Inglewood’s Council Celebrates New Reforms for College Athletes

By Haleemon Anderson

The Inglewood City Council recognized Senator Stephen Bradford at last week’s meeting, congratulating him as one of the authors of SB260, the controversial bill signed into California law by Governor Gavin Newsom. “California is the first state to allow athletes to make money from their efforts. This is long overdue,” said Mayor James T. Butts.

“SB206 is landmark legislation. It’s going to change college athletics, for the positive,” said Bradford. He added that concerns of lawsuits from the NCAA or the professionalizing of amateur sports are overblown. “This is not what this bill does. It just affords college athletes the right to monetize their name, likeness and image if someone sees fit. It is no conflict with any of the colleges. The colleges won’t pay for this. What it will do is incentivize that young athlete to stay in college longer and graduate, since he no longer has to be lured by financial temptations of professional sports. It’s the civil rights issue of the day.” Bradford explained the bill may be a boon to female athletes and players who may not make it to professional leagues, but who might have name recognition or a sizable fan base during college.

Conversely known as the name, image and likeness legislation (NIL), or, originally, the Fair Pay to Play Act, the notion has been on an uphill march for several years. The NCAA and all the major California athletics programs have vehemently opposed the idea of compensation of any kind for student athletes.

The latest iteration of the bill was introduced earlier this year and met with unanimous approval in both the State Assembly and Senate. A small group of marquee athletes, including LeBron James, Diana Taurasi and UCLA athletes Katelyn Ohashi and Ed O’Bannon were on hand last week as Newsom signed the milestone bill.

Also during the meeting, the Council presented Chris Chavez with a commendation recognizing the Coalition for Clean Air and the second annual California Clean Air Day, a statewide day of action to reduce carbon emissions and promote better air quality. The organization took online pledges for weeks prior to the Oct. 2 event, giving users several options to participate in the largest clean air day of action ever. The organization surpassed its original goal of one million pledges, enlisting individuals and businesses, schools and civic groups to plant a tree, take a bike or public transit on event day, and limit power usage when possible.

New Passenger Pickup Hub Hints at Changes to Come at LAX

By Rob McCarthy

Los Angeles International Airport is kicking a ground transportation tradition to the curb later this month when it opens a new taxi and ride-app pickup station that will be a temporary solution to the ever-increasing gridlock at the nation’s second-busiest airport.

Starting around Halloween, the familiar yellow cabs and the popular ride-app companies Uber and Lyft will be diverted to a designated pickup zone next to Terminal 1, at the east entrance to the airport. Passengers can either take a short shuttle ride or walk to the U-shaped passenger pickup hub. Amenities include food trucks, covered benches and quicker exits from the airport onto Sepulveda Boulevard.

The traffic management change does not affect non-commercial drivers who pick up their family, friends or co-workers at LAX. Also, the taxi and ride-app companies still will be allowed to make drop-offs on Level 2. Things to know about the coming changes and creation of the LAX-it pickup zone:

- Until Oct. 31, guests should continue to pick up their taxis, Ubers, Lyfts, and Opolis outside the terminals in the upper/ departures level.
- The pickup area is a three-minute walk from Terminal 1 and eight minutes by foot from Terminals 2, 7 and 8.

The Library Book by Susan Orlean

Reviewed by Kim Harris, Library Assistant, El Segundo Middle School

The Library Book by Susan Orlean is about the April 29, 1986 fire at the Los Angeles Central Library that left the whole library community in shock. At first the library patrons and staff thought that it was just a regular smoke alarm going off, but then realized that there was an actual fire in the library. The fire reached 2,000 degrees and burned for more than seven hours. When the fire was finally extinguished, it consumed 400,000 books and damaged seven 700,000 more. Even with fire and police investigators examining the evidence, no one was ever convicted of the crime. The Library Book examines not only who might have set the fire, but also the history of the L.A. Central Library.

