South Bay Entrepreneurs Simplify Baby-Feeding

El Segundo residents Brandon and Lauren Stuart are co-founders of the innovative bokee bottle-feeding accessory product, which allows a parent to hold a young child or multi-task while quickly filling a bottle or sippy cup. Not quite hands-free bottle prep, but a definite, innovative step in the right direction.

The Stuart's are proud parents of 3 1/2-year-old twins, Owen and Elodie, who were born prematurely, at 32 months. After the birth of the children, the family decided that what was best for the Stuart family was for Lauren to not return to her job at Google, where she presided over sales strategies and did research on the "entertainment side of things," and become a stay-at-home Mom.

Brandon, who has a background working as a creative director and marketer, said he is always brainstorming ideas to make an existing product or idea better. Said Lauren: "Ever since I have known him (they started dating in 2007), he almost has... too many ideas."

Brandon said that, while participating in the bottle-feeding process for his young twins, he thought that "there has to be a better way to facilitate a process that young parents might be doing ten times a day."

So, he and friend Andrew Doan, who were, said Lauren, attending a bachelor party at the time, powwowed. Sure, why not, what else would you do at a bachelor party other than to brainstorm ideas about seamlessly securing baby bottles?

Doan, works in the tech industry, in Northern California with wife Nicole and children, said teaming with the Stuarts to develop the bokee has been a process he relishes, citing a "fantastic collaboration. My relationship with the Stuart's has been an incredible journey of playing-up our strengths," he said. "My family's technical depth married with the Stuart's brand and storytelling."

Doan's second child was born on the same August day that the Stuart twins arrived, and he was going through many of the same child-rearing tribulations as Stuart was. Doan's background is in engineering and was a childhood friend of Stuart's youngest brother Brady, who lives in El Segundo and works as an assistant equipment manager for the Los Angeles Lakers.

The two fathers pooled their collective entrepreneurial thoughts, and the bokee prototype was developed, with Lauren being chief prototype tester.

Here is how the product works: First, push the bokee down on a smooth and dry countertop. It then suctions to the tabletop surface. Then, you place the bottle or sippy cup into the bokee, and apply gentle pressure as you loosen or tighten the bottle as needed. A substantial upgrade tool in the way youngsters have been fed since the first baby bottle was invented in 1841. And if you do not happen to have children who necessitate bottle-feeding or sippy cups, Lauren said the bokee makes a perfect beer can or beer bottle holder. So, there is that option.

The bokee hit the market in late September of 2019 and was recently recognized by the Junior Products Membership Association (JPMA), which touts innovative baby and children's products, as the 2020 "best product under $25." Brandon said he was overwhelmed by the JPMA selection, saying that it was "one of the top-three moments for us, because we are such a small team." He said the co-founders "raised a celebratory glass," though it has not been discerned if they secured the glass in a bokee prior to the start of the celebration.

Like Unexpected Plot Twists? Then You'll Love The Painter and the Thief

Morgan Rojas for cinemacy.com

Czech naturalist painter Barbora Kysilkova has a distinct circle tattoo between her shoulder blades; it's a foreshadowing that shows that the truth is oftentimes much stranger than fiction.

Executive produced by famed documentarian Morgan Neville (Won't You Be My Neighbor, 20 Feet From Stardom) and released by NEON (Parasite, Portrait of a Lady on Fire), The Painter and the Thief

After tracking down Karl-Bertil Nordland—the man who stole two beloved oil paintings from her exhibition in an Oslo art gallery—Barbora asks if she can paint his portrait. Troubled, yet determined to make amends, Karl-Bertil agrees and becomes Barbora's muse, sparking a platonic love no one expected.

Directed by Benjamin Ree, The Painter and the Thief is a humble documentary that tells a story of not just solving a mystery, but the evolution of compassion and humankind. There is no reliance on a show-stopping score or narration; Ree and his camera act as a fly on the wall, intimately capturing these moments in a charming, home video-like fashion. By shifting perspectives throughout the film, the painter—Kysilkova—and the thief—Nordland—each have an equal opportunity to share their story from their point

Huber's Hiccups

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy named Norb Huber

ATTEND A CHURCH WITHOUT ATTENDING KEEP IT SHORT

People don't like to read long, boring blogs, so I am bound and determined to keep this week's Hiccups shorter and not do so much rambling and blabbering. Maybe this will be the new norm, or new Norb. My sister's name is Norma. She has always been normal, I have not. Maybe I will be the new abnormal. Who says we have to be normal? If I have been stupid in the past, can't I just continue to be stupid after we come out of whatever this thing is we are in? They can't force me to be sensible and thoughtful, they can't take my right to be stupid away. My right to act stupid has been given to me by God and protected by that thing called the Bill of Rights. They can lock me down, they can tell me to wear a mask, they can tell me not to get close to anyone, but I can still choose to be happy, write crazy stuff, and have a cold one. My loyal readers like me much better when I'm off the wall. Too many people are writing about heavy stuff these days. My last few week's postings have been too serious. We need some fun. We need some laughter. We need baseball to return. We need to look forward to taking a summer vacation. We need to take our mind off of this whole mess and live. That's it! Short and to the point! I was able to get a cold one and God in there. Wow! I saved a couple of trees. Now, start your new abnormal by really living and enjoying life.

