Aquatics Center Is Progressing

City Council Members Take on Multiple Outside Assignments

By Brian Simon

Though technically considered a "part-time" position with monthly pay of under $1,000, the job of El Segundo City Council member entails many hours outside of just those Tuesday night public meetings twice a month. The group also convenes for closed sessions that often run for hours as well as special meetings (e.g. strategic planning or budget workshops, joint assemblies with the Economic Development Advisory Council). As an example of a particularly marathon day, on July 17 the Council got together for a budget study workshop at 2 p.m. It adjourned at 4:53, allowing the members all of a 7-minute break until the beginning of their closed session at 5 p.m. They managed to cram in a very quick meal before kicking off the regular 7 p.m. general meeting that ran past 10. We might not want to know if they then had to return to a closed session. But who needs sleep?

Meanwhile, citizens regularly see the elected officials at various community events, Chamber mixers and ribbon cuttings. The Council members additionally spend time answering emails, monitoring social media posts, checking up on local and regional news, reaching out to other elected officials in the South Bay and beyond, taking calls from their constituents and visiting with residents and business people in town. Pop into City Hall at any given time and you will frequently find one or more Council members mulling about in the building conversing with a staffer or a department head. And while no one will ask them for an autograph (a photo op is more likely), those on the Council play the part of "local celebrities" who often get approached while enjoying a quiet dinner with the family at a local restaurant. El Segundo is known as a town where everybody knows everybody.

Doubly so if you're on the Council.

Add up all those hours and the time commitment starts to look rather formidable. However, there is another component of Council member service rarely recognized. Each of the five individuals takes on various assignments as El Segundo's representative with key regional agencies and committees. With two new members elected this past April - Scot Nicol and Chris Pimentel - the revamped Council reconfigured those assignments to absorb the duties that became vacant with the departures of former Mayor Suzanne Fuentes and Councilmember Mike Dugan.

Mayor Drew Boyles serves as the Council delegate for nine different agencies/committees.

A number of these meet on a regular basis and make decisions that impact El Segundo. The list includes the City Selection Committee, Independent Cities Risk Management Authority, Los Angeles County Sanitation District 5 & SBC, South Bay Cities Council of Governments (Board of Directors and Steering Committee), City/School Affairs Subcommittee, Disaster Council, Environmental Committee, Los Angeles County West Vector Control District and LAX Advocacy Committee. For the LAX group, Boyles works with the City's lobbyist and environmental attorneys, as well as airport officials and consultants. In addition to the delegate assignments, he

Projects Rolling Along to Rebuild Water System, Improve Boulevard

By Rob McCarthy

Residents have been excusing the dust and noise from two public works projects that will improve the water delivery system and make travel along nearby Hawthorne Boulevard a smoother ride. The Golden State Water Project is entering its seventh week, and the water company has alerted residents along the 3.3-mile stretch of pipeline being replaced to expect noise and traffic obstructions while crews lay new water pipes through Hawthorne and Inglewood. The price tag of the project is estimated at $4.7 million and work is expected to wrap up by Dec. 1.

Crews are installing PVC pipe, fire hydrants and other essential water equipment this summer and fall to upgrade water delivery to the two communities, according to a Golden State Water announcement. The project managers encourage any residents with concerns or questions about the construction schedule or the inconvenience to neighbors to call Golden State Water.

"Golden State Water appreciates the community's patience as it completes this important project," it said in a public announcement before the June 19 start date. "Any questions or concerns should be directed to our friendly and knowledgeable 24-hour Customer Service Center at (800) 999-4033."

Carlota Marie (Noto) Guy

Carlota Marie (Noto) Guy, 92, was born in Oneida, NY on September 17, 1925. Carlota died peacefully on July 27. Carlota married Ross Guy, May 2, 1946. Her husband Ross preceded her in death in 1987.

Carlota was a loving mother and homemaker to her large family. She also believed strongly in volunteering to help others. Carlota was a long time member of the ES PTA. Serving years after all her children graduated. She also belonged to the ES Woman's Club, the Moose Lodge, Senior Citizen's Club, Vanguards, ROAD and her home parish of St. Michaels. Carlota served as president of each of these organizations. Carlota was honored as Senior Citizen of the Year in 1997 and served as District President of the Woman's Club.

Carlota leaves five children, Florine Guy, Melissa (Randy) Albers, Paul (Dorrie) Guy, Adam (Laura) Guy and Valerie (Jack) Hardy. Her eldest son Ross (Shayne) Guy preceded her in death. She also leaves fourteen grandchildren and ten great grandchildren. Carlota will be remembered for her quick smile and infectious laugh. She loved and was loved by many and we miss her already. We know she is enjoying the waltz in dad's arms.