I really enjoyed the book because not only was it a mystery, but I also learned about the history of the library and libraries across the country and around the world. Orlean describes the library as a cornerstone of national identity and brings each department to life by interviewing various staff members and recounting their stories. I especially liked learning about the history of the Central Library and how it was built. To me, it is one of the most beautiful buildings downtown and it is always an adventure to go explore the library. Many do not realize that the Los Angeles Central Library houses not only books, audio books, movies and music, but also unique collections such as sheet music for orchestras as well as maps from all over California and the world. The library is not just about books. It also has an extensive genealogy collection and is used by many for research. When the fire occurred, many articles were lost or damaged and never replaced.

The person whom the investigators thought was the culprit was Harry Peak, an actor who was loved by everyone but trusted by no one. Unfortunately, Harry died and so it was never proven or disproven that he was the arsonist.

As someone who really enjoys reading and going to the library, I was fascinated by all of the research that was done for this book. Orlean narrates from both her own perspective of libraries and from the facts. Each chapter opens with descriptions of books and their call numbers that correlate with the chapter's content. I really enjoyed reading about all of the head librarians and the history of the Los Angeles Central Library. It made me appreciate my own library even more! Libraries are beloved institutions and provide much more than just books, movies and music. They were and remain an essential part of the heart, mind and soul of our country. I hope everyone gets a chance to read this great book and learn a little about the history of the library and of Los Angeles itself! •

Film Review

Parasite is an Arthouse Masterpiece

By Morgan Rojas for cinemacy.com

I didn't know it was possible to hold your breath for two hours... but after seeing Parasite, let me tell you, it is. South Korean director Bong Joon Ho's highly anticipated thriller has been hot on the lips of many cinephiles for most of 2019. The five-minute standing ovation after its world premiere at the Cannes Film Festival concurred that its hype is fully deserved. Thematically darker than Okja and more realistically unnerving than Snowpiercer, Parasite, in theaters this Friday, is a fantastically satirical and biting look at the economic divide and a social commentary on privilege that, in my opinion, is the best film of the year.

Living literally below the poverty line in an underground basement apartment, the Kim family – Ki-taek (Song Kang Ho), his wife, Chung-sook (Chang Hye Jin), their smart (and smart aleck) daughter Ki-jung (Park So Dam), and college-age son, Ki-woo (Choi Woo Shik) – struggle to make ends meet, as evident by their desperation when they're no longer able to freeloader off of their neighbor's free WiFi. The Kims are used to taking the path of least resistance, barely getting by with contract work folding pizza boxes for a local shop. Unexpectedly, a friend presents Ki-woo with an opportunity to work as an interim English tutor for the daughter of the very affluent Park family. Hesitant at first – Ki-woo is unsure if his street smarts will translate to academic smarts – he eventually agrees to meet with the family. Almost immediately, he wins over the affection of the naive Mrs. Park (Cho Yeong Jeong), who welcomes Ki-woo into their high-class world.

No good can come when gullibility meets greed, as Ki-woo's family sees his employment as an opportunity to score for themselves. What follows is a comedic and thrilling unraveling – with Ocean's 11-style forethought and mechanics – that makes every moment feel like a white-knuckle thrill ride. Bong Joon Ho captures societal issues and human crises in pitch black tones, exposing them in a way that is both shocking and thought-provoking. It's a fantastic example of a perfect film, from script to screen and beyond.

"If you make a plan, life never turns out that way," Ki-taek tells Ki-woo during one of the Kim family's lowest points. Brutally honest life advice (that I agree, should be taught to the young), this is also the perfect sentiment to summarize Parasite: expect the unexpected. Original and authentic arthouse films as good as Parasite don't come around often and we are lucky to witness its big-screen release. •

DULCE’S THOUGHTS!

Plastic Straws and Climate Change: How can Hawthorne follow in LA’s footsteps? One of the most trending topics circulating all over social media has been about the recent effects of climate change. The ongoing conversations concern how climate change has caused the Earth to exponentially rise in heat temperatures, the biggest factor coming from the mass amounts of waste found in our oceans. Environmental activists from all over the world have been protesting, trying to make others understand how serious this problem has become. The plastic straw ban was discovered after people started to see that sea life had been consuming plastic straws, which ended in many of these beautiful creatures dying. Milo Cress, a young environmental activist who started his own campaign, “Be Straw Free,” has found that over 500 million straws are being used daily (USA Today). Mass chained restaurants have been switching from the use of plastic straws to either paper straws or no straws at all.

