New Aquatics Facility Will Entail Big Jump in Lifeguard Staffing

By Brian Simon

With the anticipated fall opening of the El Segundo Aquatics Center, the future of local pool usage and community access to overall programming will be forever altered. Just the plan to move competitive team swimming and water polo to the new site by itself will free up the venerable Urho Saari Swim Stadium (The Plunge) for many more recreational options. As an example, the City of El Segundo's aquatics consultant Stu Issac recently noted that "learn to swim" programming at The Plunge will grow from just five hours a week today to 20 hours once the state-of-the-art complex at the Wiseburn High School site opens in a few months. He estimated that the additional hours -- coupled with soon-to-be implemented fees adopted by the El Segundo City Council this month -- could generate as much as $70,000 a year in new revenues to help offset a portion of the annual operational costs for aquatics. Additionally, the Recreation and Parks Department plans to restructure the swim lesson program to provide higher instructor to student ratios, add extra time to each lesson to increase from 25 minutes to 30 minutes per class, and make enhancements to the quality and content of the curriculum and instruction.

Isaac also projected big upticks in recreational swimming, currently available at only at 3.5 hours a week with programming perpetually maxed out at The Plunge. That overall usage could swell to 22 hours weekly during weekdays plus another five hours on Saturdays once the new facility is up and running. Isaacs envisions services increasing across the board and contends that in order to be successful, "we should never see that pool empty."

But the expected rise in usage also will require a major increase in staffing -- and not just on the managerial and maintenance sides. According to Recreation and Parks Director Meredith Petit, her department plans to hire between 50 and 60 part-time lifeguards -- with lifeguard training courses now available to help interested individuals earn certifications so they may apply for the positions. This represents an increase of at least 200 percent from the current 25 year-round lifeguarding staff employed by the City. "The Aquatics Center presents challenges with staffing since it will be open 15, 16 hours a day... it's difficult to recruit experienced lifeguards who are available year-round and during the daytime hours to meet the staffing need," Petit explained. High school students typically can only work nights and weekends, thereby making those in that age group less likely candidates for the majority of the new positions.

To help address the issue, Petit recently got City Council approval to create two new part-time classifications -- Lifeguard and Senior Lifeguard -- at starting pay levels of $15/hour and $18/hour along with 5 percent incremental raises as they progress through four additional steps. Previously, the lifeguarding duties got absorbed into the Recreation Leader III and IV job classifications and the salary scale

ES School Board Reviews Facility Master Plan, Talks Bond Measure

By Duane Plank

Tuesday evening's meeting of the El Segundo School Board featured the members tackling more than 30 consent agenda items and viewing of presentations about recommended revisions to the Long-Range Facilities Master Plan (LRFMP), the proposed Local Control Accountability Plan (LCAP), as well as the proposed fiscal budget for the upcoming 2018/19 school year.

The LRFMP, developed under the guidance of El Segundo Unified School District Superintendent Dr. Melissa Moore, came forth in a process that began in 2015. At that time, the numbers discerned were $92 million in needs at all District schools, as well as the administrative office on Sheldon Street, to address the most important necessities for current students with an eye also on future academic needs.

Construction costs have escalated in the past three years to ratchet up the estimated price tags for hoped-for projects. More importantly, school site safety has become issue number one after the deadly shootings that have occurred on American school campuses.

Moore said that the District looked at the LRFMP through the lens of "need." She added that the plan touches "all facilities."

With that as a backdrop, Moore and District administration met with approximately

Civic Day Internship Program

This year marks the launch of the City of El Segundo Summer Internship Program—a unique offering for college-bound graduating seniors. Given the impressive group of El Segundo High School students and their display of leadership and initiative, the City is providing an opportunity for additional learning and involvement.

Graduating seniors are eligible to apply for two paid intern positions. The hours are flexible and will be scheduled for 20 hours a week for a duration of approximately two to three months. The internship will provide students with an opportunity for real-world work experience in government. These experiences provide extremely valuable insight into how governments work, how laws are formulated, and how students can tap into their potential.

The on-the-job training and mentoring will prepare them for a public service career at the very least.

To Apply:

Submit a one-page explanation describing why you would be the best candidate. Explain why you wish to intern for the City of El Segundo and express which department interests you the most.

Deadline:

Email your applications to Mickie Tagle at MTagle@ElSegundo.org by Monday, June 18, 2018, at 5 p.m. The City will confirm receipt and respond to all inquiries after Monday, June 25, 2018. For more information, contact Mickie Tagle at MTagle@elsegundo.org, or 310-524-2303.

Homeless Count Has Silver Lining

By Rob McCarthy

South Bay cities and unincorporated areas didn't fare as well as the rest of the county in reducing the number of homeless people, though there are a few bright spots in the just-released Greater Los Angeles Homeless Count. Housing assistance programs run by the county and funded by taxpayers through Measure H helped children, families and chronically homeless veterans most.

