Board Recognizes Alex Lopez for Producing NASA Flight Parts

The Lawndale-based Centinela Valley Union High School District Board of Education presented a certificate of recognition to Hawthorne High School engineering student Alex Lopez for building 10 different NASA-approved and accepted parts for a future mission to the International Space Station. Because of his excellent work, NASA has requested 50 additional parts from the school. Photo: Centinela Valley Center for the Arts

Leuzinger to Host Metro Meeting; Gold, Expo Line Tours Upcoming

Lawndale's Leuzinger High School will host a community meeting on the evening of Tuesday, April 17 regarding the Metro South Bay Green Line Extension project. The program will take place in the campus auditorium from 6 to 8 p.m. and will provide attendees with the latest information from Metro about the project that will impact Lawndale as well as the neighboring cities of Redondo Beach and Torrance. The Green Line Extension to Torrance Project is studying passenger transit service options along a four-mile segment of the Harbor Subdivision Corridor from the existing Redondo Beach Marine Station to the proposed Regional Transit Center (RTC) in Torrance. The extension will be served by the Metro Green and Crenshaw/LAX Lines. This extension will provide congestion relief along the busy I-405 corridor. It will also improve mobility in southwestern LA County by accessing the regional rail network through connections to the Metro Blue and Expo Lines. The Supplemental Alternatives Analysis (SAA) Study will solicit feedback from corridor cities and stakeholders to refine and update alternatives previously identified as part of the Metro Harbor Subdivision Alternatives Analysis (AA) Report prepared in 2009. At the conclusion of the SAA, a new or refined preferred alternative will be recommended to the Metro Board of Directors for consid-

SAA process. The tour of the Metro Gold and Expo lines will provide a first-hand view of current examples of how trains and stations integrate with surrounding communities. Pick-up time is 9:15 a.m. att the bus loading and drop-off zone on the north side of the Redondo Beach Green Line Station at 5251 Marine Ave. in Redondo Beach. Free parking will be available at the station and participants will receive a boxed lunch. The community stakeholder tour will take passengers on a Metro bus to Union Station in Downtown Los Angeles in order to board the Gold Line and then travel to the South Pasadena and Del Mar stations and also drive by the Hawthorne Street and Highland Park segments before arriving at the Expo/Vermont Station. For those not quite ready to return to Redondo Beach, an optional Expo Line tour will be available from the Expo/Vermont Station to continue the tour through Culver City and Westwood/Rancho Park. Those interested in participating in the tour must RSVP by emailing iford@therobertsgroup.com or calling 323-669-7651. eration. Community input will be consider in the SAA along with technical evaluation.

Project Goals

• Improve mobility in the South Bay area by introducing reliable and high-frequency transit service options.

• Enhance the regional transit network by providing more direct connections from South Bay to regional destinations.

· Provide an alternative mode of transportation for commuters who currently use the congested project study area arterials and I-405 corridor.

· Improve transit accessibility for residents of communities along the South Bay corridor.

· Encourage a mode shift to transit, reducing air pollution and greenhouse gas emissions.

Additional community meetings will take place on April 19 at the Redondo Beach Performing Arts Center and on April 26 at the Torrance Cultural Arts Center.

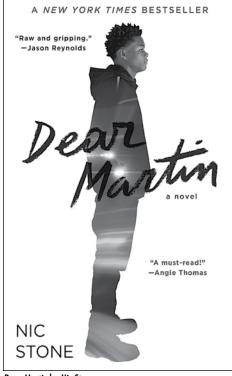

Local residents may also attend the Green Line Extension to Torrance-Gold Line Tour set for Saturday, March 31 as part of the 🐲 🖈 Entertainment 🖈 🕫 🐼

Check It Out Dear Martin Dishes Discernment

Reviewed by Tommy Vinh Bui, MLIS, Associate Librarian, Inglewood Public Library

Inglewood Public Library's shelves are creaking from the weight of new books, with hardbound profundity primed and ready for eager hands. The young adult section is particularly bountiful with the latest and greatest offerings to rekindle that lifelong passion for reading.

