the atmosphere is a little more laid-back than other cities,” she said. Plus, The Container Store is only a few minutes away if she wants to visit her favorite old haunt. In addition to running her business, she is an ardent animal lover and parlays that passion into a sideline. “On the weekends, I am the manager at Down Dog Lodge, a local El Segundo doggy daycare,” she said. “I love dogs so much and seeing some of the clients out and about here in El Segundo when I’m walking.”

While readily available to set up an appointment, Holz was happy to share some tips with readers thinking about tackling an organizing project on their own. “I would recommend starting small,” she emphasized. “Using the closet as an example, don’t take everything out and throw it on the bed because then you will get overwhelmed. Start by category... one day, go through your shoes; the next, your hanging clothes; the next, your folded clothes. These small wins will give you confidence and make organizing a more rewarding experience.” •

“Ask Your Mother” Triumphantly Secures Third Place in Trivia Showdown

The rallying cry was: “We came. We answered. We conquered... third place, baby.” At the beloved El Segundo Brewport, <https://brewport-taphouse.com>, during the fiercely contested Tuesday Trivia with Budds, local legends Ask Your Mother fought through chaos, controversy, and countless obscure questions to claim a glorious third-place finish on April 29, 2025.

A team made up entirely of El Segundo dads, Ask Your Mother has built its reputation on two outcomes: collapsing spectacularly or nailing third with pinpoint precision. Tuesday night was a masterclass in the latter. Team Captain, Tom Galido along with Andy Wilkoff, Andy Haberman, Joey Medina, Adarsh Parekh, Tim Arnold, Cody Lee, and Stephen Lydic (out on injured reserve)—each contributing grit, questionable facts, and deep-cut pop culture knowledge to a hard-fought bronze finish.

“We play the game the right way,” said Galido in a post-match interview. “Tom Galido shows up every night with one goal—get this team to third. And that’s exactly what

Tom Galido did.”

The night wasn’t without controversy. An inadvertent error in Round 3 briefly threw the team into chaos. But the dads rallied.

“We faced adversity, man,” said Andy Haberman. “There was a moment when we thought we’d slipped to fourth. But you shake that off. You fight back. You remember the lyrics to Semi-Charmed Life. That’s what champions do.”

Joey Medina, who heroically corrected a Seinfeld reference, added: “At the end of the day, the other teams played well. They had a better night. But we’re built differently—we’re built third.”

As the final scores lit up the scoreboard, Ask Your Mother celebrated their rightful spot with a round of celebratory third-place drinks, toasting another chapter in their storied legacy of mid-tier dominance.

“First is pressure. Second is heartbreak. Third? That’s home,” said Andy Wilkoff, raising his glass. “We’re exactly where we want to be.”

ESHS Have Several Teams in CIF Playoffs

By Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo high school’s athletic department can be proud of several teams that have started their CIF Sothern Section playoff run and the rest that will. Both of the lacrosse teams, the boys’ volleyball and the girls’ sand volleyball teams, began their quest for a CIF championship. The baseball team clinched their Pioneer League championship, and the softball team kept pace for a co-league championship. The golf team won their second consecutive Ocean League title and improved to 20-0 on the season.

Boys’ Lacrosse Dominates First Round

The Eagles had a successful season, finishing second in the Ocean League, a half-game out of first. When the CIF-SS Division 2 playoffs were released, the schedulers were not kind to the Eagles. In the first round, they hosted the Orange Lutheran Lancers, one of six teams from the highly competitive Trinity League to advance to the playoffs. After a competitive first half in which the Lancers held a 5-4 advantage, the Eagles dominated the second half and came away with a 13-5 win.

The Eagles trailed 5-3 in the second period when Nico Maffucci scored with two minutes remaining in the half to make it 5-4. Midway through the third quarter, Oliver Childs tied the game at 5-5. Cole Hajt, who scored six goals to lead the Eagles, blistered a shot into the net to give the Eagles a 6-5 lead.

The Eagles scored a whopping seven third-period goals, led by Hajt, who scored two goals in the final two minutes of the period to put the Eagles up 11- 5. In the fourth period, Luka Pavlovic got into the scoring column when he scored with 5:37 remaining. Hajt

El Segundo Beach Volleyball Duo Clinch Back-to-Back Titles and Head to CIF

El Segundo High School students Lundin Leitch (sophomore) and Macy Ludwig (junior) continue to make waves on the sand. The dynamic beach volleyball duo recently went undefeated in league play and claimed the title of League Pairs Tournament Champions for the second year in a row — a rare and impressive accomplishment.

