Former Raytheon Remodeled

Newport Beach-based Bixby purchased the former single-tenant (Raytheon) building in 2013, investing a total of $25 million to acquire, redesign and redevelop the project into a contemporary work environment. The fully-leased building is home to a mix of professional and creative tenants, including Sanrio (Hello Kitty) that occupies a full floor and a ground-floor retail showroom in the five-story building. City Budget Amended For Bus Shelter Relocation Project

By Cristian Vasquez

Inglewood’s Fiscal Year 2015-2016 Budget has been amended by the mayor and members of the city council in the amount of $29,000, to be used as a reimbursement for the bus shelter relocation project.

Since Sept. 18, 2002, the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority [LACMTA] Board of Directors approved and adopted the Metro Rapid Five-Year Implementation Plan, which required that the board set aside money to be used for the design and construction of Rapid Bus Stations [RBS] along existing Metro Rapid Lines including the Crenshaw and Hawthorne lines.

“The agreement provides the City with a reimbursement grant in the amount of $29,000 to cover costs related to design/engineering review, shelter relocation, and construction management,” states the staff reported signed by Public Works Director Louis A. Atwell. “This amount includes $4,000 for contract services related to shelter relocation, and $25,000 for staff costs related to design review and construction management. The proposed constriction by LACMTA is scheduled to end February 2016.”

Mayor James T. Butts and the city council approved the funding agreement with LACMTA to provide the funding for RBS installations on July 28, 2015. The approval also included the authorization to obtain any related documents and reports related to the completion of the project. The project is scheduled to install 10 RBS while relocation four existing shelters, as well as all related amenities.

The new RBS installations will be located at the following locations: Crenshaw and Manchester Boulevard, in the north- and southbound directions [northeast/northwest corners]; Crenshaw and Century Boulevard, in the north- and southbound directions [northeast/southeast corners]; Crenshaw Boulevard and Imperial Highway, north- and southbound directions [northeast/southwest corners]; La Brea Avenue and Queen Street, north- and southbound directions [southeast/northwest corners]; La Brea Avenue and Century Boulevard, northbound direction [northeast corner]; and Hawthorne and Century Boulevard, southbound direction [southwest corner].

“Public Works staff will coordinate with LACMTA and manage the necessary relocation activities,” states the staff report. “Staff will also submit Quarterly Progress/Expense Reports to seek reimbursement of the City’s cost.”

The project will relocate the following locations: Crenshaw Boulevard and NS 85th Street IW084, which serves the northbound lines form the northeast corner; Crenshaw and Manchester Boulevard IW086, which serves the southbound lines from the northwest corner; La Brea Avenue and Queen Street IW005, which serves the northbound lines from the southwest corner; and Hawthorne and Century Boulevard IW022, which serves the southbound lines from the southwest corner. The new locations for the shelters have not yet been determined.

“The Metro Rapid poles and signs will be maintained by Metro,” states the staff report. “However, the City or its maintenance and repair contractor will be responsible for the upkeep of the new installations. This responsibility includes benches, lighting, trash receptacles, seating, and the stand-alone 4 feet X 6 feet advertising/information kiosk.”

The staff report also indicates that the city is not allowed to use any of the funds received through the agreement to finance any of the shelters’ maintenance or repairs. It is projected that monthly maintenance expenses for each shelter will be an average of $85, which will provide for two cleanings per week and a pressure washing once a month. The rate for any repairs is set at $40 per hours, plus the cost of materials and parts, and will only apply as needed.

State Mandated Commercial Organics Recycling Program Soon To Tale Effect

Assembly Bill 1826, which requires a mandatory commercial organics recycling program for businesses and multi-family dwellings that consist of five or more units, will soon take effect. The bill is scheduled to phase in during a four-year period, from April 1, 2016 to Jan. 1, 2020, and will depend on the amount of organics that are being generated by the customer.

Defined by the bill as “food waste, green waste, landscape and pruning waste, non-hazardous wood waste, and food-soiled paper waste that is mixed with food waste,” Organic waste is also referred to as green waste and include animal- and plant-based material, as well as degradable carbon such as paper, cardboard and timber. For now multi-family units will not be required to divert their food waste, but they will be held accountable for diverting green waste, landscape and pruning waste.

