Outreach, Empathy Have Positive Effect on Homeless Population

By Haleemon Anderson

Residents of Inglewood took to the streets recently to try and tally the most vulnerable tenants--the homeless. At last week’s meeting, the Inglewood City Council heard a report from Officer Cinder Eller, senior affairs liaison, on the results of the homeless count. Eller noted the efforts showed positive results. “Our numbers are down substantially,” she said. Verified numbers showed a drop from 187 people on the street in 2018 to 94 at this count; and 31 living in vehicles, down from 73 in 2018.

Several local residents volunteered for the project, and police and support staff were on hand for what has become an annual outreach in cities across the Greater Los Angeles area. Many cities canvass at night when the homeless population is likely to be static.

Councilmember Eloy Morales applauded the police department and other support staff who helped in the count. “This is a great example of how the increased resources the city has, makes these positive effects possible. The reason we have an entire staff out there, led by Cinder, is because the city can now,” he said.

Mayor James T. Butts added, “Cinder is at the homeless issue 24/7. She is helping people find temporary shelter and connecting them with the housing department.” Eller spearheads efforts to find temporary housing and services for the homeless as they are reported in the city.

Two purchase and sale agreements appeared on the consent calendar agenda. The City of Inglewood invoked the eminent domain process to secure the properties, identified as necessary for right-of-way access in the Century Boulevard Mobility Project.

A sale agreement between the City and Centingewood, LLC, also received approval. The total purchase price for the 1,380-square foot parcel at 4801 Century Blvd. was $173,339.

Another proposed parcel purchase, 159 square feet at 10001 Hawthorne Blvd., was pulled from the agenda at the start of the meeting. The total purchase price was listed as $17,084.

Items approved for funding include a staff recommendation for $85,000 for landscaping services at City Parking Structure No. 2, on 115 Locust St.” and $69,424 for upgraded access control systems at the City Jail, City Yard and Emergency Operation Center parking lot. A contract for chlorine and water treatment services was approved at $143,348.

The Council ratified three appointments to the South Bay Work Force Investment Board (SBWIB). Nominees from the Inglewood Airport Area Chamber of Commerce include Maria Camacho, government affairs director for the Los Angeles Rams and Stella Li, president of Build Your Dreams. They will replace Nick Spanpanato and Marc Little respectively. Thomas A. Parham, president at California State University Dominguez Hills, will replace Dr. Willie J. Hagan. Parham and Li will serve four-year terms of office, and Camacho will serve a partial term of office ending in June 2021.

In her report, City Treasurer Wanda M. Brown spoke on the ending of the recent federal shutdown, noting the impact on federal workers. Brown said many federal workers were able to survive missing one or two pay periods by going without non-essentials. She stressed the need to consider trying to set aside an emergency fund.

The meeting began with a special commendation given to the Golden State Water Company, in appreciation for “outstanding support of Inglewood community outreach programs.” Reading from prepared notes, Mayor Butts described the organization’s contributions. “We extend sincere and heartfelt thanks for their partnership on projects that have benefitted the city of Inglewood,” he said. Through the Operation Gobble initiative, a tradition since 1990, the organization has provided over 230,000 turkeys to needy families and has contributed to the Inglewood Community Services Corporation, which helps grandparents raising children and over 300 residents and families. Councilmember Ralph Franklin, District 4, thanked the company for supporting the annual Christmas holiday toy and food drive in his district. “They are a tremendous asset to the community,” he said. “We thank them for their compassion and commitment to the residents of this city.”

A representative from GSWC received the commendation after a photo with the Council. “We are pleased to serve the residents and our customers in the city,” she said.

The Council also accepted the retirement and release of police service K9 Mack, to Police Officer Bruce. The officer will assume full responsibility as caretaker for the 10-year-old Labrador Retriever at the cost of $1.

The Inglewood City Council meets every Tuesday, unless otherwise noted, at 2 p.m. in the council chambers on the 9th floor, Inglewood City Hall. •

Velvet Buzzsaw is High-Art Horror

By Ryan Rojas
for www.cinemacy.com

The term “velvet buzzsaw,” for those who don’t know, is slang for a rich person’s flatulence, and it’s this stuffy, hot air that writer-director Dan Gilroy derides so deliciously in his new film, the horror-comedy Velvet Buzzsaw (available to stream on Netflix this Friday). Having last mocked the vulture-like culture of tabloid journalism and consumption in his previous film, Nightcrawler, Gilroy returns to an arena of ridicule (and once again set in the beautiful but artificial city of LA) to satirize the self-important art world elites whose vanity and greed results in devaluing the meaning of art – if it doesn’t kill them first.