Their strong chemistry, relentless work ethic, and consistent dominance along with the success of their team has once again earned them a spot in the CIF team playoffs, with both athletes also qualifying for the highly anticipated CIF Pairs Tournament, set to take place on May 6. Lundin and Macy have become a force in the South Bay volleyball scene, and the El Segundo community will be cheering them on as they represent their school at the next level incredibly proud and excited by this. Coming in as the top seed added some pressure—thanks to our team finishing first in league and our tournament win last year—but we embraced the challenge. Our success this year and last definitely put a target on our backs, and we knew defending our title wouldn't be easy. But all the hard work, practice, and trust in each other really paid off.

How are you feeling heading into CIF?

We're super excited—not just for ourselves as a pair but for our team as a whole. Last year, we barely made it out of league and lost a tight match deep in CIF, which left us really hungry to come back stronger. This season feels different. We've grown a lot, and having such a young team with almost everyone returning has been a huge advantage. We're going into CIF with fire and confidence, and we're ready to give it everything.

What advice would you give to younger players who want to compete at this level?

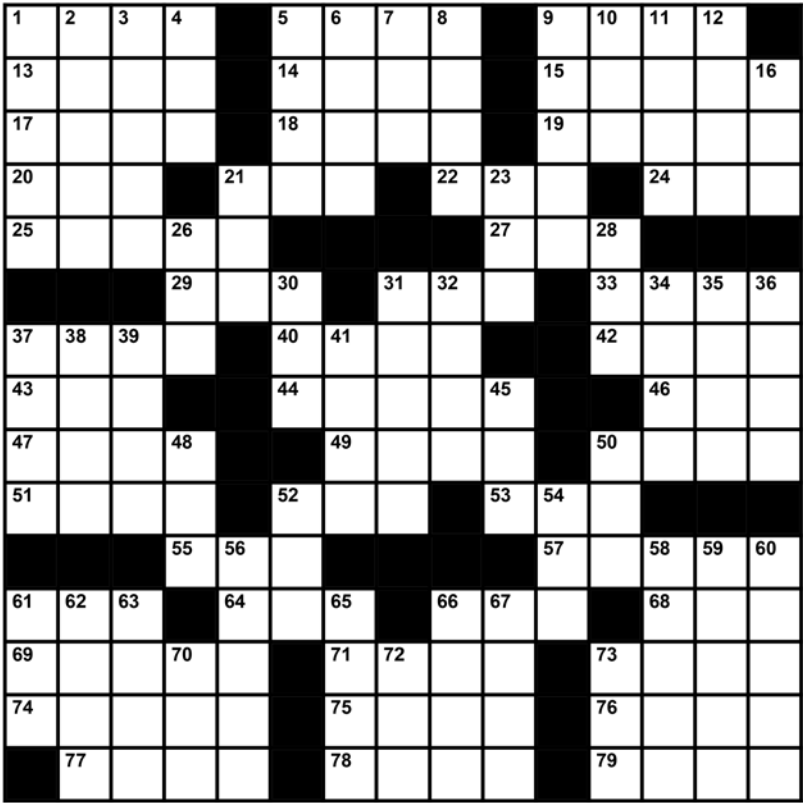

Keeping it fun is seriously the biggest thing we could recommend to younger players. Get involved in club, try both beach and indoor, and see which you gravitate to most. Don't worry about picking one too early. Living in the “volleyball mecca” can be intense, and it's easy to burn out if you take it too seriously too soon. Enjoy the game, enjoy your teammates, and trust the process!

City Council

At Tuesday’s meeting, a sticking point for City Council members was how new homes should be landscaped. The current aesthetic for split lots calls for at least one 24-inch box tree to be planted in front of the main house and two trees on a wider lot. Single-family homes have no such requirement.

The council has a choice to make: either withdraw the tree requirement altogether or expand it to R-1 and R-2 new construction. Mayor Pro Tem Ryan Baldino got the tree discussion rolling, saying he watched the Planning Commission draft its recommendations to comply with SB 450. Out of that meeting came a suggestion that El Segundo keep the duplex-ADU tree requirement and apply it to single-family homes. The commissioners agreed that all new home construction would feature at least one tree in the front yard.

Baldino said that while he supports requiring landscaping and front-facing porches on all new homes, a tree requirement on new homes would interfere with homeowners’ rights to choose their preferred landscape. He was a planning commissioner who helped get the ADU-specific building codes enacted.

He recalled how the Planning Commission hired an architect after SB 9 to draft objective standards so that subdivided lots didn’t “destroy the residential feel of a neighborhood. “Then, lawmakers in Sacramento decided that building requirements on duplexes and ADUs had to apply to R-1 homes, too.

