Butts, Snoop Dogg Celebrate Reopening of Metro's A Line

On Saturday, Nov. 2, the Los Angeles County Metropolitan Transportation Authority (Metro) celebrated the completion of the $350 million New Blue Improvements Project. Inglewood Mayor James T. Council Keeps Eye on Inglewood as Litigation Looms Downtown

By Haleemon Anderson

Business was usual at this week's meeting of the Inglewood City Council, even as across town efforts were underway to keep the LA Clippers and a much-anticipated $1.1 billion basketball complex out of Inglewood.

Tuesday, Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Daniel Murphy heard final testimony in a case brought against the City of Inglewood by Uplift Inglewood Coalition. The suit aims to block the arena and have its proposed site designated for affordable housing. The advocacy group has been characterized as David up against Goliath -- the giant being Inglewood in concert with Clippers owner Steve Ballmer. Lawyers from all three parties gave testimony, with a ruling expected Monday.

Back on the dais, the City Council put the final touches on landmark housing reform. With unanimous approval, the group amended Inglewood's municipal code to staunch rent increases at 3 to 5 percent per year while adding protections against unjust evictions and creating a rental housing board.

The headline-grabbing initiative, not seen since Santa Monica instituted rent control 40 years ago, has captured attention up and down the California coast. Several cities took similar action recently, responding to the rampant housing crisis. And just last month, Governor Gavin Newsom passed sweeping legislation (AB 1482) to cap rent hikes statewide. Inglewood set a five-year end date on the caps, after which time rent increases align with the State mandate of 5 percent.

Mayor James T. Butts reminded the audience the Council was initially against the notion of rent control. "This is the result of a turning point," said Butts. He said the stabilization will protect renters while the benefits of new developments are being fully realized.

Landlords and property owners will also see benefits, added Butts. "Most of the property owners that have owned since 2012 received a windfall evaluation," he said. And under prior adverse conditions around the city, Butts noted, it might have been hard to justify yearly increases. Now, incremental increases of 3 percent a year can yield returns. "That's why the Council believes that the five-year sunset is fair."

The Council postponed a public hearing on a resolution to increase water service rates. The hearing will be held at the meeting of Dec. 17. Background notes on the subject indicate an annual shortfall of $4 million, being subsidized by the general fund.

A public hearing was set for the meeting of Nov. 19 to consider a zoning change at a parcel between La Colina Drive and East Beach Avenue. The 63,783-square foot site is northeast of the Florence and Hillcrest intersection, near St. John's Church.

An updated salary ordinance provision received unanimous approval, after discussion to add staff positions allocated as Assistant to the Councilmember to the list of range adjustments. The impact on the 2019-2020 budget is $382,000.

In public comments, several residents spoke in opposition to a proposed 7-11 and gas station at 64th and La Brea. Councilmember Alex Padilla said the matter would be taken up at the next Planning Commission meeting.

Councilmember George Dotson announced a turkey giveaway on Nov. 25 at 9 a.m. More details can be found on the City's website or local community centers.

City Manager Artie Fields announced planning for the 2020 Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr. Celebration. In addition to the memorial breakfast and outdoor festival, the Jan. 18 event will feature a Queen and Court this holiday. Juniors and seniors who live or attend school in Inglewood are eligible. Applications are available online only. Nov.18 is the deadline.

The Inglewood City Council meets every Tuesday, unless otherwise noted, at 2 p.m. in the Council chambers on the 9th floor, Inglewood City Hall. •

Waiting for Fitz by Spencer Hyde

Reviewed by Desiree De La Cruz-Miller, Library Assistant

October has been an exciting month at the El Segundo Public Library. The Teen Zone, in particular, has expanded its collection of books and with the fun, colorful, new furniture, we have had an increase in the high school teen presence and that warms our hearts. For this week's review, I picked a book fresh off the delivery truck titled Waiting for Fitz by Spencer Hyde. It is always fun to be the first person to check out a new book. It makes me giddy.

