Guaymas Visitors See Some Magic During El Segundo Trip

High-Density Housing, Emergency Protocols Highlight Council Talk

By Brian Simon

On a Tuesday evening that featured a whopping nine presentations (including a welcome to the visiting mayor of Guaymas) before the members even took roll call, the El Segundo City Council discussed the possibility of high-density housing just west of Pacific Coast Highway. Concerned about the heavy demand for housing in town from potential business tenants, Councilmember Scot Nicol asked his colleagues if they would want to consider the prospect of larger residential complexes in the area adjacent to or abutting Washington Park (a buffer zone where there are no single-family homes). He noted that the last condominium and apartment facilities built in El Segundo go back to 1984 and 1979 respectively and wondered what led to the stoppage of this type of construction.

The concern expressed is that lack of available housing stock will deter major businesses from coming here. The Council ultimately directed staff to work with the Planning Commission to explore the matter and put together a feasibility study on what it would take to allow high-density housing, mixed-use developments and recycling of properties. At the same time, none of the members expressed actual support for the concept at this juncture – just a willingness to, as Mayor Drew Boyles put it, “seek to understand the drivers for the local housing market.” Councilmember Don Brann was against the idea altogether, stating that he has no interest in increasing density west of PCH. However, he said he is open to at least have a conversation about housing east of that major artery.

Also on Tuesday, the Council heard a report from the El Segundo Fire Department’s Environmental Safety Division on response to hazardous waste materials incidents and recent interactions with Chevron during a flare event in September. The division oversees the Certified Unified Program Agency (CUPA) responsible for regulatory oversight, administration, permitting, inspection and enforcement for local businesses that handle, use or store certain chemicals. Environmental Safety Manager Victor Morales explained that his division’s mission is to “protect public health, the community and the environment.” Safety areas under the CUPA purview include Hazardous Material Emergency Response Plans for businesses, Underground Storage Tank Program, Aboveground Petroleum Storage Tank Program, Hazardous Waste Generator Program, and California Accidental Release Prevention.

Morales emphasized that recently approved regulations mandate increased oversight at refineries in order to reduce incidents/accidents at those facilities. He summarized the CUPA response to the September flare at Chevron where the division pre-event conducted inspections, reviewed documentation and confirmed proper training from operators. During the event, his staff responded to verify there was no explosion, no liquid release and no unit malfunction. They contacted the proper agencies to report the event and worked with Chevron to conduct air monitoring at specific locations in town, finding no toxic readings. After the event, staff met with Chevron twice, requested copies of the incident investigation, and reviewed emergency response plans to identify any gaps and make recommendations for improvements in the future. CUPA does not handle air emissions, work safety issues or industrial accidents, groundwater contamination clean-up, pipelines, or coastal water contamination since other agencies are responsible for those areas.

On a related note, Assistant City Manager Barbara Voss received Council direction to update emergency communication notification protocol to improve what is currently in place and ensure that accurate and timely information gets to the public. Her presentation included an overview of significant events, with the “Type 1” category listing incidents that pose an imminent threat or require immediate action (e.g. hazardous waste spills involving injuries/evacuations, major fires, active shooters, earthquakes or flooding that overwhelm City resources). The “Type 2” events are less severe, with potential for public concern or disruption of routine. Examples include road closures, traffic issues, and officer-involved shootings. Voss then listed communication tools to be utilized: a prepared holding statement to announce the event before more concrete information is available; Nixle alerts, reverse 911, social media posts, City website homepage statements, a temporary website page dedicated to the event in question, press statements, press releases and media interviews. Incident commanders (the fire chief, police chief or highest-ranking department management staff) will be responsible for disseminating the information, with Voss serving as the back-up source if any of the above are not available. In fine-tuning the new policy, Voss and staff will also determine the necessary training for personnel as well as develop standards for how to speak to the press.

Film Review

Vox Lux: Pop Goes the World

By Ryan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

Listening to pop songs brings about a rush of feel-good happiness to listeners, but when thinking of it as an engineered product of an industry, it might also be seen as a highly-concentrated construction of fantasy for consumers to buy into for momentary escape.

