Ali'i Fish Co. Brings Authentic Poke to LA's Mainland

Story and Photos by Chase Maser

Despite numerous businesses around El Segundo closing shop due to recent developments, Ali'i Fish Co.—located at 409 E. Grand Ave—keeps its doors open with a positive mindset.

Co-owners, Shane Yoshimoto, Justin Yamanouchi and Baron Miho have positivity and high spirits in their blood.

Growing up on the island of Oahu, Yoshimoto shares that commercial fishing and the fishing industry has always been a part of his life.

"We've all grown up with fishing and seafood in our lives and our diets," says Yoshimoto. "We came out here to show LA—and California—what we're all about. Over the years, we noticed this huge poke trend starting around the country, but it's not authentic to what it actually means to Hawaii."

Poke, which is a diced raw fish served over rice, is a traditional main course in Hawaiian culture. Using various ingredients, such as soy sauce, sesame oil, garlic, onions and sea salt (among many others), poke can take on many kinds of flavors that blend well with yellowfin tuna, ahi tuna and salmon. However, Yoshimoto explains how Americanized poke is miles away from the genuine experience.

"It's just not even close to the real thing. I've seen everything from blueberries to mangoes being used—just all kinds of stuff that represents inferior quality and the entire dish is compromised. Especially when poke places use frozen fish or packaged fish—the customer doesn't know what they're actually ordering and it gives Hawaiian culture a bad name in the end. And I get it, a business has to make money, but you know, it's personal to us and we want to show the people here what it really is."

Understanding the full scope of what goes into providing authentic poke at Ali'i Fish Co. means a lot more than ordering a simple meal. Altogether, there's a series of vital relationships that help maintain the entire process. Think of it as a seafood supply chain: local fishermen in Hawaii bring their haul to an auction, then wholesalers and the whole-suppliers handpick their fish and get them ready for shipment around the world. For Yoshimoto and his team, they fly in fresh fish every day into LAX and serve only the best selections to their customers in El Segundo.

"Everybody works so hard in our industry," says Yoshimoto, "and we want to honor them by providing the best service we can to the community. And with how things are going right now around the world, keeping that promise is important."

After launching Ali'i Fish Co. in October of 2018, the restaurant enjoyed a solid year of steady growth and building a positive reputation. But unfortunately, 2020 has proven to be a trying time for the startup.

"For us, the momentum started to shift when professional sports seasons shut down," Yoshimoto sighs.

Spaceship Earth Explores Two Years in Quarantine, For Science

By Morgan Rojas for Cinemacy.com

In 1991, eight biospherians made a commitment to live in a large, self-sustained terrarium for two years. The futuristic-looking dome was created as a prototype for colonies to live in space; should Earth become uninhabitable for any number of reasons, this experiment would either confirm or deny humans' ability for survival on another planet. In Matt Wolf's documentary Spaceship Earth, now streaming on Hulu, we are given an insider's look into this wild project that was created by scientific pioneers, brave humanitarians, and zany artists.

At the intersection of Art and Science is a man named John Allen aka Johnny Dolphin.

Spaceship Earth courtesy of Neon.

The San Francisco-dwelling artist is portrayed as a charismatic genius who easily could befriend other like-minded bohemians. After John and his newly formed community of outsiders decided to form a theatre troupe as an outlet for creative expression, John shifted his focus from public performances to visionary science. Concerned with the effects of climate change, and with the support of his troupe, John created the Biosphere 2. His idea was to replicate Earth's natural biosphere that would incorporate all atmospheres inside of a dome: a man-made rainforest, an ocean with living coral reef, and a desert, all curated with specific animals and plants to populate it. In theory, it was genius. But like all good sci-fi stories, things didn't go according to plan.