Waiting for Fitz touches on the difficulties of dealing with mental illness. Addie, the protagonist, is dealing with severe OCD (Obsessive Compulsive Disorder) and enters a behavioral health system for teenagers. She genuinely wants to get to a better place in dealing with her illness, but doesn't quite take the doctors seriously. This causes her to not be fully committed to the treatment plan they have set for her. While in the hospital, she befriends a few other teenagers dealing with varying mental health issues. One boy in particular she takes a liking to is Fitzgerald Whitman IV, or Fitz. Fitz has been in the hospital for two years now and is being treated for schizophrenia. Addie feels a sense of acceptance with Fitz. He notices her ticks and obsessive compulsions, but accepts that they are part of her. The feeling of acceptance means a lot to her considering that she felt the need to hide her ticks and obsessive compulsions from her friends at school.

While in the hospital, Addie must continue with her studies to keep on track with finishing high school. One of her assignments that she obsesses about throughout the book is a written assignment about the play, Waiting for Godot. In this play, two men are seen waiting for someone or something called Godot. By the end, Godot never shows up. She enjoyed reading it, but struggles to answer the questions required in her essay: what are the men waiting for and why is it significant that Godot never shows up? These questions keep her up for hours as she searches her mind trying to figure out why the men would wait so long for someone or something that never appears. As she experiences these new feelings of love for Fitz, she searches her soul and finds the answer as to why the men waited because she, too, is waiting for Fitz.

Come on in and visit us at the El Segundo Public Library and take a look at our revamped Teen Zone area. We have numerous new titles added to our collection available now to be checked out. Be the first person to check out one of our new titles. •

A Child Star Confronts a Traumatic Upbringing in Honey Boy

By Ryan Rojas for cinemacy.com

As the movie portrays in its very meta way, Honey Boy started as a therapeutic tool when Shia LaBeouf was in rehab for alcohol abuse. As an artist so taken by post-modern art performance, how else would that person, who spent his entire life at the center of the entertainment industry, channel his pain but by confronting his issues in the form of writing a screenplay about his life story? And yet, there's no hiding what's in his head in any therapeutic sessions with his probation officer, that he is forced to remember his childhood.

Young Otis, whom we first encounter as he is harness-strapped in the middle of an action stunt, is the lead on a children's television show. But this success doesn't extend to his personal life, where he is raised by an erratic father (Shia LaBeouf), whose mile-a-minute mouth is either teasing, goofing or berating his son in the close quarters of the extended-stay motel where they live. As young Otis, way, whether it be metaphorically or literally with a paper bag. Here, Shia LaBeouf makes himself so vulnerable in exposing this open wound and tender flesh. Along with Alma Har'el's dreamy direction (as she also grew up with an alcoholic father), Honey Boy, opening at ArcLight Hollywood and The Landmark this Friday, is a fascinating experience.

Noah Jupe is put into very adult situations — including drugs, booze and older women — but Jupe maintains a strength and innocence throughout the film that makes it a solid and moving performance. Lucas Hedges channels everything from the screenwriter's manic

Honey Boy chronicles two moments in the life of this Shia-surrogate, Otis: there's the child star Otis (Noah Jupe) and the young adult action star Otis (Lucas Hedges). The older Otis is who the story opens with, seeing him getting slammed, dragged, pushed and altogether exhausted by action stunts that are a part of his daily life ("trauma reminders," as a therapist later classifies). One must remember the physical and psychological toll that this line of work would have on any person, let alone on someone who has done it for a decade straight -- along with having a scarred family history of substance abuse. The combination inevitably lands Otis in rehab and it's here, through

News for the City of Good Neighbors from an Old Guy Named Norb Huber

GOOD NEWS FOR A CHANGE

There are two sides to every story, two ways to skin a cat, two sides to every coin, and many ways to look at life. Last week I dumped a bunch of negatives on you all. Bad stuff happens. As you are well aware, the bad stuff aint going away soon. I've been accused of being grumpy as in being an old, grumpy, white geezer. So today, I will do my best to write only about good stuff. It might be tough but I will do my best to be positive for a change. Let's try some cliques with a twist on how to live a more positive life. Here we go: "If you can't say nutin' nice, then don't say nutin'". "When life throws you a lime, make limeade". God gave you one mouth but two ears so listen twice as much as you blab. Happy ol' lady, happy life. An apple a day, no cavities your dentist will say. If a train is coming, step off the track. If your beer mug is half empty, then it's still half full. Look at life from the positive, stop being so grumpy. Wake up, relax and smell the coffee, or have a cold one if you prefer. Don't let the world's troubles drag you down. Choose to live life happy! (Now can I go back to being an old, grumpy, white geezer?)