The service will be Tuesday, August 7, 11:00 AM, St. Michael's Episcopal Church, 361 Richmond St., El Segundo. Reception following the service will be held at the ES Woman's Club. In lieu of flowers, Carlota asked for donations to CASE, 591 E. Palm Ave. El Segundo, CA 90245. •

Suspects Arrested After Pharmacy Burglary

On Wednesday, July 25 at around 4 a.m., a local resident called the El Segundo Police Department (ESPD) to report a burglary in progress occurring at a pharmacy on Grand Avenue. The suspect smashed a window of the pharmacy and gained entry. Two suspects were later seen running away from the business. Minutes later, El Segundo officers saw a suspicious vehicle occupied by two males in the area of PCH and El Segundo Boulevard. Both subjects were detained. Officers located stolen codeine prescription bottles in the vehicle, and were able to confirm the medication had been taken from the pharmacy. Both subjects were arrested on suspicion of burglary and possession of burglary tools.

Suspect in Multiple Theft Cases Detained by ESPD

On July 29 at approximately 11 a.m., Marco Ceja was detained by ESPD officers near Imperial Highway and Imperial Terminal after a citizen observed Ceja trying to open the passenger and toolbox doors of a Chevrolet pickup truck parked in the 800 block of Eucalyptus Drive. Ceja had numerous "shaved" keys (frequently used by auto thieves in order to gain entry into locked vehicles) from various auto manufacturers in his pocket. Ceja, who is on probation for burglary and known to ESPD officers from numerous recent theft cases, was riding a green Trek bicycle, which is believed to be stolen. Ceja's white Cadillac Escalade was found parked in the 400 block of W. Imperial Avenue, and additional burglary tools were found inside. Ceja was arrested for various charges, including suspicion of receiving stolen property. ESPD is attempting to locate the owner of the bicycle and any additional evidence of other crimes Ceja may have attempted and/or committed while in El Segundo. Ceja has been the suspect in six El Segundo theft cases this year alone.

Please contact Detective Rasmusson at 310-524-2216 or krasmusson@elsegundo. org with any information related to this case.

Criminal Poses as Edison Representative in Scam

ESPD is warning the public about scam artists that may call you and pretend to be from Southern California Edison (SCE). The scammers threaten to shut off the victim's power if they do not receive sum of money. On July 21, they called a business in El Segundo and the victim paid $1,500 out of fear the power would be shut off. The scammers demanded payment via a prepaid debit card. These calls are part of a common scam so prevalent that SCE has a warning notice on its website.

Red Flags to Spot Telephone Scams

Scam: Caller demands immediate payment with the threat of shutting off your utility service. Fact: SCE never calls customers over the telephone to collect overdue bills and will never demand immediate payment with the threat of service disconnection

Scam: You're instructed to buy a prepaid debit card at a store within the next 30-60 minutes and load it with money. Fact: SCE does not accept prepaid cards for bill payments.

Scam: Caller claims to be from SCE's Disconnection Department. Fact: SCE does not have a Disconnection Department.

Scam: Caller asks for money in person. Fact: SCE employees never ask for, or collect, money out in the field.

Scam: You get a call on a weekend or holiday about an unpaid bill. Fact: SCE does not conduct credit transactions on weekends or holidays.

Scam: You're told a truck with SCE letters and Service Disconnect is en route to your home or business, or parked outside. Fact: SCE does not own or operate vehicles with Service Disconnection signage.

If you doubt the authenticity of such a phone call, hang up and call the utility service back at their published phone number. You can also call ESPD for help.

Each Sudoku puzzle consists of a 9X9 grid that has been subdivided into nine smaller grids of 3X3 squares. To solve the puzzle each row, column and box must contain each of the numbers 1 to 9.

Story and Photos by Gregg McMullin

It hasn't happened many times in the past, but two El Segundo Little League (ESLL) all-star teams reached the all-star state championship tournament in the same summer. For the 11-12-year-old team, it meant facing the top squads from as far away as San Diego, Lancaster and the Conejo Valley. Each team had won district and section tournaments to meet with the winner and advance to the Western Region Little League tournament in San Bernardino.

For the 9-10-year-old all-stars, it also meant winning their district and section tournaments to face other teams from Southern California in the Little League Southern California tournament played in Corona. The winner of the south tournament would face the winner of the Northern California tournament to be crowned California state champions. Both teams had an incredible and historic run, but each saw the all-star runs end on the same night.

11-12-Year-Olds Come Close

ESLL had one of its finest runs in all-star competition in years. After running the table in the District 36 tournament, the team then won the Section 4 Tournament to advance to the Southern California Little League all-star tournament. El Segundo had a bye in the first round of the 10-team tournament and advanced to face Conejo Valley Little League (CVLL) in the quarterfinal winner's bracket round.