For businesses with eight cubic-yards, or more, per week of organic material, a program must be put in place no later than April 1. Businesses with four or more cubic-yards of organics per week will be given until Jan. 1, 2017 to implement a program. However, within two years of that date, businesses with four or more cubic-yards of solid waste must have an organics program fully implemented. Also, the State has determined that if its statewide goals for organics recycling have not been met, then businesses with two or more cubic-yards per week of solid waste might also be required to participate in an organics program by 2020. •

FAA Grounds New Hobby Drones Until They Register

By Rob McCarthy

Rotocopter hobbyists insist the government is ruining their fun, but public opinion seems with the Federal Aviation Administration after it grounded new hobby drones right before Christmas. New owners of the small unmanned aircraft can't fly until they register with the FAA.

The registration rule issued Dec. 21 applies to the hobby drones - known as unmanned aircraft systems, or UAS) - weighing up to 55 pounds. The chief of the FAA announced that 180,000 hobby aircraft were registered in the first two weeks.

FAA Administrator Michael Huerta has expanded no-fly zones around airports as drone ownership increases. The agency expected as many as 1 million hobby drones to be purchased in the United States over the holidays. Reaching every one of those owners is a daunting task for an agency that polices American airspace.

"But this is just the beginning," Huerta said recently. "Our challenge is to make sure everyone is aware of the requirement and registers."

As expected, some UAS operators weren't pleased with the expanded rules for the drones, which are used commercially by photographers to access hard-to-reach locations. Pilots, however, have reported seeing the hobby aircraft in their airspace, which prompted the FAA in mid-2014 to ban the lightweight copters from flying within five miles of airports, curtailing activity in the airport cities of Hawthorne, Inglewood, Compton, Torrance, El Segundo, Westchester and Santa Monica.

A nationwide drone hobbyist group with 22,000 members in California advised members to ignore the registration order for now, the Orange County Register reported on Dec. 29 - eight days after the FAA issued its edict. The Academy of Model Aeronautics has 185,000 members nationwide, according to the Register.

"We strongly believe that the new interim rule is unnecessary," said Dave Mathewson, executive director of the Academy of Model Aeronautics, in a statement.

The academy objects to the registration of drones, saying that it conflicts with a 2012 congressional rule that prohibits the FAA from regulating small recreational drones. The group's leader issued a statement calling the federal registry redundant because the Academy of Model Aeronautics self-policies its members through its own drone registration system.

Mike Rivard, co-organizer of a Los Angeles and Orange County Drone User Group, compared the FAA's new requirements to the Federal Communications Commission's unsuccessful attempt in the 1970s to get citizens band radios registered.

Federal aviation authorities are using a carrot-and-stick approach to the drone registration process. The cost to register an aircraft is free for the first 30 days, and the penalties for failure to comply can be as much as $27,500 in civil fines and $250,000 in criminal fines and imprisonment, according to an FAA press release.

The drone aircraft operated by current owners must be registered by Feb. 19. Owners will provide the FAA with name, address, mailing address, and a valid email address to register. Registration is done through a newly created web site, and a filing fee of $5 will be charged.

As an incentive to comply, the FAA agreed to waive the fee for the first 30 days. After completing registration, owners will receive a personal registration number, the FAA explains on the web site: www.faa.gov/uas/registration/

"If a person owns more than one small UAS, each aircraft must be marked with that number. Any method may be used to mark the UAS, as long as the number is legible. Registrants may put the number in the battery compartment if it is easily accessible.

"The FAA will immediately email a certificate containing the holder's name, registration number, and the dates of issuance and expiration. The operator must keep either a printed or electronic version of this certificate on hand for inspection as proof of registration. Registration must be renewed every three years. If assistance is needed with registration, email UAShelp@faa.gov."

The FAA also released an app for Apple mobile devices for small drone operators to check on U.S. airspace requirements and restrictions. The agency plans to release a test version of the B4UFLY app for Android devices shortly, the Register reported.

"We expect B4UFLY will help raise public awareness about what it means to operate unmanned aircraft safely," Huerta said.

Embry-Riddle Aeronautical University announced a free, open online course to teach drone operators the basics of UAS and their operating environments. It runs through Jan. 24.

Newspapers around the country have come out in support of regulation of the hobby drones, many of which are equipped with cameras. Newspaper editors have voiced concerns that the cameras endanger other aircraft and that any Peeping Tom can figure out how to fly one.

Chief among them was the New York Times, which devoted a lead editorial in its Sunday edition to whether public privacy and safety is at risk from the remote-controlled aerial copters.