Huber’s Hiccups

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

WHAT EXACTLY IS A HICCUP?

Here is the Wikipedia definition the big H: “A hiccup (also spelled hiccough) is an involuntary contraction (myoclonic jerk) of the diaphragm that may repeat several times per minute. The hiccup is an involuntary action involving a reflex arc. Once triggered, the reflex causes a strong contraction of the diaphragm followed about a quarter of a second later by closure of the vocal cords, which results in the classic “hic” sound. A bout of hiccups, in general, resolves itself without intervention, although many home remedies are often used to attempt to shorten the duration.” When I came up with my new column’s name I was thinking more of this meaning: “We can refer to a small problem or difficulty as a hiccup, especially if it does not last very long or is easily corrected.” Well, there you go, my writing always has a small typo or problem or misspelled word in it. My column doesn’t last all that long and it can easily be deleted on your computer or thrown into the trash. Life is full of endless hiccups. When did we first hear from our parents that life is not fair, life is never going to be perfect? Some times we feel like every day is just full of a long lasting bout of big hiccups that we cannot stop. Some of you, loyal, longtime, lovable, lively, luckless loser readers know all too well what I’m about ready to say. You have me figured out. You know my line: It don’t matter how many hiccups we have, just pull yourself up off the floor, crawl over to the ice box and grab a cold one. Drinking a cold one is only a temporary fix. Having a trusting faith in God can do much more than relieve oneself of a bothersome nuisance. Hiccups come and go, life goes on. Holding your nose and not breathing, getting your ebbie jebbies scared out of you, are short lived solutions. Ultimately, we have a much bigger hiccup to answer to, that is our sinful nature. Only Jesus can save us from that predicament. We can live this life knowing that Jesus took all of our hiccups upon himself. Each day we can relax, have a cold one and know that our hiccups are forgiven.

LESD Develops Guidelines for Food at School Site Share Tables

As of Oct. 1, Lawndale Elementary School District's (LESD) CalFresh Healthy Living team (formerly Champions for Change) started offering technical assistance for share tables at all LESD schools. The CalFresh Healthy Living team hopes to create guidelines about what is allowed on the share table, how the items are stored and ways that food will be distributed to the students and/or community. These guidelines would then be adopted and put into practice at all school sites to help reduce food waste and improve hungry students' access to food. All LESD students get breakfast and lunch at no cost. Photo: LESD and everyone else to drink cold ones, eat pretzels and brats, and pretty much party every weekend. Alpine Village is the closest spot to the South Bay to get a taste of what it's like. The Old World Oktoberfest down in Huntington Beach had some real big problems last weekend, thank God more people did not get hurt by the explosions. The "real" Oktoberfest in Munich, Germany is held over a 16 day period. Here are the 2019 results: More than six million people attended Germany's Oktoberfest this year. But the amount of beer consumed dropped compared to last year. Guests guzzled 7.3 million beers in the festival tents, according to the breweries' balance sheet – 200,000 fewer than last year. Wow! That sure is a lot of cold ones.

WEDDING PLANS AND PRAY FOR POWER

I will give you the full run down next week of how it all goes down this Saturday. I keep on telling myself that I'm not losing a daughter; I'm gaining a son. PGE is turning off power due to the high fire danger right around us starting tonight, Tuesday. Hopefully, we will have power restored at our church and at the reception hall for the biggest day in our daughter's life. No lights, no organ music, no food or cold ones would not be good. My ol' lady is praying hard that there won't be any hiccups this weekend. This could be interesting. Stay tuned.

As of Oct. 1, 2019 the use of plastic straws is not be permitted unless asked for by customers in all restaurants in the city of Los Angeles. Restaurants that do not follow this ordinance will be fined up to $25 per customer complaint. This is a remarkable step in changing the practices of businesses to use less plastic and massively reduce the number of straws littering the ocean waters. This type of ordinance would greatly benefit Hawthorne and surrounding cities if similarly crafted legislation can be written and implemented.