ESLL took an early 2-0 lead in the first inning and then tagged two CVLL pitchers for seven runs in the second inning on the way to a 13-5 win. Lucas Bonham and James Baldino hit home runs, while Mateo Heredia had and RBI double to highlight the big second inning. ESLL went on to score three third inning runs and another one in the fourth inning.

Brett Abitante led the offense, going 3-3 with a double, two RBIs, two walks and three runs scored. Dylan Alcala was 2-4 with an RBI double. Dylan Garcia, who has had a successful all-star season both offensively and on the mound, started for El Segundo. He limited Conejo Valley to two runs on two hits. He also contributed on offense with an RBI in the third inning.

ESLL advanced to play Park View in the winner's bracket semifinal round. Park View Little League's all-star history is filled with success. The team from Chula Vista has advanced to the Little League World Series twice in the past 10 years and won it once.

Chula Vista played flawless defense and took advantage of two El Segundo errors to go on to win 6-0. The hard-throwing Garcia started his second consecutive game and struck out five in three innings. Chula Vista came up with an unearned first inning run and a three-run home run in the third inning that chased Garcia. Garcia and Dylan Immel, who each went 2-for-3, led an ESLL offense limited to six hits.

In the third game, a pitchers' duel between Baldino and Quartz Hills' Donovan Cromwell was an exciting matchup that El Segundo won 2-1. Baldino surrendered a first inning home run to give Quartz Hills a 1-0 lead, but then he silenced his opponents after that. He pitched five innings before his pitch count limit forced him to give way to Heredia in the sixth inning.

Trailing 1-0 in the fourth, El Segundo put together a rally that provided the two runs that ultimately won the game. Baldino singled, Holden Coulter walked and Garcia drew an eight-pitch walk to load the bases. Baldino and Coulter each scored on wild pitches to make it 2-1. Baldino tossed perfect fourth and fifth innings that gave him eight consecutive outs over three innings. Heredia pitched out of a jam in the sixth inning and Quartz Hills left both the tying and winning runs on base.

El Segundo faced Huntington Valley Little League (Huntington Beach) and fell 13-0. Huntington Valley erupted for 13 runs in the third inning, highlighted by Tony Martinez's grand slam. In the inning, Huntington Valley had 10 hits and took advantage of three walks. Immel had two of El Segundo's three hits.

Even with a lopsided defeat, the ESLL allstar team had an incredible run and much to be proud of for this year's accomplishments. They finished 12-3 overall and advanced to the final four of the Southern California San Diego. El Segundo scored three first inning runs and three sixth inning runs to win 6-3. The team pounded out 16 hits, paced by Lincoln Quaintance. He had three hits, including a double, and three RBIs.

In the first inning, Quaintance's two-run double gave El Segundo a 2-0 lead. He later scored to make it 3-0 on an RBI single by Little League all-star tournament. When you consider how many teams and leagues there are, it was quite an achievement.

9-10-Year-Old All-Stars' Incredible Run Comes Up Short

The ESLL all-stars continued their run after winning the Section 4 Little League tournament. They faced Huntington Valley Little League (HVLL) in the first round and came away with an 8-4 loss after spotting the opponent a 4-0 lead after two innings.

ESLL had problems getting any offense going early on, but broke through in the fifth inning. Trailing 4-0, Ryan Wiacek was hit by a pitch and later scored on an error by the centerfielder to make it 4-1. HVLL responded with a four-run inning to take an 8-1 lead. In the sixth inning ESLL made a dent in the deficit, but couldn't quite catch up. Giovani Blanco and James Owen each singled. Walks to Spencer Osbourne and Jaiden Rico forced in a run. Wiacek's two-run single scored Owen and Osbourne to make it 8-4, but the rally was cut short.

El Segundo responded with a come-frombehind 6-5 victory over Pasadena American Little League. Trailing 5-2 in the fourth inning, El Segundo came up with a four-run rally. Jordan Slavens started the rally with a single to centerfield followed by singles by Wiacek and Chase Mattoon. Logan Brooks' two-run single made it 5-4. Joaquin Wagner-Bagues' sharp grounder was misplayed, scoring Mattoon. Then Brooks scored on a fielder's choice for a 6-5 lead. Mattoon closed out the game on the mound getting two strike outs in the sixth inning.

The ESLL all-stars continued their winning ways against North Park Little League from Jake Danford to cap the first inning scoring. North Park scored single runs in the first, second and fifth innings to tie the game. In the top half of the sixth inning, El Segundo scored three runs. Brooks doubled and Wagner-Bagues singled. Quaintance's sacrifice fly scored Brooks to make it 4-3. Blanco's RBI double made it 5-3 and Andre Sugden's RBI single capped El Segundo's scoring. Brooks came in to throw a perfect nine-pitch sixth inning to get the win.