Drones "can also be used to snoop on people and harass them. And they can threaten other aircraft," the Times editorial stated. "Many Americans will be skeptical .. unless safeguards are put in place guaranteeing safety and protecting privacy."

Following up on the pushback by drone owners, the publication Aviation Today Network asked "Are Drone Advocates Losing the PR Contest?" The Jan. 11 article cited various U.S. newspapers whose editorial boards had taken a stand on tougher rules for hobby drones.

"Newspapers large and small have said the risks small drones pose to other aircraft, to the privacy of people on the ground and to national security justify the FAA's registration requirement as well as limits on the use of such aircraft," Aviation Today concluded.

Close calls with aircraft tripled in 2015, and a drone slowed firefighting efforts to battle a blaze in the Cajon Pass last July. Crews had to abandon air drops for about 15 minutes.

It didn't help that a government employee last January landed a hobby drone at 3 a.m. on the White House lawn. The drone, which weighed two pounds, was too small to be detected by radar. The employee, who was not identified, did it accidentally, according to the Secret Service. •

5 Simple Ways To Kick-Start A Financially Healthy 2016

(BPT) - You banked your holiday bonus and landed that raise you've been hoping for, but the post-holiday bills are coming. You may be wondering what more you can do to ensure you're on the right track financially in 2016. Fortunately, you can do a lot right away to start the year off strong.

• Reassess your budget; if you don't have one, make one. A budget is an essential tool for planning how you will spend, save, invest and enjoy your money. It should be a guideline to how your money will work for you, but it's not written in stone. Life changes, and outside influences mean you need to periodically examine and update your budget. Start by jotting down your financial goals for the year, then review your budget to see if it's going to help you achieve those goals, or if you need to make adjustments.

• Pay off holiday bills immediately, and if that's not possible, then as quickly as you can. Each month you carry a balance on a credit card, interest rates increase the actual out-of-pocket cost of those holiday gifts you purchased. If possible, pay balances in full right away during the month of January. If that's not possible, create a payment plan for yourself with the goal of paying off the total balance in as high an increment as you can afford, so you minimize the time you're carrying a balance.

• Maximize "found" money. Gift cards have been the most-requested holiday gift item for nine years running, according to the National Retail Federation, but not everyone uses all the cards they receive. In fact, a survey by Coinstar Exchange found 37 percent of people who received gift cards in 2014 still haven't used all of them. If you have gift cards sitting around, they can be a great source of "found" money. Take your gift cards to a bright yellow Coinstar Exchange kiosk at your local grocery store and exchange them for instant cash. Put the extra money toward paying off holiday bills, boosting your emergency fund or for something you really want or need. Visit www.coinstar.com/coinstarexchangekioskfinder to find a Coinstar Exchange kiosk near you.

• Review all your credit accounts. Even the most careful shopper can fall prey to crooks, who are particularly active and crafty during the holidays. Look over your credit card statements to ensure you authorized all the charges that appear on them. For an extra layer of safety, check your credit report; it can help you detect signs of identity theft or other fraud as quickly as possible.

• Increase your savings. By now, you've reviewed your budget and cashed in your unused gift cards, so you've got some extra money in your pocket. Instead of spending it, use that money to increase your savings. It's especially important to have an emergency fund equivalent to a few months of living expenses. Those savings can help protect your financial health against unforeseen circumstances like a big auto expense or home repair bill, or even job loss. While it's always great to save more, setting aside even $10 a week can have a big impact on your financial future.

Many financial goals require long-term planning, but others can be done quickly and easily. These simple, do-it-now steps can yield instant gratification, and help ensure you get a good financial start in 2016. •

Tom Sawyer, Huck Finn Reimagined in Quirky Band of Robbers

Ryan Rojas for www.CINEMACY.com

Classic characters from perhaps the greatest literary work of American literature, Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer, have hit the big screen in a re-imagining that takes their mischievously-intentioned selves, keeps a driving plot about finding a mythic treasure and leaves the rest behind – to good-spirited, well-earned fun in the new film, Band of Robbers. Our exclusive on-camera interview with audiences should find themselves laughing at the number of jokes offered here. When Tom wrangles “the band” back together after Huck’s first day out of the clink (for an unspecified, non-violent crime) and reveals a plan to steal the fabled Murrell’s treasure, right off the bat his monologuing is met with raised eyebrows and wry confusions, setting up the level of competency of all involved. The pact is legitimized by – you guessed it – a blood oath some of the film’s cast & crew, Matthew Gray Gubler, Adam and Aaron Nee, is out now on www.CINEMACY.com.

