Rams, Chargers Surprise High Schoolers with New Uniforms

The Los Angeles Rams and Los Angeles Chargers teamed up to surprise Inglewood High and Morningside High with new football uniforms. Presenting the new uniforms was Rams Hall of Fame running back Eric Dickerson. Inglewood Starts Off School Year with Some Steady Improvements

By Haleemon Anderson

With next Monday marking the first day of classes, the Inglewood School Board took steps at last week’s meeting to bolster its governing role. The Board conducted two public hearings: one, to renew the charter petition for La Tijera K-8, and another, to consider a move to district-based elections for Board members. No public comment was offered on either item.

Principal Franklin Tilley of La Tijera addressed the Board, noting that the middle school has met all academic performance markers to warrant extension of the charter petition for the next five years. Inglewood Unified School District Director of School and Community Relations Dr. Jacqueline Sanderlin also spoke on behalf of the renewal. “La Tijera has been a conversion charter since 2013,” she said.

In 2013, the K-8 school received a $30 million rebuild. It was rebranded as a district-run charter school and renamed La Tijera TK-8 Academy of Excellence Charter School. The modern-design building features a new gym and state-of-the-art library, an outdoor amphitheater and classrooms equipped with wireless technology.

Along with the new look and academic mission, La Tijera became a test case for Inglewood schools. The District is seeking to increase overall enrollment, bringing back students who have been lured away by independent charter schools. Before the rebuild, student enrollment had dwindled to under 400 at La Tijera, which has a capacity for 700 or more.

The rebuild project was funded with a bond measure passed by Inglewood residents in 1998. The school currently features AVID, the statewide college preparatory program, in grades 5-8, with plans to become a school-wide AVID academy.

Other programs highlighted on the school’s website include interscholastic football, basketball, soccer and cheerleading, intramural sports for fifth through eighth graders, weight training, chorus, a girls’ and boys’ self-esteem group (Ladies and Kings of Majesty), the “Tiger Times” student newspaper, a yearbook committee, Peer Mediators, Career Day, eighth grade trips to Washington and abroad, and Parent Teacher Association (PTA) and Associated Student Body (ASB).

Although no public comment was offered on the move to district-based elections, Inglewood residents had already expressed majority support for the move by assenting by over 70 percent in the June primary to move school (and city) elections to coordinate with state elections.

Director of Human Resources Nora Roque noted the new election sequence is intended to increase voter turnout. “It will also transition the District from at-large positions to elections based on candidates’ local district,” she said.

The move will bring Inglewood in line with school districts up and down the South Bay. Almost all districts have made the change to comply with SB 415, a state law that aims to boost dwindling voter turnout in local elections by having them take place on the same day as statewide races.

The Inglewood City Council must still decide whether to move elections from April of odd-numbered years to March or November of even-numbered years, starting in 2020. That same decision will cover Inglewood Unified and the School Board. If ratified, it will cause extensions of some of the member seats. Margaret Evans in Seat 4 and D’Artagnan Scorza in Seat 5 would have their terms extended to April 2020. Dionne Young Faulk in Seat 1, Carliss McGhee in Seat 2 and Melody Ngaue-Tu’uholoaki in Seat 3 would remain in office until April 2022.

In Board comments, the newly elected Vice President Scorza reported on a recent trip to Africa. He took several Inglewood alumni on the trip. Scorza congratulated his colleagues and staff on recent facilities improvements. “We are moving in the right direction,” he said.

Board President Margaret Turner-Evans reported on the District presence at last weeks’ Taste of Inglewood. She said there was a good deal of interest at the table for the new kid’s website. Turner-Evans also noted the recent facilities upgrades. “For years, money has been sitting in Inglewood and nothing was happening. Now things are happening,” she said.

State Administrator Thelma Melendez de Santa Ana noted that the Board would be going out to visit the campuses on the first day of school. “We are very excited [at all the improvements], but its facilities and maintenance who are the most excited,” she said.

In public comments on non-agenda items, one resident asked the Board to consider bringing back the former principal of City Honors, noting inconsistent leadership at the high school for the past six years. “We have had four principals and three state administrators,” she said.