This relationship between the artificiality of pop music and the culture that empowers it, is what director Brady Corbet explores in his new movie Vox Lux -- a fictional portrait of a pop star set in modern America. With bold and unflinching storytelling, as well as mesmerizing

Vox Lux is a portrait of the rise of a pop star, but that's largely just the story that allows the movie to act as a mirror of this 21st century America where entertainment, image and pop culture hold all value. Vox Lux has a storybook-like quality, where meta elements such as its three chapter structure and omniscient narration by Willem Dafoe give it lyrical quality. However, that also includes its significantly darker tone (which audiences should brace themselves for as seen in the film's opening sequences). Our future pop star -- young Celeste (Raffey Cassidy) -- is born from darkness. After being the sole survivor of a horrific and deadly rampage, the soft-spoken New Jersey native is thrust into the national spotlight as the face of a nation's sorrow and strength. Poised and collected, we see that Celeste not only has words of honest strength to share, but music in her heart as well. An original song co-written by her sister Eleanor (Stacy Martin) soon becomes a national anthem to a grieving and shaken country. With the guidance of a new manager (Jude Law), Celeste and her sister are introduced to a whole new world of entertainment and all that it brings.

We see young Celeste go through the ropes -- recording in the studio, dealing with her publicist (Jennifer Ehle), and further entrenching herself in the debauchery of the industry, but it's when Vox Lux jumps years ahead that we find present-day Celeste (Natalie Portman). Now she is no longer a novice of the pop music machine, but its biggest superstar. And although years have passed, the film plants us back into now on the day of another horrific rampage, sending a tour-bound Celeste back into national headlines through comments to reporters (Christopher Abbott). We've seen Portman embrace against-type roles before, including her Best Actress award-winning performance in Black Swan, but in Vox Lux she is a full-on diva playing every bit the self-obsessed celebrity who is manic in ego and as drug-dependent as one can imagine. It's a terrific performance that sees Portman play the full range of pop star and should be remembered this awards season.

Audiences should be warned beforehand that Vox Lux depicts horrific events in vivid detail. Rampages with firearms are shocking, but only serve to show what it is that pop music tries to do -- which is what young Celeste wisely notes: "I make pop music to make people feel good."

110 min. Vox Lux is rated R for language, some strong violence, and drug content. Opening this Friday at ArcLight Hollywood and AMC Century City. •

Pops: Fatherhood in Pieces by Michael Chabon

Reviewed by Kristina Kora-Beckman, Librarian, El Segundo Public Library

Pulitzer Prize-winning author and father of four Michael Chabon's latest, Pops: Fatherhood in Pieces, is a collection of essays about the complexities of fatherhood. Central to the short collection is a story Chabon wrote for GQ magazine about accompanying his adolescent son Abe to Paris Men's Fashion Week in 2016. Abe is in his element, thoroughly enjoying all the shows have to offer while his "minder" (Chabon) literally and figuratively trails behind attempting to make sense of the spectacle and how best to support his young charge.

Pops: Fatherhood in Pieces by Michael Chabon.

In the collection, Chabon explores his own complicated relationship with his father and how it affects his parenting decisions. He also muses about the effect raising children has on a writing career and benefits and sacrifices he personally experienced as a result. I appreciated Chabon's humor, insights and vulnerability as he discusses the challenges of raising independent, confident, caring children who can freely explore their individual passions.

Eagles X-Country Girls Complete an Historic Season at State Meet

By Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo High School cross country program has been on the rise for years, thanks in part to the program's head coach Marcos Bolanos. The 2018 season may have been the best season for the girls team in school history. They capped their remarkable season with a third place finish at the California CIF State championships.

The season started with the Eagles hosting the inaugural Eagle XC Invitational held at the Lake. The Eagles finished first by besting some of the top programs in the Southland. Next up was the Woodbridge Invitational where the Eagles participates in the Sweepstakes race, which is exclusives for the top teams in the Western United States. Their team time was the fastest of any of the participants on a 3-mile course in California.

Being asked to run in the Seattle Hole in The Wall Invitational is reserved for some of the top programs from Washington, Oregon, Nevada and California. The Eagles placed all five top scorers in the top 10 runners in their division. James Matlosz won the race, while Sophia Zago finished third, Nikki Fulcomer fifth and Gabby Lee rounded out the scorers with a seventh place finish.

Competing in the challenging Ocean League has been successful for the El Segundo girls cross country team. For the fourth consecutive season, the Eagles won the league title. Lee, a four varsity runner, led the Eagles by finishing second. The pack running strategy worked with Zago (3), James Matlosz (4) and Fulcomer (5) rounding out the top five. Tyler Matlosz ran a PR race finishing 10th while juniors Letina Daniel and Leah Guziak each ran their best race of the season and finished in the top 15.