This timeless twosome, trouble-making in their never-ending pursuit of adventure and hero-seeking recognition and glory, are leveraged here as modern-day treasure seekers that unite with their trusted merry men in hatching a plan of finding buried treasure. The fun that is had here is in feeling the familiarity of these good ol’ boys that live so canonically in culture and giving them the slick young people’s comedic treatment, working off a fine-tuned script and the work of a stellar cast makes for a worthwhile, enjoyable time.

It should be stated early there’s not a whole lot that Robbers, truly, lifts from Mark Twain’s classic novel or characters other than using the characters’ likeliness and winning charms to drop them into this new culture mash-up. It’s really just the story of “a version of” Huck Finn (Kyle Gallner) and Tom Sawyer (Adam Nee), where Huck is a recent prison release looking to make clean and Tom is a wily cop whose adventure-seeking ways leads to his character’s charming but law-skirting flirtations, and through this all, they still remain the best of friends, along with a band of other self-affirmed misfit pirate pals

There’s a streak of folksy, whimsy appeal here, which, with the feeling of it being a home-grown indie effort of true charm (along with its premise of a tight-knit group of friends on a headstrong crime spree of a less-than-thought-out scheme), most closely resembles Wes Anderson’s winning feature debut, Bottle Rocket (1996). The difference is that it’s entirely obvious that everyone here is looking to make themselves into a goofball for a good time and

(though they compromise in not spilling any actual blood, in this secret meeting at Tommy Barnes’ poker table in his “man cave”).

The faces and talents enlisted here are truly where the comedy shines. It has the taste of 21 Jump Street comic-firing and timing of every-line-a-joke (and mostly bulls eye’s at that), uses some familiar faces and some not-so, in playing a winning hand. Kyle Gallner as Huck is a Jeremy Renner meets Rick Grimes a la The Walking Dead, where Adam Nee as Tom is as much as stand-out in a role that he knows so well. The geek-beloved Matthew Gray Gubler as Joe Harper, along with Hannibal Burress as Ben Rogers add a deep bench to the effort, with Burress (and “Greg...Knife”) nailing every one of his scenes. Melissa Benoist and Eric Christian Olsen also star as little-used Becky Thatcher, Tom’s new partner on the day of the planned heist and Sid Sawyer, beloved detective who plays it maybe a bit too straight.

Written and directed by brother filmmaking team Aaron and Adam Nee, Robbers went through many years of development (including an idea of it being a TV show) before finally having its world premiere at the LA Film Festival in 2015. One wonders what following that version of Huck, Tom, and company may have been like, and what many adventures they may have spun in and out of in sit-com fashion. But its final format of a ninety-five-minute feature film feels like the best use of its talent, sparing any over-indulgence in what could have flopped as a gimmick and succeeds as a send-up that breathes fresh life into an American classic. Band of Robbers is now playing at the Laemmle Playhouse 7 and On Demand. •

WINTER WATERING TIPS FOR OUTDOOR LANDSCAPING

Golden State Water Company thanks you, our customers, for the steps you have taken to reduce water use during the drought, and is offering these tips to help you maximize your water-use efficiency this winter.

- ❖ Winter should bring rain and cooler temperatures, presenting an opportunity to scale back irrigation.
- ❖ Turn off lawn irrigation systems during rainy periods, and avoid watering during and 48 hours following measurable precipitation.
- ❖ Install water-efficient sprinkler heads, and check to make sure your sprinklers are positioned to irrigate the lawn and not your sidewalk, driveway or gutters.
- ❖ Survey your lawn irrigation system and fix any sprinklers, valves and lines that may be damaged or leaking water.
- ❖ While hand watering your lawn, focus on dry spots and pay close attention to avoid runoff.
- ❖ Avoid watering your lawn on windy days to limit overspray and evaporation.

Hawthorne Tops Animo in El Clasico

By Joe Snyder

Photos by Joe Snyder

Over the past several seasons, the Hawthorne and Animo Leadership High boys' soccer teams had numerous good battles and last Saturday's El Clasico "The Classic" at Hawthorne High continued to be a good one. For the first 60 minutes of the non-league match between the two schools located about a mile and a half apart, both squads battled to a scoreless tie but, after a pair of incidents with the Aztec-Eagles, the Cougars put together two goals and went on to shut out Animo 2-0.