The Inglewood School Board meets once monthly, unless otherwise noted. The next meeting is scheduled for Wednesday, Sept. 19, at 5:30 p.m. at 401 S. Inglewood Ave., in the Dr. Ernest Shaw Board Room. A special workshop is scheduled for September 26. •

The Epic Fail of Arturo Zamora Serves Up Familial Simpatico

Reviewed by Tommy Vinh Bui, MLIS, Associate Librarian, Inglewood Public Library

School starts anew soon and we're challenging young readers to squeeze in one more book before the riot of homework and assignments squanders away any remaining free time. Hark, summer is slipping through our fingers. So let's sit back and read one more leisurely literary offering for the road.

Pablo Cartaya's The Epic Fail of Arturo Zamora is just the curious confection to sate the readerly appetites. Here is a food-focused, civically-strong and family-centric story featuring young Arturo as he dodges and weaves the harrowing jabs of adolescence. Arturo is working at his family restaurant and finds himself irretrievably smitten with Carmen, who is visiting for the summer from Spain. To compound his already fraught and confused feelings, the beloved community restaurant is also under jeopardy of being razed to make way for a new housing development. The neighborhood is in jeopardy of being rapidly gentrified and Arturo must mobilize and muster the courage to take action.

The book is multilayered and rich in relevant themes that draw in the reader. Themes of cultural displacement and immigration, intergenerational strife and youth activism are all approached and broached with a wide range of emotions. We root for Arturo dearly throughout and hope that he can find the resolve to rekindle his community's sense of identity and to not be swayed by the bells and whistles and artifice of luxury apartment rentals. But also to remember that family and community are intertwined and commemorating past generations is imperative to empowering future ones.

Food plays a pretty prominent role in this narrative. It informs and propels the story and acts as the cultural crux of the Zamora family. The aromas of the kitchen waft from these pages and the knees buckle and go brittle at the descriptions of Cuban cuisine crafted with an abuelita's care. The writer really welcomes us with open arms into the tight-knit Zamora family, heaping piles and piles of vividly flavorful food paragraphs onto our plate. We're certainly well-nourished in that regard.

An appreciation for poetry is also front and center here. Arturo finds himself absent-mindedly grasping at evaporating words whenever Carmen is around. Luckily, he has the stanzas of Cuban revolutionary Jose Marti at the ready to stoke the embers of young love. The writer captures every pirouette and flutter of butterfly wings wreaking havoc inside Arturo's stomach whenever Carmen enters the room. It's an authentic depiction of youthful fumbling in the face of unspoken adolescent affection. Awkwardness and self-doubt is ably conveyed and really strikes a personal chord with any reader who has ever been mired in the mud of unrequited love.

This YA book boasts it all: Compelling conflict, an authentic bilingual voice and a strong message of community togetherness. I found it fine reading to bid adieu to the summer whiling and steel you to wade back into the argy-bargy of school again. A pinch of poetry, a second helping of arroz con pollo and the comforting thought of a summer well-spent at the library...

Buen provecho. •

Film Review

Skate Kitchen Brings Female Focus to World of Skateboarding

By Morgan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

In director Crystal Moselle's highly anticipated sophomore film, the fierce young females of Skate Kitchen show that heroes come in all shapes and sizes, ethnicities and ages. Known in real life as skateboarding collective "The Skate Kitchen," these newcomers to the big screen take commanding roles that champion not just women, but women skaters who are able to kick-flip boards as easily as they kick butt.

Growing up in the New Jersey suburbs with her single mother and no close friends, Camille (Rachelle Vinberg) is a lone wolf searching for a community of like-minded chicks to skate and hang with every day. When she stumbles upon an Instagram profile called "The Skate Kitchen" –an all-girl skater group – Camille these young women, there is a high energy and honesty that especially shine in the skate sequences and hangout sessions that evoke feelings of Kids and Lords of Dogtown for this generation.