El Segundo faced Huntington Valley Little League in the elimination semifinal game. This time it would be a closer game that El Segundo let slip away in the final inning. HVLL scored single runs in the second, third, fourth and fifth innings along with a two-out, two-run rally in the sixth inning.

Trailing 4-2 in the fifth inning, El Segundo came up with two runs to tie the game. Only a double play prevented the locals from taking the lead. Brooks led off with a single and scored on Quaintance's double. Blanco singled and Knupfer pinch ran. Danford's ground ball scored Quaintance to tie the game at 4-4. After the force at first base, a return throw to third base caught Knupfer off the bag for the 6-3-5 double play.

Huntington Valley's sixth inning rally included a single, walk and a bases-clearing triple with two outs to take a 6-4 lead and hold on for the win. El Segundo's impressive showing during all-star play ended with an 11-3 record and a finish as one of four remaining Southern California teams.

Congratulations to the El Segundo Little League all-star teams. You represented your community, families and the El Segundo Little League with class, respect and dignity. •

Liane Moriarty

Reviewed by Kristina Kora-Beckman, Librarian, El Segundo Public Library

Recently, I fell into reading Liane Moriarty's novels and was quickly hooked. Her writing is smart, thought-provoking and at times, gripping. With many of her stories, I found the Australian author's searing portrayals of complicated relationships that join and divide family members and friends engaging and relatable in their realistic depiction.

My favorite of Moriarty's is What Alice Forgot, about a woman who wakes up from an accident and can't remember the last 10 years of her life. What's worse, she barely recognizes the new life in which she now finds herself immersed—nearly 40, divorced, with three children she can't remember and strained relationships with the people who used to matter the most. At first, readers sympathize with Alice's confusion at what could have happened in the missing years to end up at this point. But as Alice slowly recovers her memories and unravels the mystery of the past decade, readers come to understand how a series of events can create tensions that can result in a life that would be unrecognizable to our younger selves.

I also enjoyed The Husband's Secret, which is about three seemingly unrelated women whose lives are shattered by secrets that are revealed. The interconnectedness of the stories and similar feelings of asking "what if" for the various scenarios made for an interesting, riveting read.

In Generation Wealth, Plastic Surgery for Dogs is Commonplace

By Morgan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

Yes, you read that right...plastic surgery for dogs. If the jowls on your canine companion hang too low for your liking and you have enough dollars and cents (sans common sense) to want to fix it, you can now get facial reconstructive surgery... for your dog. Shockingly, this is only a sliver of the outlandish anecdotes in Lauren Greenfield's eye-opening documentary, Generation Wealth. Derived from years of photographing subjects from all around the world, Greenfield's independent film is a fascinating look at the 1 percent and the stark reality of what too much money can do when a person starts to lose sight of life's more important joys in favor of the superficial happiness cold, hard cash can temporarily bring.

It can be argued that, in some respects, the character of modern-day society is in decline. Technologically, we are evolving at lightning speeds -- autonomous cars, smart cities, artificial embryos and intelligence are most expensive single-family houses in the United States.

What we learn from their stories plus the stories of others profiled in the film, is that more money often equals more problems. The green-eyed-monster doesn't discriminate between age, gender or location...and while some people are able to navigate through this dark period in their lives with a lesson learned as the outcome, the majority of subjects are still really sad. Money couldn't buy them happiness, no matter what lies and false promises the affluent society had sold them.

As a whole, Generation Wealth feels like a cathartic experience for Greenfield, who addresses personal issues with her aging parents that had stemmed from childhood. Certain points of the film feel like we are eavesdropping on a closed therapy session, which at times can feel obtrusive and slightly removed from the film's bigger objective. When the movie sticks to the script and delves into the unusual lives of various wealth addicts, it is fascinating. However, when it starts to just a few of the ways that we are attempting to better our quality of life. But remember, we sent a man to the moon before there was Internet or Instagram, so technology is not the problem. It's the growing lack of human connection coupled with undervaluing close relationships, which is resulting in a more merciless society. Humans as a species have never been more self-aware and selfcritical than we are right now. That said, we are in luck because if we can afford it, we can pay our way to happiness, right? Wrong.

Photographer Lauren Greenfield knows first-hand how growing up in a well-to-do environment can shape one's outlook on life -- and whether the effects are apparent or subconscious, they follow you forever. In Generation Wealth, Greenfield showcases how money affected her classmates at the prestigious Crossroads School in Santa Monica, some 20-plus years post-graduation. She also exposes the privileged lives of more infamous figures, including Charlie Sheen's "$30,000 porn star friend" Kacey Jordan; former hedge fund manager Florian Homm, whose net worth exceeded $800 million (and who, due to shady activity, sat on the FBI's most wanted list); and Jackie Siegel (aka The Queen of Versailles), owner of one of the largest and detour into Greenfield's issues of her mother abandoning her as a child, it starts to feel unnecessarily sad.