When a majority of households make a move towards biodegradable material, many local businesses and restaurants follow suit. Eliminating the use of plastic straws, and learning about the alternatives families can use rather than plastic can lead to many benefits. If more citizens from Hawthorne advocate for this change, then the outcome will lead to a much greater success than simply removing plastic straws in our community... eventually leading to a healthier and more sustainable way of life. – For suggestions for future articles, contact me at: dulce.bau.2020@gmail.com •

- Shuttles will arrive at terminals every three to five minutes and the longest shuttle ride is expected to take 15 minutes maximum. It will be shorter from most terminals, however.

- Passengers currently can wait up to 15-20 minutes for their ride app pickup – if their driver doesn’t get frustrated and cancel on them. This new zone should improve that.

Guests have complained about being frustrated with the current ride-pickup situation at curbside, which spurred this action, according to Keith Wilschetz, who oversees the airport’s operations and emergency management. “LAX-it will provide an easy, efficient experience for guests using taxis and ride apps and reduce overall traffic in and around the central terminal area for all those driving to and from LAX and our neighbors,” he said.

The diversion of taxis and ride-app drivers away from the terminals is necessary until construction is completed on a 2.3-mile, elevated people mover along Century Boulevard. The people mover will connect all passengers to a sprawling car rental facility, expanded parking areas, and easy access to the Los Angeles Metro rail system, starting in 2023.

With the holidays approaching and the airport growing in passenger volume, LAX officials decided to carve out a temporary solution to the growing gridlock problem. Drivers entering the airport for drop-offs or pickups can be delayed by as much as 45 minutes, according to LAX. With completion of its modernization projects three years away, the airport decided on a Plan B, which it’s calling LAX-it.

The people mover is reaching a critical phase of its building stage, which will reduce the amount of curb space on both levels 1 and 2. LAX estimates 30 percent of the inner-lane curb space currently used for passenger pickup and drop off will be lost during the height of the construction between now and 2023.

The temporary move to redirect taxis, Uber and Lyft drivers away from the central terminals is expected to ease some congestion on the ground floor. The taxi and ride-app drivers account for about 15 percent of all vehicle traffic, which the LAX-it will absorb in a less critical area of the airport. The horseshoe-shaped hub is at the corner of World Way and Skyway to the east of Terminal 1. The terminals are a short shuttle ride or walk to the mall area. The open-air mall offers waiting passengers amenities such as restrooms, benches, umbrellas for sun and rain protection, and local food trucks. And Wi-Fi access. LAX will assign staff to the pickup zone to provide passenger assistance and lane management on site.

Shuttles will service all terminals and arrive every three to five minutes during peak hours. They will make a maximum of two stops before heading to LAX-it. LAX staff will be available at each shuttle stop to help with wayfinding, questions, luggage loading and assistance for guests with disabilities, the airport promised.

“The new shuttles and LAX-it are designed with people with disabilities in mind and go beyond regulatory compliance to be ADA-friendly. Customer service agents at each shuttle stop who will be trained to offer (and call) our LAWA ADA (Americans with Disabilities Act) shuttle or to provide assistance to board our ADA compliant LAX-it shuttle if they prefer,” the airport said in an Oct. 4 announcement.

LAX officials believe the new traffic management scheme will benefit airport guests

Mayor Butts, in his newly minted role as the chair of the Metro Board of Directors, noted the goal of reducing emissions in public transit. In a statement supporting the Clean Air project, Butts said, “Metro is one of many agencies in Southern California that is dedicated to reducing tailpipe emissions and air pollution by providing more sustainable ways to get around while identifying greener ways to move freight. Sustainability is at the core of Metro’s mission, and you can see that in our pursuit of a zero-emission bus fleet, expanded rail program and better roadways that more efficiently move car and truck traffic.”

Chavez thanked the City of Inglewood for its commitment and leadership, and noted that individual actions do make a difference. “The purpose of Clean Air Day is to make sure people understand they can take individual actions to reduce air pollution and prevent and local residents and businesses affected by traffic backups into the airport during holidays and peak travel periods. “With the opening of LAX-it, both guests who are using taxis or ride apps for pickup will have a better experience, while those who are being picked up by friends or family, or taking other shuttle buses to their destination, will benefit from the reduction in traffic within the central terminal area (CTA),” its management promised. • climate change,” said Chavez. “People think this issue is just too big for them, or they don’t know how to take the first step in reducing emissions. This is that first step, in making sure that people have the ability and are empowered to take action to improve their air.” The Coalition is sponsoring additional events throughout the month, including an Alternative Car Show in the Inland Empire, Oct. 16.