The Aztec-Eagles, one of the top small schools powers in Southern California from Inglewood, were even with Hawthorne but things began to unravel in the second half. In the 57th minute, Marco Osomo was ejected after receiving a second yellow card. Shortly after, Animo lost key player Jose Perez who fell to the ground and lost consciousness. It was caused after he collided in the air with Cougar freshman goalkeeper Salvador Ontiveros when he tried to go for the ball. Perez was taken by ambulance to Centinela Hospital in Inglewood.

"With an injury like that, we were hoping the team would come up to the occasion," Animo head coach Sergio Medrano said. "It was just that kind of night."

Shortly after the game was stopped for approximately 20 minutes, Hawthorne finally cashed in on the Aztec-Eagles' bad breaks and got on the scoreboard when Luis Coronado scored on a header off a corner kick from Luis Espinoza. Animo was down a player as a result of Osomo's ejection.

Just seconds before the match ended, freshman forward Oskar Gomez gave Hawthorne insurance on a right footed goal. It came off a pass from Espinoza, who assisted on both Cougar goals.

"The game was physical and it was supposed to be," head Cougar coach Yury Najarro said. "It was a very well played game. The kids are growing up together."

Overall, Hawthorne, which improved to 9-7-1 overall, had a very good as it also recorded 4-0 wins over Santa Monica and Beverly Hills in Ocean League matches at home. The Cougars' win over the Vikings came on January 13 and against the Normans last Friday.

Gomez sparked Hawthorne's offense with two goals in its win over Beverly Hills. Junior Morningside High's Arkel Lord gets open and shoots a basket in last Friday's Bay League boys' basketball game against Redondo. The Monarchs fell to the Sea Hawks 80-49. Morningside hosts Mira Costa Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Alexis Rafael and senior Felix Granados each had a goal for the Cougars.

Coronado, a senior, recorded two goals against Santa Monica. Granados and Gomez each added one goal. Ontiveros had three saves.

After visiting El Segundo on Wednesday, Hawthorne (2-0 in league) travels to Culver City for a 6 p.m. match on Friday. The Cougars host Lawndale in a league rivalry next Wednesday at 3 p.m.

Animo visits Los Angeles Adventist in the Mulholland League today at 3:15 p.m. The Aztec-Eagles are 2-0 in league after easy shutout wins over host Gardena Pacific Lutheran 11-0 on January 12 at Columbia Park in Torrance and 7-0 at Shalvevet in L.A. a day later.

LADY COUGARS OUTLAST ANIMO

Hawthorne High's girls' soccer team got a winning goal from Arely Becerra with about two minutes left in the match as the Cougars pulled out a 2-1 win over Animo Leadership in their annual Super Clasico last Saturday at Hawthorne. Becerra scored on a pass off Celina Alvarez to close out the victory.

The Cougars took a 1-0 lead midway in the first half when Dayla Ramos scored after rebounding a blocked free kick. Hawthorne continued with that advantage until Selena Alvarez tied it for the Aztec-Eagles in the 66th minute.

Hawthorne (1-1 in the Ocean League after falling at Santa Monica on January 13 then defeating host Beverly Hills last Friday) hosts Culver City Friday at 3 p.m. The Cougars visit rival Lawndale next Wednesday at the same time.

MORNINGSIDE BEGINS BAY AT 0-2

After a good showing in non-league and tournament action, Morningside High's boys' basketball team from Inglewood began the Bay League with road losses to Peninsula and Redondo last week. On January 13 in their league opener, Morningside went up against Peninsula High, a team it defeated 60-57 in overtime to win the San Pedro Pirate Shootout on December 30 but lost 61-44 in the Westchester Tip-off Classic on December 5. The host Panthers from Rolling Hills Estates downed the Monarchs 65-49. Last Friday, Morningside was pitted against one of the top teams in California in Redondo and the Sea Hawks overwhelmed them 80-49.

Against Redondo, ranked third in California behind top rated Chino Hills and number-two Torrance Bishop Montgomery, Morningside fell well behind as it trailed by as many as 40 points (77-37) early in the fourth quarter. The Monarchs, who fell to 11-6 overall, were led by Charles Wright with 14 points, including four three-point baskets. Charles Akanno added 10 points. Leland Green led all scorers with 15 points for the Sea Hawks (14-3, 2-0).