VETERANS DAY

There are many reasons why we choose a certain career and pursue our dreams. The men and women who join our military have different reasons for joining. They may not have even been thinking of serving our country. It may have been just a good way to get training for a future job. It may have been to get away from the house or their small town to see the world. It may simply be for the lack of employment. Whatever the reason, we still can be thankful to all the men and women who have served us through their military service. Yes, we honor these brave veterans this coming Monday. We remember them for what they have given to us, freedom and that is pretty much the most important liberty we can have. Thank a vet this weekend.

SEPTETO ACAREY AT THE ROCK-IT NIGHTCLUB

All the way from Peru, Salsa group Septeto Acarey is making a stop here in Hawthorne on Friday, Nov. 8 at the Rock-It Nightclub. This year alone, the group is nominated for two Latin Grammys—Best Tropical Album (for La Llave Del Son) and Best Tropical Song (for "El Afortunado"). As the music industry is in the midst of a second "Latin boom" this century, Latin groups of various genres such as Salsa, Bachata and Reggaeton are influencing mainstream pop and dance music in the U.S substantially. Don't miss out on getting to see this internationally-known group perform live in Hawthorne before they potentially win a couple of Grammys just a few days later. For more information, call (310) 849-6169.

PUBLIC INFORMATION WORKSHOP (14 CFR PART 150 NOISE EXPOSURE)

The Hawthorne Municipal Airport will be holding a Public Information Workshop regarding the 14 CFR Part 150 Noise Exposure. It is a regulation made by the Airport Noise Compatibility Planning Program responsible for guiding and controlling planning for aviation noise compatibility in and around airports. This workshop will focus on the evaluation of aircraft noise exposure in Hawthorne. The event will take place on Nov. 14 from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at the City of Hawthorne Memorial

Center. The workshop will be held in the Polaris Room in an open house format, so everyone is welcome to come at any time! For more information, please contact Guido Fernandez at (310) 349-1636 or gfernandez@cityofhawthorne.org

DULCE'S THOUGHTS!

THE PERFECT SEASON FOR TEENS TO HAVE A JOB IN HAWTHORNE

Right now is a great time for teens to consider applying for seasonal jobs. As the busy holiday season approaches, the food and retail industries have no choice but to expand their teams. Businesses like these often hire students because they are willing to work part-time. The experience that teens can obtain from seasonal work is extremely beneficial for future job prospects. Having a job at a young age teaches responsibility. For example, a teenager can learn time management and how to work efficiently. In my opinion, the most valuable skill that a teenager can learn through work experience is how to manage their money. Many teens are excited at the thought of getting their first paycheck (I know this feeling firsthand). Saving and spending their earnings wisely, however, is no easy task. If you are a teen, take advantage of every opportunity you have to build your resume. Prior work experience can only add to your value as an adult in the workforce. To search for openings, visit job-posting sites such as LinkedIn and Indeed.com. • instability to his trademark combat boots.

Portraying Otis' former rodeo clown father James, Shia embodies the character so thoroughly that it's more than just pretending — he's channeling something real in himself, and it's his most lived-in and best role in a while. What lifts Honey Boy to even greater heights is how the film integrates the vaudeville choreography of James' rodeo clown life. Though in some scenes it may appear hokey, there are parts set to music to create magically mimed moments. Har'el captures this and all of the scenes between young Otis and his father so intimately. But it's LaBeouf who gives himself over so completely to this emotionally gutting process, putting his singularly pained childhood onto the big screen in what feels like an attempt for emotional salvation. Honey Boy is so raw and risk-taking that it provides a similar and personal experience for anyone who sees it. •