“Not everybody’s a tree guy,” he said. “I can be persuaded either way on the box tree, but right now, I’m leaning toward less is more. Just having the minimum percentage of landscaping is probably sufficient.”

Michelle Keldorf, who also was a planning commissioner with Baldino before being elected to the City Council, said the trees were viewed as a way for new construction to blend with El Segundo’s tree-lined neighborhoods. She said the Planning Commission wanted a duplex or split lot to share the mature appearance of El Segundo’s existing housing. Trees are important to residents, she added.

“I know how sad everybody gets when we take down a tree,” Keldorf said, sounding in favor of a tree in front of every new single-family home in El Segundo.

Councilman Drew Boyles gave a hard no to the Planning Commission’s recommendation to expand the tree-planting requirement to new R-1 homes, while Councilman Lance Giroux said he supported the recommendation. Mayor Chris Pimentel indicated he’d go along with the Planning Commission’s wishes.

Under existing building codes for split lots, one of the two housing units must be affordably priced, a provision that will likely be eliminated when the council makes a final decision at its next meeting. All R-1 and split lots would have the same roof heights: 26 feet for flat roofs and 32 feet for pitched ones.

Front doors must face the street on the front houses of a unit lot, which could also become the standard for single-family homes. El Segundo’s building codes are currently silent about front door placement on traditional homes. Under the proposal, front doors opening onto the porch could face away from a street.

The blending of building codes also covers driveways, second-story heights, roof heights, porches or verandas, garages, and floor-area maximums. In most cases, the Planning Commission thinks the R-1 standards should replace the current R-2 codes.

The council also considered a second building-related proposal to delay collecting permit fees on new construction until the building is ready for occupancy. Under a fee-deferral program presented by Development Director Allen, developers would pay permit fees upfront only for immediate city services and staff time. He said no other city offers a deferral program for development permit fees.

The council adopted a similar change recently to the one percent Cultural Arts Development fee the city collects on new building projects to fund public art. Before, developers paid the public art fee upfront as part of the permitting process. Still, the new program allows them to make the payment when the city issues a certificate of occupancy after completing the final inspection.

Allen said no other city offers a deferral program for development permit fees, which could help El Segundo attract new businesses by easing developers’ cash flow during construction. The Beach Cities’ Media project on Rosecrans, for a 220,000-square-foot creative-arts office building, is paying the city $1.5 million in fees, Allen estimated. The council voted to bring back the proposal for a final decision at its next meeting.

In other council matters:

The city’s annual survey results, which measure satisfaction with city services, were revealed. Nearly 1,300 residents and businesses responded. Residents didn’t see much improvement over the past 12 months and cited air quality, parking, odor, and noise as their chief concerns.

The city’s businesses reported some improvement and praised City Hall for its business license renewal process. Services that could be better include more parking, the cost of business licenses and water, and public safety.

The Parks and Recreation Department revealed plans to launch an after-school program. According to Director Aly Mancini, who oversees parks and library services, parents have reportedly asked for a city-sponsored after-school program like the Camp Cowabunga summer camp. The council will form a committee to study the after-school kids’ proposal, which could start in the fall and operate year-round.

Bob Motta was named the city’s 2025 Older American of the Year as part of May’s May observance of Older Americans Month. He is a longtime Babe Ruth baseball coach and Recreation and Parks Commission chairman. An Elderfest celebration will be held Saturday from 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at the Joslyn Center at Rec Park “to honor all seniors who have given generously of their time and talent to improve the quality of life for all in El Segundo,” according to a proclamation read by Mayor Pro Tem Baldino. •

Lovely One by Ketanji Brown Jackson

By Kristen Morell, Librarian

This week I will be reviewing one of my favorite memoirs that I have read in the past year, Lovely One by Ketanji Brown Jackson. As the first female African American Supreme Court Justice, Ketanji Brown Jackson is an inspiration to many. We learn that the title of the book, Lovely One, is actually the English translation of her first and middle names, Ketanji Onyika. Ketanji shares that her aunt helped name her and drew inspiration from her travels to Africa. We learn that since her early beginning, we learn that her parents made strategic moves, literally, to improve the trajectory of their family’s lives. The sacrifices her parents make pay off as Ketanji later attends Harvard for both her undergraduate and law degrees. We learn not only about her personal sacrifices but she discusses the proud yet painful history of the African American experience in relation to achieving their dreams. We learn about Ketanji’s academic career from elementary school through law school and later her career including notable positions in public and private legal practice. She illustrates how all her experience led to her ultimate role as Supreme Court Justice and highlights the sacrifices it took to get there. We also learn about Ketanji’s own family, her husband, a surgeon and her two daughters. Brown Jackson discusses the importance of the village she and her husband created as two very busy working parents. While I personally listened to this book, which I highly recommend since Supreme Court Justice Brown Jackson narrates it herself, I think it would also be a page turner in print or eBook format. To check out this book, visit the El Segundo Public Library or download the Libby app to check it out. •

The Eagles played the Chargers close in the first half and trailed 7-5 before the Chargers outscored El Segundo 8-2 and defeated the Eagles 15-7. The loss ended the Eagles’ successful season.