Spaceship Earth plays like a love child between A24's sci-fi drama High Life and the Netflix sensational cult series Wild Wild Country, with a little inspiration from NEON's The Biggest Little Farm mixed in. Supporters viewed Biosphere 2 as the search for the truth. Critics viewed it as trendy ecological entertainment, complete with matching red jumpsuits that looked like they came straight off of a Hollywood set. Rumors of John's cult-like behavior are a fascinating theme throughout the film, and while nothing is ever proven, if it actually was a cult, it was at the very least a force for good. In addition to the astonishing story, the archival video content and incredible time-lapse footage are breathtaking.

Watching Spaceship Earth in these times feels a bit ironic. I found myself thinking, why would anyone willingly quarantine for years!? However, there are similarities here as we continue to isolate from the outside world. Once the stay at home orders begin to lift and we're able to roam outside again, the Earth, as we knew it pre-COVID-19, will be changed. Hopefully for the better, but changed nonetheless, and it is up to us to keep our natural habitats happy, healthy, and thriving. •

Your Neighborhood Therapist

Dear Neighborhood Therapist,

My husband is driving me nuts. Every single day, he takes my slippers and puts them in the closet instead of leaving them at the bottom of the stairs. He moves the tissue from a nice out-of-the-way place to the middle of the kitchen and leaves it there. He uses a new towel every time he takes a shower and then tosses it in the dirty clothes pile without making any effort to do the laundry in a timely manner. He moves things around in the kitchen when he's looking for them, but doesn't replace them, and I feel like I spend hours looking for things that are suddenly no longer where I left them. He takes great credit for cooking occasionally, but then he leaves the kitchen looking like Hurricane Husband blew through. I clean as I cook, and it ends up being easier for me to cook AND clean. I love my husband very much for many reasons, but I feel that these differences are really growing and driving us apart. Is there anything that can be done about this?

- Quietly Fuming, El Segundo

Dear Quietly Fuming,

Imagine your relationship is a long walk down a beautiful trail. You've each got a very nice pair of hiking boots, but after a few miles you realize that your husband kicked up a pebble and now it's lodged in one of your boots. The pebble itself doesn't hurt very much and you could keep going, maybe for miles, but over time you know it could cause a serious blister or significant pain. For you, would the best thing to do be shaking out your boots out right away, even if it stops your momentum?

If these problems are like pebbles in a boot, then you will have to decide how many pebbles you can handle at once, and if it's worth it. Some of your problems may be solvable through compromise, but some require that one of you give in. Some won't have solutions. Even though it's pain, sometimes you have to stop and shake your boots out and get rid of the pebbles. You might have to do this every day. It might or might not be worth it to do this maintenance, but leaving the pebbles in your boots, or leaving the status quo, is more likely to cause bigger problems down the line.

There are no trails where pebbles don't get in your boots, and you will of course accidentally kick pebbles into your husband's boots, too. When you think about your relationship with your husband, ask yourself how many pebbles you can handle and have the journey still be worth it.

If you need help, or have the ability to help others, please reach out and I will coordinate. If you or someone you know needs to talk to someone, please reach out and I will take as many people as I can during this crisis, regardless of ability to pay. Please write to tom@tomandrecounseling.com or text to 310.776.5299 with questions about handling what is affecting your life, your family, the community or the world. Huber's Hiccups