Next up was the CIF-SS finals where the Eagles finished third for the second consecutive year. Fulcomer ran perhaps her best race of the year and that helped propel her team to the podium. James Matlosz, Lee, Zago, Tyler Matlosz, Daniel and Erin Rifkin each ran a calculated race and joined Fulcomer on the podium.

The run to the CIF State championships had been a long and great road traveled. The Eagles would run a calculated race that would end up cementing this team in school history with a third place finish.

The State meet was an amazing day for the Eagles and the program as a whole. Finishing third in the CIF finals the week before, it helped punch their ticket to the State meet. The team felt that that they had let a second place finish slip through their hands. So they used a different strategy to run a better second mile and finish strong.

The Eagles' biggest asset is their top five runners that can pack in close with a tight scoring gap, which ultimately propelled them to the podium. Of the top four teams, El Segundo had the narrowest gap between their first and fifth runners. During the race, the Eagles really fought for each other and knew at the 2-mile mark that every runner they could pass would help them reach the top three and a place in history on the podium.

When the first runners were coming through the finish chute, the scoring screen was to the right of the finish line displaying team results. Runner after runner crossed the finish line and team placement was constantly being updated. El Segundo was initially third, but Matlosz. Zago had a strong day and finished as the third Eagle. One of the biggest surprises of the day came from freshman Tyler Matlosz, who finished fourth and really cemented the team's place on the podium. She had a stellar season ranking as the all-time fastest freshman girl in school history. Four-year runner senior Lee rounded out the top five Eagle runners with a PR performance. Daniel came through as the Eagles' sixth runner and finished ahead of Harvard Westlake's fifth runner. Guziak rounded out the team with an impressive finish. The alternates included two freshmen, Isabella Mai and Erin Rifkin. They finished

Here is some perspective on how hard it is to make the podium and why these athletes should be treated like rock stars. There are approximately 1,600 XC teams in the state across five divisions. Only the top three teams take a podium spot in each division. The California CIF State Finals have been going on for 30 years now, starting in 1987. During that time, only 141 schools (girls teams) have touched the podium. There are a lot of schools that have monopolies over the top three spots. For El Segundo to finally crack the top three places on the podium is truly a remarkable accomplishment. Move over soccer, baseball, volleyball, water polo, softball, football, swimming and, yes, the 1963 basketball team... There's another championship sport on campus.

Girls Basketball Proving Worthy of Ranking

The Eagles didn't make the postseason last year and they have a new coach, but there are those in the know who see something in the team this season. El Segundo is ranked fourth in the first CIF Southern Section Division 3A Division. They improved to 5-2 on the season after defeating Bassett 58-29. The ball movement and crisp passing has elevated the Eagles' overall play. Couple that with their aggressive defense and you can see why they are worthy of their ranking.

The Eagles are 10-deep in the rotation of players with little drop-off when a substitute player enters the game. In fact, head coach John Peterson often will substitute for all five players on the floor at one time. Malia Hue has become one of the top threats off the bench. She sank a three-pointer the first time she had the ball and it helped propel her team to a 9-0 lead. Later in the first quarter, her easy layup extended the lead to 17-4. El Segundo went on to outscore the Olympians 26-11 in the second half and cruise to the win.

Hue and Story Noble each had 11 points to lead the Eagles. Reese Jones had a great defensive game, leading her team with six rebounds and six steals. The Eagles play in the Valley Christian Tournament this week. Next week, Ocean League play starts with El Segundo visiting Hawthorne on Wednesday at 6 p.m. and Beverly Hills next Friday at 6 p.m.

Boys Basketball Looking Good

The Eagles have started out 6-4 on the season. They traveled to Long Beach Cabrillo last night and were expected to improve their record to 7-4 when they faced the Jaguars. The Eagles' only home game in December is Friday night at 6 p.m. when they host Da-Vinci Wiseburn -- one of the top-ranked teams in their division. Next week, the Eagles open up Ocean League play on the road when they visit Hawthorne on Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. and Beverly Hills on Friday at 7:30 p.m. • after more runners crossed the line the Eagles were pushed down to fourth. El Segundo was battling Harvard Westlake for third place and this was the same team that nudged the Eagles to third place in the CIF finals.

The back and forth progression of changing places between third and fourth continued. At one point, it showed El Segundo and Harvard Westlake tied at a 194 team score. Coach Bolanos said it was an anxious time trying to figure out if his sixth runner had finished before the Harvard Westlake sixth runner. When the scoreboard was updated the big board showed El Segundo 193, Harvard Westlake 195. It turned out to be the thinnest of margins to make the podium that day.