The census done each year creates a snapshot of the number of people, including children, who live without permanent housing in Los Angeles County. The head count was taken over three nights in January, and organizers report a 3 percent drop in homelessness throughout the county. The promising numbers for 2018 are heralded as a sign that taxpayer-funded strategies are paying off.

The 2018 Homeless Count showed 53,195 people in Los Angeles County experiencing homelessness. It marked the first time in four years that homelessness hasn't risen across L.A. County's sprawling and diverse communities, organizers with the count said. The South Bay's census numbers weren't as positive -- with a 4 percent increase in homeless residents.

Still, a silver lining showed in the data collected by the volunteers who fanned out after dark on Jan. 24. They counted 4,246 people living out of cars and vans, in shelters or motels, or outdoors under bridges or in drainage canals. They spotted fewer families, both adults and children, and organizers calculate their numbers dropped by as much as 18 percent compared to the previous winter.

Similar improvement was registered among chronically homeless veterans, whose resident population was down 13 percent in the 2018 count. Overall though, more veterans (18 percent) became homeless in the South Bay, the tally showed. Volunteers found 222 veterans staying in shelters, while 151 people with military service were living on the streets or in vehicles.

Men continue to represent the largest population of homeless in the South Bay at 62 percent. That represents a small drop in the number of males who were counted the previous year. The number of homeless women in South Bay jumped 20 percent in a one-year period. The increase was nearly as high (18 percent) among people who identified themselves as transgender individuals.

Re-housing programs targeting African-Americans got a boost from the census numbers. Black/African-American men and women now represent 32 percent of the South Bay's homeless population, down 5 percent from a year ago. There were 564 living in shelters, while 815 lacked housing as of January. Census organizers said that African-Americans are more affected by homelessness than any other single ethnic group in Greater Los Angeles.

"Fewer Black/African-American people experienced homelessness than last year, though they continue to be overrepresented," according to the count's organizers. "The population of Black/African-Americans decreased from 40 percent to 35 percent of the total population, but they continue to be overrepresented compared to 9 percent in general County population figures."

A recently created Ad Hoc Committee on Black People Experiencing Homelessness plans to address the disparity in homelessness for people of color, according to organizers.

Homelessness also has increased among Hispanics since 2017, the new figures show. They self-reported a 13 increase to the census takers back in January. There were 1,351 Latinos without permanent housing and all but 186 were sheltered, the census numbers showed.

Caucasians in the South Bay represent 32 percent of the area's homeless population, and their numbers rose considerably over a 12-month period. This ethnic category saw a 57 percent jump for the 1,375 people who were counted on Jan. 25. All but 100 were sheltered on that night.

Particularly troubling is data showing the county's homeless population is aging. The number of displaced people aged 62 and older is 22 percent higher this year. Organizers reported a drop in all other age groups. The South Bay was the exception in this comparison, with its homeless population getting younger than the rest of the county's.

Among the South Bay's displaced residents, there are 453 who are 62 years and older, the census reports. That figure is down slightly from 2017, while the 18 to 24-age group is the fastest growing. There were 56 of these young adults in shelters and 71 without a place to live in January's count of the South Bay.

Locally, the largest age group of homeless individuals fall in the 25 to 54 age category. Volunteers reported 312 people living in shelters and 2,263 with no residences during the winter census.

There were 690 people between 55 and 61 who were counted as homeless this year, and just a fraction (108) were staying in a shelter or living in affordable government-sponsored housing.

Organizers of the count said that while they are encouraged that a record number of people are being sheltered throughout Los Angeles County, more people are entering homelessness for the first time. This suggests that "root causes of homelessness, such as the affordable housing crisis, have continued to worsen," they said in an announcement of the results made on May 31.

The data, with its silver linings, leads the region's homeless coalition leader to believe the tide is beginning to turn.

"It's encouraging, and indicates new resources voters approved are already having an impact," said Peter Lynn, the executive director with the Los Angeles Homeless Services Authority. "As the funds and programs from Measures H and Proposition HHH begin to reach more people and create more housing, we will continue building on this momentum."

To learn more about the homeless count and view the results, go to www.lahsa.org. The site also lists shelters and homeless service providers in the area.

Comment on Kathy Benudiz's letter

Without examining the specific content of Ms Benudiz's letter, she makes a common fundamental error. The First Amendment and "freedom of speech" have nothing to do with the Herald. Amendments are restrictions only on government activities. Freedom of speech does not mean you can express what you want, where you want, when you want. Privately owned publications may censor as they wish. There are many outlets to get your views published. No private space or medium is required to be balanced.

Whether or not this is a good policy I shall leave to others.