It’s business as usual in the art world – with vanity-plagued art dealers, buyers, agents and critics all “kiss-kiss”ing each other at the latest openings. That is, until the life’s work of an unknown artist is discovered, which shakes the art world for the mind-blowing reason that it actually has “substance” as flamboyant art critic Morf Vandewalt (Jake Gyllenhaal) remarks. Whether or not the paintings from the artist – Dease – should ever have seen the light of day or not (per the late artist’s intentions) means nothing to sales agent Josephina (Zawe Ashton) and her boss, Rhodora Haze (Rene Russo), who immediately look to sell and display the white-hot works. But as they, and the rest of the vociferous art world soon comes to find as each of the pieces are dealt and displayed, spiritual forces begin to haunt and lead each of the greedy superficial socialites

Mia Tang is not your typical fifth grader. She moved from China to America when she was eight years old. Her family was hired by the rich Mr. Yao to operate the Calivista Motel. The Tangs helped at the motel to the best of their ability, but always had the risk of losing their jobs looming over their head. They spent hours cleaning rooms, managing the front desk and fixing the building. A small room behind the office of the motel is also a place her family calls home.

The main character, Mia, faces many problems ranging from racist bullies at school and in her community to financial problems at home. On top of that, her love for writing is hindered based on her mother’s disapproval. Although she lives a life of hardship, she is always hopeful of a better tomorrow. With her love for writing, Mia positively disrupts her community by bringing awareness to problems plaguing her home.

Front Desk highlights many hardships that new immigrants face moving to the United States. Based on the author Kelly Yang’s first experiences as a new immigrant in America, she presents a fearless fifth grader, Mia Tang, who helps the readers experience the dreams of a young Chinese Immigrant. Yang does a great job creating an autobiographical read while portraying a young girl’s courage,

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

STATE OF THE UNION AND STATE OF THE CITY

President Trump had his 90 minutes to shine this past Tuesday night. The Democrats had their chance to respond. So now, that the State of the Union is over, they can get back to fighting and getting nothing done. That is not how our local city council works. It seems that in the past few years, there has been more of a coordinated effort to work together to get Hawthorne headed in the right direction. These efforts will be the highlight of the upcoming luncheon where the State of City is presented. The Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce's State of the City Luncheon to be held this year on March 7th. Mayor Vargas will be giving his 3rd update to the residents and stakeholders of Hawthorne. The Citizen of the Year Award will be announced at the event also. Tickets can be obtained by calling the Chamber office at (310) 676-1163. Nominations are now being accepted for the Citizen of the Year Award that is presented annually at the State of the City Luncheon featuring Mayor Alex Vargas. The deadline for nominations is Tuesday February 19th. You may write a letter nominating someone and either send it or drop it off at the Hawthorne Chamber office, 12519 Crenshaw Blvd, Hawthorne. Or you may email it to the Selection Committee Chairman Tom Quintana at quprs@aol.com. Past Citizen of the Year recipients will meet to make the selection.

