Goodbye to a Good Year, Hello to an Even Better One

By Rob McCarthy

If you're hoping for a happy new year, 2017 won't disappoint.

Two weeks still remain of 2016, and it was a good year for people living in the South Bay. Unemployment continued to dip and the stock market is moving into record-high territory since the presidential election last month. It's a cliché, but America's business is business again with Republicans taking charge of the federal government starting on January 20.

Because jobs are plentiful, salaries are rising and that makes people from the South Bay to Morro Bay to the Bay Area feel much more secure about the future. Consumer confidence is rising and you know what else is expected to rise next year? Disposable income—a.k.a. walking-around money—for making home improvements, getting the car repaired, or taking a trip.

The U.S. dollar is strong against other currencies, which means a summer vacation to Europe or Mexico, South America or Southeast Asia will be cheaper and your money will go further in the summer of 2017. Some Americans will decide against traveling abroad because of global terrorism and attacks directed at Westerners, but moneywise it'll be a bargain.

Why is 2017 shaping up to be strong for the dollar, the nation and California's economy?

Pro-Business Policies

President-Elect Donald Trump and GOP congressional leaders share goals of cutting taxes and easing regulations, which would boost business investment. When and if tax cuts are passed by Congress, Trump's proposals to boost infrastructure spending would kick in, benefitting construction employment and income as well as the sectors and companies that support construction.

Economists believe the boost would be short-term unless spending reductions accompany those tax cuts to corporations, some middle-class taxpayers and the very wealthy.

The U.S. economy in a best-case scenario might grow at four percent next year, economists think. That compares to a more modest two percent growth that occurred in the past few years under the Obama Administration, though the U.S. financial sector took a full eight years to climb back from a global recession exacerbated by the collapse of banks and the mortgage industry.

Word on the Street Is...

The big players in the financial markets are betting that Donald Trump will live up to his campaign promises and boost government spending, cut taxes and roll back regulation and environmental protections. Since the election, every major financial market index has reached record highs. The U.S. market rose last week, recording very strong gains a full month after the election. The S&P 500 has soared 5.6 percent since November 8. Financial and energy stocks have rallied sharply.

Let the Good Times Roll

The consumer confidence report for November by the Conference Board was the highest in nine-and-a-half years. A preliminary December report from the University of Michigan climbed sharply to the highest level since December 2006. Consumers expect a positive impact of new economic policies following President-Elect Trump's victory five weeks ago.

Consumers feel more confident today and over the next six months than they have in years, largely because the labor market is at full employment, the stock market is at record highs, and incomes are rising.

The Dollar Delivers

There is speculation shared among economists and business leaders that a Trump presidency will mean wider budget deficits and more inflation. That would create a sharp curve for the U.S. dollar to negotiate after climbing back against currencies of our trading partners, including the European Union and Mexico.

The Euro fell last week to less than 1.06 in value against the dollar—its strongest position in 14 years. The dollar has rallied against most emerging market currencies and especially the Mexican peso, which has declined 52 percent in value against the U.S. dollar in two years.

The risk of a trade war between the U.S. and China and perhaps between the U.S. and Mexico is another reason for the advancing value of the dollar, according to a just-released report for California.

Home a Loan

Interest rates on short-term loans for everything from Hondas to home electronics are increasing because the economy is stronger and expected to bulk up next year. The financial markets were already factoring in an increase in rates by the Federal Reserve Board before the November election. Borrowers who want to buy a home or a finance a remodel of an existing one could be spared the rate jump that's coming.

"Remember that long-term rates do not necessarily rise in reaction to the Federal Reserve moving short-term rates upward, but the expectation that the economy will accelerate in 2017 is readjusting the yield on 10-year U.S. Treasury bonds, especially under a Trump presidency where higher growth is anticipated," said regional economist Mark Schniepp. "Rates are still very low by historical standards – and they are not likely to move sharply higher in 2017. The forecast has rates rising to 2.8 percent in 2017 and 3.5 percent in 2018."