LOS ANGELES BROWNS

I learned some baseball trivia this past week. Did you know that the St. Louis Browns baseball team was ready to move to Los Angeles in December of 1941? Yes, that was 17 years prior to the Dodgers coming to town. The Major League Baseball owners were meeting in Chicago to take a vote to approve the move on December 7, 1941. The Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor changed everything. None of the owners voted approve the move and the Browns eventually became the Baltimore Orioles of the American League. If it were not for the fateful attack, the baseball landscape would have been dramatically different. Hopefully the Boys in Blue will be able to play ball soon, maybe in front of an empty Dodger Stadium. At least we won't have to fight the traffic and pay for parking. We'll have to have our Dodger Dogs on our own barbeque, of course along with a cold one. Go Giants!

Summary of Proposed Ordinance 2197

On May 26, 2020 at 6:00 p.m., the City of Hawthorne is considering the adopting of Ordinance No. 2197, a proposed ordinance adopting by Reference the 2019 Editions Of The California Building Standards Code, California Residential Code, California Electrical Code, California Plumbing Code, California Mechanical Code, California Existing Building Code, California Green Building Standards Code, California Energy Code, California Administrative Code, California Historical Building Code, And 1997 Uniform Code For The Abatement Of Dangerous Buildings; Adopting Local Amendments To The Referenced Codes; And Adding Chapters 15.07 (Administrative Code), 15.13 (Energy Code), 15.30 (Historical Building Code) And 15.46 (Uniform Code For Abatement Of Buildings And Repealing And Re-Enacting Chapters 15.04, 15.05, 15.08, 15.24, 15.28, 15.32, 15.36, And 15.40, & Repealing All Prior Editions Of The California Building Code Previously Adopted By The City Council.

Pursuant to California Government Code section 36933(c)(1), the City Council has directed the preparation and publication of a summary of Ordinance No. 2197 as follows:

Ordinance No. 2197 regulates and governs the conditions and maintenance of all property, buildings and structures by providing the standards essential to ensure that structures are safe, sanitary and fit for occupation and use. The ordinance adopts and modifies 2019 edition of California Building Code to the greater requirements than those set forth in California State Building Standards and reasonably necessary for the local climatic, geological, or topographical conditions. The said modifications are required due to the local geological conditions that include major earthquake faults and assure that new buildings are constructed in accordance with the scope and objectives of the International Building Code. This includes requiring more than the conventional framing requirements.

The ordinance also adopts in full the 2019 editions of the California Mechanical Code, Plumbing Code, Electrical Code, Existing Building Code, Residential Code, California Energy Code, California Administrative Code, California Historical Building Code, 1997 Uniform Code for the Abatement of Dangerous Buildings and California Green Standards Building Code. The aforementioned codes together with certain amendments, deletions, exceptions, and qualifications, generally deal with all aspects of building construction, specification of building materials, plumbing design, water supply and drainage systems, approved construction and plumbing techniques, electrical specifications, engineering formulas to be utilized during building design, fire safety systems for residential buildings, retrofitting techniques, energy conservation techniques, and special requirements dealing with fire and seismic safety.

In addition to adopting the various Codes set forth above, this Ordinance adopts certain fees and penalties.

A certified copy of the entirety of the text of Ordinance 2197, together with the Codes to be adopted thereby, are available in the office of the City Clerk, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, and is open for public inspection. Hawthorne Press Tribune Pub. 5/21/20 HH-26771

Jonny Felker Reaching His Goals

By Gregg McMullin

The El Segundo high school class of 2020 is just a few weeks from graduating. I've had the opportunity to meet some of the class' top students and athletes. Jonny Felker is not only one of his class' top students scholastically but a standout runner on the cross country team and is an Eagle Scout.

Jonny Felker heads to the University of Utah in the fall with his 4.5 GPA

Jonny is one of those extraordinary individuals who have leadership qualities to go along with a strong work ethic to achieve his goals. He has had tremendous success in the classroom and is helped motivated by his desire to be the best he can be. During this time of on-line classroom learning he says, "Staying current with all of my classes is really tough. It's harder to focus at home, so homework takes longer than it should. You just have to force yourself to not be distracted until whatever assignment is finished."