El Segundo's historic day and a place in school history were led by Fulcomer and James Matlosz respectively who finished simultaneously with Fulcomer edging out the season ranked in the top eight all-time freshman runners.

This was a truly magical ending for our two seniors, Nicolette Fulcomer and Gabby Lee. They both are four-year lettermen and have had solid careers. They have helped elevate the program to one of the top XC programs in Southern California. Consider that during their tenure, they have helped the Eagles win four consecutive Ocean League titles, placed on the podium in two out of state Nike Invitational meets, ranked in the top 10 in state the past three consecutive years and created a culture of success.

With five of the team's top runners returning, an impressive number of underclassmen returning and more hard work to come, it should translate into continued success. The team will have all eyes set on a higher podium finish next year.

At the behest of Mayor Pro Tem Carol Pirsztuk, the Council agreed to study the current business license tax structure that has not changed in about 30 years. Part of the goal is to clean up the code to remove business categories that no longer exist and add any new ones. City Attorney Mark Hensley pointed out that the Council can approve such tweaks. However, any proposed increases to the general business license tax must receive voter approval. With the next municipal election in March 2020, Hensley recommended that staff come back with any proposed changes by February or March to allow proper time to move towards a potential ballot measure (should one be requested). In order to place a measure on the ballot, four of the five Council members must opt in favor of doing so. A report within the last two years comparing El Segundo with neighboring communities showed small business license tax fees falling below the average but larger employers running higher.

The spate of presentations to begin the meeting kicked off with a recognition of Guaymas Mayor Sara Valle, who was recently elected to the position by a record 62 percent of voters (despite four other candidates). She and a small contingent arrived in El Segundo on Monday to tour the town and reinvigorate the now 56-year relationship between the two cities. Valle also served as mayor for the Sonora, Mexico coastal community in the late '90s. During her address to the Council (delivered in Spanish with an interpreter beside her), Valle provided an overview of Guaymas' history, chief industries and claims to fame. She also received the Key to the City.

Next up, the Council recognized four successful girls softball all-star teams that excelled in recent tournaments. The groups included the 8U Gold, 10U Gold, 10U Silver and 12U Gold squads, with the players and coaches on hand for photo opportunities with the Council members.

Fire Chief Chris Donovan introduced two new employees: Administrative Specialist Vanessa Arias and Management Analyst Liz Lydic (who moved over from the Finance Department). Public Works Director Ken Berkman introduced new Sr. Management Analyst Jasmine Allen, who was promoted to the new title.

The Council also received the quarterly report from City Treasurer Crista Binder and Deputy Treasurer II Dino Marsocci, with a rundown of the City's investment activities. Among the highlights were significantly higher interest returns compared to 2017 as yield rates tick up. The City continues to comply with its investment policy with a diverse portfolio.

In a commendation, Allen Gragg received El Segundo Police Department's (ESPD) 2018 RSVP (Retired Senior Volunteer of the Year) honors. An RSVP since July 2015, Gragg provides routine patrol but contributes additional hours for various local events. He also removes graffiti, and repairs crime prevention and station equipment at home in his spare time.

New ESPD K-9 Officer Jeff Rudolph introduced his canine partner Ory, a 2-year-old male Belgian Malinois.

The Council proclaimed the 1200 block of East Acacia Avenue as Candy Cane Lane from Dec. 8 at 7 p.m. through Dec. 23 and recognized all the homeowners who decorate their properties over that period. ESPD Lieutenant Jeff Leyman provided an update on the safety plan for the very popular event, announcing street closures at Acacia and Center as well as California and Walnut, with two police personnel each in two vehicles plus a fifth officer to handle any incidents. To limit who drives in or out to actual residents, the ingress area for the 1100 block will be from Acacia and Center. It will be from Walnut and California for the 1200 block. Officers will request identification from residents of those blocks and will not allow any non-resident vehicles access. Police will provide flyers/door-hangers regarding the plan and also post the information on social media.

The Council also proclaimed this Sunday, Dec. 9 as the 55th Annual Holiday Parade, which will run from 1 p.m. to 3 p.m. starting at Imperial Avenue and Main and continuing down Main to El Segundo Boulevard. This year's theme is "Seaside Yuletide."