We'll Pay More for Goods, Services

Inflation is just below two percent in Southern California, and everybody expected that figure to head higher in the next two years regardless of which candidate won the presidential election. Call it a case of too much of a good thing for the economy, for California, for the nation.

The U.S. and state's economy enters its ninth year of recovery starting January 1. Long economic expansions like ours strain existing resources like labor, machinery, transportation and distribution. What happens

Free Rain Barrel Distribution at The Forum on December 20

Catch the rain when it hits with a free rain barrel from West Basin Municipal Water District (West Basin). California has been in a statewide drought for five years, and likely a sixth. In response, West Basin is increasing public conservation and education by hosting no-cost rain barrel distribution events throughout the South Bay this fall season to qualified residents in the West Basin service area.

RSVP by visiting www.sbesc.com to participate on Tuesday, December 20 at The Forum in Inglewood.

To obtain additional information on West Basin's Rain Barrel Distribution Program, qualified residents must register with South Bay Environmental Services Center by visiting www.sbesc.com or calling 310-371-4633. West Basin's service area includes El Segundo, Hawthorne, Inglewood, Lawndale, Manhattan Beach and Torrance, among other communities. For additional information on other water conservation programs, visit www.westbasin.org •

Hawthorne Happenings

News for the City of Good Neighbors from City Clerk Huber

who also past away last week. She was the widow of former mayor, Joe Miller. Many of us remember Lisa Miller, their daughter, who was a long-time, City employee. We pray for both the Baker and Miller families at the passing of their loved ones.

FOOD, TOYS AND GOODWILL

Hawthorne cares. There are at least three organizations in Hawthorne that are giving food, toys and showing goodwill to the disadvantaged or low income families in our community. The Hawthorne Chamber of Commerce has their annual food and toy give away. The same goes for the Hawthorne Presidents Council and finally, the Del Aire Assembly of God Church under the direction of Rev. John Jefferson has organized a food drive for the past four months to feed the most needy of families in our school district. It's great that we have caring individuals and groups who look out for the needs of others in Hawthorne.

ENJOY AND REJOICE

I know some of you just skip the boring stuff that I write about above and look at my last post to read my crazy "cold one" stories. One way or another I seem to work my way into mentioning a cold one every week. So there you go. I'm done. I mentioned it, so go chuckle a little and snap open that can, or twist open that bottle, or tap into that keg and enjoy. Life is too short not to enjoy. We only have a certain number of days to enjoy, our days are numbered here on earth, so enjoy. The good book tells us to "Rejoice, and again I say Rejoice". What is there to rejoice about?, you might ask. We should rejoice that we have our loved ones, our pets, our friends, our good quiet neighbors, our somewhat sober city clerk, and all the good and bad that make up our daily lives. This is the season to rejoice. Rejoice that God came to earth in the form of a baby to save us from our sins. That baby Jesus lived, paid the price for our sins upon a cross, and now sits on the right hand of the Father. God loves us and because of Jesus we can have eternal life. Enjoy life. Rejoice in the life God gives you. Have a Merry Cold One this Christmas! •

HOLIDAY HOME DECORATING CONTEST

I hear that we have quite a few entries this year in our Hawthorne Holiday Home Decorating Contest. Judging will take place this week and I should be able to announce the winners in my column next week. We will get their addresses so that you may cruise by and see the wonderful sights of the season. There's nothing better than Christmas lights and beautiful decorations to get you in the holiday mood.