However, for all of the aesthetic praise that Skate Kitchen receives – which is entirely due – I feel like there are a few missed opportunities in not developing the story even further, which ends up largely getting through by cashing in on its currency of cool. I was hopeful that Skate Kitchen would set out to provide more insight and hardships into what being a female skater is like in the male-dominated sport of skateboarding. We do see moments like this, such as when the girls' spots get overtaken by the boys at the skate park, but more personal moments of womanhood is intrigued: they are all talented, tough and only a short distance away. She leaves her hometown for the unknown skate parks of New York City's lower east side and is immediately enamored with the girls of "The Skate Kitchen," as each has her own vibrant style. Camille feels right at home with her new chosen family and the girls proceed to skate around the city, experiencing the highs and lows that make up budding female relationships.

With her second feature film, Crystal Moselle proves that one of her biggest strengths as a director is her ability to blend into her surroundings and capture the essences of her real-life subjects, which she did in 2015's award-winning documentary The Wolfpack. And here, Skate Kitchen feels no different. While Moselle infuses a loose script into Skate Kitchen, the strengths of this movie are the more observational and improvised moments that straddle the line between documentary and narrative.

Impressively, where The Wolfpack showed a group of young brothers claustrophobic in their apartment-confined existence, here Moselle is let loose in the city and flexes her artistry even further, displaying a visual style that captures the electricity and grittiness of the concrete jungle bustling with danger and possibilities. Seen from the point of view of feel awkward and out of place (for example, a hangout that turns into the girls discussing their menstruation cycles feels weirdly slotted into the movie).

That said, it's undeniable that Moselle has a magic touch when it comes to finding the subjects for her films. Just as she struck cinematic gold when she discovered the Angulo brothers of The Wolfpack, Skate Kitchen sees Moselle bring a new set of fresh female talent to the screen in this energetic and entertaining film.

Skate Kitchen is rated R. 100 minutes. Opening this Friday at ArcLight Hollywood. •

Handy Shortcuts For Time-Consuming Errands

(BPT) - Between work, kids, pets and more, everyday life can feel like ... a lot. Add summer schedules to the mix, and things can get downright chaotic.

Thankfully, retailers are stepping up with convenient new delivery and pickup options. To help you save time this summer, we've listed here all the latest ways Target is helping more guests across the U.S. save time and get back to fun in the sun:

Just Pull Up, and Drive Out

Say the kids are zonked in the backseat after a day at the pool, wearing wet bathing suits and, of course, no shoes. No sweat. With Order Pickup, you can simply order your items through the retailer's app, then pull up in the parking lot, where folks in red and khaki will bring your bags right out to the trunk within two minutes. You've got your stuff, and can head home in peace - all without waking up the kids.

Home Delivery, within Hours

Online shopping no longer requires a wait - which is nice when the neighborhood kids have decided the party's at your place this afternoon! It's now possible to simply place an order online with Shipt for groceries and other items (extra pool rafts, perhaps?), and have them delivered to your doorstep in as soon as the next hour. All before the first kids show up.

Next-Day Essentials Delivery

When it looks like a paper towel run is going to cut into outdoor quality time with the family, skip the schlep and order those shelf-stable household essentials for overnight delivery. Simply visit Target Restock online, fill up a box with the items you need (up to 45 pounds - about the size of a shopping cart) and, if you order by 7:00 p.m. Monday through Friday, it'll be delivered to your door the next day for a flat delivery fee of just $2.99, or free if you use a REDcard.

You can't change the number of hours there are in a day. But thanks to the convenient new digital shopping options, you can start putting your time toward the things that really matter to you - like enjoying the sunshine, playing with the kids or even just kicking back with an iced tea. •

A Celebration Luncheon for the Roaring 90s Club of the South Bay

By TerriAnn Ferren

It was a warm day when I popped into the First Christian Church at 2930 El Dorado Street in Torrance and joined the fun of a Celebration Luncheon for the Roaring 90s Club of the South Bay. Things were jumping when I arrived. Members were checking in at the front table with volunteers Sharmone LaRose and JoAnn Koester, then finding their seats and catching up with friends.

