Focus Turns to Schools Amid Inglewood's Development Boom

By Haleemon Anderson

Mayor James T. Butts had an extreme request for Senator Steven Bradford, who stopped by Tuesday's Inglewood City Council meeting to give an overview of his 2018 legislative platform. "I want to ask you to join me in seeking legislation to amortize the Inglewood School District's loan," said Butts.

The district needs relief, added Butts. It currently must pay back $1.8 million a year to the state. "With $55 million hanging over its head, it will never get out of receivership," explained Butts, who noted that with Inglewood now paying over $7 million in taxes to the state, those funds might be used against the schools' debt.

Bradford responded, saying he definitely wants to see the Inglewood schools stay solvent. "It makes sense on the surface," he said, before committing to look into the matter.

The Inglewood schools received another measure of relief recently, with Assembly Bill 1840 authored by Assemblywoman Autumn Burke. Governor Jerry Brown signed the budget bill into law on Sept. 17. Sponsored by a coalition of leaders with school districts in receivership, the bill provides direct state funding and allows schools to raise money through the sale or lease of surplus properties.

Inglewood, like all state school districts, is funded by state tax dollars and is not under a city council's jurisdiction. Nevertheless, the dire state of the district is a recurring topic with residents, who have asked the Council to use its money and influence to weigh in on the matter.

Bradford's legislative package includes two bills -- SB 1294 and SB 1283 -- that will relax regulations on the cannabis industry and type 75 alcohol licenses, respectively. The actions are meant to help small and independent businesses.

In other business, the Council unanimously approved the disposition and development of two City of Inglewood-owned parcels. Thomas Safran and Associates, operating as Inglewood Market Gateway, LLC, will develop 243 rental units and 55,000 square feet of retail and restaurants at La Brea and Florence. In the second phase of the project, Safran, a well-known developer of market-rate and low-income properties, will build 50 additional rentals and more retail space at Market Street between Regent and Queen.

The Council also approved $100,000 in transitional housing services including motel vouchers; and $62,500 for fair housing counseling and housing discrimination services. The members allocated another $150,000 to plant 370 trees throughout the community.

At last week's meeting, the Council approved a deal with developer Prairie Station, LLC to improve a four-acre parcel at Prairie and 113th. The bulk of the property is already owned by the City and will be developed into approximately 485 market-rate rental apartments, according to the exclusive negotiating agreement with Prairie Station.

The City will sponsor the Inglewood Open Studios art exhibit, providing shuttle buses for the two-day event in November. The Council additionally approved $17,440 for invoices related to the Child and Adult Care Food Program.

The Inglewood City Council meets every Tuesday, unless otherwise noted, at 2 p.m. in the Council chambers on the 9th floor, Inglewood City Hall. •

The Thrilling Adventures of Lovelace and Babbage: The (Mostly) True Story of the First Computer

Reviewed by Zachary Lee, Library Assistant, El Segundo Public Library

Computer coding may seem like an invention of the modern era, but did you know that its beginnings can be traced back to thinkers in the 18th century? Sydney Padua's The Thrilling Adventures of Lovelace and Babbage recounts the

The Thrilling Adventures of Lovelace and Babbage by Sydney Padua computer's humble beginnings as the brainchild of Ada Lovelace, daughter of the famed poet Lord Byron; and Charles Babbage, unrenowned tinkerer and host of elaborate Victorian parties.

Ultimately, Babbage's and Lovelace's so-called Analytical Engine never came to fruition. We know this because the computer as we know it was invented in the 1940s. Padua's story, however, fancifully ignores the fact that Lovelace died at age 36 and that Babbage was a life-long procrastinator. Instead, she imagines an alternate reality where they build the engine and use it to fight crime. What else would they use it for in a steam punk-inspired spinoff of their true lives?