HERE WE GO

Everything in one paragraph: It's raining in California and that is good. The snowpack in the Sierra Mountains is above average for this time of the year and that is good. The Rams couldn't get their offense going and when they did, a stupid penalty changed their momentum dramatically. At least the big game was interesting to watch right up to the end. Now that football is over, the NBA and college basketball get us through the early spring. Does anyone really care about baseball any more? I do. Spring training begins in about a week. Now that I'm retired, I would love just to go down to Arizona and see a few spring games. It wouldn't really matter what teams I see, it would just be a new experience. There are still too many cars getting broken into in Hawthorne. Crime is down, but my Nextdoor notifications still gives me updates on stuff happening on the residential streets of Hawthorne. The Hawthorne Historical Society is still very active and keeps the Hawthorne Museum open on Tuesdays and Saturdays from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. The Museum is located over at Jim Thorpe Park at 141st Street and Prairie Avenue. The next Hawthorne City Council Meeting will held next Tuesday, February 12th beginning at 6 p.m. in the City Chambers at City Hall. If you have never seen your city governance, then next Tuesday would be a good first meeting to attend. If you have something to say, you have 3 minutes at the start of the meeting during oral communications to bring up a concern before the council and also the citizens present or who watch it via live streaming or on cable tv. February is Black History Month and my grandkids have learned all about Harriot Tubman in their schools. They know about the Underground Railroad and how Harriot was instrumental in leading many of the slaves to freedom. Here's a little snippet her life story: Harriet Tubman was an American abolitionist and political activist. Born into slavery, Tubman escaped and subsequently made some thirteen missions to rescue approximately seventy enslaved people, family and friends, using the network of antislavery activists and safe houses known as the Underground Railroad. America has a rich history. We tend to dwell too much on the bad stuff our country has done. For all of our bad, we still live in the best and most loving and most generous dreams and hard work.

What made this novel very easy to read was how straightforward the writing style is, which is perfect for young and curious minds. Yang’s writing style was very clean and honest and sheds a powerful message about racism and privilege in society.

This book captures America’s lifestyle in the 1990s for both people of color and those who experienced living in poverty. The book is an eye-opener for readers to understand the hardships a new immigrant can face. If you’re interested in checking this title out, please visit the El Segundo Public Library. • to their demise in different gruesome ways. Before long, it’s one death-by-art after another. One of the most deliciously fun parts of Velvet Buzzsaw is that, being an ensemble movie, we get so many different zany characters -- all played by an incredible list of actors all portraying wonderful, over-the-top versions of snobby art world elites who meet a bitter end. There’s Russo, who sinks her teeth into the part of Rhodora, former punk rocker-turned commercial art owner. Russo mostly plays opposite newcomer Ashton, who holds her own as Josephina, the agent who discovers the Deases. Toni Colette is a fantastic wit and energy as the gossipy art world advisor Gretchen, and we are also treated to John Malkovich as an artist looking for re-inspiration. But if there’s one person who seems to have the most fun here, it is Gyllenhaal, whose posturing as the flamboyant art critic Morf Vandewalt is a comically caricatured protagonist and a highlight throughout the film. Overall, Velvet Buzzsaw is less a breathtaking horror movie and more a perverse, comic watch, which allows Gilroy to have his fun in voicing the underlying thoughts of how art loses all meaning at the hands of elites, critics (ahem) and institutions that seek to focus on financial or social opportunity within its aesthetic value. While this also means that we don’t have the same bone-chilling uneasiness of a Nightcrawler, we get something that we can laugh at, and then think about long after. Velvet Buzzsaw is now streaming on Netflix. •

HAWTHORNE.
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that on Tuesday, February 12, 2019, at 6:00 P.M., a Public Hearing will be held in the City Council Chambers, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, 90250 to consider Resolution No. 8045, approving an amendment to the franchise agreement between Allied Waste Services of North America and the City of Hawthorne. This amendment will affect the rates Allied charges to its customers in the City for solid waste and recyclable collection and for other services. The proposed amendment will make the following changes to the franchise agreement: 1) The portion of Allied's rates that are currently indexed to the CPI for All Urban Consumers as well as PPI and tipping fee will instead be indexed only to the CPI for Water, Sewer and Trash Services; 2) Allied will be authorized to charge the City for certain services to City owned facilities that had previously been provided without charge for a limited term; and 3) Allied will provide additional free bulky item pick-ups up to 20 items per year to residential and multi-family customers upon proper notification. Other provisions of the Allied Agreement will remain in effect.
The proposed amendment does not involve any significant changes to manner of providing solid waste and recyclables collection service. As a result there will be no changes to the impacts evaluated in the August, 2012 Mitigated Negative Declaration. Operations under the franchise agreement will continue an overall reduction in vehicular emissions, reduction in truck traffic on City streets, and reduction in noise associated with refuse pick-up activities and vehicular traffic.
If you challenge the subject matter of this public hearing in court, you may be limited to raising only those issues you or someone else raised at the public hearing described in this notice, or in written correspondence delivered to the City Council at, or prior to, the public hearing. The Resolution, the proposed amendment and the associated staff report have been prepared and filed with the City Clerk.
