Planning Commission’s Denial for Special Use Permit Upheld

By Cristian Vasquez

A unanimous vote on Tuesday by Mayor James T. Butts and members of the Inglewood City Council confirmed the denial of Special Use Permit (SUP) No. 2016-013, abiding by the municipal code barring beauty salons to open within 300 feet of similar businesses. The Inglewood Planning Commission hosted a public hearing in consideration of a request to approve a special use permit to allow for the operation of a beauty salon on February 1 of this year. However, based on Inglewood Municipal Code Chapter 12, Articles 7.1 and 25 requiring that a special permit must be approved for a beauty salon to operate within 300 feet of an existing salon, the Commission denied the request.

“Our rule in place for prohibiting an additional existing use is there for a reason,” said District No. 3 Councilman Eloy Morales, Jr. “Of course we want all of the businesses to prosper--but when it was put in place, there were probably continuous applications for similar uses. We still have that [rule] and we need to honor it to the degree that makes sense.”

The 1,200-square foot location is part of a shopping center attached to an AM/PM gas station and convenience store, and is within 250 feet of a similar-use business located at 10800 S. Prairie Avenue. Upon denial of the SUP, the City’s Planning Division received a letter of appeal along with the associated fee to obtain a public hearing before the City Council. Applicant Miguel Tellez proposed that his business was not of similar use given its focus was to provide haircuts to kids two to 12 years old in a atmosphere that would include toys and entertainment to make children comfortable within the setting of a barbershop.

“One of the things that was said was that this is a specialty salon for children--that is great and I think that is a great idea, but the fact that it exists and specializes doesn’t mean that it prohibits adult hair from being cut no more than an adult barber shop or beauty salon prohibits children,” Morales said. “That being said, I don’t see reason to overturn the decision made by the Planning Commission.”

Despite the barbershop’s design including a customer reception area, five hairstyling stations and two restrooms, the business is located on the second floor--making it a cause for concern for District No. 4 Councilman Ralph L. Franklin. The Councilman visited the business and identified it as having a balcony facing Prairie Avenue and 108th Street with a guardrail 40 to 42 inches in height. He also expressed concern about the entryway to the business. “One must physically go through a stairwell, zig-zag to get up and at the top of it is the patio,” Franklin said. “The patio is the area where there is plenty of free time to play and if you know anything about our children, if you’re not watching them, all it takes is a matter of a second for them to fall off the balcony and get hurt.”

Sitting atop of the convenience store the proposed barbershop also provided access through the AM/PM, which the Councilman thought would add to safety hazards of the location.

Despite a handful of residents speaking on behalf of Tellez to overturn the denial, there were no indications that the Council would consider contradicting the Planning Commission’s findings, including that allowing a barbershop would create an environment of oversaturation of beauty salons, nail salons and similar businesses; that there are existing businesses providing the proposed services; and that the proposed barbershop location is unsafe for patrons due to the stairs, balcony and lack of American with Disabilities Act facilities.

“I listened to the residents that are here and the owner of the business and you take all of these things into consideration, and I do want you to know how much I appreciate the fact that you came all the way down here to do your presentation,” District No. 2 Councilman Alex Padilla said. “At the end of the day, I have to look at what is the best interest of the city overall and take that into consideration.”

Franklin added, “I want to thank the owner of the property for thinking outside the box in wanting to have a new business operation. I have a great concern for our youth being exposed to such safety issues, but I understand the logic.” •

News for the City of Good Neighbors from City Clerk Huber

SMALL WORLD OR MAYBE PEOPLE ACTUALLY READ THIS STUFF

What started out as a small project of tearing out my front lawn and putting in new grass turned into a six month “ordeal” of dealing with mud and dirt from ripping out both our lawn and driveway. We had our cement guys pour the driveway in January, but last Saturday, I finally got my grandkids and son-in-law to help me roll out the sod. I was down on my knees for a few hours and I could tell my left knee was not used to bending like that. After a few hours of extreme pain, I asked my daughter to drive me to the emergency room at one of those fine hospitals in Torrance. I went to the Catholic one that doesn’t allow for any birth control procedures to be performed. Since it was my leg that was hurting, I guess it really didn’t matter. Four and a half hours later the ER doctor told me to take these pain pills and rest it. While waiting in the waiting room, one of my loyal readers came over and told me to have a cold one. He went on for a good 30 minutes of telling me how he enjoys reading my weekly prescription for curing all of life’s ills. The next day, I went to Wal-Mart on Inglewood Avenue looking for cough medicine and another one of my readers comes up and tells me to have a cold one. Is this my legacy? Will I be remembered for cold ones? Will I be buried with cold ones surrounding me? Does anyone remember anything else I say? Like any good politician, it’s not so much the content of your message but whether people like what you say. There seems to be a few people who like what I say. At least I admit that I’m full of it. Full of it? Full of what? No, not a cold one.