Padua's beginnings as an animator shine through in her work's playful caricatures, detailed backgrounds and comedic timing. The vast puns on computers and technology, however, are what really make this book a great read. Not a coder yourself? No worries. The book is lined with footnote after footnote of Padua's intensive research -- a feature of which Ada Lovelace, a chronic footnoter herself, would be proud.

Icon Remembered in Love, Gilda

By Ashley DeFrancesco
for www.cinemacy.com

The moment she stepped onto a stage, Gilda Radner -- with her big-hearted comedic characters -- had the uncanny ability to create a strong, personal connection with any audience. Radner's comedic style was as brilliant as it was influential. In her first feature to acknowledge her influence on female comedians. Her fearlessness in her performances on SNL paved the way for future women to fight for their airtime, and showed that women are meant to be more than just background or setting. In 1978 Gilda won an Emmy for Outstanding Supporting Actress for SNL, highlighting her documentary, Love, Gilda, Lisa D'Apolito highlights the performer's amazing life that would entertain and inspire generations. Seeing her most famous characters from Saturday Night Live -- Roseanne Roseannadanna and Baba Wawa among others -- as well as her offstage struggles searching for love and self-acceptance... and her battle with the illness that would claim her life much too soon, Love, Gilda introduces a whole new audience to her comedic genius while giving devoted fans a deeper appreciation of her incomparable and enduring legacy.

Love, Gilda showcases the comedian's life from beginning to end, using voiceover narration spoken by Radner herself from found audio clips, as well as hearing a variety of celebrity talents and Radner fans read pages from her notebook to recount the story of her life. Amy Poehler, Melissa McCarthy, Bill Hader and Maya Rudolph are among the notables.

Having read her memoir when I was in high school and dreaming of being the next Gilda Radner, it seems that these audiotapes and notebook pages could have been drafts and ideas that she had prepared for a memoir (which was released the same year she died). The seamless weaving of Radner's experience with the fresh perspectives of fellow cast mates -- including Laraine Newman and Chevy Chase -- creates a beautiful tapestry that shows Radner's influence through multiple generations.

Radner herself realized that "to be a girl and be funny means you have to sacrifice a lot of things because of your loud mouth." As a lifelong lover of Gilda, it is essential genius that was truly one in a million.

Love, Gilda ultimately touches on the performer's personal search for love, which she would find with the equally-iconic and hilarious Gene Wilder -- as well as her battle with an illness that would claim her life much too early. Love, Gilda is a perfect summation of a life spent doing what she loved: spreading laughter and love. She wanted her life story to be neatly packaged, with all loose ends tied up and a happy ending to follow. But perhaps Gilda said it best when she criticized herself for idealizing "the perfect ending" and instead had the epiphany, "... the beauty in life is not knowing, having to change, taking the moment and making the best of it without knowing what will happen next."

88 minutes. Love, Gilda is not yet rated. Now playing at the Landmark Nuart Theater. •

What to Expect from the New Rules for the NFL This Season

By Wes Trotta

While the NFL season is up and running, many people -- including players -- are still unclear of the new "helmet rule" that was instated during the offseason. We have already seen the confusion on full display in the games. Players and commentators were left wondering what had just happened when a flag was thrown. Even after the referee made the call, players were seen on the field expressing their confusion and frustration about the new rule. It is always expected for players to try and defend themselves when they get penalized. The reason fans are concerned is because the commentators struggled to come up with a way to defend the reason for the flag and almost always conclude by saying, "That's the new helmet rule" or something along those lines.

What does this mean for the average fan of the National Football League? Expect a lot of irritating moments when you think your team just made a great play or big hit. The new rule that has everyone concerned does not allow for players to lower their head into a linear position before making contact. This comes from the idea to "only tackle what you see." If a player has an unobstructed path to the ball carrier and lowers his head when he did not have to, then a flag will be thrown. Players used to be able to lower their heads as long as they did not lead with the crown of their helmet into the hit. This rule was implemented to prevent future injuries like the one Ryan Shazier of the Pittsburgh Steelers suffered last season. On paper, this rule sounds extremely beneficial to the players. However, as we saw in preseason, not all players are fans of this rule. If you hear a helmet collide into anyone, expect a flag. This may only be a real problem now in the beginning of the season because players will be able to adapt to the new rule and the coaches will get sick of their team being penalized.