PUBLIC NOTICES

Summary of Adoption of Ordinance 2192 Amending Chapter 8.20 of Title 8 of the Hawthorne Municipal Code ("HMC") Adding Specified Conditions Accompanied by Prolonged Vacancies in a Residential or Commercial Building Constitutes a Condition of Public Nuisance, Related Changes to Definitions and Enforcement

Pursuant to Government Code section 36933(c), the following constitutes a summary of Ordinance No. 2192 which will be considered for adoption by the City Council at its regular meeting on November 12, 2019 at 6:00 p.m. Pursuant to California Government Code section 36933(c) (1), the City Council has previously directed the preparation and publication of a summary of Ordinance No. 2192 which adds that specified conditions accompanied by prolonged vacancies in a residential or commercial buildings will constitute a public nuisance. Ordinance No. 2192 adds a new section 8.20.030(A)(36) providing that specified conditions, e.g., dilapidated buildings, overgrown vegetation, graffiti, etc., accompanied by prolonged vacancies of ninety or more consecutive days constitutes a public nuisance. It also makes related changes to the definitions and enforcement. Under section 8.20.030(A)(36), the specified conditions to deem a prolonged vacant residential or commercial building a public nuisance are when there exist two of the following conditions (summarized):

- a. Property which is not kept substantially clean and free from accumulations like overgrown, dead or decayed trees or vegetation, or trash.
 - b. Buildings or structures which are unpainted or the exterior paint is worn off.
 - c. Buildings or structures or its sections, e.g., exterior stairs, roofs, foundations, walls, fences, etc., which are substantially broken, deteriorated, or defaced with graffiti, or windows which are missing or broken.
 - d. In a residential property, outdoor display of unused appliances, furniture and other items other than those commonly stored outdoors, for a period of time in excess of seventy-two consecutive hours.
 - e. Where property is vacant and otherwise required to be boarded up, the boarding shall be done in a manner approved by the building official and which does not itself have a significant adverse visual impact on the neighborhood nor substantially contribute to the dilapidated or deteriorated appearance of the neighborhood.
 - f. Buildings designed for human use or occupancy that stays vacant for more than ninety consecutive days unless the City Manager finds the following:
 - It is offered for sale, lease or rent.
 - It is in the process of repair that is progressing diligently.
 - It is actively maintained and monitored by the owner and thus not contribute to blight.
- The above (a) through (e) describes conditions visible from a public right of way and/or neighboring property that have a significant adverse visual impact on the neighborhood. Ordinance No. 2192 also amends section

8.20.020 "Definitions" by adding/revising the following subsections (summarized):

(L) Commercial buildings/structure/property shall mean any commercial, industrial structures affixed to or upon real property used for the purpose of conducting a business.

(EE) Real Property or premises shall mean all residential, industrial, commercial, and other real property including, but not limited to, vacant lots, front yards, side yards, back yards, driveways, walkways, alleys and sidewalks, and any building or other structure whether fixed or movable, located on such property.

(FF) Residential building/structure/property shall mean any structure including, but not limited to, any house, garage, duplex, apartment, condominium, stock cooperative, mobile home, or other residential structure, whether or not such structure is occupied.

Section 8.20.030 (D) also amends by referencing marijuana related uses as currently defined in the Zoning Code thus maintaining consistency with the two Titles.

Ordinance No. 2192 adds the following provisions related to enforcement:

- Section 8.20.280, "No duty to enforce", provides that the City is under no duty to enforce any provisions of the Chapter.
- Section 8.20.290, "Violations-penalties and remedies" provides that the violations of the Chapter can be prosecuted as misdemeanors and that a separate offense occurs each and every day. Subsections "D" authorizes the City Attorney to bring an action for injunctive relief. Subsection "E" allows enforcement through the issuance of administrative citations.

- Section 8.20.300 provides for the City to seek inspection warrant where the owner does not give consent for inspection.
- Section 8.20.310 provides that the City may establish fees for the inspection of properties found to be in violation of the ordinance.