Naturally Jonny misses his friends as on-line schooling prevails and says, "It's weird from seeing your friends everyday, then going immediately to not seeing them at all. So, I miss seeing all the people I went to classes with." He says he stays in touch with social media outlets and the old fashioned way, the telephone.

Jonny's success in the classroom has translated into one of the tops in his class. He has a 4.5 GPA with three AP classes that has made it a challenge. During the week of finals he found it necessary to block out all distractions to concentrate. He says that his favorite class this year is, "Biomed with Mrs. Tucker. It's easily my less stressful class. I had a really good table of classmates which makes it that much better."

With Jonny's leadership skills, personality and his high standing in his class he was selected as an OSS cabin leader. He was in charge of 11 sixth graders for a week and admits at times it was a challenge. His brother Mathew was a camp leader as a junior and senior so he wanted to follow in his footsteps. "While we were up there, we were working basically the whole day. It was always super rewarding when they'd just say how cool I was out of nowhere." It was an experience he says he'll never forget.

With his grades Jonny could attend just about any University in the country. He will attend the University of Utah in the fall majoring in Biology. He says ultimately he'd like to be a doctor and has an interest in Anesthesiology. "I feel like I would be good at that. I've also looked into physical therapy as a backup."

Jonny has had many influential people in his life. He says his father, brother, his cross country coach and two cousins Brandon and Bryce have all had a part in who he has become and what his future is shaping up to be.

His father, Todd, was in Boy Scouts as a boy growing up and made it to the rank of Life Scout. Only a family tragedy prevented him from becoming an Eagle Scout. Todd says it was important for him to see that his sons reach the pinnacle of Scouting. Jonny says some of his best memories were Scout camping trips with his father. His Eagle Project was building a large shed for the Friends of the LAX dunes which restore the areas between the airport and the beach. Jonny's project taught him how to lead a group of people, organization and planning.

He says his cousin Brandon, a former Air Force Thunderbird pilot, was someone he looked up to. At family gatherings Brandon would encourage him to be the best he could be in whatever he decided. His cousin Bryce, who is a few years older than Jonny, is also interested in going into the medical field. "He's been able to tell me a lot about what I can expect in the near future." Jonny's brother Mathew was a big influence since they went through scouting together and achieved their Eagle rank the same year.

Jonny got into running thanks to his P.E. teacher in his sophomore year. There was a run each week and Jonny impressed his teacher so much he related his thoughts to the cross country and track coach Marcos Bolanos. Coach Bolanos talked to Jonny and the rest is history.

Jonny started his cross country as a junior. "Cross country changed my life a ton since I joined. I think the biggest lesson I learned was how to set and work towards long term goals as well as dealing with failure." At the start of each season, for track and cross country, the whole team would do goal setting. For cross country Jonny's goals were less time-focused and more aimed at becoming a better runner in general. On the other hand his track goals were much more defined.

In his first season running cross country as a junior Jonny was named the team's Most Valuable Runner. He says it wasn't something he envisioned but something he takes pride in since it was an award voted on. As a senior he was one of the team's top seven runners.

See Jonny Felker, page 7

Jonny Felker saved his best for his last race. He bettered his 3200 meter time by 23 seconds.

The Stuart's have lived in El Segundo for eight years. Brandon's sister Taryn has been a resident of Candy Cane Lane for more than a decade, which is how he came to know the unique charms of El Segundo. Asked what brought them to settle in El Segundo, Brandon said that, other than the family connection, he had lived in different locales in the Los Angeles area, and that "this is the only place that feels like a community, and is a great place to raise a family."

Brandon, who is from Santa Clarita, currently works as an executive creative director for a San Diego company, mostly telecommuting from home or working at the local Uinta office-sharing building. He has also had stints working for DreamWorks and E! Entertainment.

A couple of his other brainstorms have recently become a reality. He has launched two ventures, including a tech reservation platform that is relevant now with the advent of necessary social-distancing, and a dog-food subscription service.

Lauren, a University of Texas graduate, moved to the Los Angeles area near her brother, who had suffered the loss of his best friend who had suddenly died. Brandon and Lauren were married in 2012.

Lauren wears many hats in the business as the brand gets established in the marketplace. She works on brand partnerships, manages social media engagement sites, handles advertising, customer service, and even ships the product out to customers.

She said that while she "always wanted to be a stay-at-home Mom," returning to the workforce has been "refreshing," allowing her to utilize her sales and marketing skills without leaving the house. Working on the product launch, "reminded me that I was smart," she said.

"I am so thankful," she said, noting how she can utilize her entrepreneurial skills while being constantly present for her children during their formative years.

The Stuarts have invested their own money in the product and may look down the road at expanding the potential uses of the bokee. Lauren said that she had been contacted by people in the occupational therapy field who see applications for the bokee for stroke victims, people with arthritis, and those living with impacted motor functions. She said that the first production run of the product contained some flaws which did not allow them to go straight to the marketplace, so the Stuart's donated more than 500 units to the Amputee Coalition.