Generation Wealth is a 21st century fairytalemeets-horror-story. Lauren Greenfield's energetic storytelling about America's dirty little secret will definitely keep audiences intrigued and fascinated during the entire

Watch What You Heat: 5 Kitchen Safety Tips

(BPT) - Cooking equipment is the top cause of home fires, and the second leading cause of home fire deaths, according to the National Fire Protection Association (NFPA).

"Considered to be one of the more preventable types of fires, kitchen fires can be avoided by following a few commonsense guidelines," says Tarsila Wey, director of marketing at First Alert. "Home safety experts recommend having at least one fire extinguishing product conveniently located in the kitchen, as well as on every level of the home and in the garage."

Be prepared to fight the small flames by following the below tips to stay safe in the Properly equip your home. Keep your family and house safe by ensuring that functioning smoke alarms are installed throughout your home. The NFPA recommends one alarm on every floor, including the basement, and inside every bedroom. In addition, install smoke alarms at least 10 feet from cooking appliances to minimize false alarms. All alarms should be tested monthly, and for alarms without 10-year batteries, replace the batteries every six months.

Keep an eye on your food. Staying in the kitchen while cooking is key to preventing oven or stovetop fires. Whether you're simmering, baking, boiling or roasting, check on your food regularly. If you need a reminder that the oven or stove is on, just set a timer. Be aware that fires can happen fast, so if you must leave the kitchen - even for a short period of time - turn off the stove.

Clean your appliances. Keep all your appliances clean of grease and food debris that could potentially cause a fire. Clear the toaster of crumbs and wipe down the stovetop as needed. Ovens should be cleaned at least every three to six months.

Clear off kitchen countertops. Keep your countertops clean and clear of flammable objects. Move items such as pot holders, wooden utensils, plastic bags, food packaging and paper towels away from the stove, oven or any other kitchen device that generates heat.

Be prepared when disaster strikes. Over 70 percent of fire extinguisher owners say that they would not feel very comfortable actually operating one. Providing homeowners with a user-friendly, affordable solution, the First Alert

Tundra Fire Extinguishing Spray features a lightweight spray-can design that has no pins or levers - making it easy to use. It can put out common household fires, including cooking oil, fabric, paper, wood and electrical fires. Tundra sprays four times longer than an average fire extinguisher and fits perfectly in your kitchen cabinet. Plus, it won't damage your stove or countertop; simply wipe the area clean with a damp cloth.

Having the necessary fire safety tools and knowledge, and talking with your family members about these safety precautions, can help prevent potentially fatal kitchen fires. To learn more tips and tricks, visit www. FirstAlert.com.

Projects from front page

The company even will make the project construction manager available to answer questions, it said. The pipeline and water system being replaced can be viewed on a map at www.gswater.com/southwest/ files/2018/06/Picture1.png. The affected streets and neighborhoods -- some which are already completed -- fall between the 105 Freeway and West 120th Street and Van Ness and South Willows Place in Hawthorne.

The Inglewood phase of the project borders Imperial, Van Ness, Crenshaw and the 105 Freeway. Construction hours are workdays 8:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. and the workday is shortened by one hour only in Hawthorne school zones, according to Golden State Water.

The digging will close lanes along the major traffic arteries and within the residential areas, too. Temporary street repairs will be made to reopen the roads as soon as the new pipe is installed. Once the pipeline work is completed, the affected streets will be repaved better than new.

"While the project is underway, local residents may notice sections of roadway that appear unfinished. Please note that this is only temporary paving while Golden State Water works to complete the project. Once completed, Golden State Water will restore the road, placing permanent asphalt on the surface," the company said.

There will be traffic tie-ups in Hawthorne and Inglewood along the dig route for another four months, the company said. Drivers and neighbors should expect minor inconveniences as crews modernize the water delivery system to the neighboring cities. "Please expect an increased level of noise and traffic during the construction period," the company said.

A slew of traffic improvements are planned this summer along Hawthorne Boulevard, too. The major artery between El Segundo Boulevard and Imperial Avenue will get new curbs, center medians and pavement, according to a July project update. The city plans to build curbs and gutters along the boulevard, restore sidewalks and relocate sewer lines, it said. The median will be raised and handicapped ramps will be installed as part of this major roadway project.