The rule above may infuriate fans and players. Yet there is another rule not getting enough attention, but it soon will. It is third down, your team's defense needs to make a stop and they manage to get to the quarterback for a huge loss. As you are cheering, you see a flag in the backfield and the quarterback clapping as the referee says it was roughing the passer and an automatic first down. They go to the replay and you don't see anything that seems like it was an illegal hit. The player did not lower his helmet nor hit him low in the legs. So, why is there a flag? There was a new rule installed to protect quarterbacks. The defensive player can no longer land on the quarterback with most of his body (look back at the Anthony Barr hit on Aaron Rodgers last season). The defensive player cannot unnecessarily throw the quarterback to the ground, even if the latter still has the ball. The new rule's intent is to have players wrap up the quarterback to bring him to the ground. Telling players to change the way they've stalked the quarterback their whole lives is a recipe for disaster and gives quarterbacks another reason to take an acting class.

No matter how softly a quarterback is hit, he can make it look worse. This will not happen constantly, but it does seem more than likely that a couple games could be decided by this new penalty.

After last season's devastating list of injuries to big-name stars, no one should be surprised that the league made changes. There is no denying that the league is more entertaining and has more viewers when its stars are healthy and making unbelievable plays every week. Player safety is and should always be the number one concern for the league -- which is why these rules are necessary. For the average fan, be prepared for a lot of head-scratching moments as the season progresses. •

Hawthorne Happenings

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

HAVEN'T ALL OF US DONE SOMETHING BAD?

In our younger days, it was fun to come close to crossing the line and do something crazy just for the heck of it. We pretty much all have done something that we regret. I'm sure someone from my past, maybe a friend or classmate or teammate from 30, 40 or 50 years ago could vaguely remember an incident where I did something I shouldn't have. Wow! If that is the test to be confirmed to a high position in our government, then there aren't too many people who would qualify. Politics is politics and sometimes the rules can be twisted in favor of one side or the other. I guess I'm just saying to stay out of politics, it's messy most of the time. I'm surprised I made it out of the muck unscathed, maybe I have a brighter shine of whiter hair, but no indictments, no sexual harassment charges, no pending litigation, just a nice quiet retirement and fond memories of having some fun the eight and one half years I was in office. Do I miss it? Sure. I miss teaching. I miss Hawthorne. Am I having fun now, sure. That's what it's all about, have fun no matter where you find yourself. No matter what your life is like just find some way to have fun.

ROBERT CLARY TO SPEAK AT HAWTHORNE LIBRARY

A special event will be held on Saturday, October 13th from 2 - 4 p.m. The Hawthorne library invites everyone to spend an inspiring afternoon with Robert Clary, author of From the Holocaust to Hogan's Heroes: the autobiography of Robert Clary. He will discuss his multifaceted life as a Holocaust survivor, entertainer, artist and actor. The program and refreshments are sponsored by the Friends of the Hawthorne and Wiseburn Libraries. This program is for adults.

ELECTION FORUMS

There are two election forums scheduled in the next week for you to get to know the candidates running for Hawthorne City elected positions. Wednesday, September 26th at Cabrillo School in the Holly Glen part of town will be the first forum. That one starts at 6 p.m. The second forum will be held at Atherton Baptist Church in the HollyPark neighborhood of Hawthorne. That forum will be held on Thursday, October 4th beginning at 7 p.m. Here is your chance to get to know the candidates before you vote in November or before you send in your ballot by mail.

IS BEER BAD? IS WINE BETTER? TOO MANY COLD ONES?

