WWII Vets Share Memories from Behind the Front Lines

To coincide with Armed Forces Day festivities, the Torrance Historical Society & Museum last Sunday welcomed 96-year-olds Muriel and Mel Engelman, who shared their first-hand accounts of their experiences during World War II. Muriel served as an Army nurse behind the front lines at the Battle of the Bulge, while Mel served as a Marine in the Pacific Theatre. The photo of the couple shows Muriel holding a copy of her book Mission Accomplished: Stop the Clock, which she signed for attendees. Photo Provided by Torrance Historical Society. •

Library to Enhance Catalog Content Through Specialized Database

By Cristian Vasquez

A recommendation by the community services director was approved by the Torrance City Council on Tuesday for the sole purchase order with EBSCO Information Services for four specialized databases, including EBSCO Host, Novelist, Learning Express and Auto Repair Reference Center. The purchase order in the amount of $54,027 will enhance the Torrance Library System from July 1, 2017-June 30, 2018.

"EBSCO is a sole-source provider of a lot of periodical archives that are available online for students and adult researchers, such as Time and Newsweek," said Principal Librarian Dana Vinke. "They are the sole proprietor of these electronic archives of these journals so we get a lot of usage every year from people that are doing research on different topics."

Through the approved purchase order, the Torrance Library System will have access to EBSCO as its general and magazine electronic database. Novelist will work as its readers' advisory tool. The Library researched and evaluated three other database companies, but concluded that none had the ability to provide the resource it needs. There are currently a number of carefully selected databases that the library provides for patrons.

"Where at all possible, they have been licensed for use within the Library, as well as from an individual's home and place of business," states the staff report signed by

Community Services Director John Jones. "Their full-text magazine database contains over 1,000 magazines with a total of over 3,000 actual magazines indexed."

EBSCO databases are accessible from within the library and at home or work for patrons. Through the Auto Repair Reference Center, users are provided information from Chilton's auto repair manuals that date back to 1954, while the Novelist database provides more than simple reading suggestions. Through Learning Express patrons have access to test preparation material, plus sample tests from a wide range of educational and vocational exams.

"The Novelist component that adds a lot of enhancements to the library catalog, so what my analogy is, if you go into Amazon and you just saw text, that is what it would

Older Americans Credited for Their Valuable Service

By Rob McCarthy

They fill gaps in schools as tutors and as foster grandparents. They offer companionship to homebound seniors and lend business-management advice to non-profit organizations. Older Americans plug these social service gaps so that people in South Bay communities don’t slip through the cracks and wonder if anybody cares.

People 55 and older collectively provide $78 billion annually in economic value with their service, according to a new report, titled “Volunteering and Civic Life in America.” That’s the value of 3.3 billion hours of volunteer service, which lightens the load on parents, teachers, service providers and hospitals. Food banks depend heavily on senior volunteers to collect donated food. Nonprofits need volunteers with skills in fundraising and running a business too.

Older Americans are tackling critical work in their communities that might not otherwise get done. And their contributions often go unnoticed, which is why May is Older Americans Month. This is a chance to highlight the important contributions that active and service-minded seniors make. President John Kennedy started the monthly observance in 1963, and it’s celebrated nationwide with volunteer-appreciating luncheons and special events.

The needs of children, families and seniors outstrip the available government funding, and local charities and social service agencies report ever-growing demand for food, housing and cash assistance. Statewide, nearly 16,000 senior volunteers are making a difference in their communities through the Senior Corps program.

“As local organizations experience increased demands with fewer resources, older Americans are stepping up to fill in the gaps, and their service is more important now than ever,” said Erin McGrath, acting director of Senior Corps.

Another group making a difference in local communities is the South Bay Village, an “all-volunteer village helping our member seniors remain active and engaged in our community, while remaining in their own homes.” Volunteers with the Torrance-based Village drive seniors to appointments, do light home projects and will help them with shopping.

The Village is a national movement that spread to the South Bay in 2014. Nearly one-third of Americans 65 and older lives alone, according to the Village movement. Half of seniors who reach 85 live by themselves, and many report feeling lonely. Seniors who have regular visitations are healthier and happier, studies have demonstrated.

The need for companions for homebound seniors is growing, as U.S. life expectancy rates stretch. U.S. women on average are living to 80 and men to 76, based on figures from the U.S. Centers for Disease Control. In this country, an estimated 10,000 people turn 65 every day--a ready supply of new volunteers.

“Older adults are transforming society and addressing some of the toughest problems facing our nation by closing the mentoring gap, reducing crime and reviving cities, fighting the opioid epidemic, helping seniors remain independent in their homes, and rebuilding communities following disasters,” McGrath with Senior Corps said.