Other improvements being made include a traffic signal at Hawthorne Boulevard and 126th Street, numerous upgrades to traffic lights on the boulevard, and an extended bike lane on Imperial. "We greatly appreciate your cooperation in observing all traffic controls and taking extra care when traveling in the construction area," Hawthorne officials said last month.

Elsewhere on Broadway Avenue, crews began median improvements in July. The work involved saw-cutting, surveying, excavating, grading and pouring median curbs. Concrete work and street widening also got underway at 126th Street and Hawthorne Boulevard, said a bulletin for Hawthorne residents.

Updates about ongoing public works and new ones are provided monthly to residents and businesses in the construction zones through the Hawthorne Boulevard Newsletter. A separate notification will be sent to adjacent residents and businesses at the beginning of each phase of construction activity. If you have specific questions or concerns, please contact the City of Hawthorne, or visit the Engineering page under Public Works Department of the City's website (www.cityofhawthorne.com). Inglewood had no other road closure notices in effect this week.

Though Golden State is spending $4.7 million on the new pipeline through Hawthorne and Inglewood, the utility has dropped its water rates for the next 12 months. The water company attributed the 3.94 percent decrease in water to local customers to tax savings from the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, signed into law in 2017 by President Trump. The tax code overhaul lowered the corporate income tax rate, which Golden State said allowed it pass along the modest savings to its customers.

The company added that it was tracking the tax law's effects on its operating costs, and that it could be issuing bill credits to customers for the January-through-June billing periods if savings prove to be significant for the utility.

The Act lowered the nation's federal corporate income tax rate from 35 percent to 21 percent, effective Jan. 1, 2018. As directed by the CPUC, Golden State Water is tracking the impact of the new corporate tax rate and other changes in tax law, and will submit a separate filing to credit customers for any revenue surplus resulting from the reduced tax expense during the period from Jan. 1 to June 30, 2018."The new tax law reduces our costs, and we are eager to pass along those savings to our customers," said Denise Kruger, Senior Vice President of Regulated Utilities for Golden State Water.

The scope of the Golden State Water endeavor is massive and impacts thousands of daily travelers. However, there are other public works projects in the South Bay that affect roadways on a decidedly smaller but still notable scale. For example, crews will begin to install removable bollards from curb to curb in Downtown El Segundo starting on Aug. 20. The project encompasses the section of Main Street near Holly Avenue and just north of Fire Station #1. Bollards are sturdy, short vertical posts that serve as protective barriers and boundary markers to enhance safety.

The work will include trenching, concrete pouring and asphalt pavement restoration. During the estimated two-month construction period, traffic on Main between Holly and Grand Avenue will be restricted but remain open in both the north and south directions. Traffic may also be restricted overnight even with no construction in progress. • also serves as an alternate for the Aquatics Center Subcommittee and Pension Ad Hoc Mayor Pro Tem Carol Pirsztuk has eight delegate assignments of her own. The list includes the League of California Cities, Southern California Association of Governments, West Basin Water Association, Contract Cities Association, Golf Course Subcommittee, Technology Subcommittee, Investment Advisory Committee and Aquatics Center Subcommittee. She is an alternate for the South Bay Cities Council of Governments and LAX Advocacy Committee.

Councilmember Don Brann is the delegate for the Independent Cities Association and Arts and Culture Advisory Committee. He is an alternate for the Hyperion Citizens Forum, Reach Out Against Drugs (ROAD), Senior Citizen Housing Corporation (Park Vista), South Bay COG, South Bay Youth Project, Contract Cities Association, and Environmental Committee. And he is the principal for the Pension Ad Hoc Committee.

Nicol is the delegate for the Hyperion Citizens Forum, ROAD, Senior Citizen Housing Corporation Board, South Bay Youth Project and LAX Area Advisory Committee (which also includes Dick Croxall and former Mayor Carl Jacobson). He is an alternate for the Independent Cities Risk Management Authority, South Bay COG, City/School Affairs Subcommittee and Technology Subcommittee.

Pimentel is the delegate for the LAX Roundtable and an alternate for Independent Cities Association, League of California Cities, Los Angeles County Sanitation District 5 & SBC, Southern California Association of Governments, Disaster Council, Golf Course Subcommittee, Investment Advisory Committee, and Arts and Culture Advisory Committee.

With most on the Council have day jobs, scheduling is paramount and requires some flexibility. Fortunately, many of the meetings take place during late afternoons or evenings. As part of his public outreach, Boyles recently launched "Mayor's Open Hours" where citizens can stop by the Blue Butterfly Coffee Co. and discuss local matters over a cup of Joe or chai latte.