The first book we'll examine ably confounds and astounds. The inimitable Dear Martin, written by Nic Stone, was a trenchant and incisive yarn that ran the gamut of emotional peaks and valleys. From rib-grabbingly funny to heartfelt and somber, Stone has managed to wring a rich and textured story that should keep young audiences captivated from word one. It's a narrative that befuddles expectations and tackles admirably some of the pressing issues that are but all too relevant today. It's a dazzling work that is sensitive to a multitude of contemporary controversies and should spark a windfall of thoughtful discussion among teen readers.

The story follows Justyce McAllister, a bright and clear-eyed senior trying his best to navigate the slings and arrows of adolescence. It's hard enough for a teen to wrestle with schoolwork, social life and the other difficulties that are part and parcel with high school. He also must struggle with some pretty profound racial and societal questions. He becomes deeply disoriented when he himself is the victim of racial profiling and begins to falter when it comes to understanding his own sense of identity and class affiliation. He finds solace and guidance in the teachings of his historical mentor, Martin Luther King, Jr, desperately trying to make sense of the racial tensions and inequalities around him. Through a series of epistolary missives, he writes to Dr. King and undergoes a head-to-toe personal transformation. He eventually emerges on the other side of the novel as a changed person.

Dear Martin is certainly a page-turner. I was hanging on each word and found myself at the last page with alarming swiftness. It's structurally sound and has ample narrative velocity. The characters are fully fleshed out and nothing is rushed or under-developed. The writer manages to capture a tone that is exceedingly listenable and strikes the ear as true. There's a je ne sais quoi musicality to the dialogue that is dulcet and alluring from beginning to end.

The themes are certainly age-appropriate and should provide a wealth of discussion points for any current events class worth their salt. Themes of racial inequality, affirmative action and tacit discrimination are all subjects broached elegantly and kneaded into the narrative masterfully. These struggles and difficult questions really coax the best out of the primary and secondary characters and make them fully realized and multi-layered figures by the novel's culmination. The character development is top-notch. We sympathize and identify with these characters. Very much so. We celebrate with them during the highs and grieve together during the lows -- and all arrive at a better understanding of the issues chapter by chapter.

All said, Dear Martin is a doozy of a young adult novel. It is inexplicably both by the book and somehow also outside the box -awholehearted recommend ...

So mosey on down to Inglewood Library. We'll keep a cozy corner of the stacks set aside just for you. Well-lit and respite aplenty. Where newfound literary insights await. •

Remembering Stephen Hawking: The Theory of Everything Revisit

By Morgan Rojas for www.cinemacy.com

This week, we remember the late Stephen Hawking as well as the late Oscar-winning composer Jóhann Jóhannsson by running our initial review for the 2014 biopic The Theory of Everything. We will forever remember these two profoundly influential, brilliant and (Redmayne would go on to win the Academy Award for Best Actor). Redmayne captures this challenging period in time with real bravado: he finds the humor in the grim, the joy in the sadness, and the brilliance in the silence. Not to be outdone is Felicity Jones, who grounds the film with her selflessness and agitated, yet calm demeanor. Jane is a woman to be

I am usually drawn to biopic films for a number of reasons. I appreciate any actor's attempt to become another real-life figure. I especially admire their willingness to be overly critiqued for taking on that part when the literal person to draw reference against can be so easily accessed and therefore allow us to easily pick out those flaws in the performance. And what could be more daunting a task than portraying one of the most brilliant men to have ever lived, as Eddie Redmayne does in the Stephen Hawking biopic The Theory of Everything? Much to my surprise - and delight - the powerhouse performances, beautiful camerawork and emotional score make this film nearly critique-less.