The Title “CIF Soccer Champions” Has a Nice Ring to It for Eagles

By Gregg McMullin

The high school soccer season has been over since March 10 and the El Segundo Eagles had a magical championship season. With the success the Eagles had, their end-of-the-season banquet was delayed for good reason. El Segundo High, which went 18-7-3 overall, won the CIF Southern Section Division 5 championship. It was the program’s first CIF title. To top that off, the Eagles went on to win the school’s first ever CIF Southern Section California Region championship.

To celebrate these epic championships, the team was rewarded with championship rings that were specially made and personalized for players and the coaching staff. So the delay in having the celebratory banquet was to have these championship rings made. The ring presentation finally took place at a banquet hosted by head coach Andrew Kelley.

Before the presentation of the “bling,” Scott McCain awarded his annual scholarship to a deserving senior. McCain, who is also an assistant coach, started awarding a scholarship to a player a few years back. After reading over the transcripts and interviewing each senior, McCain chose Tyler Villalobos as the selection for a $1,000 scholarship. Villalobos, a standout football player besides one of the Next, Kelley voiced his appreciation to the team’s biggest supporters that included Alyssa Lund, Donna Villalobos, Dale Bemis and the team’s videographer Melissa Charles. He said without their involvement, the total team experience wouldn’t have been the same.

Kelley introduced the “rock stars of the high school” that included Mason Bemis, Seth Thompson, Loan Pismopulous, Ciaran Feeney, Denis Vezina, Matt Sautter, Alejandro Martinez, Tyler Villalobos, Sam Twigg, Andre Hernandez, Nick Sautter, Caden Schepps, Casey Lund, Abraham Hernandez, Malcolm Holtzmann-Cisse, Kamini Ewing, Jack Finders, Christophe Charles, Devontae Bowers, Nate Salazar, Nate Abrams, James Amerault and Anthony Waites. He then reminded the audience that the season didn’t start the way it ended and that there was some adversity to overcome. Kelley pointed out that the Eagles were successful because they were the most competitive team -- maybe not the best, but they never gave up. “We had some injuries and it was next man up,” he said. “Though we lost some tight games, the team knew their potential. When we started rolling, we didn’t miss a beat.”

The team’s Defensive Player of the Year was Christophe Charles, while Jack Finders was the Offensive Player of the Year. The All-CIF Southern Section teams were announced and Kelley was named Coach of the Year and Christophe Charles Player of the Year. Logan Pismopulous, Jack Finders and Casey Lund were named to the All-CIF Southern Section First Team.

It was a magical season that ended with a CIF championship, a Southern California Region championship and rings presented to the players.

Nootbaar Selected by the St. Louis Cardinals in MLB Draft

Former El Segundo Eagles two-sport mega-athlete Lars Nootbaar was selected in the eighth round of the Major League Baseball amateur draft. Nootbaar’s rise to the professional ranks started when he led the El Segundo Little League all-star team to its deepest run. They were within a win of advancing to the Little League Western Region and within reach of the Little League World Series. He helped lead his Babe Ruth all-star team to a third place finish in the Babe Ruth World Series where Christophe Charles was named CIF Player of the Year.

Palmer’s baseball rise can be attributed to his work ethic and focus. Besides being a 4.0 student in high school, Palmer was a standout baseball and football player. After an injury cut short his football playing days, it also hampered his baseball playing too. It wasn’t until his senior year playing for the Eagles that he got his real playing time. As a senior, he hit .426, with a team-leading six home runs and 17 doubles.

In 43 games for the El Camino Warriors this season, Palmer led the team in several offensive categories. He hit .415 with eight home runs, 39 RBIs, a .543 on base percentage and 38 walks. For his incredible season, he was named First Team All-Conference, First Team All- Southern California and Second Team All-America.

Another former Eagle also had a great year at El Camino. Spencer Long, who teamed with Palmer in leading the Eagles to an incredible season in 2017, was named to the All-South Coast Conference First Team for the Warriors. For El Camino, Long was a two-way player and handled shortstop when he wasn’t pitching. He pitched in 10 games and started in seven of those. He had a 4-4 record with a 2.68 ERA and 40 strikeouts in 47 innings.

ESGS 10u Gold Sizzles in Santee

The El Segundo Girls Softball (ESGS) All Star season is underway and the 10u Gold Team has started off with a strong 7-3-2 record. Coming off last inning losses at tournaments in La Mirada and Camarillo, the team set its sights in Santee this past weekend. Sunday’s pressure-packed elimination day did not disappoint even the casual fan. El Segundo defeated Claremont 6-3 in the first game and then came back at 1:15 p.m. to win a thrilling nine-inning (four-inning international tiebreaker) 8-7 contest over Fullerton Hills to play the host team Santee in the championship.