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy named Norb Huber

ATTEND A CHURCH WITHOUT ATTENDING

So, you consider yourself a Christian but you don't attend a church. You are not into getting up on Sunday and driving to a house of worship where you don't know anyone. You're not a social person who likes to take a risk and meet new people. Well, during this "virus thing" time period you can check out a church, see if you like their worship service, listen to the pastor's sermon, and no one will know you were even there, except for Google who knows your every move. You won't have to slip out early to avoid getting a hug you from the nice, older lady greeter, oh that's right, I forgot, hugs are a thing of the past now. Every Sunday morning you can go online to do some "church hopping". You can catch worship services live on Facebook Live. You can go onto YouTube and search for churches in your area or the denomination that you used to attend Sunday school at back when your mother dragged you out of bed. If ever there was a time that we all needed a little bit of encouragement and hope, it's now. The longer this thing drags out, the more depressing it can be. The devil works in many ways. Discouragement and hopelessness is one way that Satan tries to bring us all down. But, there is hope; there is a truth that we can count on. Whenever God's Word is read and taught, the Holy Spirit works in us to help us see our sinful ways and leads us to repentance. It is then that the grace of God touches us and His forgiveness frees us to live and gives us strength to face every challenge that comes our way. God's Word triumphs over the devil, sin, discouragement, depression, despair, and even death. I am the outreach director at my church. If you are one of my loyal readers you know that I share my faith through this medium most every week. My expressions of faith may make you feel uncomfortable. Maybe you just don't want to think about God and sin and death and all of that other junk. Do I want you to feel guilty or bad, no? I just like to share what is going on in my life. I want to share a good thing that I've been blessed with. If my words help you, then great. If not, hit the delete button or throw me in the trash. I attend Holy Cross Lutheran Church of Rocklin, CA, which is 20 miles North of Sacramento. Our service is on Facebook Live starting at 9 a.m. on Sundays. You are invited to join us. Search holycrossrocklin.org to find our website or on Facebook. Pastor Todd Peperkorn conducts a "liturgical service", meaning we have a liturgy, a set order of worship, that we follow every Sunday. Some of you who may have attended a Catholic mass will recognize some resemblance. Public confession is normally at the start, with hymns, three biblical readings, a sermon, a congregational prayer, and a departing blessing, called a benediction, to conclude

STAY CONNECTED TO YOUR COMMUNITY!

With so many people staying home the majority of the time, the City of Hawthorne's social media accounts are flourishing with many recent followers. At the end of April, our city just reached 1,000 followers on Instagram! If you are unfamiliar with Instagram, this is a free downloadable phone application where you are able to connect with people around the world via image sharing. The City of Hawthorne has an Instagram page that is full of helpful information and resources. It also serves as a platform where residents can communicate and share helpful information with one another regarding current events in and around our city. If you would like to support your city's following, download the Instagram application from your cell phone's application store, create a free account using any user name you would like to use, then follow them by searching their Instagram name "@cityofhawthorneca" in the search area (tap the magnifying glass symbol at the bottom of your screen with your finger). If you are looking for a platform where you can connect with your own neighborhood, NextDoor is the way to go! This is a website or application where you can write posts for neighbors in your area to see and respond to. You can also write comments on the posts of your neighbors if you would like to respond to anything they are sharing with the community! If you would like to create a free account, sign up at NextDoor.com. These are two helpful ways of staying connected with the people around you in the city of good neighbors.

WE ARE IN THIS TOGETHER

With the situation of COVID-19 spreading throughout our communities, we would like to remind you that there is nothing more powerful than to continue to have a quest for positivity. In these times especially, staying positive and having a clear mind will be key for us as a community to stay together and keep up the good fight. "Before then, I finally started getting my nights off and days off, and then it was literally that day, when the NBA shut down, that I knew I'd be back onsite every day. And it's frustrating, but, you know, we're so appreciative of everybody that's been supporting us from the beginning, and if we're able to survive this, hopefully, we can come back stronger and better."

To offset the recent challenges, the restaurant has had to make some changes in order to stay lean and agile over the coming months.

For instance, Yoshimoto has been able to retain his entire staff, but their hours each week have decreased. In terms of daily fish shipments, they order less products and focus on serving their top performing dishes, like poke bowls and poke tacos.

"It's so unknown, right? That's a scary thing. I mean, with fresh fish, you only have a few days of shelf life, and right now, nobody's eating expensive sushi or anything, which causes the markets to tank worldwide. So that's why we have to reprioritize our best performing dishes, ramp up take-out orders and do deliveries whenever possible," says Yoshimoto.