Boy did I get a lot of reaction to my beer edition last week. Most people loved it. Some did not. I understand beer can bring a reaction to everyone based on their past experience or how it is has been viewed in their family. Like most things, too much of a good thing is bad. There are drunks, there are alcoholics, there are many people dead because of drinking too much. There have been too many DUI's that have resulted in too many accidents and deaths. I have tended to over use my catch phrase, "Have a cold one!". But notice, I'm suggesting not telling, and the key word is ONE. For me one is enough. It takes the edge off. It loosens me up. It is just enough for me to relax and feel good about life. Do I need one to have a good time? NO. Do I enjoy having a cold one? YES. God has put us over all things in his creation. He has given us all things good to enjoy here on earth with the promise that when we die that He will give us a new heaven and a new earth to live in. On the last day our resurrected bodies will be reunited with our souls and this new world will be much better than these cold ones I always talk about. So, if you don't like beer, if you know some one who died because of alcohol, if you don't like me talking about beer all the time, find another beverage, find another newspaper column to read, volunteer to take my place and talk about real fun stuff like election forums and street repair in Hawthorne. Maybe it's time for me to hang it up. Time for me to start drinking Arnold Palmers instead. Time for me to retire from this gig. The problem is I don't want to. Deep down I really like to get people to laugh at me or with me. I like people to get mad at me for being stupid. I'm not ready to turn off my computer and start sleeping on my recliner since I don't even own a recliner. I'm apologizing to those of you who tell me I talk too much about beer. I will try my best to not over do it. Believe me I write much more about having cold ones than I actually consume. Thanks everyone for being there for me, we need each other and maybe just have one to take the edge off. Life is good, have fun!

This Friday evening the Kiwanis Club will be inducting their new president and officers at their annual induction banquet. Ike Mbelu has been selected to take the hot seat this coming year. The Kiwanis is one of the most active service clubs in Hawthorne.

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 855 238-5118 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-18-829901-AB. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the property address or other common designation, if any, shown herein. If no street address or other common designation is shown, directions to the location of the property may be obtained by sending a written request to the beneficiary within 10 days of the date of first publication of this Notice of Sale. If the sale is set aside for any reason, including if the Trustee is unable to convey title, the Purchaser at the sale shall be entitled only to a return of the monies paid to the Trustee. This shall be the Purchaser's sole and exclusive remedy. The purchaser shall have no further recourse against the Trustor, the Trustee, the Beneficiary, the Beneficiary's Agent, or the Beneficiary's Attorney. If you have previously been discharged through bankruptcy, you may have been released of personal liability for this loan in which case this letter is intended to exercise the note holders rights against the real property only. PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Purrrfect Companions

Amalia

“Second-hand” cats make first-class companions. Give one of these kitties another chance by giving them a lifetime of love with you.

Noah and Ryder are “brothers from another mother.” These two boys may not be littermates, but they’ve been together most of their lives and can’t imagine being separated. Together, they run around, wrestle and box each other.

He’s also super smart. He learned right away where to go at dinnertime (so his foster mom can keep her own cats from stealing his food) and Noah follows him there, making dinnertime as easy as pie.

Noah, the tabby, is the overexcited little brother who wants to be friends with everyone he meets – human or feline alike. He doesn’t need a companion like another affectionate and playful cat... or they would love to be adopted with one of their darling siblings.

Roman greets everyone and is all-boy with his endless enthusiasm, energy and curiosity. When you bring home groceries, he wants to inspect everything. When you sweep, he wants to “help.” He is a charmer who loves life. He wants to play, eat and find a comfortable lap on which to sleep it off. Then repeat. Roman will happily roll over anytime to show off his round belly.

Siena is curious, smart, mischievous and poetic. She purrs like an aria, hears something in another room and must investigate, and plays with reckless abandon. She is very affectionate with people and trusts that the world is all good. She is fearless little girl. Siena is a friendly, social gal who is okay with other mellow, beta cats. She is a precious, gentle, sweet and loving little girl.