The Theory of Everything tells the true story of how Hawing met and fell in love with his first wife. The film begins with young Stephen (Eddie Redmayne), who meets young Jane (Felicity Jones) at a University gathering. Wide-eyed and naive, the two quickly fall in love. Jane, being an artistic and religious girl, and Stephen, being the nerdy astrophysicist and atheist, exemplify how "opposites attract" and realize that their future will know no bounds. But when 21-year-old Stephen is suddenly hit with a diagnosis of the motor neuron disease ALS (or, Lou Gehrig's disease) and a two-year life expectancy, the couple doubles down on their commitment to each other and are soon married with children on the way. All the while, Hawking continues to work towards his life's grander purpose: to discover an equation to explain the creation of the universe as understood by time's mathematical properties. His motivation to determine the relationship between space and time keeps him distracted from his debilitating disorder, but it's easy to see that it is Jane's love and support that truly keeps him alive. I was awestruck at the execution and total mastery of Redmayne's performance as Hawking, portraying the mathematician throughout his entire life in his ever-weakening condition admired, and Felicity plays her with poignant sensitivities and warmth.

Director James Marsh, whose previous films include the documentary Man on Wire, focuses on the lovely, yet complex, relationship between Stephen and Jane. Marsh humanizes the man we have all come to know as a somewhat mythical figure in history and paints him in a new, more vulnerable and unseen light (and had the blessing from the real Hawking). The accompanying score by composer Jóhannsson is the threaded heartbeat of the film -- cinematic enough to transport us to another place and time, but not so apparent that it takes away from the film itself.

The Theory of Everything isn't a giant history lesson meant to educate audiences about the work of Stephen Hawking. Rather, it is a purely heartfelt look into the romanticism of his life. The film is emotional enough on its own...but given the recent passing of both Hawking and Jóhannsson, it plays with an even heavier tone. If you haven't seen The Theory of Everything yet, now is the perfect time to do so. The Theory of Everything is rated PG-13 for some thematic elements and suggestive material. 123 minutes. ### UPCOMING EVENTS ON HAWTHORNE'S CALENDAR

Here a few of the upcoming events to mark on your calendar for Hawthorne Happenings: March 24: Annual "Bunny Breakfast" hosted by the Parks and Rec Department at Memorial Center. April 1: Easter Sunday - The Hawthorne/Lawndale Ministerial Association invites you to attend an area church for Resurrection Sunday. April 21: Earth Day/Service Providers Fair at Memorial Park; April 22: Volunteer Appreciation Day at Memorial Center – 2 p.m.; April 28: Relay for Life 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. Hawthorne HS Track (12 hours only this year); April 28: Resolve to Rise Workshop; May 12: Hawthorne 5K Run and Health Fair at Hawthorne HS Track; May 19: Hawthorne Hall of Fame Banquet - Avres Hotel; May 24: K-9 Community BBQ Dinner. There are a lot of activities coming up in Hawthorne, I hope to see you at a few.

HOLY WEEK

This Sunday is Palm Sunday and the following Sunday is Resurrection Sunday, better known as Easter. For Christians the events that are remembered, meditated upon and celebrated are the essentials to the faith that is based solely upon God's love for human mankind. God the Father sent his one and only Son, Jesus, to suffer, die, and arise for people like you and me who are undeserved recipients of this life saving grace. Many people have trouble believing that an event that took place over 2000 years ago could have anything to do with them. Some readers of my column get nervous hearing me ramble on about God's love for us or squeamish when I get on my preaching soap box. God forces no one to accept His gift. I don't force anyone to read my column. I have trouble getting anyone to read my column let alone force them to read this rag tag, off the wall, head banging gobbly goop. If you figure out heads or tails of what I'm trying to say, let me know, cause I ain't got any idea where I'm going with this other than I want to say we can be happy because God loves us and is in control. Yes, I hope the Easter bunny visits your house and you enjoy a cold one or two with your family, but look at what really happened that early morning Sunday years ago and you will have a really Happy Easter.