The Council's scope of service also includes some travel. Advocacy trips to Sacramento to lobby for legislation to promote El Segundo's interests are commonplace. In the past, several Council members -- on their own dimes -- flew out of state to get a first-hand look at a remote TopGolf facility in order to enhance their knowledge for the eventual vote on the project. Just recently in late June, Boyles hopped on a plane with Nicol and Pimentel to attend the California League of Cities Executive Forum training. The two-day program featured intensive educational sessions, considered challenges that cities face, and provided cutting-edge approaches to handling a variety of situations. "It was an incredibly valuable couple of days with a wealth of information presented," Boyles said of the training. "It helped accelerate the learning curve for our newest Council members and provided guidance to all of us to be the most effective leaders we can be to help El Segundo move forward."

Looking at the sheer volume of responsibilities taken on by the Council, Boyles put it like this: "I'm fortunate to have flexibility and an incredible leadership team working for me that allows me to put in the amount of time this position entails. It's an honor and a privilege to serve using our unique skill sets to make El Segundo the best possible city. Part of the process is attending many meetings and maybe working a little later than we'd like. Most importantly, while we may not always agree on the exact path, we are a team committed to working together with the best interests of the community at heart." •

Your Prescription Drug Coverage And Medication Questions Answered

(BPT) - Prescription drug coverage and medications can be complex territory.

Enter UnitedHealthcare Medicare & Retirement's Chief Pharmacy Officer Mike Anderson, PharmD, who has spent his career navigating the ins and outs of the Rx world.

Below, Anderson answers some questions people frequently ask about drug coverage and prescriptions.

Q. What's the difference between PDP and MA-PD plans?

A. Original Medicare doesn't provide coverage for most prescription drugs, so for help paying for medications, you have two options: a standalone Part D prescription drug plan (PDP) in addition to Original Medicare or Original Medicare and a Medicare supplement plan; or a Medicare Advantage plan with prescription drug coverage (MAPD). Medicare Advantage plans can include additional benefits like dental, vision and hearing coverage, and combine your coverage into a single plan.

Q. How do I know if my prescriptions are covered by my Medicare plan?

A. Whether you get coverage through Medicare Advantage or a standalone Part D plan, each has a formulary, a list of prescription drugs covered. Look closely to make sure your medications are covered. Health insurers post plan formularies online, or you can call your plan to request a printed version.

Q. How can I save money while remaining on my medications?

A. There are many ways to do that:

Home-delivery pharmacy benefits can save money and a trip to the pharmacy. Some mail-order pharmacies offer the convenience of ordering a three-month supply of drugs delivered to your home for less than purchasing at a retail location.

If you prefer to visit a pharmacy, check if your plan offers programs or preferred pharmacy networks to help you save on prescriptions.

Switching to generic drugs or drugs on a lower tier of the formulary could also save money.

Q. Can I split my pills in half?

A. Talk to your doctor about whether pillsplitting for your medication is medically advised. Also, consult your pharmacist on whether the actual pill form presents risks. Some pills are dangerous when split, because splitting affects how quickly the drug is released into your body. Other pills become ineffective when split, because the pill contains a coating to protect it from stomach acid, and splitting the pill breaks that coating.

Q. I take a lot of pills daily. One I take three times a day. Some I just take once. I get busy and forget to take my pills. Can I just take them all in the morning?

A. It's important to take your medicine as your doctor prescribed it. Some medications need to be taken at specific times to be effective. Plus, taking all your medications at one time can be dangerous as you run the risk of potential adverse interactions, side effects and even overdosing.

Q. I drink smoothies with supplements and take vitamins. Can these have a bad interaction with my prescriptions?

A. If an iron supplement was added to the smoothie, for example, that could reduce the effectiveness of thyroid medication and medication for reflux disease. Talk to your pharmacist and doctor about vitamins and supplements to learn if they could cause a reaction or make your medications less effective.

Small Businesses And The Benefits Of Conscious Capitalism

(BPT) - What drives someone to take the risk and start their own business?

In many cases, it's the knowledge that they can offer a great product or introduce new solutions to old problems. Passion and determination put entrepreneurs at the forefront of innovation.

What's remarkable about so many small and medium-sized businesses today is that it's not just the bottom line they're after. Businesses are more focused than ever on socially and environmentally conscious causes.

Take, for example, small business Bayou with Love, who partnered with Dell to create a jewelry line using recycled gold from old computer motherboards. The jewelry line is just one example of a small business prioritizing doing good for the planet.

Cuvee Coffee practices direct trade, a model that considers environmental, financial and social sustainability as well as personal relationships. It builds partnerships with farmers who are good stewards of the land, pay fair wages to their workers and are often leaders in their communities. Cuvee then pays well above market prices for their coffee and in return, the company gets the very best coffee and the farmers make substantial profits.

By using ethical and altruistic principles to guide business practices, these entrepreneurs practice what many call "conscious capitalism," and investors are taking notice.