Volunteers Lou Samson, Lori Bonnet and Debra Bostwick were busy in the kitchen, plating the luncheon for the hungry guests. Overseeing everything was Lynn Brennan, founder of the Roaring 90s Club. "We have our sponsors who help us cover this and we rely on community support," she said. If you would like to join, or become involved donating your time or treasure to this wonderful organization, simply call 310-542-6081 or visit the website www.solutionsforseniorliving.com.

28, Torrance access channel, and it is Channel 36 if you have Frontier. It is also around the South Bay and Southern California. Now we have a YouTube channel. It is called Senior Living So. Cal.

Toward the front of the room I talked with several Roaring 90s members who, quite frankly, didn't appear to be in their 90s at all. I met Sandra Kramer, who graduated from Mira Costa High School in 1955; Patti Joy Neal, who teaches adult tap dancing at the Torrance Cultural Arts Center; Sherry Van, who has danced professionally here and in Chicago; and Mary McGaffin. "A friend of mine brought me and I am in training," said Mary. I found out you may join the Roaring 90s club even if you are a young 85 years old, but you still have to wait until you are 90 to become a full-fledged member, so to speak.

Around the opposite side of the table sat Sally Ann Macaluso (from New York), who told me, "My mother met Lynn Brennan when she watched television in El Segundo and she said that this looked like a fun group. So we joined the Roaring 90s as she was in her 80s, and Lynn said she was 'in training,' but now she is a full-fledged member." Barbara's mother, Eunice Smith, will be 90 in July.

Next I bumped into Lois Jones, who had to leave right after lunch because she told me she needed to head to a rummage sale. "I worked it all day yesterday and next week I will be 97," said Lois with a big smile, "I am 100 percent independent. I don't know how come. Nothing's changed yet. People are always trying to help me, but I say, 'I am fine – just leave me.'"

A special treat at the luncheon was entertainer extraordinaire Clarence Ulrich, member of the 60s group The Drifters, who made famous songs such as Under the Boardwalk, This Magic Moment, Save

'my' people? I've been around the world.' She said, 'My seniors...' So when he came back, she had lined up four different places. So he started that and he has not stopped. He is an honorary member of the Roaring 90s." Clarence Ulrich has received an award for entertaining seniors for over 20 years!

Clarence had the members of the Roaring 90s singing, dancing, laughing and having a wonderful time. His professional expertise filled the room with familiar tunes from the '40s on up. He opened the show singing As Time Goes By -- and as I watched the room filled with our precious seniors singing and swaying with the music, I thought of how much they had done and seen in their lives. The music touched me along with these vivacious, amazing seniors. And yes, there was one lady who was 100 at the luncheon. The next song by Clarence was Don't Fence Me In, followed by other classic music such

"This club is 14, going on 15 years old," said Lynn. "We started in Redondo Beach at the Senior Housing Casa De Los Amigos. We started the 90s Club of Redondo, but we expanded it and made it the Roaring 90s Club of the South Bay. We did have a club in Long Beach, which we are going to activate again very soon. So it is spreading. As you can see it, they love it."

This club is thriving. Many who are in their 80s and 90s have lost friends, and this group provides a way of meeting new friends with the same life experiences and memories. "Two years in a row we have received community awards," said Lynn. "That is nice. I host Senior Living and it is on daily on Channel has only been a member a couple of years. Next to Sally Ann sat Don Sturges and Pat Ramsey. Don and Pat attended Redondo Union High School together, graduating in the class of 1943 and they have been friends for most of their lives.

I then spoke with Rita Catalano, age 94, and Margaret Shuler, who is nearly 97 years old. "This is one of the happiest times of my life, here together with the 90s. The most important thing is to stay positive," said Margaret. Rita added, "We are all telling each other how much slower we are than we used to be. It takes twice as long to do anything!"