HAPPY

America fell to 14th on the list of happiest countries in the world. Norway is number one because people are socially connected and feel accepted by others. What makes you happy? I’m happiest when surrounded by and connected to the family, friends, neighbors, coworkers, and students that God has put into my life. My nephew, who is 30 years my junior, told me recently that the only thing we can control in our lives is “how we see life”. I thought it was pretty insightful for a young man to see that we can choose to be happy or mad. Why not be happy?

Call the chamber’s office for more details and ticket information.

Space Science Day 2017

Nearly 1,000 South Bay youngsters visited El Camino College’s annual Onizuka Space Science Day on March 11. NASA astronaut Dr. Kjell N. Lindgren delivered the keynote address in Marsee Auditorium and was also available for a question and answer session. A “chemical magic show” satellite

Hawthorne High Students Raise Money to Fight Cancer

Hawthorne High School students Udochi Okorie and Adaly Martin recently teamed up as part of an area campaign to raise funds for The Leukemia & Lymphoma Society (LLS). The 13 participating teams raised a combined $313,316 to help find cancer cures. Okori and Adaly’s team was called “Curing Cancer One Step at a Time”

JLLS is leading the charge in exploring new paths to cures and treatments, with almost 300 cutting-edge research projects underway, many in the promising new areas of immunotherapy and personalized medicine. In addition to finding blood cancer cures, many of the treatments LLS has helped fund are now helping patients with other cancers and chronic diseases.

“I have joined the fight against blood cancers to ensure a better future for cancer patients,” said Okorie. “I understand that though I may not have large sums of money, I can still make a difference.”

Martin commented, “My motivation for participating in this campaign is to give back and help my cousin and others like him live long, healthy lives. Just as others have raised money in the past and helped our family, I want to make a difference in the lives of patients like my cousin.”

Google and Assemblymember Burke Host Computer Science Event for Lawndale Youth

On March 17, Google and Assemblymember Autumn Burke paid a visit to Smith Elementary School to deliver the CS First Roadshow, a computer science education presentation developed by Google for fourth to eighth grade school students.

Two Google employees delivered the hour-long presentation, which focuses on teaching students both problem solving and technical coding skills through a series of interactive activities. They encouraged kids to develop an interest in computer science education by giving real-life examples of how coding and STEM education can lead to educational opportunities and exciting careers.

Assemblymember Burke kicked off the presentation by expressing the importance of learning about computer science at an early age, and helped kids build their own fun stories using Scratch, Google’s proprietary introductory coding tool. “I would like to thank Google for their partnership through this investment in Lawndale’s students,” said Burke. “It’s my goal to facilitate more of these investments in our schools to ensure all of our students have an equal opportunity for success.”

The CS First Roadshow teaches students about the importance of STEM education and uses interactive activities to teach them coding basics. The goal of the presentation is to encourage students to develop an interest in computer science education and grow both their problem solving and technical coding skills.

Hawthorne Slumping in the Early Going

By Adam Serrao

The Hawthorne Cougars boys' baseball team began this year with high hopes after coming off of a season in which the team finished in last place. Typically, another year of experience for a team returning many of its starters from last season might mean success. For Hawthorne, though, success has been hard to come by in a non-league schedule that is sure to lead into extremely difficult matchups across the board against traditionally talented Ocean League rivals. A 3-0 shutout loss at the hands of the North High Saxons last Thursday afternoon at North High was the latest misstep in a season that is slowly going awry for head coach JC Randolph and the Cougars.

Junior pitcher for Hawthorne Johnny Pacheco took the mound for the Cougars during the team's latest attempt to steal a win before the beginning of Ocean League play this season. Pacheco began the game looking smooth, but it wasn't long before he would run into some trouble. In the bottom of the third inning, it was opposing pitcher Kyle Hatai who would get to Pacheco and the Cougars first. Hatai drove in the first run of the game, giving North High a 1-0 lead while also leaving Pacheco with an early deficit.