Girls’ Lacrosse Earns Top Seed

The Lady Eagles won the Ocean League with an impressive 13-6 overall record against some marquee teams. They were rewarded by receiving the top seed for the CIF-SS Division 2 playoffs. After a first-round bye, they faced the West Ranch (Valencia) Wildcats in the second round and ended with an exciting 19-16 win.

The game was a back-and-forth affair and came down to a late fourth-quarter swing that went the Eagles way. The play of the game came with just over six minutes remaining, and the Eagles were ahead 17-16. With the Eagles in possession with goalie Kyra Snell in charge, she made a long pass to Lailah Guzman near centerfield, who raced downfield and scored to make it 18-16. Tessa Tipton, who led the Eagles with seven goals, punctuated the victory with a goal late in the fourth quarter.

The Eagles advanced to the quarterfinals played this past Tuesday. Should the Eagles win, they would play on Friday on the road against the winner of the Huntington Beach/Palos Verdes matchup

Boys’ Volleyball Wins in Five Games

The Eagles may have entered the CIF-SS Division 2 playoffs as an at-large team, but they demonstrated they belong. They went on the road and defeated the West Ranch (Valencia) Wild Cats in five games: 25-21, 24-26, 22-25, 25-19, and 15-9 to advance to the quarterfinals last night. A win would send the Eagles to a semi-final at home against the winner of the Mater Dei/ Edison match.

3-2 loss to the San Joaquin League’s top team in the quarterfinals.

El Segundo had its most successful season in program history. It ended with a 13-4 record, its first Pioneer League title, and an advance to the CIF-SS Division 2 quarterfinals.

Golf Team Poised for another Title Run

Head coach David March says that each year, on the first day of school, the team meets and votes on the team goals for the season. This season, the group had four very clear goals: win the Ocean League Team Championship, win the Ocean League Individual Championship, have a perfect season, and get placed into CIF-SS Division 1 for the playoffs.

Each of those lofty goals was met. The Eagles ran the table to a 20-0 season record, winning the Ocean League for the second consecutive season, winning the league individual championship, and will most likely be placed in Division 1 when the CIF playoffs get underway. Coach March said, “These goals gave us our “why”. We pride ourselves on being the hardest-working golf team, and our why drives our vision.”

With the new format of competitive equity in CIF sports, each league is assigned anywhere from 4-12 individual spots for the CIF-SS Individual golf playoffs. The Ocean League had five players ranked in the top 360 players (all from ESHS). Each team in the Ocean League brings players to a professional style two day golf tournament. On Day 1, the top 12 players advance to Day 2, where the top five total move on to the CIF-SS Individual playoffs.

The Eagles had eight players shoot in the 70s including the top five. The two-day totals for each player moving on included Shaan Ty Patel - Ocean League Champion 75/70 - 145(+1), Lukas Da Silva - second place 72/74 - 146(+2), Ronald Lemus - third place 76/72 - 148(+4), Joey Schobel – fourth place 75/73 - 148(+4) and Remy Romero – fifth place 74/77 - 151(+7). Jack Harris, Andre Sugden, and Matias Alcocer Arauz advanced to the second day but were not top five. Each of the top five will move on to the CIF- SS Individual playoffs. Round one is Thursday, May 15, at Los Robles Golf Course in Thousand Oaks. The CIF-SS Division 1 Team Championship is slated for Monday May 19, at El Dorado Golf Club.

Baseball Team Leans on Quaintance for Victory and Wins League Title

There was a lot riding on the game when the Eagles faced the Peninsula Panthers on the road in a Pioneer League match up. An El Segundo win would assure the Eagles of at least a co-league championship. The Panthers gave the Eagles one of their two league losses and aimed to give them another loss to spoil their day. But the Eagles leaned on Lincoln Quaintance to bail them out with a dramatic homerun and a 3-1 win.