El Segundo battled for seven innings against a highly touted Santee team. ESGS pounced first to take an early 4-0 first inning lead. Chipping away, Santee tied the game 4-4 heading into the bottom of the fifth until ESGS took the lead 5-4 in their half of the inning. Heading into the seventh inning and trailing 6-5, Santee scored four times and went on to 10-5 win.

The ESGS team consists of Ace Anderson, Maggie Green, Jacynda Lindsay, Sienna Mayer, Kalista McMillon, Charli Pages, Vanessa Rodriguez, Hina Usuda, Taryn Walker and Allie Stevenson. The manager is Eric Stevenson and the coaches are T.D. Mayer, Matt McMillon, Jim Walker and Rob Green.

ESGS continues the tournament schedule in Laguna Niguel this weekend before playing in the district tournament followed by a 4th of July tournament in Escondido.

Tyler Villalobos was the recipient of a $1,000 scholarship awarded by Scott McCain.

soccer team’s captains, says it will help him as he pursues a degree in criminology at the University of Maryland.

Before Coach Kelley introduced each player, he thanked the largest crowd to attend a soccer banquet for their support. He said one reason for the success of the soccer program is because of the coaching staff at the lower levels. Andrew’s father Alan Kelley led the JV team, while former Eagle standout Gilbert Cortez guided the freshman team.

as a 14-year-old he had the highest batting average. He played four years for the Eagles and was a starter for three of them. His talents landed him at USC where he played in 141 games over his three years as a Trojan.

Nootbaar left for University Park, Pennsylvania and is expected to formally sign his professional contract. He’ll be playing for the State College Spikes of the New York-Penn League (Class A Short Season). You can

BENEFITS OF THE REVOCABLE LIVING TRUST

Living trusts are nothing new as they originated during the 1500's and have been very popular in Europe for hundreds of years. There are many different types of revocable living trusts which a person could establish for themselves and their family, with each such trust having different attributes and benefits which are dependent upon the needs, goals and financial net worth of the trust owner (no Aone size fits all@). Although there are many benefits to establishing a revocable living trust, this article will summarize some of the most common benefits associated with revocable living trusts.

AVOIDANCE OF PROBATE AND MAINTAINING PRIVACY

Following someone=s death, a revocable living trust can help the decedent=s assets from having to undergo a very lengthy and expensive legal proceeding called Aprobate@.

Many people have heard the term Aprobate@, but yet few people know what probate actually is, although they have heard that probate is something which should be avoided following someone=s death.

Probate involves the formal administration of a decedent=s estate through the court system. Unfortunately, probate is a Apublic proceeding@ so that all of the information concerning a decedent=s estate is open to the general public who can review the decedent=s entire probate file at any given time (even many years after the probate has concluded). Probate is also a very time consuming and expensive process.

During a probate administration, the probate court supervises the payment of the decedent's debts, taxes and probate fees, and ultimately supervises the eventual distribution of the estate assets to the decedent's heirs. As a result of some of the necessary time constraints involved in a probate (such as the four (4) month creditor claim period) the probate process can quite often be very lengthy, often lasting more than 18 months.

In addition to being time consuming, probate can also be very expensive as both the estate=s attorney and the estate=s personal representative (i.e. the executor or administrator) are paid the exact same fee for their services, which is computed by the court as a flat percentage of the Afair market value@ of the estate assets. Their combined fees can sometimes equal 6% to 8% of the fair market value of the estate=s assets.

As an example, the combined statutory attorney fees and executor's commission in probating an average home in Southern California worth $1,000,000 is approximately $50,000 (and these are the legal fees in probating just the home, so if the decedent also owned other assets such as bank accounts, stocks, bonds, mutual funds..., the anticipated legal fees could be much, much more).

Furthermore, the above legal fees are not affected by any mortgage or lien recorded against the property (so if the $1,000,000 home has an $850,000 mortgage recorded against it, the legal fees would still be roughly $50,000 as they are calculated on the Afair market value@ of the home, not the decedent=s Aequity@ in the home).

In addition to their Aordinary fees@, in a probate proceeding the estate=s attorney and personal representative might also be entitled to collect Aextraordinary fees@ for services not normally included in the ordinary probate fee (such as if the estate sold a parcel of real property during the probate proceeding, which is very common). Lastly, in addition to legal fees, there are also other expenses involved in a probate, such as court filing fees, appraisal fees, fiduciary bonds and newspaper publication fees.

As you can see, probate is something which most people would like to avoid following a death. However, for those people who have not taken the time to prepare any estate planning documents for themselves (which is referred to as dying Aintestate@), their estate will usually go through probate.

Surprising to some people, even for those people who have taken the time to write a simple Last Will and Testament, their estate will still usually go through probate.

However for people who have created a revocable living trust and who have titled their assets in the name of their living trust, their estate can completely avoid probate as trust assets are specifically exempt from probate.