Investments from angel investors and venture capitalists have helped these businesses play their part in a national and global trend toward social betterment in business.

Here are a few ways small businesses can benefit from conscious capitalism.

According to Fundivo, angel investments in altruistic businesses have been steadily growing since 2002 and roughly four jobs are created per investment. Moreover, a recent study from The Forum for Sustainable and Responsible Investing reported that under sustainable and responsible investing guidelines, a total of $8.72 trillion was made in 2016, showing a 33 percent increase since 2014.

By helping businesses reach like-minded changemakers, the tech industry has made it easier for small businesses to maintain a conscious mission statement along with a profitable bottom line.

In particular, funding for socially-conscious businesses has become more easily achievable through crowdfunding campaigns on Kickstarter and Indiegogo. Even Kickstarter owners Yancey Strickler and Perry Chen insisted that their crowdfunding platform become a Benefit Corporation, ensuring they remain focused on their mission to bring creative projects to life rather than simply increasing the size of their own profits.

These crowdsourcing platforms are an efficient way for companies to find investors, but also to network and get their message out to a broader public. At the center of many altruistic businesses is the robust use of technology, which has allowed many highly successful small businesses to support social and environmental causes.

It's not only that having dependable and easy-to-use technology is critical for these businesses, but many tech giants have implemented programs to support conscious capitalism in small businesses.

For instance, as one of the world's leading IT suppliers, Dell has been particularly passionate about helping businesses with an eye for social change and environmental consciousness. Through its 2020 Legacy of Good plan, which outlines its own sustainability goals, it has helped small businesses use technology in a way that drives progress and social change.

Dependable and affordable technology is essential to promoting social change, and that's why so many entrepreneurs and investors are realizing that when paired with technology, ethical business practices can do a lot of good and turn a profit. •

"If you think that an adorable, 1-year-old, female Miniature Schnauzer mix would be the perfect addition to your family, look no more. My name is Beth and I was rescued from an LA area shelter where I ended up as a stray when I became lost while out for an adventure. It was shortly after the 4th of July and the shelter was extremely overcrowded, but the fact that no one inquired about adopting me was quite a surprise. I know that I need a bit of work on 'Housebreaking 101,' but I'm very smart and eager to please -- so that won't take long. I'm not very big (only 10 pounds), so I'm easily transportable and would love to be your companion. I get along great with other dogs and I've been told that I'm cute as a button and as sweet as can be. I love to play and I know we would have so much fun together."

"Hi there! My name is Snickers and, if I were to guess, I would say I was named that because of my brown and brindle coloring. When I was found wandering the streets, my owner was contacted but never returned the calls or even tried to find me. I'm a 6-yearold, 28-pound male Terrier mix who would rather be a couch potato than play with toys. However, I do enjoy a good walk in the mornings and evenings. I'm a pretty social guy who gets along well with other dogs, cats and especially people. The lady who cares for me thinks I'm pretty smart because I am easily adjusting to crate-training and housebreaking. Not quite there, but I'm working on it!

Since I am not the least bit destructive, I'll be fine with total access to the house once I'm completely housebroken. To top it off, I'm a great watchdog - I bark at strangers when they come to the door – so I'll be able to keep you safe."

"My name is Mason and I guess you could say I'm a work in progress. I was adopted from an LA County shelter a few months ago, but proved to be too energetic for my elderly pug sibling. Guess who is looking for a new home? Okay, so I have a little separation anxiety - I whine when left alone - and I'm a bit of a picky eater, but what do you expect? I'm only 6-months old... I would do perfectly fine in a home with another doggie pal or with someone who works from home, or even at stay-at-home parent. As a Terrier mix pup, I love to run and 'zoomies' are my favorite trick, so a family that is active and has a yard would be my idea of heaven. I'm not food-aggressive, I behave nicely at the groomer's and am a rock star at doggie daycare. I'm leash-trained - with just an occasional pull - and crate-trained. Not too bad for a 15-pound youngster with lots to learn, lots of love to give and who is eager to please."

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Blanca and her new family!

Congratulations to Blanca and her new mom! After recently losing two of her Schnauzers/Schnauzer mixes due to old age (the second being recently), she was on a mission for a lively companion. After discussions regarding her living arrangement, she decided that a wilder pup was probably not a good match. Then she spotted Blanca -- who is a nice, calm, well-mannered, mature lady -- and decided that she was the gal for her! Since Mom is retired, that's icing on the cake for Blanca, now named Ash, who is happily residing in Seal Beach. Our follow-up report is that Mom couldn't be happier and thinks Ash is absolutely perfect! Wishing them lots of happiness and years of companionship.

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

HEALTH ISSUES IN TRAINING BEING REHABILITATED SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!

Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