Meanwhile, Recreation and Parks Director Meredith Petit announced that a "Plan B" is in the works in case rain pours down during this evening's treelighting ceremony at the Civic Plaza. While she indicated the actual lighting will likely take place regardless, inclement weather could force the Santa and toy giveaway inside. Final status was unknown at press time.

As is common practice, the Council canceled its first meeting in January (this year on the 2nd) due to its close proximity to the holidays. The next regularly scheduled meeting will be on Tuesday, Dec. 18. •

City of El Segundo
Notice of Intent to Adopt a Mitigated
Negative Declaration

Zoning Code Amendment and Hotel Project

Address: C-3 zoned properties abutting the west side of Pacific Coast Highway (PCH); and 703 and 707 PCH

Purpose: In accordance with the State of California Public Resources Code Section 21092, Sections 15063 and 15072 of Title 14 of the California Code of Regulations Guidelines pertaining to the California Environmental Quality Act, and the El Segundo Municipal Code, this is to advise you that the Planning Department of the City of El Segundo has prepared an initial study of environmental impacts on the following project and is recommending the environmental determination described below.

Project Description: The proposed Zoning Code Amendment would increase the allowable building height from 45 feet to 55 feet for C-3 properties, and 40 feet to 55 feet for C-3 properties that abut residentially zoned properties, on the west side of PCH between Sycamore Avenue to the north and El Segundo Boulevard to the south. The amendment would allow a 1-foot height increase for each additional 2-feet of setback from a property line, up to a maximum of 55-feet with approval by the Planning Commission. The amendment would also allow a Transfer of Development Rights between C-3 zoned properties west of PCH.

The project also includes demolishing the existing vacant restaurant building (Stick n Stein), and constructing a new four-story, 55,640 square-foot boutique hotel. The proposed hotel would be 54 feet 10 inches in height; include 116 guest rooms, a fitness room, a ground floor lobby featuring a bar area, and 10 bicycle parking spaces; a subterranean parking garage with 91 parking spaces and two surface parking spaces near the hotel lobby entrance for hotel guests; and would provide a 1,660-square foot outdoor terrace on the second floor with a bar area, seating and landscaping.

Environmental Determination: Mitigated Negative Declaration. An initial study of environmental impacts was prepared pursuant to 14 California Code of Regulations § 15063 ("CEQA Guidelines"). A Mitigated Negative Declaration of Environmental Impacts is proposed for this project pursuant to CEQA § 15070. The public review and comment period for the Negative Declaration begins on December 6, 2018 and ends at 5:00pm on January 7, 2019. The proposed environmental documents are available on the City's website at: www.elsegundo.org/depts/planningsafety/planning.

Further Information: The Mitigated Negative Declaration is also available for public review, Monday through Thursday and alternating Fridays between 7:00 a.m. and 5:00 p.m. in the City of El Segundo Planning and Building Safety Department, located at 350 Main Street, El Segundo CA, 90245. Written comments may be submitted to Principal Planner Eduardo Schonborn, AICP, at eschonborn@elsegundo.org, or mailed to the address above.

Future Public Hearings: Following the MND's public review period, a Final MND will be prepared. The Final MND along with the project applications will then be presented to the Planning Commission for its review. The Planning Commission's recommendation on the project will then be presented to the City Council for action. Public notice will be provided of all future Planning Commission and City Council meetings.

Purrrfect Companions

Birch

Adopt one of these fun-loving felines to make your home extra merry and bright. Chayse is as sweet as she is beautiful. She is soft, gentle and will purr as she relaxes in your arms! She may have some “rag doll” breed in her and would make a great you’re doing to find a way to incorporate himself into the activity. Yang has always been a very friendly and silly kitten. These two sweet boys, Yang and Birch, are waiting to become the loves of your life.

Cory is one of a pair of super-socialized, cuddle-loving and friendly little brothers (Cory and Eric). They love humans, other kitties and dogs alike. Cory is gentle and mellow. He is very curious, but prefers to follow rather than lead. He is quite affectionate and loves chilling with humans. Cory is quite attached to his brother and would very much like to be adopted with him.

Eric, much like his brother Cory, loves humans, other kitties and dogs alike. Eric is the leader of the pack, confident and fearless. He loves being held and also enjoys the reputation of having the loudest purr in the west. Since the only thing more fun than one kitten is two, Eric would be the perfect match to his brother Cory.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Sophie

companion and friend. Chayse is very playful and will need to be adopted with a friend or into a home with an existing cat. But if you don’t already have a kitty for her to be with, consider one of her many foster friends at our Adoption Center as her companion.