Not only are older Americans doing good for others, they’re also reaping the benefits of staying physically and socially active. The Senior Corp, which has 15,800 volunteers in California, says its community-service projects are a “great opportunity” to “meet critical community needs while contributing to longer, healthier lives.”

A growing body of research points to mental and physical health benefits associated with volunteering, including lower mortality rates, increased strength and energy, decreased rates of depression, and fewer physical limitations, according to Senior Corps.

Seniors are becoming more computer-literate and Internet-savvy, and the number of senior

Memorial Day 2017

Because of this special day, I decided asking veterans what they think about Memorial Day was appropriate. The first veteran I asked, Thomas Trulove who served in Vietnam in the Army from 1972 to 1975, was taken aback when I first asked him what he thought about Memorial Day. His demeanor changed considerably and he became serious. "It is a time

When I was little I remember my daddy, Tom Lancaster, telling me he served as a Corporal in the Army--and also about his two younger cousins--Bill Russell, who was an MP in Korea and was awarded a Purple Heart; and Jimmy Lancaster, who served in the Army Special Services, also in Korea. The three boys--my daddy, Tommy and his two cousins Jimmy and Bill were close and grew

I always feel a great sense of relief when it is over with. It reminds me of the war I was in, of friends who died, who were killed, and reminds me of my own wounding in the war in particular. I don't think people reflect upon the human cost of war on Memorial Day. They seem to see it as a celebration... The fact is, many people who went to the war that I fought in ended up dying and wounded needlessly. I respect all our veterans and honor all those who served this country. I don't think I am the

As WWII veteran Jerry Ronan said, “On Monday, we will be grateful for the gift of those who never came home. We will remember every day is Memorial Day. We will pray that we may never add another name to that cold, black wall.” Amen. •

Augustus

This week’s kitties (and many others on our website) are all deserving of a home with a family to call their own.

Augustus craves and demands attention. He is currently residing at the Kitten Rescue Sanctuary where he is one of the volunteers’ favorites and greets everyone who enters by hanging out near the front door and reaching his paw out to people who pass by. He is a genuine lap cat and very outgoing! Augustus lives with many other cats and gets along well with them, so he could be adopted into a home with other cats or as a single. Augustus is FIV positive from his time on the street. Cats with FIV+ often get passed over because people feel worried about the diagnosis. However, given proper care and attention, an FIV+ cat will live the same lifespan as an FIV negative cat. The disease is extremely hard to transmit from cat to cat and it requires direct blood contact (typically from a deep puncture wound). It is not transmissible to humans. Augustus would make your life complete...give this guy a chance!

Tyra came to us from the LA City Shelter system as a nursing mom kitty. Her kittens have both found a wonderful home, so now it’s “Ty’s” turn to find a loving home of her own! Tyra is an expressive, “almost tuxedo” young lady adorned in a black and white peignoir who is more of a lap visitor than a lap cat, as she’s always busy playing and exploring. She is affectionate and very playful, with her favorite toys being a feather wand and ping pong balls. We think Ty was an only kitten early in life who missed the benefit of having another kitty teach her the proper etiquette of play, so Ty is a bit rough when playing. A patient and understanding adult-only home would be the best environment where Tyra could thrive and provide unconditional love. It takes a special adult to love Tyra. Could you be the one?

Tyra

Looks? Personality? Casey is the total package! He is a darling boy who offers to his humans both a lot of affection and tons of entertainment. Casey loves getting petted and purrs loudly to let you know you are doing a good job petting him. His foster mommy cradles him like a baby, which he enjoys very much too. Casey is energetic and very playful, so he would absolutely love a playmate in his forever home. He gets along well with both boy and girl kitties. People who meet Casey for the first time are very impressed with his striking looks and then are even more impressed with his great personality! Casey is crossing his paws that he will meet you soon!

Rudy is a sweet, affectionate and very playful kitty who was kicked out of his house by his 19-year-old owner because she thought he would be happier as a “wild animal.” Rudy wandered the streets for over a week without food or shelter until a nice neighbor found him and called a Kitten Rescue volunteer, who took him in. He is very social and loves people. He gets along with other cats and he tolerates dogs well. Sometimes Rudy can play a little rough--and so for this reason, he may not be the right fit for families with small children. Sometimes he bites hands lightly when he’s playing. Rudy is a total love bug!