Said Lauren of the bokee venture, "If we make money, great, but we want to (just) help people, help parents." •

Of the five varsity races he competed in he bettered his time in four of those races. He helped the Eagles advance to the California CIF State Cross Country Championships.

At the cross country awards banquet Coach Bolanos awarded Jonny the Coach's Award. It is in recognition of the runner who has improved the most, the hardest working runner and displays the most positive attitude on the team.

When Jonny decided to run track he focused on the distance events. He would set a time to aim for in his 1600 and 3200 meter races. About halfway through his sophomore year he ran a 5:39 1600 meter race with a goal of 5:30. As a junior at the end of the cross country season he ran a 5:12 during a time trial so of he set a goal of breaking 5 minutes. During his junior year he ran a time of 5:02. "I was just short of my goal but on the bright side, in one of my favorite races, I hit my 3200 goal with a time of 10:58."

As a senior Jonny was looking to accomplish his goals he'd set for himself. To add to his motivation Coach Bolanos announced it would be his last year teaching. This was the day before the Palos Verdes dual meet in which he was running the 1600. "I took my dad's advice and didn't start out too fast." In his previous races Jonny's first lap was always 10 seconds faster than his target pace was. "I would end up having a really slow mid-race, which would mess up my time."

Going into the second lap he was in dead last but was exactly on pace to go 5:00. He did that exact same thing for two more laps. He passed two big groups of runners who had slowed down from their first lap pace and Jonny came into the last lap feeling great. "I went all out and came in with the timer showing 4:55. This was by far my most triumphant moment." In the final meet of the season, before the Corona Virus shutdown all sports, Jonny bettered his 3200 meter goal by 23 seconds.

Jonny says he accomplished his goals he set out to do before it ended. He says running cross country and track for Coach Bolanos changed his life by making him more confident. "Knowing that I've made it through a ton of insanely hard workouts and races will serve as a reminder of what I'm capable of."

With graduation on the horizon he'll miss having a team to run with. He says, "It's much easier to improve when other people are holding you accountable." He's challenging himself these days by training for his first marathon. If all goes to plan, Jonny will accomplish another one of his goals when he crosses the finish line. • remind her foster mom in case she forgets. The beautiful cuddler will lie by you on the sofa and snuggle with you in bed in the mornings.

Beauty is a precious girl and a joy to have around. As long you provide her with some cuddle time, wet food, cat toys and a comfortable place to nap, she is a happy girl. But first,

Zahra with her pretty golden eyes is the sweetest tabby you could hope to meet. She love to play and snuggle with other kitties. Zahra also likes sitting right on top of the door and at the top of the cat tower where she can watch the world go by. She loves getting wet food twice a day but her favorite time is treat time after dinner and she will meow to you must earn her trust. She loves to play, wrestle and nap with her foster sister, Ebony. It is fun to watch them chase one another up and down the cat tree and across the living room. In between play sessions, they like to bask in the sun and watch birds through the window. Beauty and Ebony are a bonded pair and are eager to find a forever home that will give them both lots of love.

Ebony is a sassy, feisty little girl that loves attention and purrs loudly in appreciation when she gets it. She is a confident kitten with a funny little personality. Ebony likes to keep herself busy playing, wrestling with her foster sister, Beauty, and cuddling with her human. Ebony is bonded with Beauty so she needs a forever home that will adopt them together. If you are interested in meeting Beauty and Ebony, her foster mom is happy to arrange a playdate.

This sibling dynamic duo cannot wait to come home with you! Woody and Buzzie are playful and enjoy having toys! These two were rescued from the pound as kittens, but after being in their home for a year and a half, their mom sadly lost her home and was no longer able to care for them. They enjoy pets and attention, but it will take them a while to acclimate to a new home, so patience is essential. Once they do get used to their new home, they eat well, like attention and enjoy having you wave the string on a stick around. Woody and Buzzie’s ideal home would be a quieter one with someone who is patient and is ready to make a commitment to them, so they don’t lose their home again.

Lola is a sweet girl with an expressive face who loves playing with string, hiding under

Buzzie

She would not mind living with another cat or kitten who was very laid back and would give her space and time to come to them. However, Lola would be quite content as your only kitty. Despite her tough-cat act, Lola loves the good life inside with comfy, warm beds, lots of food, and humans all around.

Saving one animal won’t change the world, but the world will surely change for that animal. • the blankets, looking out the window, and sitting on laps. Because she is so smart and food motivated, Lola has learned some tricks! She was traumatized by her first adopter who tried to drag her around on a rope and carried her in a bag. Lola needs a home with an experienced cat person who can be patient with her and allow her to learn to trust again.