In fact, if anyone places an order over $30, Yoshimoto will deliver it himself in his own truck.

"I just grab my truck and drop it off, you know—just trying to do whatever we can. We're in survival mode right now, and I'm sure a lot of people feel that way."

Each day is a battle, but with their Hawaiian roots and a strong passion to spread their culture, Ali'i Fish Co. believes in El Segundo and its resiliency to forge ahead.

"One of the reasons why we've been so successful here is because of the amazing word-of-mouth marketing," Yoshimoto says proudly.

"The town has embraced us, and we'll always do whatever we can to serve them."

He doesn't need us to worship him, God wants to bless us, enrich us, encourage us, and save us. It would be great if you took the time to find a worship service to check out this Sunday. HOME IMPROVEMENT

Now that I'm 65 years young, I can't refer to my dear wife as my ol' lady any more. She didn't mind me referring to her as my OL when we were younger, but now it's not so funny when reality sets in for both of us. Like many of us "sheltering in place" people, we have tackled a few home improvement projects that have kept us occupied. Linda wanted to have our master bathroom remodeled so she has overseen that major project being the general contractor overseeing all of the work of the many specialty tradesmen. My #2 son-in-law, who really was #1 but was replaced when my youngest got hooked up, came over and helped me convert part of our three car garage to a home office which I'm utilizing as I write this. The office construction has taken most of the past two month's weekends. In addition it has been great to plant some vegetables out back in our small garden. Home Depot and Lowes have been busy all during this time. It's great to have the time to work on our homes. It's great to have the time to spend together with our family. Look at the positive, look for ways to help, look for a cold one and relax. That's all we can do, be happy my friends.

Morgan Wood is Thankful in So Many Ways

By Gregg McMullin

At first glance, Morgan Wood looks to be like most teenage girls preparing for graduation and into the next phase of her life. She is a bright, athletic, and outgoing and has plenty of friends. There's also the Morgan, who has a plan for her future, and a pathway planned to prepare herself. On the verge of graduating from high school, many seniors have interests that steer them in many different directions. For Morgan, she is focused on the big picture, and with a 4.0 GPA, she is on plenty of Academic Honor Rolls.

Morgan admits that staying in touch with her teachers and classmates during this time of uncertainty has been a challenge. But she says, everyone adapts to their surroundings. She does miss the personal interaction but stays connected with social media outlets. "I've been doing my schoolwork each day online and staying connected with my teachers to make sure I make the most out of online school."

Morgan says that her high school experience has been special and she's met life-long friends along the way. Over her four years, she has enjoyed a successful academic career. She says there isn't one particular class she likes more than another because they've all been great. "I couldn't choose a favorite class because all of my classes and teachers this year have been incredible! Each class is great in its own way."

Presently her immediate goals are applying her success in the classroom and working on her scholarship awards for college. As for her future goals, it is to maintain her stellar grades through the end of the school year. She'd like to transition her success to college in the fall and get the most out of her college experience. "Academically, I've been on the honor roll each year since middle school and push myself in my classes every year."

Morgan will be attending Liberty University in Lynchburg, Virginia, a highly respected Division 1 University. She will be majoring in Business Administration with an emphasis in Digital Marketing and Advertising. She intends to play lacrosse and will have the opportunity to play women's lacrosse for the Flames. She could be an impact player for a program on the rise.

Morgan is not only accomplished in the classroom, but she's one of the school's top athletes too. She was a standout on the soccer team but excelled in lacrosse. She's been playing lacrosse since she was a little girl thanks in part to her father. "My family has always been very invested in the lacrosse community here." She recalled, "I started playing when I was around six and have loved it ever since. I've played on a club lacrosse team since 7th grade, and that grew my love and skill for lacrosse even more!"