Barbara Willett joined in the fun because she accompanies her mother to the event and

The Last Dance For Me, Up On The Roof, On Broadway and many others. Clarence formally retired from the group in 1991 and then began performing as a solo artist, recording seven albums and making special appearances in movies, television shows and commercials. Clarence arrived at the event and began setting up his equipment on stage with the grace of a dancer. I watched Clarence set everything just so. You could tell this professional performer had the discipline you only see in the best. "For the last 20 years, he has been entertaining seniors," said Lynn. "He said he was on the road for 16 years and his wife was working in Senior Housing and she said, 'Why don't you entertain for my people?' -- and he said, 'Well, who are as Heart of My Heart, That's Amore, Red Sails in the Sunset, It's Only a Paper Moon, Spanish Eyes and more. Clarence Ulrich, the consummate professional, entertained this group of seniors with an act that could play Vegas. He engaged the audience and gave a beautiful performance. Visit his website at www.clarenceulrich.com.

Lynn Brennan told me the Roaring 90s Club is growing and growing. If you are 85 or older, or know of someone who is, please pass on the word about this fantastic group that meets quarterly for fun, lunch, camaraderie and live music. I can tell you, this is an amazing group of people who in the South Bay truly deserve the title, "The Greatest Generation." •

One Cause Of Heart Disease That Might Surprise You

(BPT) - One in four deaths in the U.S. is caused by heart disease. More than 610,000 people die of heart disease in the U.S. every year, making it the leading cause of death for both men and women, according to the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. It’s no surprise heart health is a priority for many people.

You know you need to eat a nutritious diet, exercise and avoid smoking. However, there’s a lot more you need to know to protect yourself and your family. Consider these five surprising facts about heart disease.

You may not have heard of familial hypercholesterolemia (FH), a common, but inherited genetic disorder that causes heart disease. FH affects approximately one in 250 people worldwide, but 90 percent of people born with this genetic condition are not diagnosed. Individuals with FH have a high amount of low density lipoprotein (LDL) or “bad” cholesterol in their blood from birth. This lifelong burden of cholesterol is a reason FH leads to early and severe heart disease. The good news is that FH is manageable if detected and treated early in life.

Heart attacks have several major warning signs and symptoms:

- Chest pain or discomfort.
- Upper body pain or discomfort in the arms, back, neck, jaw or upper stomach.
- Shortness of breath.
- Nausea, lightheadedness or cold sweats.

Know the signs. Trust yourself. If you have any of these symptoms or sense something is just not right, call 911.

Many people think heart disease occurs in old age, but it can affect people of all ages. Even if you or your family members are 30 years old or younger, you could be affected, especially if you have risk factors like high cholesterol or a family history of heart disease. Keep in mind, each child with a family member with FH has a 50 percent chance of inheriting the disorder, which is present at birth. Untreated individuals with FH have up to a 20 times increased lifetime risk of early heart disease, yet 90 percent of people with FH are undiagnosed, according to the FH Foundation.

Many adults are regularly screened for high cholesterol, but it’s not as common for children to be screened, although the American Academy of Pediatrics recommends that all children between the ages of 9 and 11 be screened for high cholesterol. These guidelines also recommend screening for FH as early as age 2 if there is a family history of high cholesterol, early heart disease or known FH. Talk to your children’s doctor about screening. FH is characterized by an LDL-C level of over 190 mg/dL in adults, or over 160 mg/dL in children. FH may also be confirmed with a genetic test, although this is not necessary for diagnosis.

Being diagnosed with high cholesterol, heart disease or even FH is not a death sentence. Every person’s health considerations are unique, but by working with your doctor, you can come up with a plan to help manage your health and maintain the strongest heart possible. This could include lifestyle changes and medications to manage the LDL cholesterol level in the blood. The key is to keep asking questions, learn about your specific health needs and stay dedicated to your heart health plan. •