After hosting Palos Verdes (also 0-2 in league after losses to Mira Costa and Inglewood last week), Morningside will be at home against Mira Costa (2-0 in Bay after wins over the Sea Kings and Peninsula) Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Monarchs visit cross town rival Inglewood next Tuesday at 7:30 p.m.

INGLEWOOD SPLITS PAIR

Entering Bay League action, most observers predicted Inglewood and Redondo High's boys' basketball teams to be in a close battle for the Bay League championship. The Sentinels hosted the Sea Hawks on January 12 but lost a good game 58-53. At Inglewood last Friday, the Sents proved too much for Palos Verdes in a 68-34 rout.

Terrell Gomez led Inglewood with 12 points, seven assists and three rebounds against Redondo. Morgan Means sparked the Sea Hawks with a game-high 18 points, five assists and four rebounds.

After visiting Mira Costa Tuesday, Inglewood (13-5 overall and 1-1 in league) visits Peninsula Friday at 7:30 p.m. The Sentinels host Morningside in their cross town rivalry next Tuesday at the same time. •

Morningside High's Charles Wright shoots under pressure of Redondo's Ryse Williams in last Friday's Bay League boys' basketball game. The Sea Hawks routed the Monarchs 80-49. Morningside hosts Mira Costa Friday at 7:30 p.m.

Hawthorne High's Oskar Gomez hurdles above an Animo Leadership High player to get to ball in last Saturday's El Clasico non-league boys' soccer match. Gomez scored the Cougars' second goal with only a few seconds remaining as Hawthorne defeated the Aztec-Eagles 2-0.

BIDDERS: If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. Are We Turning A Blind Eye To Blue Light?

(BPT) - It's everywhere - inside as well as outside your home. As digital device usage increases, you're exposed to more and more of it without realizing how it may affect your vision in the future. We're talking about blue light.

In its natural form, your body uses blue light from the sun to regulate your natural sleep and wake cycles. This natural light also helps boost alertness, heighten reaction times and elevate moods.

However, we use our eyes much differently than prior generations because we now use a number of artificial sources of blue light including digital screens, electronic devices and LED lighting. The evolution in digital screen technology has advanced dramatically over the years, and many of today's electronic devices use LED back-light technology to help enhance screen brightness and clarity. These LEDs emit very strong blue light waves. Because of the widespread use and increasing popularity of these devices, we are now exposed to more sources of blue light for longer periods of time. Studies suggest 60 percent of people spend more than six hours a day in front of a digital device.

The flickering of this artificial blue light creates a glare that can reduce visual contrast, affecting sharpness and clarity. That in turn could contribute to eyestrain, headaches, physical and mental fatigue due to increasing amounts of time sitting in front of a computer screen or other electronic device.

Studies show this high-energy, blue-violet light has been found to cause significant damage to retinal cells, and is a risk factor for the onset of age-related macular degeneration, a deterioration of the part of the retina responsible for sharp, central vision.

Our eyes' natural filters do not provide sufficient protection against blue light rays from the sun, let alone the blue light emanating from these devices, or from blue light emitted from fluorescent-light tubes.

Mother Nature arms us with "internal sunglasses" made up of macular pigment. This pigment, which is comprised of zeaxanthin (zee-uh-zan-thin) and lutein at a ratio of 2:1, is found in the center of the macula (fovea). This pigment absorbs harmful blue light that can affect eye health. These "sunglasses" protect the rods and cones needed for central as well as peripheral vision.

However, if this macular pigment isn't at optimal density, it will allow more blue light to damage these rods and cones, negatively affecting not just what you see, but how you see.

Zeaxanthin and lutein aren't produced by the body, they must be ingested in order to ensure optimal macular pigment density. Zeaxanthin can be found in foods like corn, wolf berries and peppers. Lutein is found in foods like spinach and kale.

Since the average American diet is scarce in zeaxanthin, supplementing this antioxidant is key. Vitamins for macular health, like those made by EyePromise, can be of big benefit.