MR. JOHN BAKER

Hawthorne lost a good man last week. Native son, John Baker, the originator and facilitator of Cougartown.com, past away last week. John was a friend to many. He was an active member of the Hawthorne Historical Society and helped with the start of the Hawthorne Museum. John was your classic All-American kid living the dream in Hawthorne. He grew up on Cedar Street behind the old plazas. Graduating in the Beach Boys era of 1962 from Hawthorne High, he was one of those classmates that never left. His heart and soul was with his high school buddies. He stayed in touch with many and wanted to give everyone an opportunity to stay together. So, Cougartown became the blog, the Hawthorne High School Facebook before Facebook was even conceived. Literally, hundreds of HHS grads became members and exchanged greetings on a daily basis. John was there to facilitate and direct the interactions. He would answer questions that would come up. He would help organize reunions. He would share news concerning alums that everyone appreciated knowing. He set up cruise nights at Fosters Freeze for his hot rod buddies to reconnect. When we grow up and grow old with someone and they pass, it's like part of us is lost. One day they are alive and the next they are gone never to be seen in this life again. We will miss John Baker. He had a heart for Hawthorne and his beloved HHS. He will always be a Cougar. A memorial service is planned for a date in January at the VFW in Hawthorne. Our condolences also go out to the family of Loretta Miller

Hawthorne Looks to Turn Tides in Ocean League

By Adam Serrao

The Hawthorne Cougars girls' basketball team has hit the hardwood to embark on another challenging season that players, fans and head coach Paul Mason all hope ends successfully this year. It has been a few years since the team can say it experienced a successful season, at least statistically, but a new year brings with it new opportunity. A young and athletic roster combined with a first-year head coach in Mason may just be what the Lady Cougars need to provide the team with a winning recipe.

The 2012-'13 season was the last time the Lady Cougars girls had a positive record at the end of the year. That season, the team finished with a 15-13 mark and went 7-3 in league play--good enough for a second place finish in the Ocean League standings and a playoff berth. Though the Lady Cougars have had playoff potential in the recent past and have often made it into the first round of the CIF postseason, they've consistently had trouble getting past that hurdle.

Last season was one full of ups and downs for Hawthorne. After opening the year with two straight losses, the Lady Cougars rattled off a six-game winning streak to keep themselves in contention. A less-than-stellar league play season followed, in which the girls went 2-8 overall--beating the likes of only Beverly Hills in a 46-8 blowout, and Santa Monica. The team's poor record within its own division dropped Hawthorne down in the standings. A fifth place finish out of six teams isn't necessarily where the Lady Cougars envisioned they'd be at the end of the season, but their standing was still good enough to get them into the playoffs. A first round date with Cerritos ended in a 67-25 loss, concluding Hawthorne's season rather abruptly, but the team is back this year and ready to improve on last year.

The Lady Cougars will have to get the job done this time without the services of six departing seniors who were on the team a year ago. Three of those seniors include captains Brianna Anderson, Tiffany Harris and Kierra Wilder. Returning to the team, however, is junior guard Brianna Mendoza, who will be joined by newly appointed captains Diamond Mitchell and Gloria Jones. An entirely new crop of players (with the exception of Mendoza), in addition to a new head coach, may make the process of gelling together more trying than it might otherwise be.

That trying process reared its head in the Lady Cougars' first game of this season when they took a loss to Leuzinger in a rivalry match that ended with a final score of 90-4. The only points Hawthorne was able to muster came on one basket in the third quarter and another in the fourth quarter. Despite the horrific loss, the Lady Cougars were able to come out and forget about the past with a 56-31 win over

George Washington Prep. There's no telling what the rest of the season will have in store of Hawthorne, but more games like the one against George Washington and less like the one versus Leuzinger would make everyone involved very happy.

LAWNDALE HIGH

The Lawndale Cardinals girls' basketball team is coming off of an extremely successful season within the Ocean League. The Lady Cardinals put up a 7-3 record in league play and finished in second place in the overall standings. Lawndale seems to be contending with the Culver City Centaurs every year. Their rivals have finished in first place and won the Ocean League title five seasons in a row now. Lawndale's head coach Anthony Gibson is confident that this will be the year that his team will overtake Culver City and finally capture an Ocean League title of its own.