Amalia is an angel: a rambunctious, curious and charismatic angel! She is a social butterfly and wants to be where the action is. Amalia will follow you like a duckling. “Oh, are we doing laundry now? Cool! We are getting the mail? Awesome!” She is very social with people and other cats, initiates play with toys or goes to find someone who is alone to give snuggles.

Cutie patootie alert! Meet Cora. We are in love with this little nugget. Some of Cora’s favorite things are playing ball, being petted, getting under-the-chin scratches, napping in her kitty hammock and snuggling with her sisters. Cora is a little shy, but warms up quickly and loves to play with other kitties.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Roman

Then they settle in on the couch or in the sink for a nap. They love to play with yarn, teaser toys and even a human’s long hair...absolutely the sweetest boys you will ever meet.

Ryder is white with black spots – he’s the oldest (by two whole weeks) and it shows. He’s the cool older brother who pretends he doesn’t care if his human gives him love. That lasts a short time until he remembers how much he loves pets and cuddles and so he gives in.

always notice if they don’t want to be friends with him, though. Fortunately, he has always got his BFF Ryder around if the other kitties don’t want to play with him. He’s very talkative and just loves kisses. He likes to follow his human around asking to be picked up. He comes running to join the fun any time Ryder is getting attention, but Ryder doesn’t mind at all.

Bear is a gentle, lovey, friendly, fellow with a heart of gold. He has a bit of an underbite that sometimes makes him look serious, but his un-catlike gait about the house reveals his goofier side. He was bottle-fed as a baby and is very attached to humans. He and his foster sister were adopted into a ruckus household of young musicians. Through no fault of his own, he and his foster sister were returned three years later. He is used to a busy home with lots of people coming and going. He is patient with children and great with new cats. Bear would prefer a home where the humans are around most of the time and at least one other cat friend is there to keep him company. He has terrific social skills and is adept at making other cats feel at ease.

These three littermates -- Roman, Amalia and Siena -- are amazing kittens. They have uniquely different personalities and are very darling. They are energetic and playful with distinct marking, spotted bellies and sharp, pointed ears like the original Egyptian cats. They are so full of joy and curiosity about everything. They love all other kitties they meet and also love people. They are very social and

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING CHANGE OF ZONE 2018CZ02

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the City Council of the City of Hawthorne will hold a public hearing to consider the following matter: CHANGE OF ZONE 2018CZ02: A proposed amendment to the zoning map to change the zoning designation on an approximate 11 acre parcel from Regional Commercial-Mixed Use (CR-MU) to Regional Commercial (CR). PROJECT LOCATION: 15000 Aviation Boulevard - City of Hawthorne Los Angeles County, State of California. MEETING DETAILS:
Day: Tuesday
Date: October 9, 2018
Time: 6:00 p.m.
Place: City Hall Council Chambers 4455 West 126th Street Hawthorne, CA 90250
Those interested in this item may appear at the meeting and submit oral or written comments. Written information pertaining to this item must be submitted to the Planning and Community Development Department or the City Clerk's office prior to 5:30 PM October 8, 2018, at 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California 90250 or emailed to cpalmer@cityofhawthorne.org. For additional information, you may contact Christopher Palmer at (310) 349-2973 or at the email noted above. ENVIRONMENTAL REVIEW: Pursuant to State California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) Guidelines Section 15305, Change of Zone 2018CZ02 is covered by a Class 5 Project (Minor Alternations in Land Use Limitations) the CEQA Categorical Exemption for actions that do not change the land uses allowed on areas of slopes greater than 20% and do not change allowable land uses in a manner that could create a potentially significant impact on the environment. The project would change the land use designation on flat land and would remove residential development as a permitted land use on the property. The adoption of this ordinance will not result in cumulative adverse environmental impacts or any other potentially significant impact described in State CEQA Guidelines Section 15300.2. The ordinance is therefore exempt from the provisions of CEQA. Upon City Council's action, Staff will file the Notice of Exemption with the Los Angeles County Clerk's office in compliance with CEQA.