Vision becomes even more precious as we age, since the loss of independence is a very real threat to aging Americans. Reduce your risk of harmful effects of blue light to your vision by increasing the density of your "internal sunglasses." •

Abby Tabby is a remarkable cat in the prime of life, with an especially affectionate, alert, sweet, and companionable nature, calm yet curious, and very smart. She was turned into the shelter while pregnant and gave birth there to 3 beautiful kittens this past spring, and lovingly nursed them for 6 months. She was a wonderful and capable momcat. Now Abby Tabby needs a home of her own. She loves toys, treats, and sleeping on the bed with her family, and that could include another cat, although she would likely do fine as an only cat too. She can be vocal at times, with an endearing, little, unusual sound. Abby Tabby has another unique feature: her gorgeous kaleidoscopic

Orlando was rescued by a good Samaritan after he showed up on their doorstep... skinny, cold, and hungry. Orlando is a total dreamboat with his soft, mildly fluffy fur and adorable markings. He loves little more than to cuddle on your lap and hang out. Orlando is a playful, fun loving kitty with a giant purr. He has made friends with his fellow foster kittens, especially the tortie Marilyn. Orlando would do best in a home where someone is home a lot because he loves human company more than anything in the world. He is great with kids and other cats once he knows them. Due to his age, he should be adopted with another kitty companion that will play and cuddle with him. Sweeter than sugar, this handsome boy

A black and white photograph of three kittens. On the left, a dark-colored kitten with white markings on its face and chest lies down. In the center, a light-colored kitten with stripes lies on its back, looking towards the camera. On the right, a tabby kitten lies down, looking towards the camera. They are all resting on a light-colored, draped fabric.

Marilyn was rescued with her siblings, Tom Kitten and Banshee, when she was just 3 1/2 weeks old. Her mother had left the trio under a BBQ, where they were fortunate to be rescued from. Since they were bottle fed until old enough to be weaned, these kittens are incredibly sweet, loving, and super people friendly. Marilyn is a dainty little fuzzball with the longest hair in her ears. She is mildly fluffy and so incredibly soft. She loves to be pet, cuddle, and basically spend her time hanging out with you. Marilyn enjoys playing with toys and wrestling with her siblings as well. She's a little more mellow than her brother Tom Kitten, but can also hold her own when he gets a bit rough. You could say, that she is the baby of this trio. Marilyn would make a fabulous companion for any young kitty or calmer kitten. She must be adopted either with a sibling, fellow young kitty, or to a home with a young resident cat who will wrestle and play with her when she wants.

Tom Kitten is your typical stereotypically male kitten - boisterous and fun with big paws and a lot of personality. He loves to cuddle on your lap and purr up a storm. Toys are a huge hit and he has yet to meet anyone he didn't like. He can get a bit rough with his sisters at times, but they can hold their own against him. He loves to burrow under blankets and tends to sleep sprawled out wherever he can fit on you. Tom Kitten would make a fabulous playmate for any young energetic kitty or kitten. He must be adopted either with a sibling, fellow young kitty, or to a home with a young playful resident cat who will romp, wrestle, and roll with him all day

A black and white photograph of a young tabby cat. The cat is looking directly at the camera with large, wide, light-colored eyes. Its fur has a distinct striped pattern. The cat's ears are pointed upwards, and its whiskers are prominent. The background is dark and out of focus.

Banshee

Banshee is the talker of the group - never afraid to let you know if you've disturbed her sleep, or not been fast enough with feeding her. She isn't a chatter box or always making noise, but pick her up and she'll "cry", move her and she'll "cry", talk to her and she'll "cry". She is super affectionate and once she's comfortable you better not move or she'll give you an earful. Banshee is definitely the boss and a tiny Alpha personality in the making. This tiny girl is going to be in charge of whatever household she enters. Banshee would make a fabulous companion for any young kitty or kitten willing to let her be the boss. She must be adopted a young kitty, or to a home with a young resident cat.

Jem may be the most awesome kitty you'll ever meet. Or at least that's what the people who meet him at adoption events say. He gets a lot of compliments on his looks, but more importantly on his personality. Jem is a very loving, playful, energetic and outgoing boy who enjoys affection. He likes being petted and purrs very loudly to show you his appreciation. This sociable boy gets along well with other boy and girl kitties and adapts to new environments easily. His favorite games are kitty-soccer and trying to catch stringy toys. As a stray, teeny-tiny kitten all by himself on the streets of Istanbul, Turkey, Jem was rescued by a nice lady who brought him to Los Angeles. Jem is looking forward to finding his forever home and sharing lots of love and happiness with you.

These cats and kittens are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All of our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see our other kitties, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org. Your tax deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave. and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.