Leading the charge for the Lady Cardinals will be a player that came over from the Hawthorne Lady Cougars. Summer Grant, who played well as a freshman last season, transferred to Lawndale for her sophomore year and will now join a roster full of talented seniors. Captains Jazzmin Oddie (forward) and Kamsi Metu (center) will lead a roster that also expects key contributions from Rejinae Crandall and Zyaire Nelson. Crandall was perhaps the team's most explosive player from a season ago. This year's season is already underway and the Lady Cardinals have gotten out to a slow start. A 1-3 record through the team's first four games should certainly improve, however, in what will be a long, competitive season.

INGLEWOOD HIGH

The Inglewood Sentinels girls' basketball team is longing for a season like the one it had in 2013-'14 when it finished in second place in the Ocean League standings and went all the way to the championship game of the CIF Division 3A playoffs. Since that time, the Lady Sentinels have not only transferred over to the Bay League, but have also only managed to win one game over the course of two entire basketball seasons. A combined record of 1-42 with only one league play win over Morningside has the girls' basketball team and its head coach Charles Michael Cain searching everywhere for answers.

If you've been around the Inglewood girls' basketball team over the last two seasons, then the beginning of this year didn't necessarily bode well either. The team has started off at 0-2 with losses to Marlborough (58-10) and Banning (44-27). Senior captain Chinyere Osuigwe will try to get things turned around for the team in what has the potential to be another very long season. The team will hope to get at least a few wins on the board this year and somehow stay out of the cellar of the Bay League standings. •

Butternut Squash Soup Shooters

For more seasonal recipe ideas, visit www.simplyorganic.com, provided by BPT.

Butternut squash soup turns shooter in this recipe featuring organic squash and curry powder.

Ingredients

- 2 teaspoons Simply Organic Curry Powder
- Simply Organic Crushed Red Pepper
- 1 tablespoon butter or olive oil
- 1 medium onion, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 4 celery stalks, chopped (about 1 cup)
- 3 garlic cloves, crushed and chopped
- 1 3-pound butternut squash, peeled and cubed (about 5 cups)
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 5 cups vegetable broth (or a water and broth combo, if desired)
- 1 cup canned coconut milk
- fresh cilantro, for garnish
- cooked chickpeas, for garnish

Preparation

1. In a large stock pot, over medium heat, melt the butter or heat the oil. Add the onion and celery. Cook for four to five minutes, until the onions are translucent and the vegetables "sweat."
2. Stirring frequently, add the garlic and cook for one minute, until fragrant. Add the butternut squash, salt and curry powder. Stir.
3. Add the vegetable broth and bring to a boil. Then reduce to a simmer and allow to cook for 25 to 30 minutes, until the butternut cubes are soft when pierced with a fork.
4. Into the soup, stir coconut milk, then remove the soup from the heat. Using an immersion blender, blend the soup until smooth and creamy. Serve in shot glasses with a garnish of cilantro, chickpeas and red pepper flakes.

5 Ways to Find Extra Money During the Holidays

(BPT) - The holidays are here again. It's that time of year when you get together with family and friends, take some time away from work and live out the definition of "it's better to give than receive." And, if you're like many Americans, this is also the season when you give a little too much and find yourself over budget on your holiday spending.

Research from MagnifyMoney shows Americans incur $986 in additional debt throughout the holiday season, money they are then forced to pay off during the new year. If you've had problems with holiday-induced debt in the past and you've tried - and failed - to stem your holiday spending, take a different route this year and see if you can generate extra money to cover those increased holiday expenses. You can do it in a short period of time, so here are a few tips to get you started.

Clean house. As you're picking up your house and getting ready for guests to come over, take a good look under the couch cushions for spare change, and don't forget all those things you're moving to the basement. Add up that spare change to put toward your holiday budget. And, could you move some of your possessions out the door instead? Craigslist, eBay and Facebook all make selling your old possessions easier than ever. And don't forgo the traditional garage sale - one successful Saturday could give you the money you need to enjoy the holidays without debt concerns.