ANOTHER BREWERY - XIMIX

I know this is a Hawthorne column but it is sometimes read by people from Lawndale, El Segundo and other neighboring cities. So, I wanted to put in a word for a fellow church friend who has worked with his partners for the past two and one half years to open up their own brewery in the city of Gardena. The name is Ximix Craft and is located in a great looking warehouse at 13723<sup>1/2</sup> Harvard Place. (Just North of Rosecranes and Western Ave.) I attended their "soft opening" this past Sunday and as usual the cold one that I had hit the spot. It was great to share a "blonde" craft beer with my church friends. We may even have a bible study or table talk over at the site. There would be no need to bring your own bible or bottle, we will supply both. This is the first craft brewery to open up in our neighboring city of Gardena. Hawthorne has two breweries now and rumors have it that there might be more. Ever since I started telling people to relax and have a cold one, this craft brewery craze has exploded.

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Hwy., Redondo Beach 90277, from noon to 3: 30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one.

"How would you like to be abandoned by your family after loving them and being a loyal companion for 10 years? Well, I certainly was devastated when it happened to me. My name is Sushi and I was rescued from an Inland Empire shelter after my family told the shelter they were moving and couldn't take me with them, so they just dumped me. The shelter folks felt so badly for me that they gave me a dental, a blood work-up and then contacted MSFR to ask them if they could rescue me because they were doubtful they could find a home for me. A trip to the MSFR veterinarian, who took x-rays, quickly revealed that I have an enlarged heart and a grade-4 heart murmur. I had an appointment with a cardiologist, who confirmed that medication would definitely help my heart murmur and so I'm now on the inexpensive kind and feeling fine. I'm also planning on dropping a couple of pounds because at my current weight of 24 pounds, I'm a tad overweight. Luckily, I still get along and love to play with other dogs and I have a great temperament. You'd be hard-pressed to find a sweeter and more affectionate dog anywhere. Add my stunning good looks with my black and silver coat and I would be the perfect dog for you."

If you're interested in Sushi, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"My new name is Flora, which is of Latin origin and means 'flower.' It's absolutely the perfect name for a tiny 10-pound gal, as I continue to bloom under the care of my foster folks. I have to tell you that when I was found by animal control and taken to an LA County shelter, I was nothing short of a mess. I had to be placed in the medical building because of a disgusting and painful skin condition. I won't get too graphic, but the sores and inflammation were so bad that I didn't even want to be touched. I certainly was not adoptable in that condition and that's when the big-hearted MSFR folks rescued me. They took me straight to their veterinarian where several different skin tests were performed and the final diagnosis was that my condition was called demodectic mange -and I also had an ear infection. Thankfully it's not contagious, so I just spent a few days at the animal hospital receiving treatment. Amazingly, I responded so well that I was looking and feeling much better after only one treatment and a medicated bath. It has been a bit of a rough road for this 4-year old, female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer, but I know the best is yet to come! If you're looking for a petite youngster to share your life with, I'm definitely the sweet gal for you. I even get along with other dogs, but do just fine by myself."

If you're interested in Flora, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"They call me Max and you know I think I actually look like a Max! I'm a 6-year old, male Dachshund/Fox Terrier mix with a handsome black, white and cream-colored coat with extraordinary markings. I have wonderfully expressive brown eyes, a great smile and ears that stand at attention. I was rescued from a City of LA shelter after I took a wrong turn while out for a walk. I was curious to see what was out in the world and now I'm looking for a forever home. Sometimes having a curious personality gets me in trouble, but I just want to see and do everything. If you're looking for a great companion to take with you everywhere, then I'm the guy! I love car rides, adventures and I'm even pretty darn good on the leash. I know I'd be a great addition to a loving family who wants to share their life with me."

Sushi

Corn Chowder

Recipe provided by Brandpoint

Ingredients

- 1 lb. ground Italian sausage
- 3 clove of garlic, minced
  1/2 c. onion, chopped
- 1/4 c. all purpose flour
- 4 c. milk
- 1 1/2 c. heavy cream
- 3 medium potatoes, peeled and cubed
- 3 ears of corn, kernels removed and cobs reserved
- salt and pepper, to taste
- green onion, finely chopped

Preparation

- 1. In a large stockpot, brown sausage, garlic and onion over medium heat until cooked through; drain. Return to pan and add flour; mix well and cook for an additional 2 minutes, stir constantly.
- 2. Add milk, cream, potatoes and corn to sausage mixture and bring to a boil. Add corn cobs, reduce heat to low and simmer for 1 hour.
- 3. Remove cobs, season with salt and pepper to taste. Ladle into soup bowls, garnish with green onions and serve.