Things didn't get much better for Pacheco and it wasn't long before the Saxons would tack on a few more runs to add to their lead. Two more runs in the bottom of the fifth inning would not only give North what looked to be an insurmountable lead, but also chased Pacheco from the game. Relief pitcher Carlos Jacobo would ultimately come in to stop the damage and hold the Saxons scoreless for the rest of the game. Pacheco finished the game with 4.2 innings pitched, allowing five hits and two earned runs while striking out three and walking four. Jacobo pitched 1.1 scoreless innings, allowing two hits and recording one strikeout.

There wasn't much to be heard of from the Cougars' offense on the day. North's pitcher Hatai didn't do his opposition any favors by showing up with one of his best all-around games of the young season. Hatai struck out 12 Hawthorne batters and wound up pitching a complete-game shutout, fooling opposing batters for seven innings. Jacobo did find some success on the base pads, though he wasn't able to score a run. The senior had one hit on three plate appearances, but was also able to steal two bases to put at least a bit of fear into Hatai's mind. Seniors David Sandoval, Charles Phelps and Victor Valdez each finished the game with one hit as well.

The loss marked Hawthorne's second in a row and fourth in the team's last five games. The matchup against North High was the last non-league matchup of the regular season for the Cougars. Now, an always difficult Ocean League schedule awaits where Hawthorne will be forced to battle against the likes of the Santa Monica Vikings, the Beverly Hills Normans and the Culver City Centaurs, among others. Despite Hawthorne's early struggles, only one league victory in 10 games played one season ago shouldn't be too difficult for the team to improve upon this year.

Lawndale High

Despite an Opening Day 27-1 victory over Hawthorne Math and Science Academy, the Lawndale Cardinals have had a rough go of things this season. A 3-2 loss to the Leuzinger Olympians last Thursday afternoon was just the latest misstep in a season that is quickly going downhill for head coach Jeff Prihode and company. Now, with six losses in their last seven games, the Cardinals will have to rely on success within a traditionally difficult Ocean League to get their season turned around quickly.

The Cardinals scored first in their game against Leuzinger when senior Michael Zambrano got things going for an early 1-0 lead. Junior Julian Diaz extended the team's lead in the top of the fourth with an RBI hit for a run, while senior Roberto Novela held things down early by keeping the Olympians off the board through four consecutive innings. Unfortunately for Novela and Lawndale, it was in the fifth inning in which they would run into trouble.

Novela allowed one earned run in the bottom of the fifth before he was pulled for senior pitcher Leo Cervantes. Cervantes allowed a run himself before finally getting out of the nightmare inning. Leuzinger and Lawndale remained tied heading into the bottom of the seventh inning before the Olympians came through with a walk-off, game-winning run off of Novela.

Zambrano finished the game with two hits, one RBI and one run scored. Cervantes and junior Jayce Dempsey each contributed two hits to the offensive effort as well. Lawndale is going to need a lot more offense if it wishes to compete in a traditionally tough Ocean League this season. The Cardinals will take on their rivals from Santa Monica at the end of the month when we will also have a much better idea of how the rest of Lawndale's season should wind up.

INGLEWOOD HIGH

The Inglewood Sentinels have set out upon a season in which the team and head coach Kewatta Wade hope to win more than just one game this year. With one victory already under their belts, the Sentinels will take the field this Wednesday against the Centennial Apaches to try to acquire another before beginning league play in early April with a doubleheader against last year's third place finisher, the Palos Verdes Sea Kings. Bay League baseball is filled with talent that will make an Inglewood squad that has traditionally had a hard time fielding a competitive baseball team struggle to get victories this season. •

Beware of Mayweather/McGregor Fight

By Adam Serrao

Don't look now, but a potential fight between Floyd Mayweather, Jr. and the UFC's Conor McGregor seems to be gaining steam and is basically all but finalized. While the potential fight hasn't gained full approval from the boxing commission or even from McGregor's camp yet, there is simply too much money on the line for either of the two potential competitors to turn it down. Because of all of the money at stake, buyers should beware of spending their hard-earned cash in order to be duped by Mayweather again. We all remember what happened when he took to the ring to take on Manny Pacquiao in May of 2015. The two combatants danced around each other, hesitant to throw any punch of significance, and both laughed their way to the bank. A fight between Mayweather and McGregor would simply be more of the same with us, the fans, losing in the ring.