Trusts are administered privately by a trustee selected by the trust owner (commonly a family member or friend), without court intervention, which saves the estate a significant amount of legal fees and time, as well as avoiding the public nature of a probate proceeding.

Once established, a revocable living trust can be amended as many times as the trust owner desires, or completely revoked by the trust owner at any time prior to their death.

For people who like to maintain their privacy, trusts can also be structured to hide their identity in those documents which are publicly recorded (i.e. such as the deeds to their real property).

REDUCTION OR ELIMINATION OF ESTATE TAX

Another advantage of certain revocable living trusts is the possible reduction or elimination of federal estate tax for married couples whose gross estates are close to, or exceeding, the exemption from federal estate tax (which for the year 2018 is $11,200,000 per taxpayer), while also providing some income tax benefits as a result of receiving a Astepped up@ income tax basis which can be afforded to trust assets at the time of each trust owner=s death (resulting in less income tax whenever those trust assets are ultimately sold following the trust owner=s death).

Although the current exemption from federal estate tax ($11,200,000 per taxpayer) is quite generous, this amount can change at any time with a simple vote by Congress (which Congress recently did this past January) so even though a taxpayer may not currently have any potential estate tax liabilities, that could possibly change in the future in the event the taxpayer acquires more assets, or their assets appreciate in value, or the federal estate tax exemption is reduced by Congress.

ADMINISTERING BENEFITS FOR MINORS OR DISABLED BENEFICIARIES

Revocable living trusts can also provide some significant benefits whenever the trust involves beneficiaries who are minors, or beneficiaries who are adults who suffer from a disability/condition which would make it difficult (or impractical) to distribute the beneficiary=s inheritance to them immediately following the trust owner=s death.

Unlike Wills, with a revocable living trust the trust owner may direct the acting trustee to Ahold in trust@ any trust assets which are allocated to a minor child until that child eventually attains some designated age in which the trust owner feels the beneficiary will hopefully be mature enough to adequately deal with their inheritance (without squandering it). Until that beneficiary reaches that designated age, the trust owner could instruct the trustee to pay for that child=s expenses which relate to their health, education, maintenance, and support.

Similarly if a beneficiary is suffering from a disability or some other condition which makes it unwise to distribute all of their trust share to them upon the trust owner=s death, the trust can also be structured to retain that beneficiary=s trust share, in trust, for a certain period of time (up to the beneficiary=s entire lifetime) while requiring the acting trustee to pay that beneficiary=s expenses from their trust share, on an Aas needed@ basis.

AVOIDING CONSERVATORSHIP OF THE ESTATE

During a person=s lifetime, if they previously created and funded a revocable living trust and they later became incapacitated (i.e. they later suffer from some form of dementia...), then the successor trustee named in their living trust can immediately manage their trust for the benefit of the incapacitated trust owner during their remaining lifetime. The successor trustee will be able to pay the incapacitated trust owner=s bills, file their tax returns, invest and reinvest the trust assets, and even sell trust assets, if necessary, in order to maintain the trust owner=s accustomed manner of living, all without the need to obtain any Conservatorship over the incapacitated trust owner.

Conversely, if that same incapacitated person did not previously establish and fund a revocable living trust, then someone would need to petition the probate court to become appointed as that person=s Aconservator@. Similar to probate, a Conservatorship is an expensive and time consuming process which will usually require the retention of an attorney, the posting of a fiduciary bond and the preparation and filing of at least bi-annual accountings with the court. The incapacitated person could also end up having a Conservator appointed for them (by the court) who might not necessarily be the same person whom the incapacitated person would have chosen to take care of his or her affairs.

SUMMARY

This article is only intended to provide a brief summation of some of the many benefits of the revocable living trust. Like anything else in life, the more time and thought you and your attorney expend in creating your own living trust, the more benefit you and your family will ultimately receive from it, while making sure your goals have been achieved in the most cost effective and efficient manner.

Notice of Public Hearing and Intent to Adopt an Environmental Impact Report

Smoky Hollow Specific Plan Update and
Environmental Impact Report

Location: The Smoky Hollow Specific Plan. Generally, the area bounded by Indiana Street and Sepulveda Boulevard to the east, Grand Avenue and Holly Avenue to the north, the alley west of Standard Street to the west, and El Segundo Boulevard to the south.

Applicant: City of El Segundo

Project Description: The Specific Plan update establishes land use, transportation, infrastructure, economic development, and urban design strategies for Smoky Hollow, providing opportunities for businesses to thrive in a creative, innovative, and dynamic environment. Based on growth projections provided by SCAG, the proposed components of the Specific Plan, and an analysis of existing underutilized sites that may redevelop, the City estimates that the Specific Plan update will support total gross property development of up to 2.97 million square feet of office, industrial, and public facility building space through 2040. This represents an increase of approximately 517,094 square feet over the existing building space in Smoky Hollow. Six residential units (allowed only as caretaker units to industrial or commercial uses) are also projected to be built.