URGENCY ORDINANCE NO. 2163
AN URGENCY ORDINANCE OF THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF HAW-THORNE, ADDING CHAPTER 10.62 TO TITLE 10 (VEHICLES AND TRAFFIC) OF
THE HAWTHORNE MUNICIPAL CODE
REGARDING DOCKLESS SHARED MOBILITY DEVICES AND STATING THE URGENCY THEREFORE
NOW, THEREFORE, THE CITY COUNCIL
OF THE CITY OF HAWTHORNE DOES
ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:
SECTION 1. The City Council hereby makes the following findings:
A. A number of operators have recently begun operating fleets of dockless electric scooters and bicycles, that are placed on sidewalks and other public property throughout the region and made available to members of the public for rental via electronic transaction.
B. These fleets of "dockless shared mobility devices" have appeared suddenly and unexpectedly, and have proliferated rapidly. The operators encourage customers to leave the devices on sidewalks and other public property when the customer has finished their use of a device, and the devices include internal locks that immobilize the device wherever it has been left.
C. These dockless shared mobility devices are unregulated, and throughout the region
are frequently abandoned by users in streets, sidewalks, and other public places without regard to the needs of pedestrians and other users of the public property. Such abandonment of large mechanically immobilized objects creates a safety hazard for pedestrians who may trip over the devices, interferes with the normal use of public property, and makes it difficult for people with disabilities to find a clear travel path on sidewalks.
D. Moreover, due to the spontaneous nature of device rentals and the appeal of these devices to young people, dockless shared mobility devices are nearly always operated by users—often minors—without helmets, in contravention of state law.
E. A company that operates a fleet of these devices has recently informed business license
staff that they intend to commence operations in the City.
F. For the reasons stated above, this ordinance is necessary for the immediate preservation of the public peace, health, and safety.
SECTION 2. Title 10 (Vehicles & Traffic) of the Hawthorne Municipal Code ("HMC") is hereby amended to add a new Chapter 10.62
as follows:
Chapter 10.62 DOCKLESS SHARED MOBILITY DEVICES.
10.62.010 Definition.
For purposes of this chapter:
A. "Dockless Shared Mobility Device" means any motorized or non-motorized wheeled device, other than a motor vehicle that must be registered with the Department of Motor Vehicles, that both:
(i) is made available for shared use or rental by members of the public; and
(ii) includes a Wireless Lock that is integrated into the device.
B. "Wireless Lock" means a mechanism on a wheeled device that both;
(i) can, while the wheeled device is freestanding in or lying on the public right-of-way or public property, be activated or deactivated via cellular phone network, Bluetooth, Near Field Communication, RFID or other wireless communication method; and
(ii) is designed to immobilize or lock one or more wheels of a wheeled device (by means other than locking the device to a bike rack or other fixed object) or to disable the wheeled device's motor.
10.62.020 Prohibitions
A. It is unlawful to park, leave standing, leave lying, or abandon a Dockless Shared Mobility Device in a public right-of-way or on public property anywhere within the City.
B. It is unlawful to activate a Dockless Shared Mobility Device's Wireless Lock while that the Dockless Shared Mobility Device is in a public right-of-way or on public property anywhere
within the City.
C. It is unlawful for a Dockless Shared Mobility Device to be located in a public right-of-way or on public property anywhere within the City, while (i) one or more of its wheels are locked or immobilized by its Wireless Lock (regardless of the method by which the Wireless Lock was activated) or (ii) its motor (if any) is deactivated by its Wireless Lock (regardless of the method by which its Wireless Lock was activated).