Slinky is a handsome, affectionate and very confident Chocolate Point Siamese kitty. He loves people and will fall asleep on your lap soon after meeting him. Slinky is a friend to children. Slinky will be happiest hanging out with you, as he wants to be where people are spending time together.

Sophie is a beautiful young kitty with adorable white whiskers. She would flourish in a home where she can be the only pet (she is afraid of other animals). She is a little shy with new people. However, once she knows you, Sophie is an absolute doll who loves to cuddle and have her belly rubbed. It doesn’t take long to fall in love with her. The little bit of patience you show Sophie will be well rewarded with a lifetime of love.

Birch is an extremely sweet and affectionate kitten. He’s very loving toward people, and has his own set of cute quirks. His constant purring has a very unique sound and is absolutely adorable. He’s a talkative kitty, especially when it’s time to eat! Birch is very energetic and he needs some playtime every day. He was bottle-fed from only one-day-old and is very bonded to another kitten, Yang, living in his foster home. They do everything together -- grooming each other, playing together and sleeping together. Birch and Yang truly are best friends and must be adopted together.

Yang has the sweetest personality! He adores being petted and will demand to cuddle and sleep on your lap or chest while you pet him. He’ll also enjoy curling up under the covers with you. Yang always chirps when something sparks his interest and he’ll watch whatever

"Hello, my name is Coconut, but my friends call me Coco. I'm a tiny, 2-year-old, female Poodle mix, but I have no idea what I'm mixed with. After taking a wrong turn while out for a walk, I ended up at an LA County shelter where I was rescued by some great folks. The shelter people called me a stray, but I prefer to think of myself as a gal seeking the perfect home. I can't blame anyone for ignoring me when I was at the shelter because I was a bit of a mess. I was stinky, matted, emotionally overwhelmed and so shy that I spent my time in a corner with my head down. The MSFR folks took pity on me and decided to take me home and try to find my forever family. Although I had to be shaved down to get rid of the matting, I felt so much better after my makeover that I started to bloom. That's when everyone discovered how very thin I was at only 11 pounds. My ideal weight is more like 13 pounds and I am working on adding those few pounds of splendidness. Once I started blooming, there was no stopping me! My shyness is gone and I am a friendly, loving little lady who adores being the center of attention. While I get along with other dogs, there's no doubt I would prefer to be the princess of the house. Please come see me at our adoptions – I'd love to meet you." If you're interested in Coco, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Hi there, I'm Fern and I'm still waiting to find my forever home. I so hope to spend Christmas with my forever family. My sisters Gabrielle and Hallie have both been adopted and I just know that my family is out there looking for me. I was only 5 months old when we were all discarded by our owners and given to an LA County shelter the week before the 4th of July holiday. Considering that my first life's lesson was this huge rejection, it made me a bit cautious...but I've gained some confidence in the last couple of months. I am extremely grateful to the folks at MSFR for rescuing and helping me find a family that will love me and appreciate everything I can bring to their lives. Since I'm still a pup, I only weigh 12 pounds -- but when I'm fully grown, I'll weigh more like 15-20 pounds. I will be the perfect size to share your lap or accompany you on our adventures. I obviously get along with other dogs since I've always had my sisters to keep me company and I would do best in a home that has a doggie pal to keep me company. I also have to have a secured yard with a 6-foot solid fence, like wood or cinderblock. When we were together, my sisters and I used to keep ourselves entertained by climbing up and over the x-pens and we became very proficient climbers. Obviously, no chain link fence for us! Everyone keeps telling me that I'm stunning and that my coat is so soft and shiny. I have a natural tail, which I call my 'happy meter,' that shows my enthusiasm when I get excited. I also have natural ears, soulful eyes and a personality that will melt your heart." If you're interested in Fern, please email info@msfr.org for more information. •

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Zoey and her new family!

Congratulations to Zoey and her new family. Zoey is the very sweet and petite 1-year-old Poodle/mix who was rescued in September. She and her new family were introduced a couple of weeks ago and it was love at first sight. She'll be the perfect first dog for this family – easygoing and a real people dog. She joins three human sisters, ages 8, 11 and 13, who are going to fill her life with lots of love and pampering. No doubt costumes, cuddling and lots of attention are in her future. She is going to be queen of her domain in Manhattan Beach and no one deserves more. Wishing you a lifetime of happiness! •