The project includes a General Plan amendment (GPA 13-01) to revise the land use categories of certain properties to match the new Specific Plan boundary. Certain properties on Grand Avenue that have been developed with residential buildings will be removed from the Specific Plan area. Additional areas currently designated as Parking and Public Facility will be added to the Specific Plan area. In addition to the map changes, the description for "Smoky Hollow Mixed Use" land use designation will be revised to increase the maximum floor-to-area ratio (FAR) for commercial and industrial development, consistent with the Smoky Hollow Specific Plan zone districts, from an FAR of 0.6 to 1.0. Also, the Smoky Hollow Mixed-Use land use designation will be revised to remove discussion of residential uses, as new multi-family residential uses will not be allowed. The project further includes a Zone Change (ZC 13-01) to make changes to the City's zoning map, to reflect changes to the Smoky Hollow Specific Plan and other zoning districts' boundaries and ensure that the zoning designations of properties affected by the project are consistent with their General Plan land use designations. Finally, the project includes a zone text amendment (ZTA 13-01) to remove the existing Smoky Hollow Specific Plan, its zoning districts and overlays from the El Segundo Municipal Code (ESMC) Title 15 (Zoning Code).

Environmental Determination: EIR. The City of El Segundo has completed preparation of a Draft Environmental Impact Report (Draft EIR) (SCH# 2017031071) for the Smoky Hollow Specific Plan, summarized above. The Draft EIR has been prepared in accordance with the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), as amended (Public Resources Code Section 21000 et seq.), and the State CEQA Guidelines. Based on the analyses in the Draft EIR, with the incorporation of mitigation measures, the Project would have significant and unavoidable impacts related to Greenhouse Gas Emissions, Noise, and Transportation and Traffic. The precise nature and extent of these impacts is explained in the Draft EIR. Anyone interested in more detailed information regarding the project's anticipated environmental impacts is encouraged to review the Draft EIR in person or online at the locations indicated below.

The City made this Draft EIR available for public review pursuant to CEQA Guidelines § 15082(b). The 45-day public review period began on March 8, 2018 and ended on April 23, 2018. Public comments and responses to those comments have been incorporated into a Final EIR (FEIR), which is now being presented to the Planning Commission and City Council for review.

50 individuals in April to take a closer look at the LRFMP. Stakeholders made recommendations, offering revisions based on the current needs at each school site, and attempting to anticipate upcoming challenges. Two town hall meetings took place in May where there was outreach to community stakeholders as the District contemplates a bond ask this November.

Moore’s presentation detailed the process used for community engagement, including the town halls as well as a digital survey that yielded input 719 participants. She said, in her view, priority one is “district-wide student safety and security projects,” with priority two the implementation of projects that reached a 70 percent threshold or higher on the recently completed community survey.

Each school site has certain required work due to regulatory statutes. All campuses also need a power upgrade so that digital learning devices can work at optimal efficiency.

Survey results garnering more than 70 percent at El Segundo High School included modernizing the library, exploring the cost of installing air conditioning in the Performing Arts Center, and constructing a new front entry to the campus with a security portal.

El Segundo Middle School projects receiving more than 70 percent approval from respondents included upgrading and expanding music and science classrooms, constructing a multi-purpose room/gymnasium, and creating a new front entry on campus.

At Center Street Elementary, survey respondents championed construction of a “new safe and welcoming front drop-off, and drive-thru main entry improvements.” Board President Emilee Layne noted that there were currently ongoing construction projects, already budgeted, in place at Center Street to upgrade the campus.

Richmond Street Elementary respondents also felt the need for a new front entry, as well as administration modernization/expansion and a new two-story classroom addition.

At the Sheldon Street acreage that houses Arena High, the Eagles’ Nest preschool and District offices, the focus of the respondents was the need to build a new multi-purpose building that would encompass preschool activities and Arena High endeavors, and also best fit District administration needs. Moore said that there was a need for a “refresh” at the Sheldon Street facility. Moore then invited Board members to provide their input and recommendations, with the current plan in place to seek their blessing to implement the revised LRFMP at the June 26 meeting.

Board members raised questions, among others, about the proposed “welcoming” safe entry at El Segundo High; access to the Performing Arts Center and a possible reconfiguration; and the potential loss of “green space” at El Segundo Middle School -- noted by member Dr. Jim Garza, with Layne adamantly commenting that we need to “maintain green space.”

Member Dr. Bill Watkins added that at Center Street, he was happy to see the proposed library/media center upgrade. Layne touted the expansion of the multi-purpose building that is proposed to be constructed on Sheldon Street. Watkins also said that should a bond ask be placed on the November ballot and be successful, it will be time to use some of the funds to upgrade the District’s Sheldon Street property.