Caleb Kim made his second start of the season and made the most of it. He gave up one run on two hits and struck out four before giving way to Porter Robbins. Trailing 1-0 in the seventh and struggling at the plate Ben Lee led off with inning with just the Eagles’ second hit of the game and Chase Mattoon drew a walk bringing up Lincoln Quaintance with two outs. Quaintance wasted no time and belted a 1-0 fastball over the center field fence, giving the Eagles a 3-1 lead and ultimate win.

The Eagles celebrated their seniors on Senior Appreciation Day. The seniors included Reed Abrams, Ethan Ayler, Robert Cantu, Tyler Cohen, Sam Forthuber, Ben Lee, Brendon Pate, RJ Puffer, Porter Robbins, Anders Tipton, and Kyle Whalen. After a brief pre-game ceremony, the Eagles went out and scored a 7-1 win over the Panthers, clinching the program’s thirty-seventh league title and first since 2019.

Softball Team on a Roll Wins Pioneer League

The Eagles have been focused on winning the program’s first league title since 2018. With their 6-1 win over the Torrance Tartars, all that was needed was to defeat the South Torrance Spartans to win at least a share of the Pioneer League title. The Eagles realized their hopes when they defeated the Spartans 4-3 in dramatic fashion, with West Torrance losing.

The win against Torrance went as planned using timely hitting with solid pitching. Jaz Ramos walked and scored on Sienna Mayer’s double in the first inning. Mayer would score on a double by sophomore catcher Marilyn McCaverty to make it 2-0. The Eagles opened up the game in the fourth inning, scoring three runs, highlighted by Ramos’ two-run single to make it 5-1. Jacy Lindsay picked up the win, giving up one run, striking out five, and scattering six hits.

The win over South Torrance was a nail-biter. The Spartans had taken a 3-0 lead in the top half of the fourth inning. The Eagles responded with two runs of their own. Mayer tripled and scored on a wild pitch. Carter Cswaykus’ RBI single cut their deficit to 3-2. In the sixth inning, the Eagles tied the game on an RBI single by Cswaykus.

In the seventh inning it came down to clutch hitting. With two out, Mayer doubled, and McCaverty was intentionally walked. Sophomore right fielder Sullivan McLaughlin drilled an RBI single up the middle, scoring Mayer from second base. Mayer and McLaughlin were mobbed by their teammates knowing they had secured their place in history with their Pioneer League title. •

Jack McCaulley makes one of 22 saves against Orange Lutheran in the first round of the CIF Division 2 playoffs. The Eagles won 13-5.

Riley Clinton gets off a shot against West Ranch in the second round of the CIF Division 2 playoffs. The Eagles won 19-16.

COLOR YOUR KITCHEN: BUTTER MAKES EVERYTHING BETTER

"The Color of the Year program is specifically led by the Whirlpool Color, Finish, and Material team. We spend years analyzing interior design, social, cultural and aesthetic trends to help determine the new Color of the Year - a decision that is often many years in the process," said Brittini Pertijis, Design Manager. "As a result of our trend tracking, our team saw yellow continually pop up," said Pertijis. "Knowing we wanted to tap into comfort and nostalgia, this soft, energizing butter yellow felt like the perfect marriage of all those elements." According to a 2024 Ipsos Survey, 72% agree that a buttery yellow color radiates warmth and comfort, and 67% associate the color with a sense of richness and creaminess. More than half (52%) connect the hue with comforting homemade meals, and the same percentage agree that a buttery yellow color transports them back to nostalgic childhood memories. A majority of consumers (64%) also connect this color to the simple pleasures in life. "The color might remind people of kitchens from the 1950s or 1960s that were decorated with a similar soft yellow color. While it echoes past kitchens, Butter feels fresh and modern, leaning into present-day design trends. It's a classic neutral that will last over the years." To maximize the warm, comfy vibes, you can choose to upgrade to the new KitchenAid® Stand Mixer in Butter. The Butter Stand Mixer works well as a design feature in any style of home, from eclectic and traditional styles to clean and contemporary spaces. While some may recall the Majestic Yellow color, "that was developed in 1995, which was reflective of interior trends such as red cherry woods and glossy countertop finishes. The new Butter model represents today's design trends, in which woods are more natural and countertops are matte and satin," explained Pertijis. For anyone looking to accessorize or update their kitchen this year, the Butter Stand Mixer complements various shades of blue as well, including periwinkle blue. Pertijis also recommends pairing the Butter Stand Mixer with the KitchenAid® Bread Bowl attachment: "They go together like bread and butter (pun intended)!" Make your kitchen more cozy, comforting and welcoming this year with the rich color of Butter. You can learn more about this year's KitchenAid® Stand Mixer Color of the Year at KitchenAid.com. *