More money than you think. The money beneath your couch cushions may be worth more than you think. Research from Coinstar shows Americans, on average, believe they have $41 in spare change on hand. However, Coinstar's own nationwide kiosk data indicates the amount of spare change consumers have on hand is even more than that. Bring your spare coins to a Coinstar kiosk today and trade them for cash or no-fee eGift cards to retailers such as Amazon, Nike and Best Buy. On average, people cash in $68 when they convert their coins to no-fee eGift cards. Whether you keep the cards for yourself or give them as gifts is up to you.

Take a seasonal job. If you want a little extra money and a short time commitment, seasonal employment during the holidays is a great idea. Retailers across the country are looking to bolster their staff for the holiday season and you can enter this environment with minimal training and hit the ground running - especially if you have prior retail experience. Choose a product you're passionate about and it's a win-win, just make sure you don't spend all of your earnings before you leave the store.

Cash in those unwanted gift cards. Nearly three in four consumers have unwanted gift cards lying around because they are for stores that are too far away, or places they've never shopped before. If you're one of them, turn those cards into cash you can use. Coinstar Exchange allows you to exchange those unwanted gift cards for cash so you can tackle that holiday shopping list without debt concerns.

Cash in your credit card points. When you're shopping for a new credit card, reward points are a big deal in your consideration. But how often do you use them? Research shows that Americans rake in $48 billion worth of credit card points each year, yet only $32 billion are redeemed. The holidays are the perfect time to redeem those points, so don't forget to use them and find that extra cash you've been missing.

The holiday season is a wonderful time of year and it's more enjoyable if it doesn't leave you with lingering debt. So start preparing your extra revenue streams today and give yourself the gift of a happy, debt-free holiday. To learn more about how Coinstar can provide you the extra income you need this holiday season, visit www.coinstar.com. •

You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER: The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 888-988-6736 for information regarding the trustee's sale or visit this Internet Web site <http://www.qualityloan.com>, using the file number assigned to this foreclosure by the Trustee: CA-15-697709-BF. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale. PETSPETS Pets PETSPETS

Wowser Schnauzers

Bambi

We are looking for volunteers to help with our pet adoption fairs which are held every Saturday at the Petco located at 537 N. Pacific Coast Highway in Redondo Beach from noon-3: 30 p.m. If you are interested in volunteering and can commit to at least one Saturday a month, please contact us at info@msfr.org. You can also visit all of our Miniature Schnauzers & Friends rescues at the adoption fair or check out our website, www.msfr.org. If you have any questions about a particular dog's availability, you can email us at info@msfr.org. Schnauzers! Bet you can't adopt just one!

"Hi, my name is Bambi and I was named that because my huge, dark eyes are fringed with luxurious eyelashes. Well, that's what everyone is telling me but I'm not sure what luxurious means. I do have a lot of eyelashes though! I'm a three-year old, female purebred Miniature Schnauzer who wants to be your best friend and companion. I was rescued from an LA County shelter after I got lost and the shelter folks found me. They called me a stray, but I really just took a wrong turn when out for a walk. Someone was going to adopt me, but they must have changed their mind because no one ever came for me and I was so disappointed. I get along well with other dogs and I'm super nice to everyone because I enjoy having friends. I'm about 18 pounds, but I can assure you it's all sweetness and pure love. I know that once you see me, you'll just have to make me a member of your family." If you are interested in Bambi, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Let me introduce myself...I'm Eugene, a three-year old, male purebred Miniature Schnauzer. One night, my brother Banks and I decided to go for a walk and visit some pals. The next thing we knew, we were at an Inland Empire shelter and we were labeled as strays. So much for socialization! My brother found a great home, but I'm still looking for someone to share my life with. I love hanging out with other dogs and easily make friends. I'm only 21 pounds--so even though I'm big enough to play, I am also easily transportable. Originally the shelter folks said I was four years of age, but the general consensus is that I act more like a three-year-old than a four. If you're looking for a handsome guy to enrich your life, I definitely would be the perfect companion for you!" If you are interested in Eugene, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Did you know that the name Carly is of English origin and means "little and strong?" Well, I'm here to tell you that I have earned my name. I'm a one-year old, female, purebred Miniature Schnauzer. I have lovely natural ears that stand up and a natural plume of a tail. My favorite pastime is playing ball and if you want to play with me, I'll be your friend for life. I'm just a bit of gal--only 12-pounds--and that's why I'm skittish around small children. They just move too quickly to suit me. I was rescued from an LA County shelter after being brought in as a stray and that was quite an experience. They put a "caution" label on my kennel card because if I feel confronted by other dogs, I won't shy away. That said, I do get along fine with the submissive ones. When I'm with people, like my rescuers and my foster family, my true loving temperament shines through. I'm very sweet and good with people--but when I'm in unfamiliar territory, like the vet's, I have a tendency to stand my ground. I also have to admit that when I'm anxious, I can be a little bit of bully. So I think I would do best as an only dog in a home without children." If you are interested in Carly, please email info@msfr.org for more information.