Her dad Steve, who goes by Woody, is responsible for introducing lacrosse to El Segundo and the high school. Woody's lacrosse credentials are impressive. He was an All-American lacrosse player at West Point and the head coach at Pepperdine and Loyola Marymount universities before starting boys and girl's lacrosse in the South Bay in 2005. He is on the city's Youth Sports Council as President of the lacrosse association.

Morgan says her sister Kelsey was a big influence and made her a better player over the years. Kelsey won the Jackie Pitts Award as a senior in high school in 2015. The award recognizes a graduating senior in each area who is an exceptional player and invested in the development of the game in her community. When Kelsey became the ESMS lacrosse coach, her sister Morgan stood out, and Morgan's drive for excellence helped develop her teammates.

Kelsey was an all-league player for the Eagles and Morgan followed in her footsteps. "I've been a starter on my varsity lacrosse team since my freshman year." She won the Ocean League Offensive Player of The Year in her sophomore and junior years. She was selected captain for the second year in a row. This season she helped her team to be ranked ninth in the CIF. When the season was cut short, Morgan was on pace to break the school scoring record set by her sister Kelsey.

Morgan followed her sister's passion for giving back and started coaching at the ESMS as a freshman and sophomore with her father. As a junior and senior, she was the head coach, as well as guiding the K-5th grade teams. She leaves a legacy knowing she has helped make a difference and the continued interest in lacrosse.

Morgan was an integral part of her class and was involved in the ASB throughout her four years at El Segundo high school. What Morgan will miss most about graduating is the team aspect of playing high school sports. "I loved the business of the school year, trying to balance schoolwork, work, practice, and games."

Morgan is also thankful for her high school experience that is winding down to the last few weeks. She has made the most of her four years in high school and says her teachers and the coaches were terrific. "ESHS does an amazing job of providing great coaches for every sports team." She added that the teachers are so amazing and take a personal interest in their student's successes.

What got Morgan through the ups and downs of high school was meeting some of the incredible friends through the teams she played on. "My teammates have been the greatest support system, and I'm so grateful for the memories we've made over the past four years."

Morgan summed up her thoughts by thanking her family, friends and the community who helped shape the person she is today. •

LEONARDO RAYA
CASE NO. 20STPB03404

To all heirs, beneficiaries, creditors, contingent creditors, and persons who may otherwise be interested in the WILL or estate, or both of LEONARDO RAYA.

A PETITION FOR PROBATE has been filed by NODALIS RAYA in the Superior Court of California, County of LOS ANGELES.

THE PETITION FOR PROBATE requests that NODALIS RAYA be appointed as personal representative to administer the estate of the decedent.

THE PETITION requests authority to administer the estate under the Independent Administration of Estates Act. (This authority will allow the personal representative to take many actions without obtaining court approval. Before taking certain very important actions, however, the personal representative will be required to give notice to interested persons unless they have waived notice or consented to the proposed action.) The independent administration authority will be granted unless an interested person files an objection to the petition and shows good cause why the court should not grant the authority.

A HEARING on the petition will be held in this court as follows: 09/21/20 at 8:30AM in Dept. 99 located at 111 N. HILL ST., LOS ANGELES, CA 90012

IF YOU OBJECT to the granting of the petition, you should appear at the hearing and state your objections or file written objections with the court before the hearing. Your appearance may be in person or by your attorney. IF YOU ARE A CREDITOR or a contingent creditor of the decedent, you must file your claim with the court and mail a copy to the personal representative appointed by the court within the later of either (1) four months from the date of first issuance of letters to a general personal representative, as defined in section 58(b) of the California Probate Code, or (2) 60 days from the date of mailing or personal delivery to you of a notice under section 9052 of the California Probate Code.

Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney knowledgeable in California law. YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. Summary of Adoption of Ordinance No. 2201, Amending Title 1 (General Provisions), Title 15 (Buildings and Construction) and Title 17 (Zoning) of the Hawthorne Municipal Code to Provide Additional Enforcement Strategies to Address Delinquent Fines, Zoning Violations and Continuing Violations of the Hawthorne Municipal Code Pursuant to Government Code section 36933(c), the following constitutes a summary of Ordinance No. 2201 which will be considered for adoption by the City Council at its regular meeting on May 26, 2020 at 6:00 p.m. Pursuant to California Government Code section 36933(c) (1), the City Council has previously directed the preparation and publication of a summary of Ordinance No. 2201 which amends Title 1 (General Provisions), Title 15 (Buildings and Construction) and Title 17 (Zoning) of the Hawthorne Municipal Code to provide staff with additional enforcement strategies such as City withholding of permits and adding application considerations to address delinquent fines, zoning violations and continuing violations of the Hawthorne Municipal Code.

Changes to Title 1 (General Provisions): A new Section 1.23.020A would be added to read: "The City may, in its sole discretion, withhold permits, entitlements, licenses, except those issued for revenue purposes only, to a responsible party for a project, property or application of any kind whenever administrative penalties or administrative costs are delinquent." A new Section 1.23.020B (Enforcement) would be added to read as follows: "The City may, in its sole discretion, withhold permits, entitlements, licenses, except those issued for revenue purposes only, to a responsible party for a project, property or application of any kind whenever administrative fines remain unpaid."

Changes to Title 15 (Buildings and Structures): A new Chapter 15.75 (Enforcement) would be added to Title 15 (Buildings and Structures) of the Hawthorne Municipal Code to read as follows: "It shall be the duty of the Director of Building and Safety, with respect to new construction, additions, alterations, changes of use or moving of existing buildings, to enforce this title by withholding of permits and Certificates of Occupancy where plan checks and field inspections reveal that completion of the project will result in a zoning violation. A Certificate of Occupancy shall not be issued until all work required by the building official and all other conditions imposed by a department head, commission, committee or other authority have been completed or satisfactorily met, including, but not limited to, bonding. After a Certificate of Occupancy has been issued, and with respect to existing construction and all other sources of violations, it shall be the duty of the Department of Building and Safety to enforce this title. In addition, all departments, officials and public employees of the City of Hawthorne vested with the duty or authority to issue permits or licenses shall conform to the provisions of this title and shall issue no permit or license, except licenses issued for revenue purposes only, for uses, buildings or purposes in conflict with the provisions of this title; and any such permit or license issued in conflict with the provisions of this title shall be null and void."

Changes to Title 17 (Zoning): A new subsection (I) to Section 17.06.030 (Zoning Application) would be added to read as follows: "Withholding of Applications. The Planning Department may refuse to accept any application for a permit or other entitlement from any person for a project, property, building, or structure who has either: (a) unpaid fines, liens or assessments; or (b) is the subject of uncorrected violations affecting health and safety, as demonstrated by administrative citations or other pending civil or criminal action. This section shall not apply to applications for permits necessary to obtain compliance with the Hawthorne Municipal Code, although the City may place conditions on such application, permit and/or entitlement in such circumstances." A new subsection (J) to Section 17.06.030 (Zoning Application) would be added to read as follows:

"Application Considerations. The City may take into consideration the fact that a person or property has been issued citations when the City is determining whether to grant a land use approval and such citations are evidence that the person has committed acts, or the property had conditions, that are not compatible with the health, safety and general welfare of other persons and businesses in the vicinity."

Environmental Review: The proposed Ordinance to the Hawthorne Municipal Code is not a project subject to the California Environmental Quality Act (CEQA) in accordance with Section 21065 of CEQA and State CEQA Guidelines Sections 15060 (c)(2), 15060 (c)(3), and 15378, and is exempt from CEQA as defined in CEQA Guidelines section 15378, Section 15061 (b)(3) (general rule) and 15321 "Enforcement Actions by Regulatory Agencies" (Class 21). The proposed Ordinance has no significant effect on the environment nor does it have any potential for resulting in either a direct or reasonably foreseeable indirect physical change in the environment because the amendments to the Hawthorne Municipal Code merely provide an additional enforcement tool for staff when presented with applications pertaining to persons or properties with Municipal Code violations and/or delinquent fines, penalties or costs.