Venus is a friendly, sweet and spunky calico kitten with beautiful gold-colored eyes. Venus and her sister Mandy were hand-raised since they were two weeks old and have grown into adventurous, happy young kittens. Venus loves her sister and gets along well with our other cats. Although Venus is affectionate and friendly, she knows when to stand up to the adult cats. This curious kitty loves to sit on the kitchen counter and watch when you are cooking or puttering around. Venus loves to play and her favorite toy is a feather toy on a string--she will do amazing back flips while she tries to catch it. She also loves to run around with her sister like they were a herd of gazelles. It’s cute to hear the pitter patter of eight little feet. Venus and Mandy would love to be adopted together, as they get along beautifully and will be great friends.

Mandy is a sweet calico kitten with gold-colored eyes who was hand-raised with her sister Venus since they were two weeks old. She’s completely comfortable around people and is gentle and fun. Mandy has an easygoing personality and a very cute meow, which she uses to manipulate us into giving her treats. She loves to rambunctiously play with her sister. They chase each other and love racing up and down our stairs. Her favorite toy is a pink fuzzy ball that she bats around. Mandy is very tolerant of bathing and nail trimming. Unlike her sister, who likes to let everyone know that she doesn’t appreciate baths, Mandy usually just gently mews a couple of times but otherwise relaxes in the tub. Mandy and her sister Venus would be a great addition to your family!

These kitties are available for adoption through Kitten Rescue, one of the largest cat rescue groups in Southern California. All our kitties are spayed/neutered, microchipped, tested for FeLV and FIV, dewormed and current on their vaccinations. For additional information and to see these or our other kittens and cats, please check our website www.kittenrescue.org or email us at mail@kittenrescue.org.

Your tax-deductible donations for the rescue and care of our cats and kittens can be made through our website or by sending a check payable to Kitten Rescue, 914 Westwood Boulevard, #583, Los Angeles, CA 90024.

On Saturdays, we have adoptions from noon to 3:30 p.m. in Westchester at 8655 Lincoln Boulevard, just south of Manchester Avenue, and also in Mar Vista at 3860 Centinela Avenue, just south of Venice Boulevard. Our website lists additional adoption sites and directions to each location. • households with a computer was at 35 percent, based on 2015 Census data. Any older person looking for volunteer opportunities in the South Bay area will want to check the website volunteermatch.org. Nonprofits use this site to let interested volunteers know about staffing needs in these organizations. Now, older residents can match their interests with calls from volunteers from local nonprofits and organizations by checking the website, Volunteermatch.org.

A search for volunteer opportunities in the South Bay found needs for tutors, caregivers and people to help homebound residents both young and old with errands and grocery shopping. If you think you don't have anything to offer as a volunteer, think again. Here are a few of the local groups in need:

South Bay Literacy Council needs tutors for its English as a Second Language program. The group also is looking for a computer tutor, an event planner, and people to help with grant writing, public relations and in the office.

Hospice volunteers are needed at Silverado Hospice in Torrance. Volunteers visit patients in their homes or at a nursing facility, and read to them a newspaper or book, talk, listen to soothing music together, or share photos. Other ways to comfort hospice patients are with flowers from the garden.

The Beach Cities Health District for Manhattan Beach, Hermosa Beach and Redondo needs conversation companion volunteers for older and disabled adults with memory loss. Volunteers provide socialization and engagement through planned activities and are provided training and matched by the agency with a client.

The Beach Cities Health District also needs in-home exercise volunteers to visit with older or disabled clients to perform basic exercises that maintain the homebound person's body strength and flexibility. Volunteers also are needed to run routine errands, including grocery shopping and mailing letters and packages. Errand volunteers are needed 90 minutes per week, mostly between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

The Grandparents as Parents group in Inglewood is recruiting a facilitator for the local support group. Duties include leading meetings, collecting data about group members and doing follow-up work when needed to assist participants. • be like without this resource,” said Vinke. “This provides you direct recommendations, cover art, synopsis and a lot of other quality enhancements throughout the catalog that will help read and discover materials.”

Sole-source purchase orders, unlike regular purchase order, are not required to go through a bidding process--as long as purchases are made within the guidelines and rules set by the City Manager, including not showing favoritism, extravagance, fraud or corruption, or resulting in a waste of public funds. “I am very excited about what we are doing and the direction we are going with our services,” Councilman Milton S. Herring said.

Library to Receive New Books,
Audio, Video Materials

Also approved Tuesday night by the Council was a purchase order for books, audio and video materials from Baker & Taylor in the amount of $457,850 per year, for the next three years. As of June 30, 2020, there will be two one-year extension options.

In order to maintain current as well as comprehensive materials, the Library invests yearly in the purchase of new books, visual and audio materials. The staff report estimates that between 15,000 and 20,000 items are purchased each year—including adult, juvenile, young adult fiction and non-fiction, trade hardcover, paperback, mass market paperbacks, large print books, board books, music compact discs, DVDs and spoken word audio CDs. On June 30, the Library’s current purchase order for materials is due to expire. In August of last year the Library established a five-member procurement team tasked to review the “objectives, investigate the library materials marketplace” and develop a Request For Proposal.