Sometimes Silence Isn't so Good

By Cristian Vasquez

It's not new for people to be picky about their word selection when describing or commenting on events or issues. However, silence can have just as much as an impact...and it's President Trump's silence on the Austin bombings that say a lot about the leader of the free world. The one person who can't stay off Twitter to remind us how unsafe we are without a border wall, and the same individual who constantly reminded us of what a threat ISIS is, has yet to comment a single word on the four acts of domestic terror against Austin in the past month. Now in case his television viewing habits are true, there is no way that he missed the story. But just assuming he has somehow not heard a word about these bombings, why hasn't anyone on his team come out and told him? Maybe it's because he does not care. President Trump does not care about the voters of Austin. The president does not care about anyone who does not promote him directly. One could argue that he's mad at Austin for having voted 66.3-27.4 percent in favor of Hillary Clinton during the election. He does have that level of pettiness in him. Or one could even argue that by ignoring the four anonymous bombings in less than a month against a blue city inside a red state, the president is minimizing the value and importance of any portion of the electorate that isn't conservative. Yet at its core, it really is a lack of sympathy by the most ignorant, whiny commander-in-chief this nation has had the misfortune of tolerating. The only thing this man-child cares about is rallying his flock of voters who respond to his every whim. Sadly, he'll use any tactic or scenario at his disposal to scare and rally his base, but the circumstances have to be right.

For instance, when the Las Vegas shooter committed his despicable acts of violence, the president was quick to condemn the incident as "pure evil." What's different between the carnage in Las Vegas and the bombings in Austin? Well, the Las Vegas shooting was a P.R. opportunity for the president and his party to keep their base's focus on mourning the victims while avoiding the issue of gun control. Trump, as well as the GOP, knew that the topic of guns would be unavoidable -- so he did the song and dance he had to in order to appease his flock. Since Austin provides no real opportunity for a "look-atme-doing-such-a-great-job" rally, he has been silent. Maybe if there were a bomb lobby in the likes of the terrorist organization known as the NRA, the president would have condemned the bombings in Austin.

Trump Skates in and Out of Cali, Eludes Unemployed "Resistors"

By Duane Plank

So with little fanfare and media coverage, President 45 jetted to our great Sanctuary State last week, feigned attention at some border-wall stuff in San Diego, and then hightailed it to El Lay to raise Benjamins for his reelection run in 2020.

And deftly avoided the resistors.

Before escaping from the swamp, Trump canned "Sexy Rexy" Tillerson, his secretary of defense, via Twitter, which was pathetic. Mr. Trump, you need to grow a pair, eh? Meet Tillerson in person, tell him that his stint as the SOD didn't work out and wish him well. You knew what you were getting when you hired Tillerson. Not a yes man, but an accomplished professional with his own beliefs. Please take my advice. Maybe 45 was too distracted by the constant garbage CNN flips out (as their ratings plummet) regarding Stormy Daniels and her alleged...interactions...with the Donald? Must be interesting when the lady of the evening Daniels fills out her next job application, proudly proclaiming her workplace skills. Trump then cans the FBI's Andrew Mc-Cabe a day before the latter was set to retire and collect way-too-much retirement money. Anyone paying attention ever notice that many of the workers in this country collect a ton of Benjamins once they don't work? Switching gears, I was flummoxed and appalled when I read a report that estimates Gov. Jerry Brown's idiotic bullet train has gone over budget. Again. When is the last time a Demo money grab has ever landed under budget? Waiting for your answer, lefties. Never?

turning 80 in a couple of weeks, makes his fourth run at the presidency, I would support him. If not now, when?