After the LRFMP presentation, Director of Education Services Maria Janicek approached the dais and spoke about the District’s mandated proposed LCAP plan. Stakeholders have given their input on the plan, which is slated to be brought back to the Board for possible approval at the June 26 meeting.

In its fifth year of existence, the LCAP is a state program that targets specific student groups and tasks districts to – as Janicek noted in an email sent prior to the meeting -- hit goals in eight priority areas and guarantee that they are “using our resources in a way that best supports student success and growth.” She wrote that the plan “details the goals, the outcomes and the dollars that will be devoted to help all students succeed.”

District Chief Business Official Susan Aceves next presented, relating information to the Board after crunching the numbers about the proposed budget for the 2018/19 school year.

El Segundo Educational Foundation CEO Carol Pirsztuk had made the initial brief presentation of the evening, in which she told the members how the Ed! Foundation was able present a $1.5 million check to the District this school year, which helped to back multiple programs that need funding because El Segundo Unified is one of 88 districts in the state that receive the least amount of money from Sacramento.

During the consent agenda portion of the nearly three-hour meeting, the Board tackled what may have been a record-setting 32 items, including an Eagles’ Nest summer camp; the yearly agreement with JW Photography to produce photos for the elementary schools; field trips for the El Segundo High varsity football and cross-country teams; summer boot camps to not only aid incoming students, but also help new teachers and veteran instructors sharpen their skills; and renewal of the contract with Global Transportation Services to continue to provide bus service to the District at a reasonable rate.

Action items were next on the agenda, with the Board gladly accepting a gift from the El Segundo Middle School PTSA for $31,607; approving the El Segundo High summer reading list; ratifying an agreement with SoCalROC; approving a high school choir field trip to Chicago; and moving forward to file requests for proposal for three possible upcoming capital outlay projects.

In her report, Moore said she looked forward to today’s and tomorrow’s promotion and graduation ceremonies, which she termed “milestones in our children’s lives.”

The next regularly scheduled El Segundo School Board meeting is calendared for June 26, with the open session set to begin at 7 p.m.

Leo (Steve Buscemi) and Betty (Ann Dowd) -- a couple whose daughter went missing some 30 years prior. Immediately, something clicks in Nancy’s mind. She is convinced she is their missing daughter.

Nancy calls Betty with the news and after the initial shock wears off, Betty invites Nancy to their home. Betty, the naive optimist, quickly falls in love with Nancy and the notion that her prodigal daughter has finally returned. Leo, on the other hand, is more wary and keeps Nancy at an arm’s length in the beginning. The more time the couple spends with Nancy and vice versa, the more everyone believes in this seemingly impossible happy ending. However, Nancy’s past behavior is questionable; can we really trust that she is the person she thinks she is? Or is this just another false character and elaborate lie?

Nancy is the writer and director’s first feature film and the debut is a stunning one.

Riding that fine line between unsettling and sympathetic, Choe has successfully created a strong and multi-dimensional female character. These types of storylines in which the protagonist is as unpredictable as the wind are

Your Prescription Drug Coverage And Medication Questions Answered

(BPT) - Prescription drug coverage and medications can be complex territory.

Enter UnitedHealthcare Medicare & Retirement’s Chief Pharmacy Officer Mike Anderson, PharmD, who has spent his career navigating the ins and outs of the Rx world.

Below, Anderson answers some questions people frequently ask about drug coverage and prescriptions.

Q. What’s the difference between PDP and MA-PD plans?

A. Original Medicare doesn’t provide coverage for most prescription drugs, so for help paying for medications, you have two options: a standalone Part D prescription drug plan (PDP) in addition to Original Medicare or Original Medicare and a Medicare supplement plan; or a Medicare Advantage plan with prescription drug coverage (MAPD). Medicare Advantage plans can include additional benefits like dental, vision and hearing coverage, and combine your coverage into a single plan.

Q. How do I know if my prescriptions are covered by my Medicare plan?

A. Whether you get coverage through Medicare Advantage or a standalone Part D plan, each has a formulary, a list of prescription drugs covered. Look closely to make sure your medications are covered. Health insurers post plan formularies online, or you can call your plan to request a printed version.

Q. How can I save money while remaining on my medications?

A. There are many ways to do that:

Home-delivery pharmacy benefits can save money and a trip to the pharmacy. Some mail-order pharmacies offer the convenience of ordering a three-month supply of drugs delivered to your home for less than purchasing at a retail location.

If you prefer to visit a pharmacy, check if your plan offers programs or preferred pharmacy networks to help you save on prescriptions.

Switching to generic drugs or drugs on a lower tier of the formulary could also save money.