Mayweather isn't only arguably one of the best boxers to ever put gloves on and get inside of the ring, but he is also one of the greatest businessmen in professional sports. That being said, he certainly knows what he is doing when it comes to big-ticket fights like the one that Mayweather vs. McGregor is sure to be. It is currently estimated that Floyd "Money" Mayweather is worth approximately $650 million, according to the Forbes rich list. Much of that projected wealth came from the Mayweather/Pacquiao fight when the two fighters listlessly danced around one another for an hour and divvied up a purse of roughly $230 million ($19.1 million per boring round).

A fight between Mayweather and McGregor is expected to easily double that figure and is speculated to gross upwards of $500 million. If you were either athlete, why wouldn't you do it? Receiving almost $40 million per round to dance from rope to rope while we all sit on the couch and stuff our faces with nachos hoping for blood is a no-brainer. But with Mayweather and McGregor, blood will be the last thing to drip on the canvas when the fight does eventually take place.

Sure, you'll hear a lot of bickering leading up to the fight. McGregor will throw things at a press conference, exclaim that he's the greatest to ever live, and badmouth Mayweather every way that he can. Mayweather will do the same in a more toned-down fashion, insisting that he's the greatest who ever lived and is simply unbeatable. What really goes on behind the scenes, however, is what the fan fails to see. Behind the scenes is where Mayweather and McGregor shake hands and agree to walk away with tons of money, all while practicing theater in the process. What the general public will see isn't real. It's simply a charade put on by two fighters who are both looking to drum up as much publicity as possible so that they can walk away with as much money as they possibly can.

Mayweather has already come out of his self-proclaimed retirement with the caveat that doing so was with the simple intent to fight McGregor. McGregor, on the other hand, obtained a boxing license in California last November. While the fight hasn't been finalized yet, everything is certainly leading to its confirmation sooner, rather than later. McGregor is currently taking some time away from all sports in general to be with his expectant girlfriend, who is said to be looking forward to the couple's first child this May. While not having committed to the fight entirely just yet, McGregor has said that he'd do it for $100 million, which is what Mayweather and Pacquiao each made for their fight. A Mayweather/McGregor fight is expected to well-exceed those figures. With his first child on the way and a payday like that basically in the books, what athlete in their right mind would turn a "fight" against Mayweather down?

The publicity machine hasn't even begun to start whirring with all of the fake controversy and craziness that the finalization of this fight will formulate. It is, however, bound to happen, and could even happen as early as this summer. The end result, of course, will be Mayweather winning--probably at the end of 12 extremely boring rounds. It will be a boxing match, however, and a boxing match that the UFC star McGregor, has never participated in either professionally or as an amateur. It isn't the skill level of McGregor that fans are necessarily concerned with, however. It's the amount of money that is on the line. Money creates magnetism and for that simple fact, hordes of fans will line up and be tempted to watch.

An estimated 4.6 million people tuned it to watch the money-grab that was Mayweather vs. Pacquiao. A Mayweather vs. McGregor fight will likely grab even more people's attentions. Instead of going out and paying some ungodly cover charge to watch it at a bar--or even worse, spending the $100 to watch it at home on pay-per-view--simply fall asleep like you do every night and read the sports headlines in the morning. While Mayweather vs. McGregor may gather tons and tons of publicity, there is no questioning the fact that the only entertainment value to be gained is not for the fans, but for the two extremely wealthy fighters in the center of the ring. •

THE STORY STARTS IN INGLEWOOD

You can feel it in neighborhoods near the Forum.
In homes where good grades
decorate refrigerators.

You can see it
in hardworking parents
who change the world every day,
with every dollar saved
and every dinner served.

You can hear it in the voices of high school seniors when they tell the families that believe in them
those three magic words . . .

“I got in.”

Yes, you got in.
Congratulations. We know it wasn't easy.

We recognized you, the exceptional young men and women from Inglewood, out of more than 100,000 applicants
from around the world.

And now, we ask that you join us, a community of scholars,
at a place right up the 405.
A place where people just like you are waiting for you to write your next chapter.