The City received submittals from five vendors, each of which was evaluated on a 100-point scale. Baker & Taylor scored the highest evaluation (83), while Ingram Library Services, Inc. (78), Midwest Tapes (63), Childrens Plus, Inc. (55) and Pen-worthy (52) all fell short of what the Library was seeking.

“It was the desire of the Library to award an agreement to a materials vendor who could provide all of the materials formats listed in this RFP in order to reduce the overhead costs associated with establishing multiple vendor accounts,” states the staff report.

Both the sole purchase order for EBSCO and the purchase order with Baker & Taylor will be funded through the Library Division’s operating budget. •

Hardworking Kitchens Can Still Have Style

(BPT) - Years ago, the kitchen served a very utilitarian function - a place to prepare food and clean the dishes. Today, it's truly the nerve center of the house where people eat meals, discuss the day's events, plan calendars, do homework, check e-mail and entertain guests.

With that increased demand on the kitchen, and the trend towards creating flexible living spaces, homeowners are seeking ways to maximize their overall layout and make their kitchens work harder.

Expanded work surfaces, smart appliances and carefully thought-through floor plans are just a few elements that have recently emerged in kitchen trends. But one of the most noticeable differences in today's kitchen is the demand for multiple sinks and various water sources.

According to Katherine Riley of Danze, a manufacturer of decorative plumbing products, many homeowners are using multiple sink areas to increase efficiency and literally spread out the work. However, they don't want to sacrifice the ability to showcase their personal tastes and eye for design.

In fact, the kitchen is one of the best rooms in the house to showcase a home's personality through design."

If you're looking for ideas on how to make your kitchen more functional and stylish, consider integrating these options into your kitchen remodeling plan:

Main Sink

An all-purpose station primarily used for clean-up duty, the main sink often features a deeper, single basin to handle dishes and oversized pots and pans. Riley suggests pairing these sinks with a pre-rinse faucet such as the Danze Parma Pre-Rinse or its new The Foodie faucet. These faucets improve functionality of the sink area by allowing users to literally "take the water to the work," but are noticeably fashionable.

This "right-sized" pull-down faucet is perfect for any kitchen island.

In addition to the primary functional faucet, many kitchens feature a water filtration faucet or tap as part of their main sink configuration.

Second Sink

Often located in a center island, this sink helps avoid congestion at the main sink and is a great way to increase a kitchen's workflow. Many refer to this sink as a prep sink, wine or washing hands before a meal.

Bar Sink

Sometimes referred to as a convenience sink or a beverage center, this area is traditionally used for entertaining purposes. It's occasionally located on the center island, but is often placed on a separate countertop in the kitchen or adjacent room (if space allows).

Looking for another water source without a full sink? Try incorporating a pot filler faucet at your stovetop. These faucets provide a convenient, safe way to add more water to boiling pots or saute pans.

As you plan your kitchen remodel or look for ways to maximize your work areas, don't be shy about making your sinks, work surfaces and water sources work hard for you. However, since this space serves as the epicenter of most homes, be sure to also use the room as a way to express your unique style.

Here are a few reasons why I can help you find your next home or sell your current home...Let's Do It!!

"Gina and her team were instrumental in the sale of my business. Gina was there to guide us every step of the way, answering all our concerns and ensuring a smooth transition to the new owners. It was a pleasure working with her and will return to her for future moves."

- TRACEY LARSON

"We met Gina at an open house after about 8 months of searching for a new home in El Segundo. While we felt pressure from other agents that we needed to "settle" for a house we did not love, Gina was patient with us and gave us all the tools to help us find a home that fit our family. She helped us negotiate a fair price for our new home and sold our previous house at the first open house. She was always available to assist us through our entire purchase/sale and we are now lucky to call her a friend. Fabulous to work with!!!!"

- AIMEE & DOUG NAKAGAWA

"Gina is an excellent Agent. One of the best I've worked with. Selling a house is not always easy - but it was with Gina. She communicated really well with us and had great ideas and strategies for selling an closing the deal. She found us the right buyer at the right time and we couldn't be happier!"

- SONJA SEVICK & DAN DUFFY

"Gina is a first class agent with a lot of knowledge and she is very efficient with her time. She hits timelines and is very responsive. I would highly recommend her for your real estate buy and sell needs."

- JEFF & SOOZE BROWN

"My husband and I have been very lucky to find Gina. She has been working hard to find us our dream home! Gina is always quick to respond to my millions of questions and has been invaluable to us as we research each property."

- ELIZABETH & DANNY BENNETT