Q. Can I split my pills in half?

A. Talk to your doctor about whether pill-splitting for your medication is medically advised. Also, consult your pharmacist on whether the actual pill form presents risks. Some pills are dangerous when split, because splitting affects how quickly the drug is released into your body. Other pills become ineffective when split, because the pill contains a coating to protect it from stomach acid, and splitting the pill breaks that coating.

fascinating to watch play out on screen. This convincing story would not have been possible without Riseborough’s fantastic portrayal of this complex woman as she transforms into a manic pixie poster child for mental health. Buscemi and Dowd contribute their talents to round out this small, yet energized cast, giving powerful performances as heartbroken parents who believe in a miracle.

Nancy is a slow-burn thriller that takes its time to build up the environment and desperation of the characters. It has the ability to make the audience feel physically uncomfortable through the stuffiness of Nancy’s mother’s home, as well as translate the emotional rollercoaster Betty experiences in Nancy’s initial phone call. While it may not make you jump out of your seat in terror, Nancy will send chills down your spine in its own cold and calculating way.

Nancy is not rated. 87 minutes. Now playing at the Nuart Theatre in Los Angeles.

McDuff

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Hwy., Redondo Beach 90277, from noon to 3: 30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one.

"Hi, my name is Calvin and I'm a handsome, male schnoodle (Schnauzer/Poodle mix). Ten years ago, I had the most wonderful life. A great mom and dad adopted me from MSFR. I had two brothers – a two-legged one and a four-legged one named Cole who was also adopted from MSFR. Life couldn't get any better. Then a few years ago, everything changed and I'm still trying to make sense of it. First my dad passed away and then my mom started having health issues. So now, after over 10 years of being our mom, she can no longer care for Cole or me. Unfortunately, as seniors we have to find new homes. I never dreamed that at 11 years of age, my life as I've known it would change so drastically. The wonderful folks at MSFR are trying to help find us a home, so I've seen their veterinarian and had a dental and blood work done. I'm happy to say that I've received a clean bill of health and am now looking for a forever home. I've always had brothers, so I obviously get along with kids and other dogs. I'm only 14 pounds, so I don't take up much room and I still have so much love and companionship to give. Cole and I always thought we'd spend our senior years together and we really don't want to be separated. Would you be willing to open your heart to me... and hopefully, my brother Cole?"

If you're interested in Calvin, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Hello. I'm Cole and I believe you've already met my 'brother' Calvin. I too am an 11-year-old Miniature Schnauzer that was adopted from MSFR over 10 years ago and am now in need of a new home. Who would have ever imagined that after living and loving a family for over 10 years that you would be looking for a new home in your senior years? Life sure can change on a dime. It was only a few years ago that Dad passed away and now Mom has informed us that she can no longer take care of Calvin or me because of her health issues. A recent trip to the MSFR veterinarian for a dental and blood work-up resulted in my being declared in good health. I'm 20 pounds of personality, as I get along well with kids and other dogs. In fact, I've never been without a brother and desperately want to stay with my brother Calvin. I know it will take someone with a huge heart and appreciation for a couple of seniors to give us a home. We still have so much love and joy to give, so please give us a chance. Could that person be you? I know if you could be our forever home, you won't regret it."

If you're interested in Cole, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"If a really cute, 1-year old, male Miniature Schnauzer mix is your idea of the ultimate companion, then I'm your guy! They call me McDuff, or Duff, but whatever you call me, you'll be glad you adopted me. I was a pretty inquisitive youngster, so I decided to explore my neighborhood and...wouldn't you know it, I got lost. I started to ask if anyone could help me find my home when a human stepped on my right rear foot and broke three of my toes. If they hadn't been broken, I would have never been picked up by animal control and taken to an LA County shelter and registered as a stray. Luckily, all it took was one look at me and the MSFR folks couldn't help themselves – they had to rescue me and help me find a forever home. With a little cage rest and a cast, my toes healed completely with no long-term issues. I'm happy to announce that I'm jumping, running and playing like any other pup my age. Speaking of other pups, I get along great with other dogs. Since I'm a high-energy kind of guy, I definitely need a home with a yard. I'm not very big -- only 20 pounds or so -- with a sweet little face, docked tail and naturals ears."

If you're interested in McDuff, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Chloe and her new family!

Congratulations to Chloe and her new family. It was no surprise to anyone that she found her forever home so quickly! This little gal, who was dumped by her previous owners because she didn't want to be left alone in the yard all day and kept escaping, is a real sweetie. Chloe's folks are previous adopters who have MSFR 2013 alumnus Lulu, formerly known as Trish. Chloe's mom brought Lulu to a meet and greet and it was love at first sight. Although her new dad couldn't make the meet and greet, she worked her magic and apparently he's also quite smitten with this tiny girl. In fact, even Lulu is thrilled and the ladies are getting along famously. We wish the Lake Forest family much happiness and lots of wonderful times together. •