A certified copy of the entirety of the text of Ordinance No. 2201 is available both on the City's website and also in the office of the City Clerk, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, and is open for public inspection. Pursuant to Government Code section 36933(c), the summary Ordinance No. 2201 was published at least five (5) days before the ordinance was considered for adoption on March 26, 2020 at a duly convened regular meeting of the Hawthorne City Council. Mediterranean Fish Soup

Provided by Brandpoint

Prep Time 10 Minutes • Total Time 30 Minutes
Serves 6 People

Mussels, halibut and shrimp flavored with chicken broth and white wine makes an outstanding fish soup that's ready from the start in 30 minutes.

Ingredients

- 2 tablespoons olive oil
- 1 large sweet onion, chopped (about 2 cups)
- 1/4 cup dry white wine or Swanson Chicken Broth
- 4 cups Swanson® Vegetable Broth or Swanson® Organic Vegetable Broth or Swanson® Chicken Broth or Swanson® Organic Chicken Broth
- 1 can (14 1/2 ounces) diced tomatoes, undrained
- 24 mussel, scrubbed and beards removed
- 1 pound firm white fish fillet (cod, haddock, or halibut), cut into 1-inch pieces
- 1/2 pound fresh or thawed frozen large shrimp, peeled and deveined
- 2 tablespoons shredded fresh basil leaves

Directions

- Step 1: Heat the oil in a 6-quart saucepot over medium heat. Add the onion and cook until it's tender.
- Step 2: Add the wine and cook for 1 minute. Stir in the broth and tomatoes and heat to a boil. Reduce the heat to low. Add the mussels, fish and shrimp. Cover and cook until the mussels open, the fish flakes easily when tested with a fork and the shrimp are cooked through. Discard any mussels that do not open. Season as desired. Garnish with the basil.

Recipe Tips

- Select mussels with tightly closed shells or shells that snap shut when lightly tapped. Avoid mussels with broken shells.

Serving Suggestion

- Serve with French bread rolls. For dessert serve with cherry cobbler.

Woof! The name Chato...I'm a male 5 year old pit bull mix. I am a little shy but I am optimistic that I can find a gentle friend that is perfect for me! I know I will make a warm and (obviously) handsome partner. Some yummy treats and kind ear scratches really get my tail going. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=20-02810>

Meow! My name is Dizzy and I am a small 8 month old female domestic short hair kitty, who is looking for my very own Friend for Life. The rest of my siblings have been adopted and now it is my turn! I will make a great co-worker while you work from home. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=20-03201>

Hello, humans! My name is Dobie and I am a 3 year old male Pit Bull mix looking for my forever home. I have a beautiful smile and know I can make you smile, too! While I am here, I am working on some basic commands. I require to live in a home with no other dogs. <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=20-01591>

Howdy, I'm a sweet kitty named Kit Kat. I am a 3 year old female domestic shorthair. I have a luxurious calico coat. I'm looking for my Friend for Life. Could that be you? I enjoy getting attention from my human friends. Right when you pet me I become a purr machine. Come and see if we are a match! <https://spcala.com/adoptable/pet/?ss=20-02858> •

Happy Tails

Jeremy was 4 months old when he was brought to the spcaLA South Bay Pet Adoption Center. He was an instant hit with the staff with his good looks and sweet disposition. Jeremy needed surgery on his back leg, a Femoral Head Osteotomy surgery, to repair a fractured femoral. He made it through with full force, ready to take on the world! Jeremy spent time in a foster home to recover from his big surgery. Little did he know, he had a family waiting for him to heal so that they could bring him to his forever home. •

Congratulations to Jeremy and his new family.