The Council announced it is seeking input on a survey of Recreational and Cultural Activities at Inglewood Parks and Recreation Centers. The survey can be found on the City’s website. The deadline is Oct. 14. All entries will be entered in a drawing to win an Apple iPad Pro 12.9

Notice to Potential Bidders If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a Trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on the property itself. Placing the highest bid at a Trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the same Lender may hold more than one mortgage or Deed of Trust on the property. Notice to Property Owner The sale date shown on this Notice of Sale may be postponed one or more times by the Mortgagee, Beneficiary, Trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. Other California statutes and legal authority may affect your rights as a creditor. You may want to consult with an attorney/knowledgeable in California law.

YOU MAY EXAMINE the file kept by the court. If you are a person interested in the estate, you may file with the court a Request for Special Notice (form DE-154) of the filing of an inventory and appraisal of estate assets or of any petition or account as provided in Probate Code section 1250. A cat (or two) makes every home more fun! Come meet our kitties and be prepared to fall in love!

Chickadee is a huge love bug and a fuzzy ball of puff. He is such a sweet snuggler and has beautiful eyes and fur. He loves to run and play and is always curious about what you're doing. He'll follow you around like a puppy and would love to become a special part of your family.

Peanut Butter, Chickadee and Clementine are too young to be adopted as solo kittens, but they would love to be adopted with one (or both) of their siblings, or into your family if you already have a kitty for one of them to join.

Dahlia just loves belly rubs. She loves them so much that she is likely to give you a dirty look when you stop. Dahlia is a mellow, relaxed, gentle and quiet kitten who always manages to find the softest and darkest place to nap in the whole house. She spends most of her day napping, though she's not above running around the house with other cats, or even sneaking up and sniffing the dog when the fancy strikes her. She gets along well with her cat friends and with a small relaxed dog at her foster home. Because she's a shy girl, she would likely thrive in a household where she can get most of the attention all to herself.

Lady Mary, daughter to the Earl of Grantham and heiress to Downton Abbey, is stoic, elegant and a bit of a handful. Mary is the perfect aristocrat and epitome of elegance, grace and style. She has raven black fur, high cheekbones, and the perfect amount of white highlights! With thoughtful handling and continued socialization, Lady Mary will reward you with her attention and affection. She may seem prickly and even a little hissy at first, but her fear quickly melts away when she becomes comfortable. Lady Mary loves other cats, especially eligible bachelors! With a little coaxing, she is sweet, cuddly and a princess of purring. Lady Mary would love to be paired up with another young cat with lots of energy to burn or one that might need some exercise.

Rufus is a dapper, genteel creature who was rescued off the streets. He is the quintessential gentle tom cat: big cheeks and sweet demeanor -- and he gets along great with other cats so long as they are nice to him. Mostly what he wants is to follow you around for pets and head bonks. However, life on the streets did instill in him a profound dislike of dogs, and he is extremely aggressive with them. With friendly cats, people, children and/or kittens, Rufus is an absolute delight and a perfect gentleman. He is both talkative and playful, and loves being the center of attention. Rufus is FIV positive, another likely legacy of life on the streets. Fortunately, FIV is not casually transmissible between cats. It requires a deep bite wound that is rather unheard of in a home setting and certainly not with a gentle love like Rufus. There's a fair amount of bad, superficial information floating around the Internet about FIV and the veterinary community typically takes an extremely risk-averse approach to it as it's simpler than explaining the nuances to their clients. If you're interested in meeting Rufus or in adopting him, or have any questions about FIV, please reach out to his foster dad. Rufus is such a special soul. We promise you will not regret it!

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd., just south of Manchester Ave., and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Adopting one animal may not change the world, but it will forever change the world for that animal. •