Back in the cesspool state of California, the piss-ant illegal immigrant Jose Inez Garcia Zarate, who murdered Kate Steinle as she walked on a San Francisco pier with her father, is now suing and claiming "vindictive prosecution." Saw the illegal immigrant hairbag's case being championed on TV by some shyster lawyer named David Leopold. Leopold said the murderer's lawyer was just doing what any attorney should do, representing his murdering client. Mark Steyn took on the ambulance-chaser Leopold on the tele last week. Leopold deflected Steyn's interjections, to which the Canadian Steyn, who came to this country legally, took umbrage and noted someone by the name of Lizbeth Mateo may be ascending to a prominent position in California where she is expected to be appointed to statewide office. She is apparently a lawyer, illegally in our state, and a "Dreamer." Dreamers are golden, at least here. As a lifelong Cali resident who is a legal resident, one of my "dreams" is to get a better deal than the illegals. Nice chance, eh? Steyn asked the lawyer Leopold if he had a problem with Mateo, an illegal immigrant, becoming a lawyer in America --- being she was here criminally. Nope, said the apologist Leopold, who encapsulated the idiocy of some of (not all) of the elite lefties: "She represents the best and the brightest of the Dreamers."

The Austin bombings are in no way more or less worthy of attention that the Las Vegas shooting. However, the president managed to make a distinction between the two because one tragedy provided a benefit to him, while the other failed to do so. •

But if the erstwhile Governor Moonbeam,

A criminal now becoming a legal eagle in the Sanctuary State. Can't make this (stuff) up, folks. •

Do The Math: Homebuying Now May Save A Lot

(BPT) - It is a common misconception that a 20 percent down payment is required to buy a home. Advice to wait and save a large down payment is often based on the theory that the cost of mortgage insurance (MI), which is required when you buy with a smaller down payment, should be avoided. This may not be the best advice and is, in fact, not in line with market trends, considering 60 percent of homebuyers buy with a down payment of 6 percent or less, according to the National Association of Realtors.

Yes, you can qualify for a conventional mortgage with a down payment as small as 3 percent of the purchase price. It is also true that you can reduce your monthly mortgage payment by paying for discount points at closing, but that can be 5 or 10 percent of the purchase price - not 20. And because every buyer's situation is unique, it's important to do the math. In today's market, it could take a family earning the national median income up to 20 years to save 20 percent, according to calculations by U.S. Mortgage Insurers using a methodology developed by the Center for Responsible Lending; a lot can change during that time, in the family's personal finances and in overall mortgage market trends.

How can buying now save you money later? Consider you want to purchase a $235,000 home. A 5 percent down payment is $11,750 versus $47,000 in cash for 20 percent down. With a 740 credit score at today's MI rates, EL SEGUNDO HERALD: Pub. 3/1, 3/8, 3/15, 3/22/2018 H-1764 your monthly MI payment would be about $110, which is added to your monthly mortgage payment until MI cancels. MI typically cancels after five years; therefore, you will only have this added cost for a short period of time versus waiting an average of 20 years to save for 20 percent.

With home price appreciation, today's $235,000 home will likely cost more in the years ahead and this will also have an impact on the necessary down payment and length of time required to save for it. There are other variables in the equation too, such as interest rates. As federal rates rise, so too can the costs associated with financing a mortgage. The savings a borrower might calculate today could be altogether negated by waiting even a few more years. Another factor is that rents are on the rise across the nation, leading to a reduced capacity for many would-be homebuyers to save for larger down payments.

If you decide to buy today with a low down payment mortgage option, it is true that MI is an added cost on top of mortgage principal and interest, but keep in mind that it is temporary and goes away. Again, it typically lasts about five years. Private MI can be cancelled once a homeowner builds approximately 20 percent equity in the home through payments or appreciation and automatically terminates for most borrowers once he or she reaches 22 percent equity. And when MI is cancelled, the monthly bill goes down. Importantly, the insurance premiums on an FHA mortgage the 100 percent taxpayer-backed government version of mortgage insurance - cannot be cancelled for the vast majority of borrowers with FHA mortgages.

So, do the math and let the numbers guide you. There are many online mortgage calculators that can help. Check out lowdown-paymentfacts.org to learn more. •