This proposed ordinance is exempt from CEQA review pursuant to State CEQA Guidelines, Article 18: Statutory Exemptions, Section 15282(h) because this section of CEQA establishes a statutory exemption for "the adoption of an ordinance regarding second units in a single-family or multifamily residential zone by a city or county to implement the provisions of Sections 65852.1 and 65852.2 of Government Code as set forth in Section 21080.17 of the Public Resources Code.

A certified copy of the entirety of the text of Ordinance No. 2192 is available both on the City's website and also in the office of the City Clerk, 4455 West 126th Street, Hawthorne, California, and is open for public inspection. Pursuant to Government Code section 36933(c), the summary Ordinance No. 2183 was published at least five (5) days before the ordinance was considered for adoption on November 12, 2019 at a duly convened regular meeting of the Hawthorne City Council. Purrrfect Companions

Frisco

A cat (or two) makes every home more fun! Come meet our kitties and be prepared to fall in love!

Will is an exceptionally handsome seal point snowshoe kitten with light blue eyes. He is energetic, curious, talkative and playful. Will the most adventurous of her litter, the first to try and do anything. She's an expert climber and explorer. She is very interested in people and always loves to know what they're up to. Maxine also enjoys a good snuggle and bath session with her mama kitty. She would

is an entertaining kitten who loves to run, jump, climb, wrestle, chase and play with his siblings and toys. He also enjoys a nice nap and a good snuggle with his siblings and mama kitty. Will and his siblings have been raised by their young and playful mama kitty, Joyce, in a foster home. He would love to be adopted with her or with his sister, Maxine.

Maxine is an adorable tuxedo kitten. Like her mama, she is petite and extra soft. Max is love to be adopted with her mom, Joyce, or her favorite brother, Will.

Joyce is an awesome playful mama kitty with lots of personality. A very petite, young girl weighing only 6 pounds, she has an elegant look. Although she can be shy at first, if you are patient, gentle and kind she will warm up to you in no time. And once she does, you're in for a treat! Joyce is sweet and affectionate and craves human attention. She will wait at the door for you and follow you around talking your ear off. Even though she's not a tiny kitten, Joyce acts like one -- chasing and wrestling with her babies. If you catch her in a playful mood, she will play fetch with a crinkle ball. Loving to snuggle, she will keep your lap warm while you watch TV and will cuddle next to you. Joyce is appreciative, loving and generous and will be a wonderful feline companion. She loves her babies and would absolutely love to be adopted with one of them.

Frisco was found scared and alone, behind an auto body shop. He was very shy at first, but has blossomed into a very sweet, friendly and affectionate lover boy. Sadly, Frisco has been living in a cage at the vet's office for the past six months, awaiting his forever home. He loves being held and loves to play with toys. His favorite activity is sleeping next to you, or on your lap. Frisco doesn't like dogs, but he's fine with other cats. Although Frisco has tested positive for FIV, it is not a big deal. Given proper care and attention, an

Rocky

FIV+ cat will live the same lifespan as an FIV negative cat. The disease is extremely hard to transmit from cat to cat, requiring direct blood contact (typically from a deep puncture wound). It is not transmissible to humans. Give Frisco a chance and you will fall in love with this beautiful boy.

Rocky is one of a kind. He is a dog in a cat's body. When the doorbell rings, he runs to the door so he can be the first to greet visitors because he loves people. If he is being ignored, Rocky will reach out and tap with his paw to let you know he wants some cuddle time. This guy is a hunk of love that will quietly sleep beside you at bedtime and will be your cuddle bug when you binge-watch your favorite show. He is such a great cat that he doesn't even mind when he is carried or held like a baby. Rocky prefers to be an only cat and he needs to be adopted into a home that will not leave him home for eight-plus hours a day, because he gets lonely. The ideal home is someone that works from home or is retired. Rocky doesn't mind cat-friendly young kids, but he is afraid of toddlers because they pull on his fur and tail. If you would like to meet the incredible Rocky, his foster mom is happy to arrange for a meet and greet.

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Blvd. #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

Joyce

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Blvd. just south of Manchester Ave. and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Ave. just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location.

Adopting one animal may not change the world, but it will forever change the world for that animal. •