D. It is unlawful to provide or offer for use a Dockless Shared Mobility Device anywhere
within the City.
10.62.030 Infraction
Violation of a prohibition set forth in Section 10.62.020 is an infraction punishable as set forth in Chapter 1.22 of this Code.
10.62.040 Impoundment
Peace Officers, Traffic Control Officers, Parking Enforcement Officers, Code Enforcement Officers and any other employee or contractor designated by the City Manager are authorized to impound from any public right-of-way or public property anywhere within the City any Dock-less Shared Mobility Device that is (i) parked, (ii) left standing, (iii) left lying, (iv) abandoned,
or (v) in violation of subdivision C of Section 10.62.020 of this Code. Unless the City Council, by resolution, sets some different impound and storage fee, the impound shall be subject to the same impound and storage fees as applies to impounded bicycles.
SECTION 3. If any section, subsection, sentence, clause, or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held to be invalid or unconstitutional by the decision of any court of competent jurisdiction, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of the ordinance. The City Council hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses, or phrases be declared invalid or unconstitutional.
SECTION 4. This Ordinance was assessed in accordance with the authority and criteria contained in the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA), the State CEQA Guidelines, and the environmental regulations of the City. The Ordinance is exempt from the requirements of CEQA pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15061(b)(3) because it can be seen with certainty that there is no possibility that prohibiting Dockless Shared Mobility Devices from being offered or left on the public right-of-way or on public property will have a significant effect on the environment. The Ordinance is additionally exempt from CEQA pursuant to CEQA Guidelines Section 15301(c), as it involves no expansion of the use of existing facilities,
a category that includes streets and sidewalks
SECTION 5. The City Clerk shall cause this Ordinance to be published at least once in a newspaper of general circulation published and circulated in the City within fifteen (15) days after its passage in accordance with Section 36933 of the Government Code, shall certify to the adoption of this Ordinance, and shall cause
this Ordinance and this certification, together with proof of publication, to be entered in the Book of Ordinances of the Council of this City.
SECTION 6. Pursuant to Government Code
§ 36937, this Ordinance shall go into full force and effect immediately upon its passage by a four-fifths majority of the City Council.
PASSED, APPROVED AND ADOPTED this 14th day of August 2018.

Purrrfect Companions

Elliot.

Augustin.

Every second of every minute of every day, a helpless animal is put to death just because no one was there to take them home. Saving one animal may not change the world, but it will change the world for that animal

Give one of these kitties a second chance for a lifetime of love in a new forever home with you.

Panini is an adorable little lap kitten who is just starting to find her voice. She will make beautiful trills and beeps that are similar to the Star Wars character R2D2! When she sings for you, you know she loves you. Panini is a sweet, playful girl who needs to be adopted into a home with an existing cat/kitten, or she can be adopted with one of her friends at the Kitten Rescue Adoption Center.

When Leona came to us, she was only supposed to stay for a short time while her family relocated. Unfortunately, they were ultimately not able to reclaim Leona, so she is now looking for a new home. Leona is a beautiful girl. She is mellow and social with people and enjoys getting affection and pets, but is not particularly needy. Leona does well with other kitties and older children.

Augustin is a happy-go-lucky boy. He is sweet, affectionate and playful...just too cool for school. When other kitties are playing like crazy little Billy goats, he watches them fully entertained. Augustin is also a pensive boy who likes to watch birds and leaves blow outside. He loves being held and getting cuddled. Being a very social kitten, he would be great paired with his brother Jules, or with another friendly kitty.

Jules is a gentle, precious boy who sinks in your arms and purrs when you hold him. He is very chill, but also goofy. He lives to play. Jules is mellower than many kittens his age. So smart and observant, he would imitate his mom when she groomed. Jules would like a friendly kitty playmate and would love a new home with his brother Augustin.

Elliot is a young, playful boy who was recently found homeless and starving in a parking lot. His name was inspired by the musical Cats because he is such a character. Energetic, loving, mischievous and affectionate, he loves to chase paper balls and will sleep on you. He's a "foodie" who enjoys eating cucumbers, toast, cheese and cereal, along with his regular cat food. Elliot gets along great with everyone -- humans and other animals alike.

Mita is the sweetest little firecracker you will ever meet. She is soft and cuddly, but playful and curious as the day is long. She will give you hours of playful entertainment and then cuddle up on your lap or beside you for snuggles. Mita would be great with a playful kitty in your home or another kitty you could adopt with her. She is also okay around cat-friendly dogs.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Be kind. Save a life. Support animal rescue. •

THE YELLOW DOG PROJECT.com

If you see a dog with a YELLOW RIBBON or something yellow on the leash, this is a dog who needs some space. Please do not approach this dog with your dog. Please maintain distance or give this dog and his/her person time to move out of your way.

There are many reasons why a dog may need space:

- HEALTH ISSUES
- IN TRAINING
- BEING REHABILITATED
- SCARED OR REACTIVE AROUND OTHER DOGS

THANK YOU!

Those of us who own these dogs appreciate your help and respect!