"Hi there, I'm Eric! I'm a five-year old, male Miniature Schnauzer--and maybe Shih Tzu mix. It was kind of hard to tell what I was when I first arrived at an LA shelter as a stray because I was extremely neglected. In fact, I looked about five pounds heavier than my weight of 10 pounds with all the matting and my dreadlocks. As hard as they tried, I still had to be shaved down--but not to worry... my coat is growing in nicely. After a trip to the veterinarian for neutering, a dental (now my pearly whites really are) and breed evaluation, I'm ready to find a forever home. It was decided that since I'm a tiny guy with a bit of a longer body, definitely a non-shedder, the best guess is that I'm a Schnauzer/Shih Tzu mix! We're certain that I'm a real cutie who gets along great with other dogs and I'm a quiet little fellow." If you're interested in Eric, please email info@msfr.org for more information. • is prices rise in reaction to the inflationary pressure beneath them.

"With a greater fiscal stimulus proposed by Trump, the federal deficit is likely to rise and that is pushing interest rates, the dollar and ultimately inflation even higher," Schniepp said in a report released just days ago.

Inflation is averaging 1.1 percent nationwide and 1.9 percent in Southern California. The outlook for inflation was already higher for 2017 and 2018, despite which presidential candidate won. Full-employment economies and long expansions typically produce strains on existing resources, causing their prices to rise. With a greater fiscal stimulus proposed by Trump, the federal deficit is likely to rise and that is pushing interest rates, the dollar and ultimately inflation above three percent in a few years, according to current models.

The author of the California Report isn't worried about inflation breaking the three percent ceiling though. "I'd hardly consider it runaway inflation," he said.

The $64,000 Question

What does it all mean, and will you be better off in 2017 than in '16?

Your stress level won't be as high about losing a job and not being able to make the mortgage payment as it was 24 months ago. You'll pay more to borrow money for a house or a car, though, because of higher Treasury bond rates.

"However, because the stock market is at record levels, you should feel a lot wealthier," forecaster Schniepp said with a vote of confidence toward 2017. "Furthermore, your disposable income is likely to rise with the election promise of lower taxes. And because the unemployment rate is down to 4.6 percent, you are fully employed and your salary is rising anyway. This makes you feel much more secure about the future." •

Happy Tails

Congratulations to Lotus and her new family. Lotus battled stomatitis for eight months trying to save her teeth, but unfortunately a couple of weeks ago she had to have all her teeth removed. She and her folks met on the first day she was available--and even though they actually came to see Clay, they fell head over heels for this sweet gal. These long-time Schnauzer lovers, who recently lost their 16-year old Schnauzer, are the perfect match for Lotus. One of her dads works from home, so she'll have love and attention 24/7. After her long battle with her ailments, it truly is a "happy tail" for her with her health issues resolved and a home where she'll be adored. •
